House Throws Open Gates to Hawaiians

WASHINGTON —(UPI)— The House Thursday threw open the gates for Hawaii to become the 50th state, climaxing a 40-year battle by the Pacific Island chain to achieve statehood.

The House stamped its approval on the statehood bill after two days of debate and sent it to President Eisenhower who was certain to sign it. The Senate approved the measure Wednesday night by a whopping 76 to 15 vote.

There was a burst of applause when Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas announced the House vote as 323 to 89.

Voting for admission were 203 Democrats and 120 Republicans; voting against were 65 Democrats and 24 Republicans.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said President Eisenhower was "delighted" with the congressional action. He said the President had been urging statehood for Hawaii for some time, "as did the platforms on which he ran in 1952 and 1956." Hagerty did not know when the President would sign the measure.

It may take as long as five or six months to complete the statehood formalities. But once this is done, the nation's western boundaries will extend to the mid-Pacific and the national banner will display a 50th star.

Completion of congressional action was the signal for jubilant Hawaiians to begin a two-day celebration that included hula dancing, a typically-American fireworks display and a giant bonfire.

It first shouted down an attempt by Rep. W. R. Poage (D., Tex.) to amend the bill to provide for ultimate inclusion of all U.S. Pacific islands in the new state. It then rejected a motion by Rep. John R. Pillion (R., N.Y.) to kill the bill by sending it back to the House Interior Committee.

Hawaii was the second territory Congress has agreed to give statehood status in recent months. Alaska was admitted as the 49th state Jan. 7 as the result of legislation enacted last year.

Before Alaska was voted into the Union, the last state to win statehood was Arizona, which was admitted Feb. 14, 1912.

The House cleared the way for quick action on the statehood legislation by agreeing to substitute the Senate-passed measure for its own slightly different version.

Rep. James C. Davis (D., Ga.) fought the bill on racial grounds. He told the House Hawaii's 56 per cent non-white population was "so radically different" from that of the rest of the nation that the territory did not qualify for admission.

When Hawaii sends its representatives to Congress, Senate membership will go up permanently from the present 98 to 100. House membership will rise temporarily from 436 to 437 and then fall back to its permanent level of 435 after the new population census. It went to 436 after Alaska's admission to the Union.

Ecstatic Islanders Dance in Streets

HONOLULU — (AP) — They danced the hula in the streets Thursday night.

"This is the biggest day in Hawaii history," said Johnston, sitting in for Gov. William Quinn, who is in Washington.

News of the statehood vote touched off air raid sirens, ships' whistles and church bells.

Motorists sounded a cacophony of horns.

At Iolani Palace, seat of the government, legislators broke out in tears, cheers, hand clapping and frenzied shouting when Hawaii's delegate to Congress, John A. Burns, telephoned the news from Washington.

Honolulu's two biggest newspapers, The Star-Bulletin and The Advertiser, rushed statehood extras to the streets. Radio stations devoted almost all of their time to the news and celebrations.

On the University of Hawaii campus, students finished a 50-star flag just a half-hour before Congress completed the voting. They rushed from classrooms and raised the flag on the university flagpole. The school band played the national and Hawaii anthems.

Kids in grammar and high schools also got a holiday until then.

Hawaii's replica of the Liberty Bell, which toured the mainland last year, was sounded for the first time in Hawaii.

At nightfall, military planes dropped flares for more than an hour off Waikiki Beach.

In the Territorial Legislature, the public address system announced:

"Everyone prepare to become first-class citizens."

The Territorial House adopted a resolution making "Aloha State" the official nickname of the islands. Both houses offered prayers of Thanksgiving.

Oahu prison trusties, riding a truck outside the prison walls when the news came, broke out in cheers.

Many stores and business offices shut down at midday.

Banks closed and announced they would open today.

Florida 5-3 For Hawaii

Florida's eight-man House delegation split 5 to 3 Thursday in favor of Hawaiian statehood.

Voting for admission of Hawaii as the 50th state were Reps. Dante Fascell of Miami, Charles Bennett of Jacksonville, Syd Herlong of Leesburg, Paul Rogers of West Palm Beach and William Cramer of St. Petersburg.

The "no" votes were cast by Reps. James Haley of Sarasota, Robert Sikes of Crestview and Billy Matthews of Gainesville.

Nikita Leaves Warning

Off for Home; Advises West

BERLIN — (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev flew home to Moscow Thursday, leaving the West with a warning not to attempt any "break through" to Berlin once the East German Reds are in control of the lifelines to that Western outpost.

In a statement on the German crisis made before boarding his Soviet-built TU104 jet transport for the flight home, Khrushchev declared:

"If the aggressors should try, in spite of everything, to carry through their adventurous aims and — as they say — try to 'break through' anywhere, they would meet with the appropriate resistance."

In Washington it was reported the U.S. has drafted a plan for sending a test convoy through a Berlin blockade if the Communists impose one.

The plan as it now stands apparently calls for sending a normal size unarmed convoy of four to 10 trucks over the 110-mile road from Helmstedt in West Germany through East Germany to West Berlin.

(If the convoy were stopped, it might then be strenthened with tanks and go ahead. What would happen if it drew fire from East German guards was not known.)

Macmillan Talks With Adenauer

BONN, Germany—(AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer conferred for three hours Thursday on Western measures to counter the Soviet threat to Berlin.

Macmillan said on arrival he was convinced there should be talks with Russia this summer. He urged the West to adopt a flexible position, saying: "We all stand together but in the methods of defense we must remain elastic."

Conference Set In Mountains

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The White House announced Thursday that the Berlin crisis conferences between President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will be held at Camp David, in the Catoctin Mountains of Maryland.

Macmillan will arrive in Washington Thursday.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President, Macmillan and their immediate staffs would confer at the secluded White House retreat today, Saturday and Sunday.

Sleet, Rain Add Peril To Snows

Schools Closed; Travel Snarled

By the Associated Press

The worst snowstorm of a mean, dying winter struck a savage blow at the northeast Thursday, just nine days before spring. It also hit the Midwest and south to Virginia.

The storm caimed 15 lives in Ohio and New Jersey, most of the deaths resulting from heart attacks brought on by shoveling snow.

Up to 14 inches of snow, followed by sleet and rain, lashed an area from Indiana to Virginia and Maine Thursday, the anniversary of one of history's great winter storms—the blizzard of 1888.

Falling temperatures were expected to freeze the slush overnight, thus heightening hazardous driving conditions that tied up many of the East's highways. But today is expected to be partly sunny and milder.

As one storm center moved in from the west, a second came off the Virginia coast. Winds up to 60 miles an hour whistled in with the snow. Tides ranged two to three feet above normal.

Western Maryland and upstate New York measured 14 inches of snow. West Virginia and western Massachusetts had a foot. New Jersey got up to 10 inches. Ohio had seven inches, Indiana, six.

Air travelers were grounded in Cleveland, Boston, Buffalo, Rochester and New York. Commuter trains ran late. So did buses. New York's subways were slowed as thousands who usually drive to work went underground instead.

Hundreds of schools were closed in New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts and upstate New York. All public schools in Boston were closed.

In North Utica, N. Y., 25 children were marooned for two hours when their school bus became stranded in five inches of drifting snow.

Two Ford assembly plants in northern New Jersey, with 4,500 employes, had to close when the storm prevented workers from getting to their jobs. Massachusetts State House employes in Boston were sent home shortly after noon.

Coastal roads near Boston were closed, visibility was so poor that public works employes had to walk in front of snowplows to guide them.

A skidding bus in Binghamton, N. Y., stalled traffic bumper to bumper for an hour. Pittsfield, Mass., had a traffic jam seven miles long.

New York City got nearly six inches of snow, or almost as much as the 6½ inches that had fallen previously this winter.

Conservative Language?

Good Night, Irene, That's So Common!

LONDON — (AP) — A feminine voice rang out in the House of Commons Thursday, "oh, Edith, you really are an ass!"

Summerskill

The House could hardly believe its ears. But there was more.

Laborite Dr. Edith Summerskill glared at her tormentor, a Conservative member named Dame Irene Ward.

"Vulgar abuse," snorted Dr. Summerskill.

The exchange convulsed the usually ultra-polite House where even in the most barbed remarks an opponent is addressed as "the honorable member."

Dr. Summerskill should be called "the honorable member from Warrington" — never Edith.

And as for calling an honorable member an ass, well, it's just not done.

"I am surprised," said Dr. Edith, "that Dame Irene should be so feline."

The line taken by Dr. Edith came during debate on the National Health Service. She claimed American companies were among firms flooding the British market with high-priced drugs.

She added that one Conservative member, Col. Tufton Beamish, had privately become a director of the American drug firm of Smith, Kline and French.

Dr. Summerskill came under fire from the Conservative side of the House for failing to observe "the usual courtesy" of telling a member in advance his name would be raised in debate.

Then came Dame Irene's cry of "ass."

Up jumped Laborite Maurice Edelman. "Is it in order to describe the honorable member for Warrington (that's Dr. Summerskill) as an ass?"

House Chairman Charles Rogers looked innocently ahead. "I didn't hear a word," he said.

You'll be chilly today.

Temperatures will hover in the mid-60s and drop to the low 50s tonight, the weatherman said.

A cold wave has struck.

It hit with all the warning of a rabbit punch Thursday when temperatures plummeted 20 degrees in two hours.

At 3 p.m. it was a sweltering 85.

By 5 p.m.—65.

The cold front came rushing in like a surfboard rider in a gale, with small craft warnings snapping in 30-mile-an-hour gusts.

By midnight, the mercury had dropped to the high 50s.

Small craft warnings will be hauled down, probably early today, Weatherman Philip Ackerman said. The outlook is for 10 to 20-mile-an-hour winds from the northwest.

"At least we should get rid of the cloudiness," he added. "It should be clear and chilly."

And an errant tornado whipped through Polk City, near Lakeland in Central Florida, but it succeeded only in knocking down a barn or two.

No injuries were reported.

Northern blizzards set back most plane arrivals at Miami International Airport Thursday from a half to 1½ hours off schedule.

But cloudy and threatening skies in Miami did not disrupt any landings here, according to the airport's Traffic Control Center.

Spokesmen for Eastern, National and Delta expected arrival and departure schedules today to be "off" again, but "nothing drastic."

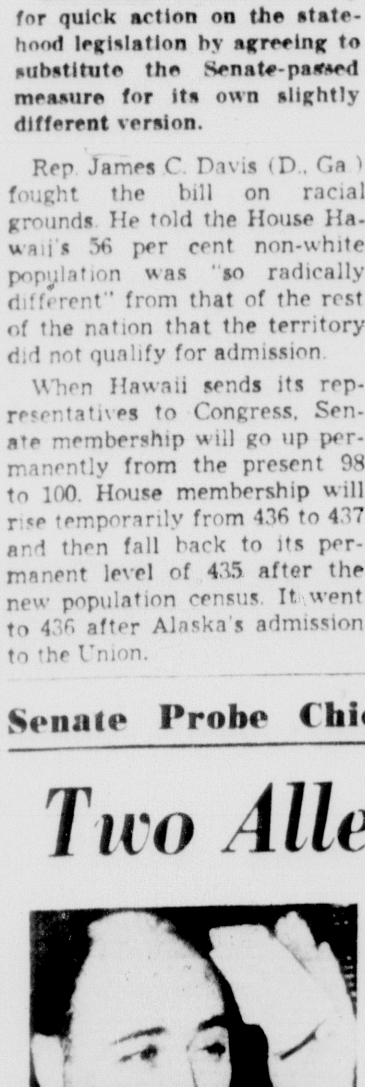
Senate Probe Chief Calls for Blacklist of Firm

Two Alleged Racketeers Linked to 'Nike' Jobs



Victor Comforte

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senate rackets probers Thursday said Dominic Senese and Victor Comforte, alleged labor racketeers, are part owners of a firm holding subcontracts on 60 per cent of the Nike missile site installations in the Chicago area.

Sen. John L. McClellan (D., Ark), chairman of the special investigating committee, said the Defense Department should take immediate steps to blacklist the firm which he named as the Broadway Sheet Metal Co. of Chicago.

McClellan said he would move "at once" to present a written demand to the Defense Department for the blacklisting.

He said he would back up his demand with a transcript of testimony in which Victor Comforte of Chicago invoked the Fifth Amendment on many questions.

Comforte had refused to tell whether Dominic Senese, described by the committee as a brother-in-law of Mobster Tony Accardo, holds a one-third interest in the company, or answer other questions.

Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy told the committee that Senese, who invoked the Fifth Amendment Wednesday, Comforte and a man identified only as L. A. Moody own about a one-third interest each in the Broadway Sheet Metal Co.

Kennedy told the committee that "on about 60 per cent of all the Nike sites around Chicago, the work is done by this company — has been done in the past."

Comforte drew fire from McClellan by pleading it might tend to incriminate him to tell whether that is true.

"I think this company ought to be immediately disbarred from doing business with the government and the Defense Department," McClellan snapped.

McClellan said he would request a quick report from the Defense Department on what it finds in its own investigation of the company, what it proposes to do about it, and what steps it plans to assure that other contracting and subcontracting companies are not headed by men who must find refuge in the Fifth Amendment.

Among other things, Comforte refused to tell whether Kennedy was right in alleging that "up to recently, under the new administration, it was possible for you to go into the Chicago Police Department and have your police records destroyed. They did this on March 16, 1949, at your request."

Nor would he say whether Kennedy was right in alleging that "you have been involved in labor racketeering in the 1930s," and "you were recognized as an enforcer" in labor union strife.

Critics Ready to Test U.S. Military Punch

Senators Hear AF Staff Chief

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower's Democratic critics said Thursday they were determined to find out if the nation's armed forces are geared to meet the threat of world danger points going far beyond the Berlin crisis.

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson delivered the Democratic reply to the President's biting charges at his news conference Wednesday. Eisenhower accused his critics of "hysterical" opposition to his military manpower cuts and other defense policies.

Johnson retorted that his Senate preparedness subcommittee wanted to know whether the U. S. was armed with the men and weapons capable of delivering a "paralyzing punch" in any one of a number of spots that could explode even before Berlin.

"We realize that Berlin is only one element of conflict in a world which is studded with danger points," he said. "The real crisis may erupt elsewhere even before Berlin comes to a head."

While he named no other trouble areas, he apparently referred to Red China's renewed activities in the Formosa Straits and to the always tense Middle East.

Johnson made public remarks he delivered before the preparedness subcommittee as it heard Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, testify behind closed doors on his "reservations" to the President's new military budget.

White has expressed concern about military construction, replacement of bombers for the Strategic Air Command and the President's decision not to proceed now with production of an atomic-powered plane.

Although Johnson did not so label it, his statement was an obvious reply to Eisenhower's spirited attack on the Democrats.

Johnson told White that "our concern goes to the problem of whether you have been supplied with the needed manpower and tools" that would give the Air Force the knockout punch it packed in World War II.

"Although we must meet the problem of Berlin," Johnson said, "we know that the American problem goes far beyond one city. We must know whether our paralyzing punch is still within our capacity — and whether we will have it in the foreseeable future."

Legislators OK Pupil Spanking

ALBANY, N. Y. — (AP) — Should teachers be free to use corporal punishment on pupils?

Yes, the New York Assembly said. It approved, 100-43, a bill that would prevent school boards from adopting any policy that would bar teachers from using "reasonable force" to discipline unruly pupils.

Advocates of the bill maintained that teachers need new authority to deal with hoodlumism and other classroom disorders.

New Game Invented at FSU

Brass Play Jacks; Are They Happy!

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — Who said "jacks" was a game for children?

A new game of jacks, announced to a worldwide conference of Air Force recreation officers here Thursday, had colonels, majors and captains down on the floor playing.

Some wanted to place orders for the game immediately to send to service clubs in far-off places.

The game of "Mat Jacks" was invented by Leo F. Milan of Denver, a graduate assistant working on a doctorate in recreation at Florida State University. He said he invented it to get the players off the dirty floor.

A 3 by 5 foot mat of canvas goes with the game, and for added interest, a circle is provided in the center and cut into numbered slices like a pie.

The game has standard rules no matter where it is played. The old rules for jacks vary so much from place to place, he said, you can hardly decide who won the game.

The new rules take a lot of the pure luck out of playing the game. You can play "mat jacks" either as singles or doubles.

Tallahassee recreation officials like it so much, they are considering a city-wide "mat jack" tournament in May.

Cuba Gives Miamian The 'Boot'

Michael Moreno, a Miami free-lance photographer who has been held in Havana since Saturday on unspecified charges, will be deported as an "undesirable alien," police there said Thursday.

It was not certain whether Moreno, of 16930 NW 37th Pl., would be allowed to continue a flight to British Honduras which was interrupted by his arrest in Havana.

He was detained with two other Miamians — Robert J. Daut and Richard Jaffe — when they arrived in Havana from Miami.

Jaffe and Daut have since been released. Jaffe, who said he was going to British Honduras on business, has returned to Miami, but Daut, who piloted the plane, has been awaiting the release of Moreno, his copilot.

"Mike flew here as my copilot, and he will leave here as my co-pilot," Daut said in Havana.

The Americans said the questions they were asked by their captors indicated that the Cubans believed they might have flown to Havana with the idea of smuggling out some refugee member of ousted ex-President Fulgencio Batista's government.

Foreign Aid Bill Next On Agenda

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower will send the Democratic-controlled Congress today a $3,930,000,000 foreign aid program designed to counter the "new Communist techniques in waging the cold war."

It will run into the opposition of a powerful congressional bloc whose members want to trim foreign aid and put the money into domestic programs. The President has said he would rather see cuts in his military budget than in foreign aid.

In his January budget message, the President asked Congress to appropriate $1,600,000,000 in military aid and $2,330,000,000 in economic aid for this nation's allies in the fiscal year starting July 1.

This would be 400 million dollars more than his request for the current fiscal year. Congress actually voted only $2,764,000,000 this year despite an extensive campaign waged by the President in the program's behalf.

The President was expected to waste no time in getting his new foreign aid drive under way.

Eisenhower told his news conference only Wednesday that he regarded the foreign aid program as "the most vital part of our whole defense forces."

Hoffa's Target: Oilmen

Makes Pitch In Louisiana

BATON ROUGE, La. — (AP) — James Hoffa, tough little Teamster boss, told independent refinery workers Thursday night joining his union would put muscles in their bargaining with Esso Standard Oil Co.

Earlier, Hoffa told a news conference his sights were set on bringing all Standard Oil independent unions into the Teamster fold.

The independent industrial workers association negotiations have been stalled since last summer over the question of a catch-all "refinery mechanic" classification union men say would end craft classifications.

Hoffa, asked about this dispute, replied, "the real question is whether you have the power to negotiate the proper classification."

The short, stocky teamster leader spoke to a well behaved crowd that overflowed the United Mine Workers hall, but still amounted to only slightly more than a fourth of the 4,000 IIWA membership.

He was greeted with cheers from about half the crowd when he took the stand, and a few hecklers made remarks. During most of the meeting the crowd was quiet and attentive.

Sheriff's deputies and city policemen were sprinkled inside and outside the hall during the meeting, which touched off angry opposition from AFL-CIO unions in the area.

"I recognize the right of the individual to determine who he will associate with," Hoffa replied. "But it is necessary to recognize there can be no division of race when we meet at the bargaining table with the employers."

Thirty unions with 30,000 AFL-CIO members, blasted the Teamster boss in newspaper ads as "a disgrace to organized labor."

Hoffa commented, "The newspaper made some money and the people found out who the phonies were.

"The union officials who signed that ad can hold up their heads and shout they represent the anti-union forces. They ought to devote the same amount of time and money to getting better wages and representing organized labor, as they are in representing the Esso people."

Ohio Newspaper Strike Is Over

COLUMBUS, Ohio — (AP) — The 13-day-old strike against the three daily newspapers here ended Thursday night with an agreement on a new contract for striking pressmen.

Federal mediators George H. Bell and E. L. Phillips announced the end of the strike by about 70 pressmen. The walkout had crippled publication of The Columbus Dispatch and Citizen, afternoon newspapers, and The Ohio State Journal, a morning daily.

The settlement provides a general increase, retroactive to Jan. 1, of $4 per week for the first year of a two-year contract. It provides for an additional $2 weekly starting next Jan. 1, and another $2 starting July 1, 1960.

17th Wife In Court

'Ding Dong Daddy' Back in the News

Franics Van Wie, San Francisco's marryin' motorman of the municipal railway, is once more in the courts. Or at least his 17th wife is. Van Wie's whereabouts are unknown.

Mrs. June Puckett Van Wie, 73, of Del Paso Heights near here, filed suit for divorce against her errant husband Thursday. When informed her mate was, indeed, the famed carbarn Casanova, she almost collapsed.

"Why, I had no idea," she sputtered. "He led me to believe he had married only once before."

Mrs. Van Wie said they married in June, 1957, after a four-month courtship. She said her husband, now 72, left her six months ago and her only contact with him in that time was a postcard mailed from Albuquerque, N.M. The card bore no return address.

Van Wie first became the delight of the headline writers in 1945 when it was discovered the San Francisco 'D' line streetcar motorman had married 11 (or 12 . . . or maybe 13) women without, in many instances, bothering to divorce his previous spouse.

For this cavalier disdain for the law the balding, roly-poly motorman served a short stretch in San Quentin on three bigamy convictions.

Then in 1953 wives No. 14, 15 and 16, had him haled into court in Los Angeles for taking them to the altar without bothering to server his ties with his previous soul-mates.

Convicted of bigamy again, he was jailed for six months and placed on probation.

Los Angeles authorities are reported more than routinely interested in the latest escapades of the marryin' motorman. A condition of his probatin was that he not marry again.

"He's just a compulsive romantic," he said.

In 1955 Van Wie told a Los Angeles judge who warned him to give up his hobby of collecting wives:

"I don't want to get married again. I just want to die in peace."

Noted Composer Dies in London

LONDON — (AP) — Haydn Wood, composer of "Roses of Picardy" and other wistful ballads associated with birds, flowers and graceful old age, died in a London nursing home.

Wood, 76, had an output ranging from rag time to symphony in a productive span of more than 50 years. Early in his career, he toured abroad as a solo violinist, but his 200 songs brought him his greatest fame.

He wrote "Roses of Picardy" while riding a London bus in World War I. It was an instant hit and sheet music sales reached 50,000 copies a month.

Lemus Asks Press Help Latin Ties

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Jose Maria Lemus of El Salvador urged newsmen Thursday to help establish better human relations between Latin America and the U.S.

The Central American chief executive, in the U.S. on a state visit, was the chief speaker at a National Press Club luncheon.

He said that in addition to "the great deal that the press is doing and has done for the welfare and progress of the peoples of the free world," it now has an opportunity for a further contribution.

Latin Americans for years have argued that newspapers of the U.S. devote little attention to Latin American news, except in cases of revolutions or national disasters.

The Salvadorean president did not mention that in the address, but urged that his listeners, as representatives of the press of the U.S., offer their cooperation in the task of achieving better understanding.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — (AP) — Actor Edmund Lowe is ill and may lose his part in a picture. He collapsed two days ago and was hospitalized. His doctor said he has a severe virus infection with vascular complications, and that he is being administered oxygen because of his age. He is 70.

Jobless Aid Bill Gets OK

Original Plan Cut Sharply

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The House Ways and Means Committee overwhelmingly approved a bill Thursday to prevent an estimated 300,000 jobless workers from being chopped off the unemployment benefit rolls April 1.

The measure is expected to win House approval Monday. It is a sharply curtailed version of the plan originally proposed by House Democratic leaders for extending the emergency benefit program enacted last year at the peak of the recession.

The bill would extend the emergency program only for workers who file valid jobless claims before April 1. It would provide no payments to jobless persons who exhaust their state benefits after that date.

Democratic leaders originally had planned to push for a straight one-year extension of the program. They had even toyed with the idea of giving President Eisenhower power to cut off benefits after three months, thus putting him on the spot politically.

But a key Democrat said the Democratic-controlled committee over-hauled the bill in an effort to make sure some kind of extension will win congressional approval before April 1, when 30,000 unemployed otherwise would be dropped from the rolls.

Republicans were jubilant that the committee decided on the more modest approach, which appeared virtually to eliminate the matter as a political issue.

The bill as approved carried an estimated price tag of 49 million dollars. All payments would be made before July, 1, however, eliminating any threat to the President's narrowly-balanced budget for the new fiscal year 1960 which begins that date.

Fidel Official Kills Himself

HAVANA, Cuba — (AP) — Police said an official in Cuba's provisional government committed suicide Thursday at police headquarters while being held for investigation.

He was Rene Ray Rivero, a director in the ministry for the recovery of misappropriated public funds and a brother of Public Works Minister Manuel Ray Rivero.

Police said he shot himself.

Police Capt. Miguel Guitar said Ray had been questioned in connection with the release of confiscated funds of ex-Sen. Jose Perez Dominguez, a member of Congress in the Batista regime. Guitar did not say how much money was involved.

Navy Seaplane Crashes; 1 Hurt

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex.—(AP)—A Navy P5M Marlin seaplane with eight crewmen aboard crashed in Corpus Christi Bay Thursday but the Navy said apparently only one man was injured.

Heavy Snow Warnings In Effect Over Most of New England

Forecasts For Today

MIAMI AND VICINITY — Fair and cold with diminishing winds. High about 67, low in the low 50s.

SMALL BOAT BULLETIN — Small craft warnings to come down today as winds diminish. Fair with rough seas and choppy inland waters, gradually subsiding.

MARINE—Jacksonville through Florida Straits: Small craft warnings displayed. Winds northwest to north, 15 to 20 miles an hour. A few showers over south, and generally fair elsewhere. East Gulf: Winds of 20-30 miles an hour, subsiding today. Generally fair.

WESTERN CARRIBBEAN — Easterly winds, 10 to 20 miles except northeast winds, 15 to 25 miles an hour over north portion.

National Summary

Snow has continued to spread northward through the northeastern states and had moved into northern New England. Snow fall amounts ranging from four to eight inches cover the area extending from Ohio across much of Pennsylvania and New York State into southwestern New England.

The intensity of the snow is diminishing through Pennsylvania but several additional inches of snow is expected to occur in eastern New York State with the amounts of new snow ranging up to as much as six to twelve inches through parts of Maine, New Hampshire, southern Vermont and the central and western portions of Massachusetts.

Lesser amounts are expected to occur over the remainder of New England.

A mixture of rain and sleet in the coastal area of southern New England is expected.

Tides produced by strong inshore winds are expected to become two to three feet above normal along the New England coast but will diminish later as winds shift to the northwest.

Committeemen Lunch With Ike

GOP Starts Today On Single Policy

By ROBERT E. HOYT
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON Tryouts are scheduled this weekend for "Forty-Four Republicans in Search of a Policy," a drama in several acts.

ALCORN

Sponsored by the GOP National Committee, the production is the brainchild of National Chairman Meade Alcorn who hopes the conferences will fashion common goals for the entire party and have the elephant's tusks pointed in the same direction.

The "44 Republicans" are members of the "Committee on Program and Progress" named by Alcorn last month.

Sessions today and Saturday are the first of a series. The committeemen hope to have their work wrapped up by fall. They'll lunch with President Eisenhower today, hear remarks from Alcorn, Committee Chairman Charles Percy of Kenilworth, Ill., and congressional leaders.

Among the congressional leaders will be Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Rep. Richard Simpson of Pennsylvania. Both of them belted the President, Alcorn and the National Committee at a party get-together earlier this year in Des Moines.

Goldwater and Simpson are about as popular at national headquarters as ants at a picnic, but the GOP wants to avoid any quarrel with those who at least get reelected.

Minimum Pay Boost Is Opposed

Mitchell Asks Wider Coverage

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Eisenhower administration came out Thursday against any increase in the present $1 an hour minimum wage. Organized labor and some Democrats in Congress are seeking a rise to $1.25.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell made known the administration's position. He said in a statement he would soon recommend to Congress legislation to bring under the law "several million workers" now exempt from its provisions.

The law, known as the Fair Labor Standards Act, requires payment of the $1 an hour minimum wage and payment of time and a half regular pay for hours worked beyond 40 a week.

About 24 million workers are now covered by the law.

Retail trade employes, now exempt, are a group that Mitchell previously has recommended be included under the law.

The AFL-CIO recently urged a reduction in the 40-hour work week standard to 35 hours as well as a rise in the minimum wage to $1.25.

Secretary Mitchell said the the exempted workers for whom he will recommend coverage under law "very much need a federal minimum wage."

"Their chances of receiving this protection," he said, "would be jeopardized by an effort at the same time to raise the minimum wage for workers already covered by the act. Consequently, I am not recommending an increase in the minimum wage at this time."

10-Year-Old Missing Girl Found Safe

An unhappy 10-year-old girl, who takes her hide-and-seek seriously, was safe in Youth Hall Thursday after a county-wide police search.

Pony-tailed Marie Potere, who lives with an aunt and uncle, did not report home from St. Mary's Parochial School Wednesday.

She spent a dark night and a lonely day hiding out in a shack and then returned to the school.

Police took up the search when Marie was reported missing by her guardians, Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinando Potere.

Mrs. Potere said her sister brought the child to her in Philadelphia on the parents' mutual agreement when they separated seven years ago. Both parents have since remarried.

Classmates told how Marie was not happy with her aunt and had threatened to run away rather than live there.

But Mrs. Potere said the child had given no evidence of it at home.

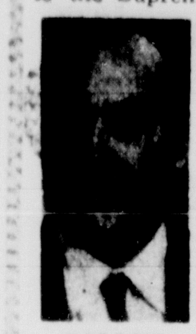
North Voices Misgivings on Integration

Gallup Poll

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J. — Despite the collapse of Virginia's policy of "massive resistance" to the Supreme Court's ruling on integration, survey evidence shows that Southern white parent of school-age children are not basically sold on the idea.



GALLUP

Nor is prejudice limited to the South. Many Northern parents, if faced with a similar problem to that which exists in the Deep South, express misgivings over integration.

Their attitudes on integration are greatly influenced by the proportion of Negro children to white children in a school, the survey finds.

Sentiment among Northern whites is overwhelmingly on the side of integrated schools as long as only a few of the children are Negro. But the proportion of Northern white parents who would have no objection to sending their children to a school where more than half of the children are colored is only about one in three.

Gallup Poll reporters put these questions to sample of white parents of school children in all areas of the country—both North and South:

1—"Would you have any objection to sending your children to a school where a few of the children are colored?"

The replies of white parents:

NORTH
Yes, would object	7 Pct.
No, would not	92
No opinion	1

SOUTH
Yes, would object	72 Pct.
No, would not	25
No opinion	3

Of interest is the fact that although sentiment among Southern white parents on this question shows virtually no change from a survey in Septemper of last year, there has been a change of sentiment among Northern white parents.

The number of Northern whites who say they would object to sending their children to a school where a few of the children are colored has dropped about half—from 13 per cent in September to 7 per cent now.

The next question:

2—"Would you have any objection to sending your children to a school where half of the children are colored?"

NORTH
Yes, would object	34 Pct.
No, would not	63
No opinion	3

SOUTH
Yes, would object	83 Pct.
No, would not	12
No opinion	1

The September survey showed 39 per cent of Northern white parents objecting, compared to 81 per cent of Southern white parents.

The third question:

3—"Would you have an objection to sending your children to a school where more than half of the children are colored?"

NORTH
Yes, would object	58 Pct.
No, would not	35
No opinion	7

SOUTH
Yes, would object	86 Pct.
No, would not	8
No opinion	6

The September survey showed the same proportion, 58 per cent of white parents in the North objecting as today, while sentiment among Southern white parents was 84 per cent opposed in September, compared with 86 per cent today.

Radio Quit Too Soon

PASADENA, Calif.—(AP)—The Army's moon shot, Pioneer IV, could have been tracked for 700,000 miles if its battery-powered transmitter had not failed.

Robertson Stevens, manager of the Goldstone Tracking Station on California's Mojave Desert, based the estimate on signal strength shortly before the rocket lost its transmitting power 407,000 miles from earth. It is now reported in orbit around the sun.

Originally, Goldstone was reported capable of tracking only to 400,000 miles. Its range will be extended to 40 million miles next year and to four billion miles in 1962.

Lauderdale Stop Asked by Delta

Delta Air Lines has asked the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington for immediate permission to serve Fort Lauderdale as an intermediate point on flights between West Palm Beach and Miami.

Delta last October requested permanent authority for this service. Its new application was for temporary service pending a ruling on the original request.

We Need Work For Willing Hands

Controlling The Explosion

FLORIDIANS organized into the first annual Florida Industrial Conference are taking a long, hard look in Tampa this week at one economic facet of their state.

Industry in Florida has doubled in size since 1950 and the population is up 60 per cent over the last decennial census. But these figures do not necessarily relate themselves to one another in a manner to cheer about. As Herald Business Editor James Russell writes from Tampa:

"The feeling among the industry and chamber of commerce people sponsoring the conference is that Florida's population is growing faster than its industry and something ought to be done about it."

But what?

EXPLODING population growth can be explained in part by the tens of thousands of newcomers who seek retirement in the land of sunshine.

Yet there are many thousands of others in quest of gainful employment, some of them after "retirement" elsewhere.

Where opportunity is denied new residents as well as natives trained in skills by a costly school system, there is frustration and defeatism, often exemplified in long relief rolls and poverty.

Florida is — 42nd among the states in income per capita from manufacturing; 29th in industrial payroll; 30th in manufacturing wages (behind Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina).

But by 1965 Florida will be 10th in population.

And Dade County itself is witnessing a population increase of over 7 per cent per year, compounded each year.

HOW TO FIT willing and often anxious hands to the fashioning of wealth is not an easy problem for South Florida in particular. Here we are properly unwilling to risk the contamination of our clear air and unsurpassed water supply by heavy industries that pollute the water and foul the air.

There are areas of development, however, which need not violate the injunctions that preserve these treasured and distinct natural resources.

The Dade County Development Department has pointed to many of them in its current "Economic Survey of Metropolitan Miami." To be sure, most raw materials are distant and transportation is dear, but the survey notes in one single area: "$500 worth of transistors (for electronics equipment) can be shipped for 35 cents."

With adequate port development for the tourist trade now often inclined to go seaborne to other regions and for package commerce with the Latin hinterland, plus modernized roads and highways and other capital improvements, the area may well supplement its economy and more nearly balance it with the population growth and movement of the future.

At any rate, that's one side of the statewide discussions at Tampa as all of Florida ponders the human miracle of its growing pains.

Symbolizing A Way Of Life

THE IDEA of a university being an outstanding example of free enterprise is an unusual concept. But that is the way President Jay F. W. Pearson describes the University of Miami.

A private institution, the youthful University must depend on tuition, gifts and income from a meager endowment for its very existence. That existence is vital to a student body which includes 9,000 regular students and 4,500 in night classes.

This growth which took place simply because the University of Miami serves a need, symbolizes the American way, Dr. Pearson told members of the Board of Trustees and the Citizens Board at their annual meeting Wednesday night.

"A Communist state, or a socialist nation, neither could have produced our University. Free enterprise and freedom of thought are not welcome in environments which have rigid control by government."

Yet such freedom brings responsibilities and obligations. The University must continue to grow, to serve more students and to improve standards. Dr. Pearson pointed out that immediate needs include a $4 million medical education building, a $3.5 million library and a $3.5 million science building. Those who believe in the University and its future have faith that these will be provided.

The Bus Deal Tests Metro

ONE BIG consolidation plan is nearly ready for final action by the Metropolitan Commission. It is the proposal for countywide bus service under public ownership.

Metro commissioners accepted the idea, in principle, by directing County Manager O.W. Campbell to work out "a feasible plan or program" for a unified bus system.

Mr. Campbell was more outspoken than usual in giving the commissioners his views. That's the kind of plain dealing people expect of Metro. The 11 commissioners should be equally forthright and decisive on this and other issues on which they are the final authority.

As to bus service, the county manager seems convinced that Metro should buy the three big lines owned by William D. Pawley, paying him out of revenues, as the nucleus for a countywide system.

THE COMMISSIONERS have asked Mr. Campbell to suggest a step-by-step course of action. Presumably, this will include such points as arrangements for appraising Mr. Pawley's holdings, terms of the proposed management contract and prospects for acquiring the seven smaller bus companies here.

If this sprawling community is to have a truly unified bus system, as we think it should, Metro could start with a clean slate by buying all existing 10 lines. Otherwise, Greater Miami might never get full, countywide service.

It shouldn't take long to settle such details. Then the whole question will be ready for a flat "yes" or "no" from the commission.

What to do about bus service is merely the first of many countywide issues to reach the stage of requiring a ruling from the Metro commissioners. The way they tackle it and dispose of it can set a standard for their future performance as the policy-makers for Metro.

Evening Up The Seasons

THE FLOW of tax receipts to Tallahassee is somewhat like Florida's weather. For about half of each year, it pours. The rest is drought.

But the seasons for state revenue are just the opposite of those for rain. Nearly two-thirds of the tax receipts arrive in winter. In summer, the state must borrow up to $25 million annually to meet expenses until the money starts coming in.

State Budget Director Harry G. Smith has an idea for correcting this imbalance. It is to change the time for issuing automobile license tags from January and February to July and August.

Sale of the tags yields more than $40 million a year.

Mr. Smith's suggestion sounds eminently practical if it won't create enforcement problems. We're thinking of the expiration dates for auto licenses in other states. Perhaps the National Governors Conference could consider this point, and work out some measure of uniformity helpful to all the states.

Communism, Nasser And Oil

IRAQ'S second revolution in less than a year apparently was short-lived. The strongly Russian-oriented government of Premier Abdel Karim Kassem has crushed a dissident army group.

It's pretty clear now where the inspiration came from for this abortive uprising. It is written in letters of one word in the street demonstrations and speeches in Baghdad and Cairo: Nasser.

The Egyptian strong man has denounced the Kassem government, betraying at once his sponsorship of the rebels. And he is getting it back in kind from the Kassem regime which only last month purged the pro-Nasser Baath party and crammed the cabinet with acknowledged pro-leftists.

Thus the struggle between Egyptian nationalism and Communist imperialism sharpens in an area of the world which cannot resolve its loyalties and lives in constant turmoil.

A PART of this contest is an issue almost as old as civilization yet as new as the twentieth century. History discloses an abiding hostility between the valleys of the Nile and those of the Tigris and Euphrates. It became open and violent under the Hashemite kings, and Nasser's United Arab Republic only accented it.

But newer still is the fact spelled out in one other word: Oil.

Iraq is the Middle East's third largest oil producer, shipping its rich product through the pipelines to Syria and the Mediterranean shore. Oil has made Iraq rich. By contrast, it has made Egypt prominent as a "have-not" nation.

Communism . . .Nasser . . . Oil. The concoction remains the brew of trouble out where history is old and wrinkled.

Bounty For A Beast

THE RAVAGES wrought by narcotics peddlers are well known to Rep. Seymour Halpern, a Republican congressman from New York. He is chairman of the board of New York's Riverside Hospital, where teen-aged drug addicts are treated.

So Mr. Halpern, a freshman in Congress, would have the government pay $500 as a "beast of prey" bounty for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any dope pusher.

His reasoning is that the menace of wolves, coyotes, deadly snakes and the like has been reduced by paying bounties for their pelts or scalps.

"By the same means we can help to cage the two-legged venom-peddlers who, as human beasts preying on the public, are a far greater menace to our civilization than the deadliest of wild animals."

If just one young life could be saved from the wreckage of dope addiction by such a $500 bounty, it would be a bargain.

Insurance Firms Aid Schools

Editor The Herald: Our organization read with interest the story by James Buchanan headlined "Fire Protection Called Unsafe, School Hazard," but would like to offer the following information regarding a footnote to the story titled "Rates Depend On Home Site:"

The footnote stated that "representative rates" from a Dade County insurance company for fire insurance on a $10,000 home, insuring it for 80 per cent of valuation, would cost unincorporated Dade County, $59.10; Homestead, $51.50; North-South Miami, $50.60; Miami-Coral Gables, $42.20.

Actually, the correct premiums for fire insurance are: Dade County, $15.20; Homestead, $8; North-South Miami, $7.20; Miami-Coral Gables, $4.80.

We believe that perhaps you meant the premiums for both fire and extended coverage, which are: Dade County, $48.56; Homestead, $41.36; North-South Miami, $40.56; Miami-Coral Gables, $38.16.

These figures are closer to those you published, but as you can see, lower in each instance.

Incidentally, the Greater Miami Insurance Board — through its Fire Prevention Committee — is providing all Dade County public schools with the excellent illustrated, "The Chicago School Fire," which we have obtained from the National Fire Protection Association, in addition to copies of a comprehensive fire safety check sheet for schools.

We hope that these and other materials furnished through our year-around fire prevention program may serve to inform school administrators and the public about the simple ways tragedies such as the Chicago school fire may be avoided.

Bus Drivers Need Aides

Editor The Herald: Many passengers are resentful that the bus driver hasn't time to answer the many inquiries flung at him. They forget that in addition to driving the bus, a responsible and arduous job, he has to dispense change, issue transfers, open and shut doors, and shepherd people to the back of the bus.

ANY QUESTIONS?

Now if we did it European style, passengers would be shepherded by a courteous conductor who would just love to answer questions. He'd have nothing else to do but collect fares, issue transfers, control the doors, tell people where to get off, and how to make their connections.

That would make ours the most courteous bus service in the country. Tourists would love to ride the buses instead of complaining of being "crowded, confused and shook up."

Besides, it would provide additional jobs at this time of unemployment.

Taxes Squandered At Home, Also

Editor The Herald: I would like to make a public apology for all the American people, including myself, to our friends of the foreign countries.

After reading all the information about high wages paid by political leaders to their families and friends for their petty offices in the running of our government, I think the people who have revealed this information should be highly commended for their excellent services to the people of their America.

It is sure proof that not all of the honest tax dollars are being squandered overseas.

Interama Worth Whatever Cost

Editor The Herald: When the Louisiana Purchase was consummated, it was considered a wasteful expense. Has the United States regretted since? So many opinions seem to compare Interama in the same manner.

Interama would be the greatest move, not only in Florida, but in our America, South America, and Europe.

Why wait when so many jobs for the jobless could be had?

Blessings on those who will be able to produce the completed project. Here's hoping.

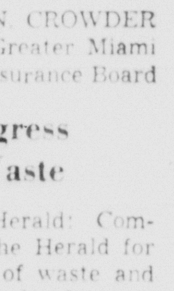
What Makes A Teacher Good?

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

THE GALLUP Poll not long ago said that if the general public set the policy, America's school teachers would be given pay increases based on teaching ability rather than on length of service.



Harris

This idea sounds clear, fair and plausible — until you begin to examine it. What exactly is "teaching ability," and how do we begin to measure it?

Is a "good teacher" one who stuffs her students full of facts, who loads them with homework, who forces them to memorize huge chunks of her subject?

Or is it one who inspires in pupils an appetite for learning, who makes them intellectually curious, who gives them a lifelong zest for improving their minds?

* * *

VERY FEW teachers can do both of these at the same time. My own teachers who crammed me with facts were dull and spiritless creatures, while the ones who maintained my interest in a subject were less concerned about memorization and repetition.

The reason that "teaching ability" cannot be evaluated fairly is that it is as much a matter of personality as of knowledge. One teacher may know twice as much about a subject as another, but if she cannot communicate, if she has no rapport with her pupils, then she cannot impart her knowledge in a manner that will stick.

I have long recommended that prospective teachers be given rigorous personality tests — which are more important, to my mind, than academic tests.

If a teacher lacks humor, perspective, flexibility of viewpoint, she will not make her subject appealing, no matter how hard she forces the pupils to work.

* * *

THEY MAY get higher grades than pupils in another class, but high grades mean only that a pupil has committed a course to memory, not that he necessarily understands it or cares about it.

Students must be taught to care about what they are learning, to grasp its relevance to the world at large, to comprehend what it means to be an educated person! The teachers I most remember are those who made their subjects come alive for me — subjects I am still interested in.

But how could the school system evaluate these teachers, except on grades and examinations, which mean little? Ultimately, only the pupils know who the really good teachers are; they cannot be fooled.

Canal And Bridge Puzzle Key Largo

By JOHN PENNEKAMP

KEY LARGO is 28 miles long and has been the slowest to develop of the chain of islands that extends 115 miles to Key West along U. S. 1 after that highway leaves the mainland.

Property owners wondered why, met to discuss it, and came to this answer:

There was no easy access by water between the ocean side and the bay side.

Pennekamp

Thus if you were on the ocean and wanted to get to the calmer waters of the bay, you had to "make a Cape Horn" trip to one or the other end of the key.

From the bay side you had to do the same thing to get to the ocean.

The cut was made through rock, leaving sheer and attractive banks.

* * *

THEN THEY asked Monroe County to build a bridge across the canal (you now cross on a detour that's also to be cut away) connecting the sections of U.S. 1 which had been separated.

The land at that point is about 13 feet above sea level and a bridge at a five foot elevation would have provided approximately 18 feet of clearance.

Also, its cost was estimated at $203,000.

Monroe County commissioners couldn't spare that much money, they decided. They have begun to build a bridge to cost $83,000 and which will have about four feet less clearance than the one the property owners want.

So, while the pile driving to provide the footings for the bridge goes on, so does the effort of the enterprising property owners to convince the commissioners that they should change their plans.

Pounds of Mail

I HAVE a warm respect for Congress, wondering how as much intelligence as does emerges.

My appreciation is heightened by every day's mail. So many agencies of propaganda bombard me with much more material than I can possibly read and digest.

Among it are copies of material that have been sent the representatives and senators, who are much more vulnerable than I, so they must get a lot more.

Being conscientious men and women I am sure that they try to wade through it all to keep themselves informed. In addition to the mailed material they and their staffs are constantly pulled and hauled by the same agencies of pressure.

How do Congressmen know what is fact and what fiction in all this material?

* * *

I HAVE a healthy file on my desk, accumulated in the last week or two dealing with Florida's Cross State Canal in which neither the pros nor the cons agree as to the facts.

In one delivery I got what must be pounds of mail urging federal support of education.

An "Official Statement by the National Education Association, Washington," is 16 pages.

"Education as a national responsibility," is a 26 page treatise.

"What should be the shape of things to come in the humanities curriculum?" is a seven-page, closely spaced document, as are all of the others.

Still another, 10 pages, deals with "Trends and choices in higher education," and another, 25 pages, with "National necessity and educational policy."

There's one on "The Social Balance," on "College Teaching in Today's World," on "How May the College Have Greater and More Lasting Impact on Student Values," on "The Fourteenth National Conference on Higher Education."

Those titles take me half way through the stack and leave me pretty well exhausted.

One-Man Senate Rule Undemocratic Process

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—When Sen. William Proxmire (D., Wis.), says that the Democrats, with their two-thirds membership in the Senate, are not functioning as a majority that is representative of the people, he is exposing a serious weakness in the American system.

Lawrence

What he criticizes in his second speech of a series is the way policy is determined by the Democratic Party in the Senate. He says:

"The cold fact is that democratic policy in the Senate is made entirely on an ad lib, off-the-cuff basis. The initiative as well as the final decision is almost always resolved by the majority leader himself on the basis of his own judgment of what is desirable and what is possible.

"This is not to say that the individual Democratic senator doesn't play a part in determining policy. His individual vote and whatever influence he may have that goes beyond his individual vote is a factor in the majority leader's calculus. But it is the majority leader who does the computing of the possible. And the critical point is that he does it without the over-all conscious guidance of Senate Democrats either in caucus or in policy committee.

"It is my position that this is an unnecessary delegation of responsibility by Democratic senators. In the vast majority of democratic legislative bodies throughout this country and the world, no such delegation is found necessary for action."

* * *

WHAT Mr. Proxmire is describing, in euphemistic and gently spoken phrases, is a system of one-man rule which hardly squares with the word "democratic." The job of a majority leader is indeed concerned with reconciling conflicting views so as to arrive at a consensus. But this is a far different matter from the delegation to one man of the power to assign members to committees and to bestow other favors with respect to the taking up of particular bills in which a senator may be deeply interested.

It never was intended by the founding fathers that the two senators who represent a sovereign state would be subject to the rule of a single senator from some other state on whether a particular piece of legislation shall be pushed to passage or left to wither on the vine.

* * *

TODAY it is evident that few members of the Senate dare to criticize the leader. They prefer to acquiesce in a code of expediency lest they lose favor with the man in control. Yet, privately, many senators do concede that some bills are kept buried in committee or delayed until the final days of a session when they can be rushed through or defeated, as the case may be, without much debate.

The drift seems to be toward the totalitarian approach. Bossism is applauded nowadays as merely skillful or masterly "leadership." This session of the Senate, moreover, has seen a trend toward the curtailment of debate and a tendency to allow one man to run the majority party. Any member can, of course, make whatever speech he desires for the record, but his influence within his own party with respect to getting action on particular pieces of legislation depends to no small extent on how he stands with the majority leader.

Election of United States senators by popular vote — instead of by state Legislatures, so as to overcome "boss rule" in those legislatures—was proclaimed as in line with the democratic process when the 17th Amendment was adopted in 1913. Yet few people who favored this amendment ever thought that one-man rule in the Senate could nullify the wishes of a whole state and block consideration of measures submitted by one state to the other states for approval or disapproval.

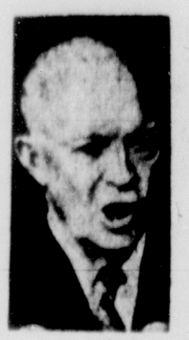
The President Said:



Jobless Benefits A 'State Problem'

By readers' requests The Herald prints some of the questions and answers heard at President Eisenhower's press conference Wednesday.

Q. (William McGaffin, Miami Herald-Chicago Daily News). Some economists contend that the auto and steel industries have helped bring on inflation by raising prices despite drops in demand. Do you agree, sir?

THE PRESIDENT: I haven't seen that particular point discussed, and then I suppose you are talking about some recent report, and I have not seen it discussed.

Q. (William McGaffin). The argument is that instead of a classical type of inflation, this is one brought on by administered prices, that certain industries are so powerful that they can control prices, and during the recent recession, for instance, it was remarked that prices kept on going up although we were in a recession, and this was said to be because of these industries who were able to administer prices.

THE PRESIDENT: Well, you raised a particular facet of this argument which has been going on a long time, but I don't think I am particularly qualified to discuss this morning. I would want to talk to Dr. Saulnier and some of my other associates on that subject, so I could find the statistics on the thing to see whether the premises from which we start such a discussion are correct.

Unemployment Pay

Q. (Raymond P. Brandt, St. Louis Post-Dispatch). Can you give the administration's position on extending the unemployment pay benefits?

THE PRESIDENT: Well, yes. The administration's position is that this was undertaken as an emergency program of last year, and particularly, one reason, one compelling reason being because it was the year in which state legislatures have not been, were not in session.

I think for some 20 years this has been completely a state program, and the United States, the federal participation has been a very, very slight charge for overhead, so as to permit, help the administrative expenses of the states; otherwise, it is not state—I mean, not federal, it is state.

Mutual Security

Q. (Spencer Davis, AP). Last November you created a commission headed by Mr. William Draper to look into the relative emphasis of economic and military aid in mutual security program. Could you give us a report, or a preliminary report, on their findings to date?

THE PRESIDENT: They are going to give me an interim report, interim recommendation very soon, I understand. I have not seen them all but I do know from correspondence that they are—they are very, very concerned about the whole program.

Secretary of Defense

Q. (Sarah McClendon, El Paso Times). To some people in recent years it has seemed that the office of Secretary of Defense has lessened somewhat in prestige and planning for the military.

I wonder if you would tell us if you see the Secretary of Defense as a man who sort of takes orders from the White House and State Department; or as an advisor to you on modern strategy?

THE PRESIDENT: Well, I think it will be difficult for me to, right now, to review all of my relationships with all of the several subordinates I have in this government, and they are many.

But, I will say this: Mr. McElroy is where he is because I respect him. I believe in his powers of judgment, and I believe that he is just as splendid a man as could be found in this country for the job and if I thought for one moment that he was just a "yes man" taking my suggestions and carrying them out, he wouldn't be there.

I have never had that kind of a subordinate and I never expect to have one.

Berlin Situation

Q. (John Scali, AP). Premier Khrushchev has added a new wrinkle to his Berlin proposal, namely, he would now allow minimum numbers of American, British and French troops, as well as Russian troops to remain in the Western sectors if we accepted his proposal to make West Berlin a free city.

What do you think of this suggestion?

THE PRESIDENT: Well, I'd say first of all that I would not expect ever to be in the business of reacting instantly to one of Mr. Khrushchev's wisecracks or whatever he calls it, that we take as a serious suggestion. We have allies. We try to apply in the free world the same kind of procedure in the reachings of decisions that you do in a democracy. We have discussions and lively debate, and then we try to figure out what is best for all America.

Right now, we have four nations conferring among themselves as to an answer on the latest Russian note and that having been concerted, the NATO will be consulted and we go ahead on that basis and that is exactly what we will do to reply to anything else.

Now, as to the violating everything I have said, I'd say I don't think much of it.

Is Public Aware?

Q. (Chalmers M. Roberts, Washington Post). How serious do you consider the Berlin situation, and do you consider that the American public is sufficiently aware of the possibility of war in this situation?

THE PRESIDENT: I personally think that the American public is more soberly aware of the true situation than a lot of people around this town, if you want to. We are so close to ourselves around here that we have a great possibility of stirring ourselves up.

Balanced Budget

Q. (Edward T Folliard, Washington Post). As you know, it has been said that the administration puts a balanced budget ahead of national security.

Supose that our Federal Treasury were in better shape; suppose you could look forward to a surplus? Would you then be willing to spend more money on the armed forces, or would you still say that they are adequate?

THE PRESIDENT: I would say that I would not spend money on the armed forces of the United States as such.

Now, I would very much like to get some of our allies in better position to do their part in this job, and there are a number of other things that you might call ancillary or strengthening the United States in other ways—from its educational system to some other place where I would probably spend some more money.

But I do not—I'm just tired even of talking about the idea of balanced budget against national security. This—I don't see where this thing ever comes into it.

What About Mao?

The British want a Summit meeting quite badly.

And yet there's a pretty good chance that it might never come off, at least with this set of characters, for the same awe-inspiring reason that curdled the last proposed Summit — Red China's refusal to countenance such a meeting without including Mao Tse Tung.

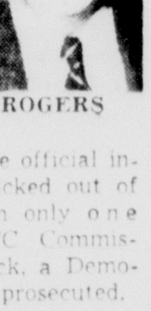
WASHINGTON — There have been some eight conflict-of-interest cases unearthed in the Eisenhower administration, ranging all the way from Harold Talbott who was forced to resign as Secretary of the Air Force, to Sherman Adams who was forced to resign over the favors he did for his friend, Bernard Goldfine.



ROGERS

In every case, the official involved has been kicked out of government, but in only one case, that of FCC Commissioner Richard Mack, a Democrat, has he been prosecuted.

In only one case, furthermore, has a man even indirectly connected with a conflict of interest been promoted — Adm. Lewis Strauss, Republican, to be Secretary of Commerce.

Yet a criminal statute, Title 18, U.S. Code, provides criminal punishment for all violators, not just Democrats.

So far, Congress, predominantly Democrat, has not had any real opportunity to examine Justice Department failure to prosecute Republican conflicts of interest.

But last week two things happened which have already started investigative wheels rolling.

NO. 1 WAS REFUSAL to permit a new trial to two Democrats, Lamar Caudle, former assistant attorney general, and Matt Connelly, former secretary to Harry Truman, for alleged violation of the conflict-of-interest statute, even though important new evidence had turned up and even though the Justice Department had stated in court that Caudle had received no material compensation for his alleged failure to prosecute a St. Louis tax evader. Connelly did get two suits and an overcoat. The evader, Irving Sachs, had pleaded guilty and was convicted.

NO. 2 WAS REFUSAL by the same Justice Department to do anything about the same criminal statute regarding a conflict of interest involving $229,000,000 — considerably more valuable than an overcoat and two suits of clothes.

This case involved, not two ex-Truman Democrats, now penniless from the cost of being dragged through the courts for six years, but two investment banker Republicans, one the present Secretary of Commerce who built up a fortune with the Wall Street firm of Kuhn, Loeb; the other Adolphe Wenzell, with the Wall Street Firm, the First Boston Co.

A letter written by efficient, politically minded Atty. Gen. Bill Rogers raised Senate hackles regarding these two brands of justice, one for Democrats, one for Republicans, and brought an immediate study of the records.

* * *

THOSE RECORDS are complicated but important.

"It's a lot easier for the public to understand two suits of clothes and an overcoat given to a Democrat," remarked Sen. Estes Kefauver, "or a front porch rented by a Democratic congressman, than it is to understand a $229,000,000 utility contract negotiated in secrecy by Republicans. But the latter costs the taxpayer a lot more than a front porch — even if he doesn't understand it."

Kefauver was referring to the Dixon-Yates conflict-of-interest case, the biggest and most important in the entire history of the United States, in which banker Wenzell was caught planted inside the Budget Bureau conferring with Admiral Strauss at night regarding the big electric power plant to block the Tennessee Valley Authority and simultaneously bring a big profit to Wenzell's First Boston.

If Kefauver had gone further, he would have also found that no investigation of Wenzell was pending.

Yet the Justice Department had stated in court that the Dixon-Yates contract "is in violation of the statutes and laws of the United States and is unlawful, null and void . . . for the following reasons:"

The Justice Department then cites the long record exposed after months of difficult investigation by Senators Kefauver, Lister Hill of Alabama, Tom Hennings of Missouri, and Bill Langer of North Dakota.

That record, sworn to under oath, spells out in detail the efforts of the Budget Bureau and Admiral Strauss to cover up this banker-utility deal inside the government.

Criticism Made Ike Flare Up

By PETER LISAGOR
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

WASHINGTON — One of a reporters toughest assignments in this town is to characterize President Eisenhower's performance at a news conference.

You can come away feeling he was clear and firm as you listened, only to read your notes or the transcript later and find his remarks vague and equivocal.

There was common agreement here that the President, at his latest conference, was fired up by criticism of his military judgment.

Some reporters thought he was in a vigorous, fighting mood; others that he was emotional and even petulant in his defense of the adequacy of U.S. military strength and his criticism of his congressional critics.

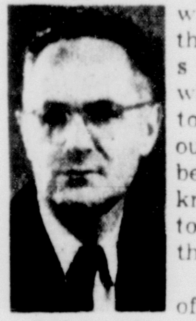
"Why doesn't anyone have the courage to get right up and say 'I want 55,000 men,' . . . and why don't they say 'but we want the taxes for it'?"

If Congress persists in "such a thing as this," he said later, "I'll have to put these people, I suppose, in the forces — where will I put them? Well, just some place where it's nice to keep them out of the way, because I don't know what else to do with them?"



LISAGOR

On the issue of how the West would counter Soviet aggression in Germany, the President, with some vehemence, ruled out a ground war in Central Europe.

Then he was asked if the U.S. was prepared to use nuclear war if necessary to defend free Berlin?

"Well," he replied, "I don't know how you could free anything with nuclear weapons." He added that if the Soviets push to that "point of reality," there will be time to decide exactly what "the Allies would, in turn, expect to do."

Later, he was asked if there was an "in-between response" — between a ground and a nuclear war — the U.S. might make.

"No," he began, and then said he didn't say "nuclear war was a complete impossibility." It was "self-defeating for all of us," he added.

(Foreign diplomats here who studied the transcript closely confessed confusion over what the President had in mind. For NATO officials have long insisted that standing firm on the ground against Soviet aggression was an indispensable condition in the Berlin crisis.)

The President made his usual defense of a balanced budget, which was clear and firm in both his presence and in the transcript.

His annoyance when questioned about his military judgment was clearly in evidence, as it has been in the past.

A thorough scrutiny of his remarks finds general agreement that he made reasonably clear he will resist sending more troops to Europe as useless, and that he thinks Congress has made mistakes in the past in dealing with defense.

He also was stridently emphatic about not making "everything such an hysterical proposition that we go a little bit off half-cocked."

In sum, the President said nothing new about his attitude on defense, on the budget, the national temper. His disclosures about how the Berlin crisis will be met was couched in largely negative terms.

But there is no gainsaying that he was emotionally perturbed by the criticism of his military judgments, and it produced some lively moments of presidential fire.

Two Courses Open In Berlin Crisis

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE UNITED STATES, Great Britain, France and Soviet Russia are in Berlin as an act of war because they defeated Hitler and conquered Germany.

Germany itself came to be divided into two parts, East Germany and West Germany.

East Germany developed into a satellite of Soviet Russia, a part of the Soviet Universal State; West Germany developed into a free country, rich, effective, competitive in world markets with Great Britain and the United States.

No peace treaty has ever been arranged with Germany because there can be no agreement as to which of these two is Germany. Therefore World War II never ended in Europe.

Since the end of World War II as a fighting phase of a continuous war since 1914, various attempts have been made to find a formula for uniting the two Germanys but all such efforts have failed.

The fact is that whereas West Germany can speak for itself in the voice of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, the voice for East Germany comes from the Kremlin in Moscow and its owner is Nikita Khrushchev.

* * *

ERRORS WERE made during World War II at Yalta and Potsdam in the determination of the fate of Germany on the assumption that Soviet Russia was a loyal ally which sought the same kind of a peaceful world that the West sought.

The imperialistic characteristics of Soviet Russia were not identified, with the result that today, 14 years later, the question of Berlin and of the unification of Germany is still before us and may lead to World War III.

Two courses are open to the United States:

1. BERLIN and West Germany can be abandoned to the imperialistic purpose and strength of Soviet Russia;
2. THE UNITED STATES and its allies can refuse to abandon Berlin and West Germany.

The first course would bring the power of Soviet Russia to the Rhine and France would have to prepare to defend itself from being absorbed in the Soviet Universal State; the second course could lead to a general war involving the United States.

The second course indicates that patience has been exhausted and that the Western world will defend itself; the first course indicates that the West has become obsolescent and gives up under threat.

* * *

KHRUSHCHEV may retreat from his threats over Berlin but that will be of no significance.

He will try in Iran; he will try in Cuba or Venezuela or Bolivia; he will try in Indonesia.

Should Khrushchev fall or die, the same program will be followed.

It is a program of world conquest, devised by Lenin on the basis of Marxism and is rigidly fixed in the minds and hearts of Communists everywhere.

Courage Seen In Odd Forms

By JIM BISHOP

COURAGE IS A GOOD WORD. It has a ring. It is a substance that other people, who have none, urge you to have when all is lost. To have courage, one must first be afraid.

The deeper the fear, the more difficult the climb toward courage.

Does the bravery of a tiny girl, facing her first Salk vaccine shot, match that of Lt. Gen. Lewis Puller, who won five Navy Crosses?

I think so.

YORK

In World War I, Gen. John J. Pershing found a small vacant spot on the blouse of Sergeant Alvin York, most decorated man in the Army, and pinned a final medal on it.

At lunch later, he said that he didn't think that York was the bravest man in the war.

"The sergeant has done some wonderful things in this campaign," he said. "But I'm convinced that this man is afraid of nothing. His bravery comes without thinking. The truly bravest man will never be found, I'm afraid.

"He's a buck private whose stomach and bowels are knotted with fear as he stands in a wet trench listening to the lieutenant count off the final seconds before the attack.

"When the officer says: 'Okay, men. Let's go!' this enlisted man is certain that he will be killed in the next minute, but he drags his feet up the ladder and goes over the top with the others."

* * *

A NEW BOOK on courage will be published in a month or so. It is called "It Takes Heart." It limits itself to the great courage of well-known sports figures.

As such it is good, and the authors, Mel Allen and Frank Graham Jr., are to be congratulated.

DeSPIRITO

The authors tell of Jockey DeSpirito, whose heart was bigger than some of the horses he rode. He was 16 years old in 1952. As an apprentice, he broke all records by riding 390 winners.

Three years later he was on his back in the middle of Aqueduct with a broken jaw and lacerated brain.

DeSpirito was in the hospital a long time. Everybody said: "Give it up." He got back on the track, rode winners, got caught in a jam and fell off a horse. He was unconscious for days. A broken rib pierced one kidney. They said he would die.

In a year, he was back riding. "You can't hesitate or you'll be in trouble," he said.

MISS JACKIE PUNG had an unladylike substance called guts. She was a golfer. Her mind was beset by fears. She battled them, and the top golfers to win the Women's National Open in 1957.

JACKIE

After she won, the officials told her that her partner had made a slight error in computing Miss Pung's score. They deprived her of the championship and the money.

Fans from all over the country read about her courage and sent nickels and dimes and dollars. Total: $3,400, almost double the first prize money.

A Seafaring Man's Plea: Let Us Be Calm in Danger

By JIM BISHOP

George Herbert, the 17th Century clergyman and poet, observed, "He that will learn to pray, let him go to sea."

Go With God

The favorite prayer of a man who went to sea in the service of the U.S. and the free nations is given here. Arthur William Radford was born in Chicago in 1896. A graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy in 1916, he saw duty in World War I and World War II and won advancement to five-star admiral. He was chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington from 1953 to 1957, when he retired to private life as a banking consultant.

Lenten Prayer for Today

Heavenly Father, I come before Three in all humility seeking strength for the duties entrusted to me by our nation. Grant that whatever abilities I may possess shall always be used in the interest of peace and shall be devoted to war only when freedom and honor so dictate. Keep the people of our nation strong in the power of Thy might, alert but calm in the face of danger, humble and charitable in the hour of triumph, and always conscious of They sway in the affairs of men and nations.

Give unto me the wisdom, judgment and the courage to do that which needs to be done in order that I may worthily be numbered among those who will help shape a better life for the people of tomorrow. Grant, O Lord, that I and all the military leaders of the free people of this world may perform our tasks so well that, with Thy blessing, ours may be vanishing positions and future generations will have no need of the particular services we must now render to our country and to the world. Unite our country in an eternal purpose to preserve and bear aloft the torch of nations who love Thee and keep Thy commandments. Without Thee our best efforts must be in vain. With Thy help we cannot fail. Amen.

Six Found Guilty of Conspiracy

Accused of Aiming At U.S. Overthrow

DENVER —(AP)— Three men and three women, protesting their innocence, were convicted of conspiring to advocate the violent overthrow of the U.S. government.

U.S. District Judge Lee Knous granted their motion for five days in which to file for a new trial. Bonds ranged from $5,000 to $20,000 — the largest amount for Arthur Bary, 47, of San Jose, Calif.

A jury of eight women and four men returned the verdict after five hours of deliberation, ending a trial that lasted six weeks.

The six were convicted in 1955 on similar charges of violating the Smith Act, in addition to Communist conspiracy. That verdict was overthrown byt he 10th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, which ordered the case retried without the charge mentioning communism.

The charge against a seventh defendant convicted in the first trial, Lewis M. Johnson, 38, of Boston, was dismissed at the request of government lawyers.

In addition to Bary, the defendants were his former wife, Anna, 34, of Denver; Joseph Scherrer, 39, and his wife, Maia, both of New York City; Harold Zepelin, 33, of Denver and Mrs. Patricia J. Blau, 47, of El Paso, Tex.

The maximum possible sentence is five years' imprisonment and $5,000 fine for each.

In a formal statement after the verdict was returned, the six said, "we are innocent and we are disappointed and will appeal until we are vindicated."

John Evans, one of the court-appointed defense attorneys, called the verdict "the greatest encroachment on American free speech ever handed down in a U.S. District Court."

The defense said in its summation the six were merely exercising "the historic American right to shoot off their mouths." Chief Assistant U. S. Attorney Herbert E. Boyle told the jurors all Americans must be on guard against encroachment of any of the basic freedoms.

But, he said, "these six went beyond the discussion stage."

NEW YORK — (AP) — New York City experienced a rare but happy event last weekend. Not a single person was killed in a traffic accident.

Union Indictment Termed 'Anti-Labor'

WASHINGTON —(AP)— AFL-CIO President George Meany Thursday accused the Justice Department of anti-labor motives in the indictment of a New York Garment Workers Local Union on antitrust charges. Meany pledged full AFL-CIO aid "in resisting this unwarranted prosecution."

A federal grand jury returned an indictment in New York charging a trade monopoly conspiracy against five men, three trade associations and Local 25 of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

The indictment alleged a conspiracy beginning in 1949 to fix prices and allocate customers for women's blouses.

Among those indicted were Harry Strasser, onetime business associate of slain Hoodlum Albert Anastasia, and Charles Kreindler, manager of Local 25 and a vice president of the ILGWU.

Meany said in a statement that the local had only engaged "in traditional practices whose only purpose is the protection of union wages, hours and working conditions." He added:

"The timing and nature of this indictment which points an accusing finger at the ILGWU, a union universally recognized as clean and honest, fully confirms the concern of the labor movement as to the real interest of those forces attempting to revive the use of the antitrust laws against unions.

"It is plain that the indictment against Local 25 and its manager is aimed at union practices having nothing to do with corruption and racketeering.

"The anti-labor character of the department's action is underlined by the obvious headline-grabbing stunt of coupling the name of the union with that of a racketeer with whom the department concedes the union and its manager have no connection."

LONDON —(UPI)— Called into court for playing hooky 61 times this school year and setting fire to her home with cigarets, a 13-year-old girl promised the judge: "I have given up smoking now."

His Bid Falls Flat

FRANKFORT, Ky. —(AP)— James Morton didn't beat around the bush when he asked if he felt bad about a flat tire that may have caused his firm to miss out on a big construction contract.

"Hell, yes, I feel bad. Wouldn't you?" he asked.

It happened this way:

The Thorp Construction Co. of Evansville, Ind., offered a bid of $1,457,145 for a new dormitory to house 522 men at the University of Kentucky.

Morton was taking the Switzer-Willing Co.'s bid to Frankfort when he had a flat tire.

He said the Lexington company's bid was about $9,300 under Thorp's.

Weight Control Possible Without Constant Dieting, Drugs or Exercise

Hundreds of successful cases have proven that you can eat and drink whatever you like for almost every meal and yet not gain permanent weight.

Based on research and studies conducted by a prominent Chicago Doctor for over 40 years, a method of controlling weight through the establishing of metabolic cycles, has now been released for general use by Weight Research Corporation of Skokie, Illinois.

Laboratory cases and field tests prove that each person has an individual weight gaining cycle whereby there are only a few days each month when the metabolism of the body will allow food intake to be converted to fatty tissue, thereby creating additional weight.

Chocolate sundaes, potatoes, rich desserts and food may be consumed on the days between these weight gaining cycles without gaining a pound of permanent weight.

Safe, healthy, controlled losses of ten, twenty, even eighty pounds in less than a year have been recorded without resorting to drugs, constant dieting or exercise.

Easy to use, practical methods for determining these individual weight gaining cycles have been developed for home use by Weight Research Corporation, Skokie, Illinois, and may be had for the nominal cost of $7.95.

Just send $7.95 and your name and address to Weight Research Corporation, Skokie, Illinois, for your complete Weight Control Kit and a copy of the booklet, "Cyclic Weight Control." Full written, money back guarantee.

Widow Sues Pilot

Mrs. Ernestine A. King, whose husband was killed in the crash landing of a Braniff Airways airplane at Miami Airport March 25, 1958, has sued the plane's pilot personally for "recklessness."

The suit, filed in Dade Circuit Court, asked for more than $5,000 damages for the death of Royal H. King, also a Braniff pilot, who was in the plane as a passenger.

The suit, which does not name the airways company, is against Pilot Thomas D. George, who was flying to Sao Paulo, Brazil, when the plane caught fire and crashed just west of the airport. King, the suit says, was being sent to pick up a Braniff plane at Lima, Peru.

Montana Rolls Out Carpet for Alaska Caravan

GLASGOW, Mont. — (AP) — Applauding Montanans gave the 59ers a carpet beater to "fight off Alaskan mosquitoes" and turned the Glasgow Civic Center into a bath house for the weary voyagers.

When the refreshing stop ended Thursday morning, the 34 Alaska-bound pioneers started the final 2,000 miles of their motor trip, swinging north into Canada.

Snow, tire blowouts and an accident have plagued the group, which hopes to homestead farms in Alaska's Kenai peninsula.

School Aid 'Panic' Rapped

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The U.S. Chamber of Commerce accused school aid backers of using Russia's Sputnik to try to "panic the Congress into far-reaching intervention in our schools."

Dr. K. Brantley Watson said some shortcomings in the nation's school system have been "deliberately distorted" and "exaggerated out of proportion" since the first Sputnik was launched.

Watson, a member of the chamber's education committee, made the statements before a House education subcommittee hearing on school aid bills.

Curb Patients, Doctors Urged

CHICAGO — (UPI) — The American Medical Association said that physicians, recognizing their responsibility for the safety of patients and the public, should caution patients against driving for a certain period of time or even permanently.

The AMA said a guide was published in its current journal to call attention to the areas in which the medical profession may be of help in combating the serious health problem caused by the large number of automobile accidents. The guide followed a two-year study.

At April Meeting Here

Inter-American Bar Group Will Study Investments

Special studies of investment possibilities in Latin America will be made by the Inter-American Bar Association at its April 10-19 meeting in Miami.

Association officials announced in Washington that Argentina, a country with a lively interest in such investments, plans to send a 47-member delegation to the conference.

Dr. Edmundo Augusto Garcia of Buenos Aires, former chairman of the Council of the Organization of American States (OAS) will be chief speaker at the Pan American Day program of the association, to be observed on April 14.

On that same day, there will be extensive discussions on the investment situation in Latin America.

The talks are expected to include such matters as the regional market plan now being formed in Central America, talk of similar regional organizations in South America, the Inter-American Development Bank and related matters.

Thousands Hail Danish King

COPENHAGEN —(AP)— Hundreds of thousands of Danes cheered King Frederik IX as he drove through the gaily decorated capital in celebration of his 60th birthday.

Thousands of children on holiday from school waved small flags at the smiling King and Queen Ingrid in the gilded state coach.

A HERO'S REWARD is given to eight-year-old Guy Sterling, of Augusta, Ga., as Georgia Fire Commissioner Zack D. Cravey inducts him as an honorary deputy state fire marshal for saving the life of his mother, Mrs. Robert M. Sterling. Her clothing caught fire in the kitchen and she ran from the house in panic. Guy downed her with a flying tackle, wrapped a floor rug aound her and smothered the flames.

U.S. 'Slump' Blamed For World Trade Lag

BROADBEACH, Australia — (AP) — Communist Hungary claims that an economic recession in the U.S. and other capitalist lands had retarded world trade.

Hungary's Janos Nagy made the claim before the 26-nation Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East as he and Czechoslovakia's Jan Zitek chorused the virtues of the Communist system. Neither Soviet satellite is an ECAFE member, both being represented by observers.

U.S. Delegate Christopher H. Phillips said he would not reply to the Red arguments. He said he considered them out of tune with the constructive tone of the conference.

Nagy told the conference there had been increases in capital deveopment, employment and living standards in all Socialist (Communist) countries but that economic development had slowed down in other sections of the world.

Nagy asserted that the main reason for the decrease in world trade was recession in America, Japan and Western Europe.

Puerto Rico Slams Door on Gamblers' Plan to Set Up Casino at New Resort

By DOM BONAFEDE
Herald Staff Writer

The commonwealth government of Puerto Rico slammed the door Thursday on two big-time operators who had elaborate plans to open a string of gambling casinos on Miami's Caribbean doorstep.

Rafael Benitez Carle, director of tourism, reported Puerto Rican officials turned down a request by Cliff Jones and Jacob Kozloff to operate a gambling emporium at Barranquitas, a new mountain resort.

Jones and Kozloff — both graduates of the Las Vegas school of gambling — are currently operating the Casino International d'Haiti in Port-au-Prince. Jones, former lieutenant governor of Nevada, also holds the gambling franchise at the Havana Hilton in Cuba.

Since putting new life in Haiti's government-owned casino, the partners announced plans to enlarge their horizon to include a chain of gambling parlors strategically placed throughout the tourist-popular West Indies.

The plan drew the undivided attention of Greater Miami tourist leaders, who were afraid it would siphon off some of the traffic headed for the Gold Coast.

With Puerto Rico no longer in their plans, Jones and Kozloff will now have to put all their eggs in a casino they are promoting in the Dutch-owned island of Aruba off the coast of Venezuela.

Jones and Kozloff were invited to take over the Haiti casino by the government there last December.

Since that time they have transformed it into a Las Vegas-type casino attracting the mink and dinner jacket set.

"They've turned it into an efficient and successful operation," a Haitian official recently reported.

No Mention of Galindez' Disappearance

U.S. Rests Case of Trujillo 'Agent'

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The government wound up its case against Washington Lawyer John Joseph Frank without mentioning the 1956 disappearance of Columbia University Professor Jesus Maria de Galindez.

FRANK

Frank is being retried on a charge that he was an unregistered Dominican Republic agent in this country. His first conviction was thrown out because of cloak and dagger testimony about the De Galindez case.

The 43-year-old ex-FBI man was the only person indicted by a grand jury which investigated but never produced a solution to the mystery of the vanished professor.

De Galindez, a Basque scholar, disappeared from New York March 12, 1956, just before he was to release a book criticizing Dominican Dictator Generalissimo Raphael Trujillo.

The book was published anyway.

At his first trial, Frank was said to have been at a Linden, N.J., airport when a plane was rented six days before the professor vanished. Appeals judges said the attempt to link Frank with possible murder and kidnaping denied him a fair trial on the non-registration charge.

This time there was no testimony about the airport. The jury was told Frank had investigated De Galindez for Trujillo, but the professor's name was mentioned only briefly.

The government says Frank acted as Trujillo's bodyguard on a trip to Kansas City, Mo., in 1955 and was a lawyer in two Dominican-controlled companies.

Defense Lawyer Edward L. Carey said none of these made Frank a "foreign agent."

SHOULDER PAIN

Shoulder pain is quite often associated with neck pain or pain in the upper part of the back. Individuals with this type of disorder frequently consult a Chiropractor and are pleasantly surprised to find early success in the alleviation of their symptoms. The Chiropractor, by proper analysis of the spinal column and adjacent tissues, finds the site of causative irritation and removes it by proper adjustment. Found: Diplomats Who Pay Their Traffic Fines

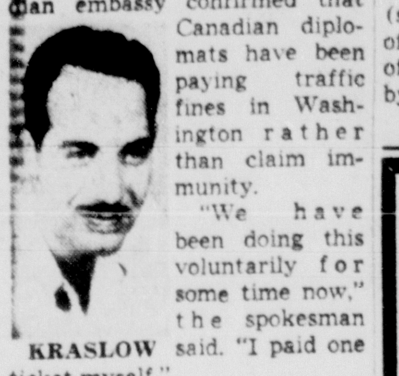
By DAVID KRASLOW
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Found: People who pay their traffic tickets even though they can fix them legally.

A spokesman at the Canadian embassy confirmed that Canadian diplomats have been paying traffic fines in Washington rather than claim immunity.



KRASLOW

"We have been doing this voluntarily for some time now," the spokesman said. "I paid one ticket myself."

Legal traffic ticket fixing is a booming business in the nation's capital.

Hundreds of foreign diplomats ignore Washington's traffic and parking laws every month and get away with it. The gimmick is an old custom known as diplomatic immunity. It accounts for the fixing of several thousand tickets in Washington every year.

All the embassies have to do is send the tickets to the police department with the notation: "Please cancel."

"I believe the Canadians are the only ones who pay their tickets," said John J. Agnew, deputy chief of police in charge of traffic.

"We feel we are visitors in this country and should abide by the laws," the Canadian official explained.

"It is not good public relations for us to take the position that we are superior persons and can park in front of fire hydrants and block driveways.

"Washington has the largest diplomatic corps in the world (several thousand). It's a bit of a nuisance when one section of a community doesn't abide by the law."

Fifty-one tickets issued in just the downtown business district were fixed during the week ending March 7. They were issued to diplomats of 28 foreign countries.

Diplomatic immunity was claimed on 1,516 tickets issued in the downtown area in 1958. The bulk of the citations were for parking violations.

And business seems to be getting better.

For the first 10 weeks of 1959, the police department fixed 339 tickets issued in the downtown area.

'Speak Softly and Carry a Little Stick'

U.S. Acting Cautiously on Integration

By DON OBERDORFER
Of Our Washington Bureau

William Rogers

WASHINGTON — The Eisenhower administration's newest civil rights posture is to speak softly and carry a little stick.

It reached this positon partly by contrasting the fate of integrated schools in Little Rock with those in Virginia.

In the case of Little Rock, where the federal government was forced to display massive power, the situation is still bitter and unresolved.

The executive branch of the federal government rejected pleas that it take an active part in the Virginia court battle. Ten schools there are now operating integrated classes.

Attorney General William Rogers outlined the administration's new views before a House committee drafting civil rights legislation.

He rejected offers o. a big new federal weapon—the power to begin court suits for new school integration. This was despite the fact that the administration asked Congress for this very same power two years ago.

"The image of the federal government dominating the states is apt to infuriate people and harden the resistance, making progress difficult," Rogers said.

He revealed the method in the new lamb-in-the-china shop approach by saying, "We tried to draft our proposals in such a way that it didn't seem to people that the federal government is trying to do too much."

The administration's main proposal this year would make it a crime for mobs to interfere or threaten to interfere with court orders for school integration.

Rogers hopes this anti-mob authority would be "a substitute" for calling out the troops in any future Little Rock crisis.

The attorney general's new, more cautious position on civil rights brought immediate fire from liberal Democrats demanding strong action to enforce the rights declared by the Supreme Court.

But Republicans on the House committee quickly embarrassed those attackers by bringing up the wide Democratic Party split on this issue. The GOP members pointed out that any demand for strong action would run into stiff resistance from Democratic congressional leaders, particularly in the Senate.

Rogers has attempted to spike rumors that he tried in vain to convince President Eisenhower to take a stronger civil rights stand this year.

But he quickly rejected a GOP congressman's helpful suggestion that the new program represents the attorney general's "profound conviction." Rogers said there are good arguments on both sides of the new posture, hinting his stance could be easily changed by a change of heart at a well-known Pennsylvania Ave. address.

Snuff, a Mutt, Dies a Hero

HAMDEN, Conn.—(AP)—A six-month-old mongrel dog named Snuff died a hero's death.

As smoke came from his master's home, Snuff ran in and waked Mr. and Mrs. Donald Schroeder.

The couple carried their son Carl, 11, and daughter Dorothy, six, to safety. Snuff, who belonged to Dorothy, remained inside the house, which was ruined by fire.

Resignation Of Dulles Held a 'Must'

Moss said it was "a must" if American interests are to be fully protected abroad.

"Trouble spots across the world cry out to us that we cannot afford the luxury of a part-time secretary of state," he said.

Moss said in a statement that U. S. relations "with far too many nations are rapidly deteriorating for one reason or another."

"Where the nation's interests are at stake," Moss said, "we cannot afford sentimentality. Action should be taken at once. If the President will not take the initiative, then, as a final gesture of self abnegation and devotion to his country, Mr. Dulles should resign."

Ex-Mayor Is Cleared

SANTIAGO, Cuba — (AP) — Former Mayor Maximo Torres, who voluntarily returned from exile last week, was released from prison and cleared of suspicion of any wrongdoing during the administration of former Dictator Fulgencio Batista.

Torres fled Cuba after the collapse of the Batista regime Jan. 1. He returned Friday saying he preferred to come home rather than live in exile in Haiti. He was jailed for investigation on his arrival here.

Florida of '70s Vast Metropolis?

Industrial Leaders Predict Growth Over the Years

By JAMES RUSSELL
Herald Business Editor

TAMPA — "We're dickering for an electronics plant at Naples that will bring between 500 and 1,000 families into the area," said a delegate to the first annual Florida Industrial Conference here Thursday.

"Well, we think we are on the verge of bringing in a steel rolling mill at DeLand that will employ about 300 people," said another.

You could hear comments like these everywhere you turned in the lobby and the dining rooms of the Hillsboro Hotel, where close to 200 persons from all over Florida opened two days of discussions about stimulating the state's industrial development.

The keynote speaker for the conference, Howell H. Watson of Dallas, Tex., carried the development theme a little further.

"All natural signs point to intensive industrial growth in Florida," said Watson, president of the National Society of Indústrial Realtors.

The conference here is sponsored by the Florida chapter of the society and also by the State Chamber of Commerce and the extensive division of the University of Florida.

The word: Floridaopolis.

Watson attributed the word to Dr. Philip Howser, population expert of the University of Chicago, who used it to describe the Florida of the 1970's.

"Florida will make one of the great metropolitan areas in the 1970's," Howser was quoted as saying. "The only word for it is Floridaopolis."

"This," said Watson, "is a new concept—a statewide metropolitan area."

The Texas businessman, who just visited California a few days ago, praised Florida for grasping its industrial potential and exploiting it with conferences aimed at planning on a statewide scale.

He warned that "industry cannot live by climate alone" and said coordinated planning must be continued to let industry know it is welcome in Florida and will find conditions right for profitable operations.

But Florida, he said, is on its way.

Sen. Spessard Holland told the conference Thursday night that although Florida is moving rapidly on industrial expansion, "we are not building ourselves out of the tourist business," that would be unthinkable" he said.

Holland said the industry that is coming to Florida "is clean industry that does not impair our attractiveness as a tourist state."

There is still "plenty of room for expansion" the senator said.

Holland said one field Florida has not capitalized on as it should is its maritime program.

"But we are expanding our ports and we must continue to expand port facilities because that is one big thing that will attract more industry."

He said the state's three main advantages as an industrial area are climate, water and proximity to Latin America.

"There is no such thing here as an unbalanced boom" Holland said praising the Florida-grown companies that were established years ago." The companies — like the electric utilities — are keeping up."

Jobless Tax Rate To Double

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — The State Industrial Commission disclosed Thursday that unemployment tax rates on Florida employers will be doubled in 1959 as a result of high unemployment last year.

The tax rates of individual employers will average out about twice the .0075 paid last year, or approximately .015.

The commission said an employer who hires 10 workers with an average payroll of $50,000 would pay tax of $450 under the new rate, compared to $225 last year.

Purpose of the doubled rate is to build the jobless benefits funds, strained during last year's recession, back to a level of 4 per cent of the taxable payrolls.

The balance at the start of the year had fallen to 3.7 per cent of taxable payrolls.

Staff Chiefs Slated to Be Reappointed

By HANSON W. BALDWIN
The New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — The reappointment of three members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff will be announced soon.

Those who will be reappointed to new two-year terms starting this summer include Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; General Thomas D. White, chief of staff of the Air Force, and Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations.

Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, vice chief of staff of the army, will succeed General Maxwell D. Taylor, present army chief of staff, whose second two-year term of office ends on June 30. Gen. Taylor is expected to retire.

The second two-year term Gen. Randolph McC. Pate, commandant of the U.S. Marine Corps, does not expire until Dec. 31, and as far as is known no successor has yet been selected. Gen. Pate also expects to retire.

The names of Lt.-Gen. Merrill B. Twining, a brother of the Air Force general who is chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, and of Lt.-Gen. Edwin A. Pollock have been mentioned as possible successors to Gen. Pate, but a younger officer — well down in the promotion list —may be selected.

Gen. Nathan Twining ends his first two-year term as chairman of the Joint Chiefs next August. He had served previously as chief of staff of the Air Force. Gen. White ends his first two-year term as chief of staff of the Air Force on June 1. Prior to that he had been vice chief of the air staff under Gen. Twining.

Adm. Burke will have served two two-year terms as chief of naval operations in August. His appointment to a third term is unprecedented.

Navy records indicated that Adm. W. S. Benson, who was chief of naval operations during World War I, was the only chief of naval operations whose term of office exceeded four years. He served from May 11, 1915, to Sept. 25, 1919.

Meter Checker File Gets Boost

But Travis Phillips, the city's Off-Street Parking Department director won't known if he is "in business" until the gals take the civil service exams Monday.

He hopes to hire four lady meter cops by April 1 when Miami begins its first test with female checkers. Coral Gables and Miami Beach have used gal meter "hawks" for the past two years.

Chileans Inspect Dade Highways

Enrique Arteaga, 26, and Juan Walker — scheduled to spend several months in the U.S. studying highway construction — got their first example at the site of the 10 million dollar 36th St. Causeway.

Road Board Chairman Joe Grotegut said the engineers' trip is sponsored by the International Road Federation. They are scheduled to inspect road construction in other parts of Florida before beginning a nationwide tour.

Who, Meee?

Becoming a queen is an exciting moment —for everyone concerned, apparently. Even the losers were ecstatic when 21-year-old Sandra Freeman of Jacksonville was named Florida Citrus Queen Wednesday night at Winter Haven. A drama major at Jacksonville University, her first official assignment will be to spread the word about Florida citrus in chilly Alaska.

Hi-Y Club 'Legislators' Meet Today

The Florida "Legislature" convenes today in Tallahassee, legislators being 150 teenagers taking part in the YMCA's Youth and Government program.

Greater Miami will be represented by 22 delegates from the 11 Hi-Y and Tri Hi-Y clubs in the area. Heading the local group is Frank Chaplin, of 633 NE 119th St., candidate for governor from the Southeast district.

Chaplin will run against three other candidates for the top post this afternoon.

The two-day session is a replica of state government in action and will be run entirely by the YMCA delegates, with help from the Legislature's administrative staff. Chairman of the program is Tom Henderson, assistant attorney general of Florida.

Bills passed by committees will be presented on the floor of both houses, debated and passed or defeated, just as in regular legislative sessions.

Psychologists In Workshop

Psychologists from Florida and out-of-state hospitals and universities will participate today in a workshop on doctoral training in clinical psychology at the University of Miami.

Sponsored jointly by the university and the Florida State Board of Health, the seminar will take place in the Graduate School building from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

U.S. Loses Petition But Records Are Kept

JACKSONVILLE — (AP) — A petition from the federal government for an injunction to prohibit the state of Alabama from destroying registration records of 20 Negroes in Macon County has been denied by the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals.

Judge Richard T. Rives of Montgomery, Ala., presiding, announced the court would deny the motion but added a suggestion that the state of Alabama give written assurance that all records would be preserved.

Attorney General McDonald Gallion of Alabama agreed and the assurance was put in writing after court adjourned.

The appellate court injunction had been sought to maintain the status quo of a suit on the Macon County issue which was dismissed Friday in Montgomery by U.S. District Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr.

The federal government has filed notice of appeal and Judge Rives Wednesday set the appeal for hearing the week of April 27 in New Orleans.

Homestead To Get Loan

From Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Approval of an interest-free loan of $2,670 to Homestead for the planning of sewer improvements and a swimming pool was announced here by the Community Facilities Administration.

Estimated cost of the sewer project is $150,000 and of the swimming pool $50,000. The pool will be in the city's Southwest section.

Homestead told the CFA it expects to start construction on both projects this year.

Miami High Times Tops In Its Class

Five student newspapers in the Miami area have won awards in the annual contest sponsored by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, it was announced Thursday.

The contest for the improvement of student writing and publications had more than 1,600 entries.

A "medialist" award, the highest honor, went to The Times of Miami Senior High School in the competition for senior high schools of 2,500 or more enrollment. The Hialeah High Record took a first place behind Miami High in that class.

Miami Beach Senior High's Beachcomber won medalist honors for printed newspapers of schools with more than 1,000 enrollment.

Among junior high schools of 700 or more enrollment, Miami Beach High's Embryo won a first-place award. Central Beach School received a second place for its Journal in the elementary school competition.

Arabs Protest Exodus Of Jews From Romania

World News

VIENNA — (AP) — Jews emigrating from Communist Romania to Israel still are arriving in Vienna, but the exodus soon may end because of Arab protests.

Jewish sources said Romanian authorities in Bucharest have issued no visaed passports to Jews for travel to Israel since Feb. 28. They fear Romanian authorities will halt the movement permanently to appease the Arabs.

Israel's Arab neighbors have protested against the emigration of Romanian Jews, charging it will lead to Israeli expansionism.

Romania's expulsion last weekend of Amnon Keren, attache of the Israeli legation in Bucharest, on charges of espionage and Zionist subversion, was regarded here as a gesture toward the Arabs.

Since then, Israeli-Romanian relations have become more strained. Israel charges its Bucharest legation was placed virtually under a state of siege in order to cut off contact with prospective Jewish emigrants.

Jewish sources in Vienna still hope the cutoff of visas is only temporary. They had hoped that in all about 80,000 Romanian Jews would go to Israel this year.

Turkish Editor Gets Sentence

ANKARA, Turkey — (AP) — A special press court has sentenced an opposition editor to 16 months in prison for reprinting a summary of articles by U.S. Publisher Eugene Pulliam and his wife Nina.

MENDERES

The court said the articles belittled Premier Adnan Menderes.

The court also fined the editor, Ulki Arman, $444 and ordered his paper "Ulus" suspended for a month. Arman is already serving a one-year term for a previous press offense.

The latest sentence, which can be appealed, was the first court ruling in connection with the Pulliam articles, which were published in The Indianapolis Star.

The Pulliams came to Turkey last September on a reporting tour of the Middle East. Their stories severely criticized the Menderes government's record.

British Union Elects 2nd Red

LONDON — (AP) — The Communist head of Britain's big mineworkers union is retiring next month but another Red has been elected to succeed him.

Arthur Horner is quitting at 65 after 13 years as general secretary of the 700,000 man union. The union announced that stocky, craggy-featured Will Paynter, 54, has been elected to succeed him.

Paynter won in a January election by 52,304 votes, the union said.

He has been a member of the Communist Party for 30 years and an official of the Miners Union for 20. Once the Communist organizer for Wales, he served in the International Brigade in the Spanish Civil War.

3 Cardinals Get Red Hats

VATICAN CITY — (AP) — Pope John XXIII Thursday conferred red hats and rings on three of the 23 cardinals he created last December.

POPE

The three princes of the Roman Catholic Church who received their insignia are Giuseppe Cardinal Fietta and Fernando Cardinal Cento of Italy and Joseph Cardinal Bueno y Monreal of Spain.

They did not attend the glittering consistories at which their colleagues were presented their red hats in December. Instead, following an ancient custom between the Vatican and the governments of Italy and Spain, they received their birettas of office from the chiefs of state of Italy and Spain.

Australia, Reds Patch Up Rift

BROADBEACH, Australia — (AP) — Australia and the Soviet Union appeared to be patching up diplomatic relations broken off in 1954 when runaway Soviet Spy Vladimir Petrov was given political asylum here.

Australian Foreign Minister Richard G. Casey and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Nikolai Firyubin met for 45 minutes in a hotel room after sitting side by side at a luncheon.

Firyubin is here for a conference of the Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East. The lunch that brought him together with the Australian minister was given by the chief U.S. delegate to the conference, Christopher H. Phillips. Casey said that his meeting with Firyubin was very friendly.

Puerto Rico Seeks More Autonomy

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico — (AP) — The Legislature approved a resolution asking Congress to make certain changes in the Federal Relations Act which created the commonwealth status for this island in 1952.

Generally, the changes would provide for more local authority.

Main changes asked in the resolution include:

Taking appeals from the Puerto Rican Supreme Court directly to the U.S. Supreme Court. Appeals are now taken to the Boston District Circuit Court of Appeals.

Fixing in Puerto Rico the excise taxes on some items produced here for export to the mainland.

2 Children Die in Fire

ROCHESTER, N.Y. — (AP) — Two of four children, alone while their mother was having a tooth treated, were burned to death in their home.

A fireman rescued a brother and sister.

Authorities said Mrs. Ruth Brooks asked a neighbor to check on her two boys and two girls from time to time while she went to a hospital.

Diane Brooks, five, and Tony, 21 months, died when fire swept the two-story house. John, four, and Sheryl, six months, were injured critically.

Conant: Not All Need High School

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — (UPI) — James B. Conant, former president of Harvard University, says the generally accepted "dogma" that all youths should complete high school may be wrong.

CONANT

Conant suggested a system of part-time work for students over 16, "even if the employment is in the program of studies in the school."

"I should start by questioning the dogma one often hears that all the youths irrespective of academic ability and interest should complete grade 12," Conant told a Harvard audience.

"Above all," he said, "the relation of education to employment of youths 16 and over must be constantly kept in mind."

Conant, who served as high commissioner of and ambassador to West Germany after leaving Harvard in 1953, said he has seen "signs of a movement in the direction of some such scheme."

"More high schools might well examine the possibility of finding part-time jobs for certain types of students 16 years of age or over," he said.

The educator said that under such a program "a teacher or director is responsible for both the work in school and some supervision for the work done on the job."

"Only students with at least average academic ability" would be allowed to enroll in such a program, Conant said.

Agreement Due

BONN, Germany — (UPI) — Informed sources said the West German defense ministry will conclude an agreement next week with the Lockheed Aircraft Co. for the delivery of 96 F104 jet "Starfighters" and the licensing for production in West Germany of 200 more.

True Christian Faith Will Prevail

By BILLY GRAHAM

QUESTION: Everyone today fears communism. Do you think that communism will ultimately destroy the Christian faith?

ANSWER: I do not believe that communism will be able to destroy the true Christian faith. What it may do is to destroy a kind of pseudo-Christianity which lacks the inward conviction and vitality of a supernatural faith.

GRAHAM

Christianity is a supernatural religion. It rests upon a supernatural faith. It was born and grew to maturity in the Roman world which was pagan and opposed to Christianity. It has never needed the sponsorship of any government to thrive. Jesus once said, "Upon this rock will I build my church and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it."

Christians may be called upon to suffer for their faith as the early martyrs did. But that does not mean that Christianity will be destroyed.

The problem today is that too many professing Christians fear any persecution or suffering for the cause of Christ. But fear not, for if and when the time for suffering comes, God will supply an abundance of courage and strength for the ordeal.

Japanese to Join Iceberg Studies

TOKYO—(AP)—At the invitation of the Cambridge U.S. Army Research Laboratory, three Japanese scientists will join American and Canadian scientists on a gigantic iceberg called T3 for study of sea currents and winds near the North Pole.

The three are Professor Ukichiro Nakaya and Assistant Professors Niroshi Kusunoke and Jira Muguruma, all of Hokkaido University. The berg has been studied since its discovery by U.S. airmen in 1947.

Parkinson's Disease Forum Monday Night

Dade County doctors and the public will have an opportunity this weekend to learn about new developments from the nation's foremost experts in the treatment of Parkinson's disease.

The doctors have been invited to a symposium at 9 a.m. Saturday in Memorial Hall at Jackson Memorial Hospital.

At 8 p.m. Monday there will be a free public forum at Miami Beach Auditorium.

On the panel will be Dr. Lewis J. Doshay, director of the Parkinson Laboratory at Columbia University; Dr. Ralph Jones, professor and chairman of the University of Miami Department of Medicine; Dr. George J. LeRoy, associate dean of biological sciences at the University of Chicago; Dr. A. M. Ornsteen, chairman of the University of Pennsylvania's Department of Neurology, and Dr. Earl A. Walker, professor of neuro-surgery at Johns Hopkins University.

Sponsors are the Florida Chapter of the National Parkinson Foundation and the University of Miami Department of Medicine.

Art Exhibit Begins Today

An Israeli art exhibition at 1037 Kane Concourse, Bay Harbor Island, will be open to the public today and Monday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

The art was brought here by Miss Yurika Mann, director of the Jerusalem Art Center. The collection consists of more than 100 paintings by leading Israeli artists.

Lawmaker Hires Political Friends

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Rep. Charles A. Buckley (D., N.Y.) said Thursday his $38,497 a year allowance for office help goes to eight political friends in New York City who do part-time work for him.

The veteran New York congressman also said four staff members of the House Public Works Committee of which he is chairman work in his congressional office here or do part-time jobs for him in New York.

He made the comments in response to questions about a published story on his office set-up. The 12 draw government salaries totaling $70,171 annually.

"There's nothing wrong with that," Buckley said of the committee employes working in his office. "They are under my direction as chairman and work where they are assigned."

As to the eight political friends in New York, Buckley said:

"There's no secret about that. I've been doing it for about 20 years. None of the employes is a relative. They are all good Democrats, the kind of people I like to take care of."

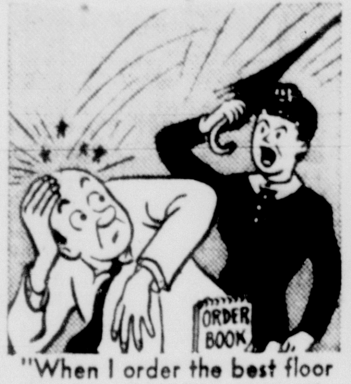
On Sovereignty

Attlee Calls For 'Yielding

NEW ORLEANS—(AP)—Former British Prime Minister Clement Attlee says there is no insurance against a war that will wreck civilization unless nations sacrifice some of their sovereignty for a world government.

The 76-year-old Laborite told the Foreign Policy Association that "we live so closely packed together in the world that we cannot afford to have states without any authority over them but their own."

Attlee, England's prime minister during the post-war period, said the U.N. has failed because member nations have refused to yield any of their individual rights.



"When I order the best floor wax, you should give me only 'Beacon Wax.' 'Beacon Wax' gives the best gloss."

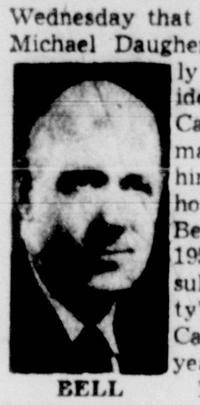
The Town Crier

BY Jack Bell



BELL

ATTORNEY Walter Gwinn told the Florida Parole Board Wednesday that Deputy Sheriff Michael Daugherty "deliberately lied" when he identified Virgil Cash as the man who shot him during the holdup of White Belt Dairy in 1953. As a result of Daugherty's testimony, Cash got a 30-year sentence.

It's a fantastic yarn, any way you look at it. Gwinn told me two weeks ago he was going to tell the Parole Board "the truth." Gwinn defended "Long John" Fulford, one of the Cash gang, and Fulford was declared innocent of the robbery. But Gwinn says Fulford told him that he (Long John), not Virgil Cash, shot Daugherty.

Gwinn says that another officer, who sent out a call to pick up three Negroes suspected of the holdup, was asked to go along with a deal that would identify Virgil Cash as the killer. He refused, saying, "How can I do that when I've already indicated I thought Negroes did it." Gwinn says this man offered to testify before the Parole Board, but couldn't be there Wednesday.

So here's Gwinn, who knew Fulford shot the officer, keeping quiet and letting Cash go to prison on the robbery and attempted murder charge. When such a confession no longer could be used against him, Fulford let Gwinn disclose the story. And there were Cash and Fulford imprisoned together in Raiford.

I was in Raiford about a year after the Cash boys went up. Virgil was in Flat Top, a horrible hole; "just so he can't start anything," said officials. Baby Ray, his younger brother, told me, "It ain't good for Virgil. He's a worrier." Now I'm told that Virgil is on the verge of becoming completely "stir crazy." If he is pardoned, he plans to go to his parents who have a small filling station in Georgia.

Scene Changes

Norman drove into Miami a few days ago for another look. "Things have changed," he said. "The Elks Club was here then. They were building the McAllister. That's about it. Where's the fair building, in which we were quartered? Where's Rector's Cafe, the Royal Palm Hotel? How did Bayfront Park get there? That was Biscayne Bay."

Since leaving the Navy, Berry has been living in Ashland, Ky. He was fire chief there. The Clyde Colleys and the Raymond Arthurs are showing him our fantastic city.

Peter C. Reid sat down to eat at Charcoal Hut in Surfside. Owner Eddie Feinstein took a look and said "Say, haven't I seen you somewhere?"

Reid looked closer and replied, "You sure have. I was your commanding officer in the Navy during World War II."

They hadn't met since the war ended . . . and Reid has been around the corner in real estate for years.

$40 Billion Marches into Miami

Sixty Northern Financiers Arrive in Miami to Look Over Investment Picture

. . . they will tour sites of proposed Dade County developments

Big Bond Buyers Fly In To See What We Offer

By JOHN MORTON
Herald Staff Writer

The money men came to Miami Thursday — 40 billion dollars strong.

Some 60 Northern financiers touched down at Miami International Airport on the first leg of a VIP tour of Dade County designed to whet their appetites for local investment.

Bad weather delayed their arrival nearly an hour, and a planned inspection tour of the massive new terminal building was cut to a brisk walk down its main concourse.

The group, guests of the Florida Development Commission and State Road Department, will attend state-sponsored briefings at the Fontainebleau Hotel and inspection trips through Saturday.

William D. Singer

. . . with fingers crossed

William D. Singer, road board member from Miami who is touring with the group, said the visit "means an awful lot to Florida — especially Miami."

One of the projects the financiers will check first-hand is the county's 25-million-dollar bond issue covering the 36th St. Expressway and other projects.

The visitors, most of them from Yankee investment banks and insurance companies, represent a huge part of the nation's public bond buying and selling business.

Kenneth W. Barber, of Connecticut General Life Insurance Co., one of the group, estimated the visitors represent "assets of about 40 billion dollars."

Their tour will end at a Saturday luncheon which will feature a speech by McGregor Smith, chairman of the Florida Power and Light Co. and a member of the Governor's Advisory Committee on Industry.

4 Dairies Up Price On Milk

Half-Gallons Cost 55 Cents

By DOM BONAFEDE
Herald Staff Writer

Greater Miami housewives will soon have to dig deeper in their pocketbooks for half gallon containers of milk, now selling at the bargain price of 39 cents at many supermarkets.

In an industry-wide price shakeup, The Herald learned Thursday that wholesale milk prices were bounced back from 48 cents a half gallon to 51 cents by four big dairies. The increase is effective in Palm Beach, Broward, Dade and Monroe Counties.

According to grocers, this means consumers will probably have to shell out 55 cents per half gallon — 16 cents above the current price.

Unaffected by the price change will be quart sales and home deliveries.

Putting the price readjustment in motion Thursday was Land O'Sun Dairy.

Three other distributors—Sealtest, Borden's and Home Milk — notified their retail customers that the markup will be effective early next week.

Odds are better than even that the other eight dairy distributors in South Florida will follow suit.

Distributors blame the price change on a financial squeeze caused by increasing costs and a long price war among their members.

Many dairymen claim they are going into the red under the current market prices and that unless their margin of profit is increased they will be on the verge of bankruptcy.

They point out that Sunnybrook Dairy, of Miami, went bankrupt last year under the present price setup.

Distributors cannot reduce the price they pay for raw milk since the farmers' price is fixed by federal law at $7 per hundredweight.

"Compared to this distributors pay $4.31 in Chicago, $5.70 in Philadelphia, $4.28 in Milwaukee, $5.68 in Los Angeles and so on.

"Our local farmers are justified in their price because tropical dairy farms operate at a very high cost. However, the result is that the present 48 cents wholesale price could no longer be endured financially."

The dairymen maintain they would lose about six million dollars during the next year if they continued to operate within the present price range.

Storeowners also welcomed the new prices.

By offering half-gallon containers at 39 cents as a loss leader item, the retailers lose nine cents with each sale.

Sawed-Off Gun Poses Mystery

Police had a mystery Thursday.

They reported the discovery of a gangland-style weapon — a sawed-off shotgun in good working condition. But, so far, no crime attached to it.

Bond Cut In Death Plot Case

By JAMES BUCHANAN
Herald Staff Writer

Bond for Mrs. Hugh Gurley — accused of attempted murder in a slay-for-pay plot — was cut Thursday from $25,000 to $500.

Her husband, Hugh Gurley, posted the $500 bond and took her home from jail Thursday night. He said he wasn't a bit afraid she'd go ahead with her alleged plot to kill him.

The state attorney's office contends she gave $100 to a Miami detective in the belief he was a "killer for hire," and promised him more if he did away with the burly truck driver.

Gurley told Judge Giblin, "My wife and I will go on just as we were because I don't believe she meant to do this."

"Are you scared of her?" Judge Giblin asked.

Presumably staying with her would be one of Mrs. Gurley's three daughters by a previous marriage or John Walker, 25-year-old self-styled preacher who rooms and boards with the Gurleys at 3702 NW 23rd Ave.

The Gurleys were before Judge Giblin with a request that the woman's $25,000 bond set by Criminal Court Judge Gene Williams be reduced because it was excessive.

Glenn Mincer, assistant state attorney, said he agreed and Judge Giblin ordered the reduction.

Despite 'Dirty Trick'

Preview of Lingerie Jolts Male Viewers

By MIKE MORGAN
Herald Staff Writer

It was real sneaky what they pulled at a downtown department store Thursday, even if the fellows did learn about derriere control and gold lame girdles.

The invitation elegantly invited a number of men, including a coterie of newspaper and TV fellows to a showing of new lingerie and girdles.

Most of the guys accepted since they are enthusiastic about the pursuit of their duties no matter how hazardous the conditions.

They could also bring their wives, if they pleased. Most of them didn't please because they wanted to preview the nightgowns and girdles without prejudice. Also what the wives don't know about the hubbies don't have to buy.

The handful of men all wore a common expression of sincerity like their feet hurt. But none walked away.

Heck no!

Then a model glided out in a fetching hunk of girdle that had an automatic, build in bulge aft.

It was announced as the "Italian look" and produced curves where they didn't come naturally.

After all, who wears long black underwear under girdles? Even the men know this ain't the way Hoyle calls the shot.

But someone explained it wasn't underwear; it was a black leotard—and is worn because it shows the girdles and bras to better advantage.

That's their opinion. It wasn't the conclusion of the invited male guests who had some decided thoughts on the subject.

While the men paid strict attention to duty and watched the models, it wasn't thus with the women spectators.

One lovely in a nice, haystack hairdo, came out in a black pleated bit of fruffery that was called a nightgown but was more like a hydrogen bomb.

The guys just wiped their lips with dignity. It was real educational in a jarring kind of way.

Injured Man Awarded $5,243

Judge's Ruling Makes Police 'Souse Sitters'

Policemen are responsible for the care and well-being of helpless drunks they arrest, Circuit Judge Vincent C. Giblin held Thursday in giving a former drunken prisoner a judgment for $5,243.75 against the City of Miami.

Lee Roy Kidd, 52, a carpenter-painter, was arrested at his apartment, 935 NW Second St., Feb. 28, 1958, after police were called by his wife. He had been drinking all day and was beating her, she complained.

His damage suit admitted the intoxication and alleged that he broke a leg when police wagonmen ordered him out of the paddy wagon at the NW 11th St. jail without helping him down the step. It put him on crutches for three months, he said.

AF Reserve Units to Quit City Airport

County Must Help On Costs

Dade Delegation Wins Agreement

By DAVID KRASLOW
Herald Staff Writer

The Air Force agreed Thursday to move out of Miami International Airport — the first step in unsnarling Dade's tangled airways problems.

Reserve units will be transfered to Homestead Air Base.

Patten said the Air Force agreed to move on the condition that the Dade County Port Authority pay $500,000 to defray part of the cost of the transfer.

Patten quoted the Air Force as saying that it would take a minimum of 18 months before the move could be made and that the next step will be for the Port Authority to forward a letter of commitment to the Air Force for putting up the half million dollars.

"The whole problem has been satisfactorily resolved," Patten said. "The Air Force and the Federal Aviation Agency are cooperating fully."

Patten said the spokesman for the Air Force group was John M. Ferry, assistant secretary of the Air Force for installations.

Patten said the question of whether the Strategic Air Command would oppose such a transfer did not arise during the discussion. He said this was an Air Force problem which would be worked out by military authorities.

In addition to Patten, who is chairman of the Port Authority committee, those at the meeting included Commissioners Ralph Fossey, Ben McGahey, Ed Mason and Port Authority Director George McSherry.

Market Catches Them with Flags Up

. . . Drexlers looks glumly at worthless stock

2nd Slump Hits Flag Business

By PHIL FORTMAN
Herald Staff Writer

The flag business in Miami Thursday was quieter than Flagler St. with the bridge up.

As Congress voted admission of Hawaii to the Union as the 50th state, the market for the "old" 49-star flags slumped to zero. And they don't become official until Alaska joins the union on July 4.

"We're stuck with a hundred or so five-by-eight foot 49-star flags that retail for $13.75," said Ray Drexler, who with his wife, Mary, operates the Mary Drexler Flag Co., at 1454 NW 17th Ave.

"Collectors might buy some of them," said Drexler. "The rest we'll give away to our friends."

That also goes for 250 three-by-five-foot, 48-star flags the Drexlers rent for such occasions as the recent Miami International Airport terminal dedication.

"We're at a standstill now because it has not been announced where the 50th star will be and we probably won't know for at least the next two weeks," Drexel said.

The Drexlers do contract flag work for the Army and Navy and they're hoping the adding of the 50th star won't deluge them with Washington gobbledegook the way the 49th did.

One telegram they received from Washington on how to go about adding the 49th star was 11 pages long.

Planned by Atheist

Thomas Paine Group To School Orphans

By PHIL MEYER
Herald Staff Writer

The head of a national atheist organization announced plans Thursday for building a school for homeless orphans in South Dade.

Joseph Lewis, of Miami Beach, said the school will have no connection with the atheist Freethinkers of America, of which he is president.

"We will impart verifiable knowledge and not raise them to be anything. But they can be atheists if they want to," he said.

It will be built by the Thomas Paine Foundation, which he serves as executive secretary, Lewis said.

The Thomas Paine Foundation is an international organization which seeks to spread Paine's "social and political philosophy and help establish his humanitarian ideals." Its honorary president is agnostic philosopher Bertrand Russell.

Lewis said he is negotiating with an architect, and construction of the school on a 20-acre site west of Princeton will start in early summer.

"Its curriculum will be strictly secular and based upon a naturalistic philosophy in accordance with the latest scientific discoveries," he said. "To build strong minds in strong bodies will be our objective.

"Our purpose in establishing this educational institution is to develop courageous men and women to be leaders in a society of intellecutal freedom."

"Orphaned and abandoned children will be housed, clothed and educated free of charge," Lewis said.

Jerry Lewis—a Split Personality

By BEATRICE WASHBURN
Herald Staff Writer

Celebrity Parade

A real split personality is Jerry Lewis, clowning and laughing in the arcade of the Deauville Hotel, making the people laugh.

The young man was all smiles and kindness but upstairs in the suite he relaxed. Gracious, charming, clad in a bright red suit to the ankles, he was accompanied by his new dog which he had just bought to surprise his wife.

"We already have eight dogs," he explained. "But this one will add to the household."

"Clowning? Yes, I suppose you would call it that. I like people and it seems the least I can do to pay them back for all the public has given me. I'm a lucky guy."

Does he never relax? Not often, he admits. Even coming in on the plane from Los Angeles there were antics in the aisle.

But when he sits down to talk he becomes immediately grave and thoughtful. What about?

He has four of them, all boys. Gary is 14, Ronnie, nine, Scottie, three, and Chris, one and a half.

Do they mind?

"They sure do. If there is one thing I believe in it is well behaved children. And mine are, if I do say so, as I shouldn't.

"How soon do you start discipline? As soon as they can walk. That's old enough to toddle over and pick up the piece of paper they have thrown on the floor. People say my wife and I are strict but it pays off because they are pretty attractive youngsters.

"At least we don't have to worry about temper tantrums or marking up the walls with chalk. They are taught to respect their elders and you have no idea how easy that is if you work at it. You and the children both."

With a father who makes around $40,000 a week, it's not easy to make the kids feel like ordinary children. The Lewises even dole out Christmas presents so they won't be overwhelmed.

"It's just a flash in the eye at the moment," he admits, "but think — five kids. It's wonderful. We'd like a girl, of course, but we're willing to settle for whatever the good Lord sends us.

"We nearly lost our first baby and that taught me a lesson I never forgot. Thank God they're healthy and we don't quibble about sex. I'd even be happy if it turned out to be twins."

The Lewises live in Bel Aire, a more or less suburb of Hollywood and have recently bought the L. B. Mayer home, so you can be sure it's no bungalow or humble cottage.

"It wouldn't make any difference if it were," says Jerry, "because I came up the hard way, you know. Started on the stage at the age of five. My debut was made with my father where I piped 'Brother, Can You Spare a Dime?' I wasn't even old enough to know what a dime was, though believe me it was a lot more 28 years ago that it is today."

Jerry and Patti Palmer were married before he ever hit the big time. In fact he was just a struggling comedian.

"And am I glad. I know I was never married for my money and you know that's something for very successful guys to worry about. Patti and I have known it rough. We could do it again. I hope we'll never have to, but at least we know we could."

They've got a religious problem, too, but they don't regard it as such. Jerry is Jewish and his wife, a Catholic. The children can select either one or go to the Baptist or Presbyterian church, any one they choose.

"Love them and let them alone. It's up to them what church they prefer."

It's a long way from Swan Lake, N.J., — where the slim, gray-eyed boy made his debut — to Hollywood. He is remembered at Irvington High School as one of the zaniest cheer leaders in the history of the institution. That about completed his formal education.

"All the rest I've learned from people.

"This is no idle threat because he has given serious performances at literary and law schools. The August American Medical Association bestowed on him an honorary doctorate of humor, declaring that a good laugh can sometimes take the place of an operation."

Jerry himself has had to battle ill health. He is recovering from ulcers. No wonder, delcares his manager, when he is up every morning at five thirty to start work!

Like most humorists he cannot tell how he does it. Unlike most of them he gets in some gay quips but if you did not know his reputation you would take him for a serious, very intelligent introvert. This he is not, naturally, but whoever said that humor is the other side of pathos had it right. Our boy has both.

He is a great homebody, seldom attends night clubs or gay parties.

"We have nurses for the kids but you wouldn't think so to see their mother. My wife is nuts about children. No, she doesn't have a profession. Doesn't need one. Four children, eight dogs, a big house and me keep her pretty busy."

Jerry was once a bus boy at the Swan Lake hotel while his father sang and his mother accompanied him on the piano. The lad couldn't keep from pantomime, dressing up in ridiculous costumes and mouthing operatic numbers to an off stage phonograph.

His Dad didn't like the idea of Jerry being in show business, but has since given up his objections.

Jerry was teamed for 16 years with Dean Martin, in the course of which they did 16 pictures and many TV shows. In 1956 he subbed for Judy Garland in Las Vegas. His Geisha Boy was a hit picture and you haven't lived if you haven't seen Jerry subbing for Ed Murrow or doing other serious business.

There are some performers who can put on charm as easily as they do a pair of shoes, but Jerry's is inborn. He can thrill the spectators by just walking across the floor.

Moreover, in the tense and hectic life of show business, what a relief to find an actor excited about his forthcoming baby instead of about his last divorce.

Composers Plan Public Concerts

The Florida Composers League, meeting in convention here today and Saturday, will sponsor public concerts both nights.

Tonight's concert will be in Beaumont Hall, University of Miami main campus, and Saturday's in the Dixie Room of Musicians Club, Coral Gables.

Daytime meetings include a panel discussion on "Problems Facing the Composer Today." Participants will be Dr. John Boda and Dr. Howard Wilson of the Florida State University faculty, Dean John Bitter and George Roth of the UM music faculty, and composer Jacques Wolfe.

Dr. Ralph Harris will be speaker at the League banquet Saturday.

French Cameroon Freedom OKd

UNITED NATIONS — (UPI) — The U.N. Thursday approved independence for the French Cameroons next Jan. 1 and called for plebiscites to decide the future of the British Cameroons.

The General Assembly's trusteeship committee adopted resolutions concerning independence plans for the two West African trust territories. The action requires concurrence at an assembly plenary session — a mere formality in view of the size of the votes.

The committee adopted by 56 to 9 (the Soviet bloc), with 16 abstentions, a resolution ending the U.N. trusteeship over the French Cameroons when it attains independence on Jan. 1.

It also recommends the territory for U.N. membership and expresses confidence that a new legislature will be elected soon after it becomes free.

Then the committee adopted by a vote of 57 to 0, with 24 abstentions, a seven-power resolution paving the way for plebiscites in both the northern and southern parts of the British Cameroons.

Hebrew School Gives Ambulance

The ambulance will be sent to Israel for use by Red Mogen David, the Jewish equivalent of the Red Cross, according to Rabbi Alexander Gross, principal.

Trujillo: Beards Will Fly

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic — (AP) — Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo declared "brains and beards will fly like butterflies" if any attempt is made to invade this country from Cuba or Venezuela.

In a statement, the Dominican strongman said "the distance from Cuba to this country is no greater than the distance from here to Cuba."

He made the same reference to Venezuela. His remarks obviously came in response to movements in Cuba and Venezuela advocating overthrow of the Dominican government.

"The people can have a strong confidence that if the aggressors want to see brains and beards flying like butterflies, they have only to approach the Dominican beaches in a hostile attitude," Trujillo said.

His mention of beards clearly was aimed at the Cuban rebels who ousted Cuban President Fulgencio Batista Jan 1. Batista now is living in Ciudad Trujillo.

Castro: That Four-Flusher

SANTIAGO, Cuba — (UPI) — Fidel Castro told a mass meeting of 300,000 here Thursday he would like to lead a campaign against Dominican Republic Dictator Rafael Trujillo but cannot because he is premier of Cuba.

"I cannot follow my impulses so I must resign myself to condemning him (Trujillo) from this tribunal," Castro told the cheering crowd.

The gathering was the largest in the history of this Oriente province capital where Castro launched the successful revolution that overthrew Cuban Dictator Fulgencio Batista Jan. 1. Batista now is in the Dominican Republic.

He tabbed Trujillo a "four-flusher . . . who does not frighten us. He is afraid."

He predicted the Dominican people eventually would overthrow Trujillo themselves.

'I'll Disarm Rommel,' Said Vichy Marshal

PARIS — (AP) — Marshal Alphonse Juin writes in his memoirs that he threatened to disarm Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's army if it retreated into Tunisia during World War II.

Juin, then a French commander in Tunisia under the Vichy regime, said he made the threat to Hermann Goering during a call seeking permission to increase French forces in North Africa.

Juin said Goering wondered what would happen to Rommel's army if it was forced by retreat into Tunisia by the British offensive in Libya.

"I replied quickly that it would be neutralized, that is disarmed," Juin continued.

"This caused Goering to relax. He smiled at the idea that Rommel could be disarmed by the weak little man that I appeared to be in his eyes."

Rommel was later defeated by the British and the question of using Tunisia as a refuge became academic.

Job Security Study Urged

Job security for some 10,000 government employes of Miami and Metro should be considered before the area's largest city starts transferring departments to Metro, according to Miami City Manager Ira F. Willard.

Willard said employes' service and pension rights should be established before the city and county sit down to start working out integration of city services.

Ingrid Is Winner in New Round

ROME — (AP) — Ingrid Bergman won another round Thursday in her long and tangled legal battle with Italian Director Roberto Rossellini for the custody of their three children.

A Rome court gave the Swedish actress temporary custody of the children pending a final decision in Rossellini's suit to get them back. Neither Miss Bergman nor Rossellini was in court. Both are in Paris.

Miss Bergman won the first round last year when a Paris court gave her all rights to the children, Roberto nine, and twin girls Isotta and Ingrid Isabella, six.

That Paris decision will take precedence as long as Miss Bergman remains in France. She is living at Choiselle, 30 miles outside Paris, with her Swedish businessman husband, Lars Schmidt, and the children.

Under terms of a separation agreement in Rome last July, Miss Bergman was given the children with the understanding they would be raised as Roman Catholics and be given an Italian education.

Rossellini, in bringing suit in Rome, asserted Miss Bergman was not living up the agreement. He asked that he be given the children so they could be raised as Catholics in Italian schools.

Judge Alberto Virgilio in his ruling directed that the children attend an Italian school in Paris. Counsel for Miss Bergman previously told the court this was being done.

To Ease Citizens' Complaints

Reds Move to Speed Services

MOSCOW —(AP)— Soviet leaders stepped in Thursday to help the citizen who still must wait and wait for a hair cut or a radio repair job in this sputnik age.

The party Central Committee and the Council of Ministers in a joint decree ordered a speed-up in building all manner of service establishments — tailor shops, laundries, plumbing shops, shoe and television repair shops, barber shops and the like.

The decree called for a three-year plan to build 103,000 more repair units in five categories — 29,000 shoe making and repair shops, 22,000 tailoring and clothing repair centers, 12,000 house and apartment repair centers, 13,000 barber shops and 27,000 dry cleaning plants.

Reflecting popular complaints about slow service, the ranking organs of the party and government pointed warning fingers at those responsible.

The announcement, distributed by the official agency Tass, said the work of tailoring shops in many cases was unsatisfactory and slow. Citizens complain it takes up to three months to have a suit made. It made these additional points:

There are not enough shops where shoes or clothes can be repaired while you wait.

Organizations for renovating homes and apartments are slow and charge too much. Citizens have complained they have had to pay as much as four times the legal rates to avoid indefinite delays in getting homes repainted.

Local Soviets and trade unions were accused of neglecting the problem of providing adequate service from laundries, barber shops and all types of repair establishments.

Cooperatives were ordered to plow back profits to increase the number of service units. The Soviet agriculture bank was authorized to lend up to 200 million rubles (50 million dollars at the official exchange rate) for the building of new units this year.

'I'll Marry Eva,' Says Prince

By Herald Wire Services

PRINCE SHIV of Palitana says he is going to marry actress Eva Bartok, who has run through four marriages and a chummy relationship with a cousin of Queen Elizabeth II.

"And I don't care what my father thinks of it," said the 27-year-old Hindu Prince. "I want to live my own life."

What papa — the Maharaja Sri Sir Bahadursinhji thinks of it may only be gathered from the immense silence issuing out of his Bombay palace.

EVA

SHIV

The maharaja invited the Hungarian-born actress out to India last month to have a look-see. There was no subsequent communique from the palace.

Prince Shiv and Miss Bartok arrived by plane in Hamburg en route to Rome.

Miss Bartok will be remembered among the gay set in London as the long-time friend of the Marquess of Milford Haven, a cousin of Britain's queen.

The Lady Mayor Has Her Critics

MRS. CATHERINE BYRNE, the lady lord mayor of Dublin, Ireland, said some of her countrymen are no gentlemen—they write anonymous letters attacking her American tour.

Mrs. Byrne, now in Boston, came to the U.S. chiefly to take part in New York's St. Patrick's Day parade. She said her critics are irked because she won't be in Ireland for the feast day of the Emerald Isles' patron saint.

Cross-Country Marrying Spree Ends When 2 of Romeo's 3 Wives Meet

WICHITA, Kan. — (UPI) — James Wayne Farmer, 28, caught in a cross-country nuptial spree when two wives met face to face and compared notes, is awaiting trial for bigamy.

Farmer left his home in Montgomery, Ala., last year to meet and marry three women he had been writing to. His troubles started when he couldn't keep them apart.

In a preliminary hearing at Wichita he was bound over for trial in the April term of District Court, charged with bigamy and cheating one of the spouses out of her automobile.

He posted $2,500 bond and walked out arm-in-arm with Elvera Unruh, 30, second woman he married, to live with her parents at Newton, Kan.

Authorities said Farmer first roamed to Knoxville, Tenn., and married Catherine Radwanski, 30, of Edmonton, Canada. But he soon shipped her back to Canada, asking her to wait there while he cleared up some business.

He went to Wichita, met and married Miss Unruh and they set up housekeeping. But not for long. He kissed wife No. 2 goodbye to attend to business in South Bend, Ind.

The business was Miss Zenith Strahn, 28. She drove him back to Wichita and stayed in a motel while he got his second wife's car. He told wife No. 3 they only needed one car, so Miss Strahn signed her car over to him and he sold it.

Then he sent Miss Strahn packing to Knoxville where he said his father owned a steel mill. Meanwhile, wife No. 1 began to worry and came back to Knoxville from Canada. Both wives contacted authorities and came face to face.

Drama of Grafts Told

Another's Skin Saved Her Life

By MIKE MORGAN
Herald Staff Writer

A child who literally lived for weeks in someone else's skin was described to surgeons attending the 27th Annual Assembly of the Southeastern Surgical Congress.

Dr. Barret Brown, speaking at the Deauville Hotel, related the dramatic story of how a person who donated his skin to a skin bank "extended a helping hand from the grave and saved the child's life."

Dr. Brown, professor of surgery at Washington University, St. Louis, and one of the top plastic surgeons in the nation, is urging establishment of skin banks in all metropolitan centers. He also is seeking skin donors.

He was chief of plastic surgery with the Army during World War II.

Dr. Brown also told how scientists who had suffered true atomic radiation burns of the hands, not burns caused by fire or blast, had their hands saved through treatment and skin graft.

The surgeon is waging a campaign for people to will skin to skin banks. He said:

"When large amounts of skin are required, lives can be saved by having it available.

"It's true that grafting another person's skin on the body can be successful for only three to seven weeks . . . it is not a permanent substitute. A body will accept permanently only its own tissue.

"But temporary, large scale grafts will enable the injured or burned person to hold body fluids and allow the blood to circulate, during which time the patient can start to recover and will be saved from intense pain."

In time, permanent grafts must come from the body of the patient.

He told about the child who was burned in an explosion and was dying — 70 per cent of her body area, including face and head, needed skin.

It saved the child's life.

But without the temporary graft of donated skin she would have died.

"Donation of skin in no way interferes with burial or undertaking procedure. Skin is split and removed. When a person dies the skin remains viable for a few days. It does not die immediately and can be used.

"Thus human worth and dignity extend beyond the grave," he added.

Discussing plastic surgery, Dr. Brown exhorted surgeons to operate immediately, when possible, on people suffering facial disfigurements in traffic accidents.

State Levy Increases to Be Big Story of 1959

Public Rebels at Tax Hike But Wants Services

By SYLVIA PORTER
Financial Analyst

Not since the days of global war in the '40s, when the American public was getting its first taste of the bitterness of a record-sized tax dose, have taxes been so much in the headlines as today—but with two profoundly important differences.

1—This time, the rush to boost taxes to the highest marks ever is on at the state and local level. What the states vote on taxes will be THE big story of 1959; the Washington story will be of only picayune significance.

2—This time, there is a perceptible rebellion in state after state against tax-hiking proposals, but the public still wants services. It's not only a rebellion among us and businessmen, the taxpaying targets. It's also a revolt among legislators of both parties and all shades of economic-social opinion.

It was not this way in 1955, when a record-smashing total of almost 3,000 tax changes went on the states' books. It was not this way during World War II and the Korean conflict when a record-smashing total of tax changes went on the federal government's books.

The atmosphere is different now. There is almost a climactic aspect to the test of spending and taxing now taking place in our states.

As a resident of New York City and New York State, I'm getting the full treatment. And even before I'm nicked for an extra penny (except via the two-cent-a-gallon state gas tax hike) by the tax-seeking measures of Gov. Rockefeller and Mayor Wagner, my pocketbook "feels" thinner, I "feel" poorer. Thus, perhaps it is in acknowledgement of the proverb that misery loves company that I again have been tracing the state tax battles the nation over. And there's plenty to trace.

Of the 49 Legislatures, 46 are meeting this year and of these, 31 have either proposed specific tax moves or are talking of them. Some already have acted to boost the gas tax or put in a system of withholding state income taxes or increased income tax rates.

In addition, there are proposals from coast to coast to:

SYLVIA PORTER

Impose or raise the corporation income tax. Talking of this are Iowa, Michigan, South Carolina.

Shift income tax payment to a withholding basis. Concentrating on this area are Minnesota, New York, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Utah.

Impose or raise the gas tax or tobacco tax or cigaret tax or beer and liquor tax or combinations thereof. Here, many states are involved, including Arkansas, California, Colorado, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, New Hampshire, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, West Virginia.

And there are dozens of other suggestions ranging from disallowing the federal income tax as a state tax deduction to taxing intangible personal property, inheritances, etc., etc.

Even before the Legislatures convened, it was obvious this would be a critical tax year in most states. For in state after state, spending has been skyrocketing because of zooming population among the very young and old, needs for more roads, schools, welfare assistance. At the same time, war-created surpluses have been wiped out, and the 1958 recession pushed tax collections below expectations.

But not so obvious until a few weeks ago was the strength of the rebellion against tax hikes from voters who simultaneously are demanding a continuation and expansion of services from the states.

The answer? Obviously, it is compromise and this, too, is taking place in state after state.

But the compromises still involve hefty tax boosts throughout the country.

And the full impact of these increases will be felt in the pocketbooks of millions of us as 1959 rolls on.

Press Agents Stage Own Show

LONDON — (AP) — Theater press agents of London found a new way to get into the newspapers Thursday. They joined the Theater Workers' Union and threatened to strike.

The press agents asked recognition of the Society of West End Theater Managers as bargaining agents. The managers refused. So the press agents sent off notice to the managers that "we shall take such action as we consider necessary."

Churchmen Get Neat Dividend

LAWRENCEBURG, Tenn. — (AP) — The First Presbyterian Church's new $200,000 sanctuary has just about everything the 56-member congregation could want. And it's all paid for.

How could such a small group pay cash?

By last year the stock had increased in value enough to pay the costs of the new building.

Who knows? Take for example, Igor I. Sikorsky, inventor of the modern helicopter. When he first began making little airplanes out of string and bamboo and rubber bands, grownups were saying that man would never fly.

That's the beauty of school science fairs that challenge the lively interests of growing young minds. Rabbi Fulfills Pledge

Jackson to Get Holy Ark Monday

A pledge made on a hospital bed in October, 1957, by Rabbi B. Leon Hurwitz will be fulfilled next week when a portable Holy Ark will be presented to Jackson Memorial Hospital in his name.

HURWITZ

The rabbi had collapsed from exhaustion during High Holy Day services and was taken to the hospital to rest.

While there, he missed the spiritual atmosphere he felt would be helpful to his recovery. So he pledged to start a campaign to furnish the Jewish chaplain with a portable tabernacle so that special services could be held in the wards and private rooms of patients who request it.

The men's club of his congregation, Temple Pesach Tikvah, 44 Zamora Ave., Coral Gables, will present such a portable Holy Ark to the hospital in his honor in ceremonies at the hospital chapel at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

The ark — a gift of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Silverman with the holy books and vessels coming from Col. and Mrs. Sidney H. Palmer will be dedicated at the temple at 8:15 tonight.

Taking part in the service will be Dr. Kermit Gates, director of the hospital, the Rev. R. Stanley Hendricks, hospital chaplain, Dr. Jacob Colsky, a hospital staff member who is a member of the temple congregation, and Herman Douglas, president of the Men's Club.

Rabbi Hurwitz will preach on "Religion and Health."

The congregation this week gave Rabbi Hurwitz a life-tenure call as spiritual leader in recognition of his leadership since coming to the temple in 1954. The adult Jewish education program he instituted was singled out for particular praise.

Delinquent Taxpayers Total Million

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Sen. John J. Williams said that more than a million Americans owed Uncle Sam more than a billion dollars in back taxes at the end of 1958. Even so, it was an improvement over 1957.

The Delaware Republican, in one of his regular reports on federal finances, said the Treasury listed 1,280,642 taxpayers delinquent to the tune of $1,375,737,000 at the end of the year.

He noted with pleasure that was a drop of $128,972,972 from the previous year and an overall reduction of delinquencies of $240,000,000 since 1954. But he said "these accounts are still too high."

Williams said $263,186,000 of the delinquent sum on Dec. 31, 1958, was in Social Security and income taxes employers had withheld from employes' pay envelopes.

Figures Prove U.S. on Move

NEW YORK —(UPI)— The National Industrial Conference Board reported that 20 per cent of the nation's 175 million persons changed their residences between 1957 and 1958.

One-sixth of those moving migrated to a different state, the board said.

Kidney Volunteers Call on You Today

More than 3,000 volunteers Thursday readied a reverse action for Friday, the 13th, (today).

They hope to make it a lucky day for 15,000 South Florida victims of kidney disease.

The volunteers will walk today against the nation's fourth biggest killer. They will stage a house-to-house fund drive sponsored by the National Kidney Disease Foundation.

Formerly known as the National Nephrosis Foundation, now expanded, the organization directs a strong attack at nephrosis, the kidney disease which hits children from 1 to 6 chiefly. The strange ailment causes grotesque swelling.

Oh, Rats!

NEW DELHI —(AP)— India's deputy food minister, M. V. Krishnappa, told Parliament a random sample survey indicates there are six times as many rats as people in India: 2,400,000,000 rats, 400,000,000 people. Members laughed when he added that in his house rats outnumber people 8 to 1.

Thank you, Mr. + Mrs. Miami, for the tremendous and overwhelming reception you gave my CAROL CITY GARDEN HOMES at Sunday's opening.

Never in my years of building have I been so elated at the response to one of my openings.

I know that many of you — and there were at least 30,000 of you during the day — could not give the exciting homes the close inspection you wanted to.

For that reason, we will keep the models open every day this week from 10:00 A.M. to 9:00 P.M. and you are invited back for a more thorough inspection of these Garden Homes so beautifully furnished and decorated by Jordan Marsh.

Thank you . . . thank you . . . thank you.

Thumb Injury Slows Bouchee, Herrera Stays at First Base

CLEARWATER — It was like "Old Home Week" Thursday in the Phillies' rain-drenched camp where so many ex-Marlins are competing for jobs. Several figure prominently in Manager Eddie Sawyer's plans for revamping the Phillies into "spoilers" and escaping from the National League's cellar.

There was a slight delay in obtaining information about the Phillies — with guys like Dallas Green, Frank Herrera, Henry Mason, Ed Bouchee, Bobby Young and others inquiring about things in Miami. They liked our city, and still think it'll do okay in baseball with a winning team.

Bouchee figures mightily in the Phillies' comeback plans, but currently is sidelined with a thumb injury. Bouchee, who batted .257 when he rejoined the Phillies for their last 89 games, is happy now that he reported to the rookie school here Feb. 6.

"I was hitting the ball good," Bouchee said. "Since my hand injury, I haven't been able to catch the ball or grip a bat. I'm staying in condition by running and hope to be back in there soon.

"I'm pulling the ball more and believe that starting out at the first of the season will help."

Herrera, who broke a leg in the Cuban Winter League, has been filling in at first base. He was muttering imprecations in Spanish about the rainstorm knocking out the exhibition with the Braves. Herrera loves to play baseball, as Miami Stadium falls recall.

Manager Sawyer had planned to give Frank a try at third. That idea has been shelved because Herrera is needed at first — particularly with Bouchee ailing.

Sawyer Sees Improved Infield

SAWYER IS CONFIDENT the Phillies will have a better infield and more depth than last season. After he succeeded Manager Mayo Smith last summer, at least 17 games were lost on errors at second.

The Phillies are hopeful George Anderson, sparkplug of Montreal's 1958 team, will fill that gap. Shortstop Chico Fernandez, a former Sun Soxer, is expected to have a better year. He's been pushed by Gran Hamner and Johnny O'Brien.

Gene Freese, former Pirate and Cardinal, is pushing Willie Jones for the third base job. Sawyer thinks the competition is making all of the candidates try harder.

Thomas Should Help Weak Catching

THE PHILLIES think Richie Ashburn, who led the league with his .350 mark last year, will be potent again.

Wally Post is expected to hit more than his 12 home runs of last year and Bob Bowman, another ex-Marlin, and Dave Philley are available.

Acquisition of Valmy Thomas from the Giants has helped the catching. The Phillies were woefully weak there last year, when Stan Lopata was hurt. They also have Jim Hegan and Jim Coker, ex-Marlin, but Coker has not reported from military service.

Philadelphia Story

Outfield—Harry Anderson (.301) lf; Richie Ashburn (.350) cf; Wally Post (.282).

Pitchers—Robin Roberts (17-14), Curt Simmons 7-14), Ruben Gomez, Giants (10-12), Don Cardwell, Miami (12-5), Phillies (3-6), Ray Semproch (13-11), short relief Dick Farrell (8-9), medium relief Jim Hearn (5-3), long relief Jack Meyer (3-6); Jim Owen, back from military service (1-0).

* * *

Bobby Young Tutors Rookies

THE PHILLIES LIKE Young, who was called up last season from Miami to bolster the infield.

"Bobby is such a nice guy, that he's hurting his own chances by trying to help develop the rookies," Publicist Mort Berry told me. "Bobby has done a lot for Lou Vassie, a good looking prospect from Williamsport."

Young has decided he wants a whirl at managing, when his playing career ends. He credits Jimmy Dykes, now a Pittsburgh coach, with influencing the decision.

"I was telling Jimmy that, being an infielder, I didn't know enough about pitching to manage," Young said. "Dykes told me to forget it because all managers have to learn about that. Now I'd like to have the chance. I don't want to keep playing when I feel my usefulness is ended."

The story is the Phillies will find a spot in their organization for Young when that time comes.

Farrell Key To Relief Pitching

TWO FORMER MARLINS, Don Cardwell and Ray Semproch, among the five starting pitchers Manager Sawyer has selected. Sawyer expects Dick Farrell, who was with the 1956 Marlins, to better his 12-9 record of last season.

Farrell, considered by many as the best short distance "fireman" in the National, had lost only a couple of games until the All-Star game last year.

"After that, he lost four or five of his own games with d plays," Sawyer commented.

Illini's Ray Eliot Quits—After '59

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Jovial Ray Eliot, 53, Thursday resigned as University of Illinois football coach, effective after his 18th Illini season next fall, to become the school's assistant athletic director.

A successor will not be named until after the 1959 football season.

The dean of Big Ten coaches, Eliot's resignation was accepted at a meeting of the University's Board of Trustees which also announced his appointment as assistant to Athletic Director Doug Mills.

Eliot, serving as head coach since he succeeded the late Bob Zuppke in 1942, had a 4-5 overall record last fall and finished sixth in the Big Ten race with 4-3.

His 17-year Illini record included 78-70-10 overall and 50-53-6 in the Big Ten. Eliot's successor will be only the third Illini coach since the legendary Zuppke took over in 1913 and quit under pressure after the 1941 season.

With the resignation of Eliot and last fall's move by Michigan's Bennie Oosterbaan, an 11-season Wolverine coach, to the front office, the mantle of Big Ten coaching dean now rests on Ohio State's Woody Hayes who will start his ninth Buckeye season next fall.

Eliot implied there was no pressure in his "difficult" decision to resign.

"It is always difficult to decide that one will leave the firing line of the fierce competition which is Big Ten football," he said.

"But the choice was made in the off-season when unhurried reflection on the future is possible without the heat of battle or influence of a winning or losing season."

Among the first mentioned as a probable successor to Eliot was Chuck Studley, 30, an Illini line coach since 1955 and captain and guard on Eliot's 1951 Rose Bowl team.

35 Stitches For Mays

The cut required 35 stitches and Giant Trainer Frank Bowman said the $80,000 player would be sidelined for "at least a week." The Red Sox won their fifth straight Cactus League game, 7-4.

After his leg was sewn up and bandaged, Mays walked from Memorial Hospital, as though uninjured, prompting Coach Frank (Salty) Parker to ask:

"Willie, who are you kidding?"

Replied Mays: "Man, I got 35 stitches in my leg."

Yanks Blow 7-Run Lead, Shade O's in 11th, 10-9

ST. PETERSBURG —(AP)— Pitcher Duke Maas capped an eight-run first inning with a grand-slam homer Thursday, but Casey Stengel's New York Yankees blew the lead and had to struggle through 11innings before edging the Baltimore Orioles, 10-9.

A wild throw by Second Baseman Billy Gardner with the bases full in the 11th—let in the deciding run.

Heavy rain in the morning and a late chill kept the crowd to 985, smallest here in many years.

Rookie Jack Fisher failed to last the first inning after the O's gave him a one-run cushion. The 20-year-old righthander gave up three walks and four singles before Maas drove a pitch into the left field bleachers.

George Zuverink and Rookie Wes Stock retired 14 straight Yankee batters after that. Stock, a 24-year-old Army returnee, gave up an unearned run in the seventh.

Rookies Mark Freeman and Johnny James combined to walk six men as the Orioles scored four runs in the eighth to gain a 9-9 tie.

Men, They're All Alike

PARIS—(AP)—Jean-Claude Lefebvre, 7-foot, 2-inch French basketball star, likes America for its basketball techniques and its tall girls.

Lefebvre returned to France Thursday after spending a year and a half at Gonzaga University.

"I have learned much from contact with American players," he said. "Their technique is without rival and I think I have made some progress."

Then he added: "I met tall young girls with whom it was possible for me to dance, and that is a pleasure which I don't often have in France."

Stings, Southwest Lead Semifinal Cage Charge

By RAY CRAWFORD
Herald Sports Writer

GAINESVILLE — Stranahan of Fort Lauderdale beat St. Petersburg, 76-51, Thursday to join South Floridians Miami High, Pompano Beach and Miami Southwest in today's semifinals of the state high school basketball tournaments.

Miami High tackles rugged Pensacola in a Class AA game at 4:15 p.m. Thursday Pensacola won a 55-53 duel from Fort Myers, a team which beat Miami High, 73-57, in the Stingarees' season opener.

Southwest's two scoring aces, Chris Lefferts and Jay Tobin, run into Williston in a Class B game at 8:45. Bruce Peterson, a 6-6 center who scored nearly 600 points during the regular season, leads speedy Williston.

The towering Stranahan Dragons take on Tampa Hillsborough in another Class AA encounter at 8:45.

Pompano and Graceville, 47-45 victor over Jacksonville duPont, trade shots in a Class A contest at 3 p.m.

Stranahan, behind the shooting of Andy Krondstadt and Vernon Rogers, ripped St. Pete's Green Devils in the third quarter.

Using a pressing defense and alternating long shots and layups, the Dragons outscored their victims, 27 to 6, for a 55-31 cushion going into the final quarter.

With the lead changing hands several times, the first quarter ended 12-12 Stranahan forged ahead, 28-25, at halftime and, after the third-period outburst, Coach Bud Marcum cleared the Stranahan bench.

Krondstadt, whose specialty is one-hand push shots from the side, and Rogers, 6-4 rebounder, each scored 17 points. John Hursey, fast Dragon forward, notched 14.

NEW CONTENDER—James D. Norris, owner of Spring Hill Farm and former president of the now-dissolved International Boxing Club, stands with his newest candidate for racing honors. The three-day-old colt, first foaled this year at Spring Hill, is a half-brother ta Easy Spur, winner of Gulfstream's Hutcheson Handicap and unbeaten in three Gulfstream starts.

Rosensohn Talks $$, Sugar 'Jumps'

By Herald Wire Services

Sports Roundup

After hearing Rosensohn say he'd guarantee a million dollar gate for the battle of champions "and let them divide 60 per cent," Robinson said.

"That's the best offer we've gotten to date. This probably will be my last fight and I want to get as big a purse as I can. Archie also is in the twilight of his career and he wants a big one too.

How would the 60 per cent be split?

"Down the middle of course," said Robinson, ignoring the fact that light heavyweight king Moore has said, since his title will be at stake, he would want 40 per cent.

Robinson said, however, he also plans to continue negotiations with a group headed by Truman Gibson, former president of the dissolved International Boxing Club.

BILL VEECK and Chuck Comiskey finally got together at Comiskey Park Thursday, but apparently for no more than a not-so-friendly cup of coffee. Comiskey, who dodged Veeck Wednesday after the latter's group bought 54 per cent of the Chicago White Sox stock, issued a vague statement after conferring with Veeck.

"I talked to him and he talked to me," said Comiskey, still embroiled in a suit seeking his sister's stock sale to Veeck. We talked about just everything, I guess, and solved all the problems of baseball, football and basketball."

Veeck, meanwhile, laughed at a report that Paul Richards, Baltimore field manager, would replace Al Lopez at the Chicago helm. "That one came right out of the top of the writer's head," said Veeck.

JOEL EAVES, basketball coach at Auburn, apparently has decided not to accept a similar position at the University of Texas. "He called me from Texas last night," said Mrs. Eaves, "and I got the impression that he is not going to make the change." . . . A yawl entered by the Cuban Naval Academy is one of five former winners which will compete in the 26th annual St. Petersburg-Havana Yacht Race starting Saturday. Criollo, the 1957 victor, will be manned by a crew of midshipmen. The 67-foot beauty's owner, Dr. Luis Vidana, left Havana for Panama when the Batista government was overthrown earlier this year and Fidel Castro's government took custody of the craft. Other ex-winners entered are Caribbee, chartered by Ralph Firestone of Miami, which won in 1952 and '53; Ciclon, owned by Manuel Nava of Havana, 1947; and Hoot Mon, owned by Sandy Holt of Miami, 1954.

UNBEATEN Canada took undisputed lead in the World Amateur Ice Hockey championships by routing Sweden, 5-0, while Russia knocked Czechoslovakia out of contention, 4-3. The Canadains now have six points, two more than Russia and the United States, both losers in one of three matches . . . Navy officials have given the University of Wisconsin permission to talk to Middie basketball Coach Ben Carnevale about the Badgers' vacant coaching job. Carnevale says he's "interested" in Wisconsin's proposition.

Wilcox Tops Shores Trials

Mrs. George Wilcox won medal honors Thursday with a 83 in qualifying for the Miami Shores Women's Golf Associations club championship. Mrs. Frank Ryder was second with 84.

Among non-tourney contestants, Mrs. C. F. Albertson was low with a net 78. Mrs. Gene Biel's 37 paced the nine-hole event.

Bright Victory

Carol Halsnick and Ann Prescott were a "two-girl" team Thursday night as Bright Park defeated Walker Park, 24-14, in the Hialeah Recreation Department's teenage basketball finals. Carol scored 13 points, Ann, 11.

Penrose's 65 Helps LaGorce Win

Jack Penrose of LaGorce carved out an amazing 65 over the wind-swept Rivera Country Club golf course Thursday to lead his team to a 42-30 victory over Riviera in the last interclub golf league match of the season.

Penrose, despite the wind and rain, took only 24 putts in his 32-33—65 round. He bogied the 18th hole.

NIT Openers Captured By St. John's, Butler

NEW YORK —(AP)— Guided by Louis (Big Bear) Roethel and Al Seiden, St. John's of New York defeated Villanova, 75-67, Thursday night in the nightcap of a doubleheader opening the National Invitational Basketball Tournament.

St. John's triumph sent the Redmen against third-seeded St. Bonaverture Saturday in a quarterfinals match.

Seiden, who owned a 22-point average, scored 25 for St. John's. The surprise was the 6-6, 220-pound Roethel, who usually concentrates on getting the ball off the boards.

Big Louie, who wears glasses, hit his first five shots and wound up with 21 points — more than three times his average.

Villanova kept up with St. John's until 7:45 was left in the first half. From a 17-all tie, St. John's reeled off 13 straight points in the next four minutes and led 36-26 at the half.

Butler, advancing to a quarterfinal match with top-seeded Bradley Saturday night, matched Fordham shot for shot in a torrid first half, then pulled away.

From a 64-all tie with 14:20 left, the Bulldogs from Indianapolis fired in 24 points in the next 10 minutes while Fordham, a four-point favorite, could score only nine. That made it 88-73.

With Fordham hitting 21 of 36 shots and Butler bagging 21 of 39, the teams roared into a 54-all half time deadlock — the 108 points accounting for a tournament record for two teams for a half.

Wiffi Smith's 75 Sets Links Pace

She toured the hilly, 6,302-yard Augusta Country club course in 37-38—75, even women's par and three over men's par.

Fay Crocker, the steady veteran from Montevideo, Uruguay, pressed close on Wiffi's heels with a 40-36—76, shooting nine straight pars on the back nine.

Strong winds hitting 35 miles an hour in gusts made the temperature in the upper 40s unduly uncomfortable. Those elements, combined with extremely fast greens, sent scores climbing.

Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill., who has won this event seven times, took an 81 and called it one of the two poorest rounds of her illustrious career.

Nats Snub Yank Offer

ORLANDO — (AP) — Manager Cookie Lavagetto of the Washington Senators has given a very cold shoulder to a New York offer of two minor leaguers for Relief Pitcher Dick Hyde.

Lavagetto said the Yankees had talked of trading outfielder Jack Reed and Shortstop Fritz Brickell for the Senators' crack reliever. Reed batted .309 for New Orleans last season. Brickell was a .266 hitter with Denver.

Hyde, submarine throwing right-hander, had a 10-3 record and a 1.75 earned run average last year. Additionally, he was credited with saving 19 games.

Score Sharp for Tribe

Hardy's 10th-Inning Single Skins Cubs; Reds Splatter Pirates, 9-4

TUCSON, Ariz. — (AP) — A single by Carroll Hardy in the 10th inning gave the Cleveland Indians a 6-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs in an exhibition baseball game Thursday.

Hardy's single scored Jim Bolger, who had hit a single as a pinch hitter and moved to second on a single by Woody Held.

Herb Score held the Cubs hitless in pitching the first three innings for the Tribe. He walked three batters with two out in the third, but retired Ernie Banks on a pop foul to end the threat.

Cincy Pounds Three Pitchers

TAMPA — (AP) — In an outburst seldom seen last season, Cincinnati's Reds pounded 11 hits off three rookie pitchers in a 9-4 exhibition victory over Pittsburgh's Pirates.

The Reds bunched three hits, plus four walks and a wild throw in the seventh inning to produce five runs and break a 4-4 tie.

Waivers Asked On Ed Miksis

TAMPA — (AP) — Cincinnati's Reds Thursday asked waivers for unconditional release of Eddie Miksis, 32-year-old utility infielder and outfielder.

Miksis, signed by Cincinnati as a free agent last year, appeared in 69 games and batted .140.

Milwaukee Eyes Cards' Grammas

BRADENTON, Fla. — (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves' management was reported Thursday to be trying to get Alex Grammas, St. Louis Cardinal shortstop, to fill in for the ailing Red Schoendienst at second base.

Grammas played both short and second with Cincinnati before he was traded to the Cardinals.

The report is that the Braves would give up a topflight pitcher to get Grammas, but club officials would not comment.

Marines Blamed For Sore Feet

FORT MYERS — (AP) — Outfielder Roberto Clemente reported to the Pittsburgh training camp Thursday after a five-month stint in the U.S. Marine Corps. He said his feet hurt him.

"They march too long, too fast, in the Marines," he said.

Clemente, who has picked up 10 pounds, said he no longer is troubled with a sore back that bothered him last season.

Sawyer Praises Phillies' Speed

Cubs' Pitcher Injures Thumb

Relays Add Murchinson

HOLLYWOOD — Ira Murchinson, who has breezed the 100 in 9.4, Thursday was added to the Bob McAllister Invitational century for Tuesday's Irish Relays at South Broward High's track.

Dogs Rumble, So Does Brown

Joe Brown, Herald greyhound racing editor and handicapper, selected seven of the 10 winners at the Biscayne Kennel Club Thursday night. Brown also had five quinielas and his best bet, Desert Deb in the ninth race, won easily.

At Hollywood Kennel Club, the fans were buzzing over a $535.60 daily double combining Gliding Beam ($54) in the first race with Odis ($17.40) in the second.

Four Tie For Top Spot At Pensacola

PENSACOLA, Fla. — (AP) — Four Veterans and an unknown took the first-round lead Thursday in the $15,000 Pensacola Golf Open with four-under-par 68s despite strong winds.

It was the first five-way tie the PGA tour has seen this year.

Track, Orioles Just A'Rockin' In Same Boat

The Mailman Cometh:

★ ★ ★

"OUT my old way—California—track is the greatest. Thousands attend big meets in Los Angeles. South Florida has an even better climate, but track just doesn't click here. Any ideas why?" — Harry Stieglitz, Pompano.

DELANY

The question brings to mind a Saturday Evening Post article some years ago entitled, "Track. Why?" which apparently summed up the staggering lack of track interest among millions of Americans. One reason could be that track lacks the continuous suspense and conflict — the "big moment" — of football, baseball, basketball, boxing, horse racing, jai alai, dog racing and other sports. Another factor hereabouts is the shortage of real track background. Florida has produced few stars to match those of the East and of the West Coast. There are a few encouraging signs, though. University of Miami has found that night meets bring in more fans. And Hollywood is importing Miler Ron Delany for its Irish Relays next Tuesday night.

That's Our Jack

"ISN'T that Jack Begun (the manager who is sounding off about Welterweight Rocky Mortell and his big future on Miami Beach) the same one who managed Welterweight Johnny Bratton, who now is in an insane asylum?" — Pierce Bland, Miami.

Yep.

Over the Rainbow . . .

"I'M getting a bellyful of talk about the great promise of the Baltimore Orioles. I feel like the horse trainer who said the other day that he didn't want a 'has-been' or a 'will-be' — he wanted an 'isser.' How can you blame Miamians for not turning out en masse to see a club like the Orioles play exhibitions?" — Peter Stamm, Miami.

MacPhail Gehrig Ruth

RICHARDS

So who's blaming them? I'll grant the Orioles as presently constituted are nothing to send the town into wild hosannas. But the opinions about the high-flying days ahead seem reasonably valid. The Orioles have an excellent general manager in Lee MacPhail, one of baseball's smartest managers in Paul Richards, and, apparently, a bulky bankroll. An Oriole in the hand may be worth two in the bush, but building a contender from nothing takes time. Patience, Peter.

Lou Was a Larruper

"SETTLE us a bet. I say Lou Gehrig does not rank among the baseball top five home-run hitters" — C. R. Willingham, Coral Gables.

You lose. Lou Gehrig is the No. 4 apple-knocker of all time. Leaders in order are Babe Ruth, 714; Jimmy Foxx, 534; Mel Ott, 511, and Gehrig, 493. Moreover, Gehrig hit his in only 17 seasons. Ruth and Ott each swung away for 22 years, and Foxx was up there 20 years.

26 Marlins Open Workouts Sunday

Twenty-six baseball players, including five veteran holdovers, will be on the scene at 1 p.m. Sunday when the Miami Marlins open spring training at Miami Beach's Flamingo Park.

Returnees answering new Manager Pepper Martin's first call to practice will include:

Second Baseman Jerry Snyder, who led team batting last season with .312; Third Baseman Woody Smith (.292); Catcher Johnny Bucha (.279); Outfielder Bert Hamric (.218) and Relief Pitcher Windy McCall (4-4).

In addition, Martin and Coach Bill Cates will have 11 other players with either Triple-A or major league experience.

Among big show veterans will be Shortstop Foster Castleman, Catcher Frank Zupo and Pitcher Lou Sleater, all workers for Baltimore in 1958; ex-New York Yankee Righthander Harry Byrd and short-term Washington Lefty Bunky Stewart.

Three well-regarded outfield newcomers from other Triple-A teams are Chuck Oertel, (.313, Louisville); Jim Pyburn (.287, Louisville) and Bill Lajoie (.276, Vancouver).

Lajoie, 24, a lefthander all the way, dropped out of Western Michigan College and drove to Miami, arriving Thursday.

Martin, busy along with Cates getting things ship-shape at Flamingo Park, said "it's a little like coming home"—a statement prompted by his once having managed the Miami Beach Flamingos of the late Class B Florida International League.

Sunday's introductory session will be devoted to picture-making and limbering-up exercises.

Miami High Relays Attract 15 Track Teams Tonight

Fifteen teams will compete today and tonight in the season's first big high school track offering — the annual Miami High Relays at Moore Park.

Fort Lauderdale is the defending champion and ranks along with state titlist Coral Gables, North Miami and Southwest as the team to beat.

The 15-event meet gets under way at 2:30 with preliminaries in the 100, 180-yard low hurdles and broad jump. The fiscus will be completed in the afternoon.

Pole vaulters will open the night section at 7. First running event is on tap at 8.

A three-way battle appears likely in the weight events. Coral Gables' Frank Lasky, North Miami's Conley Campbell and Edison's Rollie Benson all are above 50 feet in the shot put and near 150 in the discus.

Alan Wright, defending century champion from South Broward, will make his third and final appearance in the Relays. He gives the Bulldogs strength in the spring relays.

STRONG NORTH MIAMI and Miami Edison and defending state champion Miami High have scheduled baseball games this afternoon.

North Miami plays host to 10th grade Norland, Southwest invades Edison and Curley meets Miami High at Miami Field.

Swim meets will send McArthur against Southwest at Curtis Park pool, Miami Edison to Fort Lauderdale Stranahan and Pine Crest to North Miami.

One Ring, Seven Gal Wrestlers

A new-type "wrestle royal," with seven girl mat stars in the ring at the same time, features the Miami Beach Auditorium card Friday night.

Four other matches, with Don Eagle appearing in one, will be added. The show starts at 8:45.

Bowling's Most Frustrating Foul

Grant Tosses 12 Strikes, Still Can't Find '300'

By DICK EVANS
Herald Sports Writer

Ever hear of a bowler rolling 12 consecutive strikes in a league game and missing a 300 game?

That's the frustrating experience Jim Grant went through at Town Lanes. He fouled on his ninth strike.

The 177-averager in the Industrial League finished with 269, leaving the four pin on his last ball. His set was a lofty 657.

Sports-Minded Cuba Plans 500 New Athletic Fields

HAVANA —(AP)— Cuba's national sports director, Capt. Felipe Guerra Matos, predicts that in less than 10 years "Cuba will become one of the foremost nations in international sports."

This will come about, brown-bearded Guerra Matos said, as a result of the immense program for building athletic fields and developing sports programs planned by the Fidel Castro government.

Castro, who used to pitch for the University of Havana baseball team, believes that more sports lead to less vice.

Guerra Matos said that the first 10 of 500 new athletic fields will be constructed immediately in Oriente province, birthplace of the revolution. The government has appropriated $500,000 to start the playground program.

The sports grounds will permit children and adults to play baseball, basketball, volleyball and other games. Facilities also will be provided for boxing, gymnastics, swimming, track and frontennis — a sort of combination of tennis and jai alai. Trained coaches are to be stationed at every field and equipment will be provided.

The new program will increase sports participation to 10 per cent of Cuba's 6½ million population instead of the present two per cent, Guerra Matos estimated.

The pgoram will be speeded so much, he said, that "the results will be felt by the time Cuba participates in the Pan American Games in Chicago next August. Guerra Matos also predicted that Cuba will win some medals in the next Olympics.

At first the program will be concentrated in the provinces, but completion of a sports city in Havana also is on the schedule. An 18,000 seat coliseum has been completed and a swimming pool will be built next.

Clarke Heads Hialeah Field

Alan Clarke, who set two Hialeah Speedway records last week, again heads the field for Saturday's feature stock car chase at Hialeah.

HERE'S WHAT EVERY PLANT NEEDS FOR HEALTHY, VIGOROUS GROWTH

NITROGEN for leaf growth, protein, protoplasm and chlorophyll formation

PHOSPHORUS for flowers, fruits and roots, for cell division and protoplasm

POTASH for stronger stems and vivid color, for disease resistance and carbohydrate formation

IRON for chlorophyll formation, to prevent dieback, and grow strong, sturdy plants

ZINC to aid plant metabolism and enzyme systems involving use of other plant nutrients

MANGANESE for leaf respiration, for oxidation within the plant and vigorous new growth

COPPER to prevent dieback, to aid in fruit set and to help plants utilize nitrogen

BORON for bud growth, for larger fruit, stronger roots and to help in calcium uptake

MAGNESIUM for blossom set, and formation of chlorophyll and setting of seed

CALCIUM for feeder roots, for strengthening cell walls and translocation of sugars

MOLYBDENUM for fruit set, and for vigorous, normal development and maturity

SULFUR for plant protein formation and for odorous soils that impart fragrance and flavors

Vigoro PLANT FOOD

BALANCED RIGHT FOR MIAMI SOILS

Vigoro Complete Plant Foods give plants everything they need for healthy, vigorous growth. They're the famous formulas that can't be copied.

New Golden Vigoro—The only foolproof lawn food (New U. S. Patent #2,827,368, March 18, 1958 proves it!) Can't burn grass—even new spring growth—and you don't have to water it in.

Now at supermarkets and variety stores, too

One of the nicest things about Vigoro Plant Foods is that you don't need a prescription to use them. Everything you need to know is right on the bag. They're all plant food—no filler—packed with every element plants need—in the right proportions for local soils—in a form that releases plant nutrients at the rate plants can use them. And Vigoro is so clean and odorless it can be sold at food stores and variety stores as well as leading garden supply centers. Get your supply of Vigoro Complete Plant Foods soon at your favorite store.

Bahama Fights Greaves

NEW YORK — (AP) — A couple of good middleweights from the British Empire — Wilfie Greaves of Canada and Yama Bahama of the Bahamas — clash tonight in a television (NBC, 10 p.m., EST) 10-rounder.

Greaves, a 23-year-old puncher from Edmonton, is the 7-5 favorite over Bahama, a 26-year-old boxer from Bimini. the site is Madison Square Garden.

The Canadian champion made an impressive showing in a losing cause Feb. 20. He dropped a split decision to former middleweight champion Gene Fullmer in an action-packed scrap.

That defeat snapped the husky youngster's victory streak at 13. His record is 27-10-1, including 15 knockouts.

Bahama, whose real name is William Butler, makes his first start of the year. The poised, articulate fishing guide-fighter won six of seven in 1958. He dropped the last one to Rudell Stitch on Nov. 26. Yama's record is 51-9-2 including 17 kayos.

A Mile of Mince Pie . . . Without Gaining at All

Food, like music, may soothe the savage beast. But what it does to a calory-conscious jockey is downright unmentionable.

The horses are responsible.

There is, for instance, a thoroughbred named Mince Pie stabled at Gulfstream. And a Smoked Ham. And a Banana Split.

And can't you picture a "starving" jockey, who breakfasted on coffee alone and tries to salve his empty stomach by not even thinking of eats, climbing aboard a horse named Soup-to-Nuts?

At Gulfstream it happens. Daily.

To remain in demand as a jockey, you have to be competent — and light. Even as natural a featherweight as Willie Shoemaker, a 103-pounder, has to watch his figure.

But it's mighty hard with these horses around to constantly remind of the things other people eat:

Pasta N' Beans. Gumbo. Hominy. Goulash. Bouillabaisse. Ragout. Buckwheat. Porky. Tender Morsel.

There's even a Today's Menu. And a Why Not Eat. And that primary requisite for any meal, a Big Fork.

For the rider who can no longer stand the gaff, there's even a Blew My Stack.

Shoemaker, four-time national leader of the saddle colony and a Gulfstream regular each season after the close of Santa Anita, can handle more food than the average jockey.

He can handle coffee and a bun for breakfast; ham and eggs before the races; and a steak and salad at night.

Most riders have to resort to reducing, with side trips to such resorts as the sweat box, the road, and the rubbing table. Sometimes a rider goes on a 14-day diet and the only thing he loses is two weeks.

But . . . Banana Split. Pasta Fazuli. Gumbo. Soup-to-Nuts.

Anyone for poached eggs?

A Jockey's Sad Tale: Orange Juice and Envy

. . . rider Buck Thornburg, right, watches as agent Al Hudson prepares to stuff

UM Enters 6 Trackmen

Six University of Miami trackmen were named Thursday by Coach Bob Downes to compete in the Hollywood Irish Relays scheduled next Tuesday night at the South Broward High field.

Miami has entered the Intercollegiate mile relay with Bill Strafford, Ernie Barnes, Matt Allen and Peter Kouwenhoven; 100-yard dash, Barnes and Bob Sher; 220-yard dash, Barnes and Sher; pole vault, Bob Rosbaugh.

TERRYTOM forced early pace while in hand, displaced CHUCKIE from outside when ready on turn, drew clear and just lasted in a long drive. HEAD WAY in hand while saving ground early, came out for drive and just missed. FLORIDA KID blocked momentarily on entering stretch, commenced to advance in stretch and finished strongly even though his rider dropped his whip a sixteenth out.

SCRATCHES: Henny's Chance, Greek Count, Pope's Theory, Lover's Leap, Ambitious City, Bright Plea.

WINNER SELECTED BY: Harris, O'Neill.

OWNERS: 1. E. L. Cannon; 2. Mrs. L. Wolf; 3. Mrs. H. Young; 4. Barker & Pischieri; 5. S & O Stable; 6. Lily-Ann Stable; 7. T. D. Buhl; 8. Holladay House Stable; 9. E. Fleischer; 10. C. F. Gardner; 11. J. C. Dobkin; 12. G. Zakoor.

HUNTERS RUN gained a position at once, moved along outside to gain command in midstretch and was all out to hold MR. BURT safe. Latter lacked early speed, was forced extremely wide when rallying on entering stretch and finished full of run in a strong effort. APACHE CHIEF also came wide while finding his best stride too late. BROTHER COON loomed boldly along outside in upper stretch but could not sustain his bid.

CHIT CHAT reared in at start, moved up steadily along inside thereafter to final bend where he was eased out for drive, wore down SIR PUTNAM with a rush and won with authority. PALENQUE II worked his way up steadily while racing between horses and finished strongly. PARIS ALL was well placed along outside but lacked the necessary rally.

SCRATCHES: Edna Allen.

Chit Chat Triumphs Despite Poor Start

By JOE McLAUGHLIN
Herald Turf Writer

Springfield Stable's favored Chit Chat "went into the air" at the start of the featured Atlantic City Racing Association Purse at Gulfstream Park Thursday, but came down running and raced from eighth to win with ease.

Given a rousing ride by Jockey Chris Rogers, Chit Chat, a big grey 7-year-old son of Challedon, posted a 1:11 clocking for the six furlongs.

Chat Chat was a length and three quarters ahead of longshot Palenque 2nd, quoted at $113.10 to one. Third, three parts of a length away was Paris All. Sir Putnam finished fourth.

Palenque 2nd, trained by Millard Farisziade, who also conditioned the Argentine Petare, was making his fourth start in this country.

Chat Chat paid $4.20, $3.40 and $3. Palenque 2nd returned $42.50 and $17.70, while Paris All was worth $3.80.

Despite disagreeable weather conditions, 15,188 turned out for the races.

Rain began falling during the fourth race and continued until after the sixth, but the track remained fast for the feature.

The daily double of Terrytom ($26.40 in the first) and H ters Run ($8.60) paid $108.20

Thursday's attendance 200 less than the 15,388 f who bet $1,430,798 on the responding day last season.

	15	Allatonna	No Boy	120	15-1

GREEK COUNT should beat this field; ROMAN LEGION should make it interesting; SHADOW'S HOPE could be a good thing; TIME CLOCK will be the pacemaker, might last.

821—SECOND—Purse $3,100, 4-year-olds and up, claiming $5,000, 6½ furlongs. Post 2:20.

Ind	PP	Horse,	Jockey	Wt.	Odds
558	7	Jesper	J. Leonard	118	3-1

688	17	My Treasure	W. M. Cook	109	20-1

JESPER gets the nod here; HAT BOX is the one to fear most; MAITRE DE must be given consideration; LONG SWORD has a good chance in this company.

822—THIRD—Purse $3,000, 2-year-old maidens, (Foaled in Fla.) Allowances, 3 furlongs. Post 2:50.

Ind	PP	Horse,	Jockey	Wt.

a—L. F. Clark & C. Handelman entry.
b—J. LaCroix & Treso Stable entry.

CONFUSE appears the best of these Florida-bred maidens; ARIEL GIRL had a good spin over the Hialeah track; CAPE CANAVERAL must be considered among these; LAYDO is reported ready.

823—FOURTH—Purse $3,800, 3-year-old fillies, allowances, 6½ furlongs. Post 3:20.

Ind	PP	Horse,	Jockey	Wt.	Odds
(735)	5	High Bid	J. Ruane	115	6-5

104	8	Pesky Peggy	R. Dever	107	12-1

HIGH BID figures to be today's best bet; ANNSIE PIE should be in the contention spot; JIMSON WEED's races have all been good; NARRISSA is a speedy sort with a chance.

824—FIFTH—Purse $3,400, 3-year-olds, allowances, 1 mile & 70 yards. Post 3:50.

Ind	PP	Horse,	Jockey	Wt.	Odds
682	2	Quiz Star	P. J. Bailey	112	8-5

762	1	Briar Close	G. Gibb	107	20-1

QUIZ STAR deserves top mention today; FLEET COMMANDER won his last and looms real contender; LOCOWEED's last was a good race; ACCOMPLISH could beat this rating if Ussery rides.

825—SIXTH—Purse $3,700, 4-year-olds and up, claiming $16,000-$14,000, 6½ furlongs. Post 4:20.

609	10	Uncle Sid	I. Valenzuela	113	10-1

APOSTLE appears in good spot to down these; COUNTER SPY is ready now for a bang-up effort; EVER BEST was a winner in last and real danger; FLYING BIRD might be closer than indicated, sharp.

826—SEVENTH—Purse $4,000, 4-year-olds and up, fillies and mares, allowances, 6 furlongs. Post 4:50.

Ind	PP	Horse,	Jockey	Wt.	Odds

61	6	Tutors Heart	C. Rogers	111	12-1

BETTY LINN has beat this sort before and can do it again; HAPPY PRINCESS figures close to the top one; EVENING TIME is reported sharp, first start this year; SANDY'S JOY is a consistent mare.

827—EIGHTH—Purse $3,400, 4-year-olds and up, claiming $8,500-$7,500, 1 1-16 miles. Post 5:20.

Ind	PP	Horse,	Jockey	Wt.	Odds

494	11	Untamed	J. Culmone	112	12-1

828—NINTH—Purse $3,000, 4-year-olds and up, fillies and mares, claiming $3,250-$3,000, 1 ⅛ miles. Post 5:50.

703	14	Lee Lee Gal	P. Herron	113	20-1

a—P. F. Ternes and Mrs. J. Bartlett entry.

LAST IMPULSE appears best of a cheap lot; BELCHISE will be there around the finish line; ROMANTIC MISS must be given a chance; GAY DICTATION is always a threat.

Fishing Outlook: Great, Despite Doubtful Weathe

By VIC DUNAWAY
Herald Outdoors Editor

From Miami through the Keys and across the Tamiami Trail to the Ten Thousand Islands, the folks who know say weekend fishing should be great. In many spots, the weather outlook is uncertain, but the general optimism even extends to the elements.

Here are the latest reports, compiled at press time Thursday:

GREATER MIAMI

Larry Thomas of the Fishin' Hole, MacArthur Causeway, says mackerel are running well in the bay, with many taken Thursday off the ocean piers and also from Causeway Bridges. "With the wind swinging around," he adds, "it should bring even more mackerel in for the weekend."

Off the combined opinions of Thomas and Nick Rose of the Gulf Docks, Miami Beach, offshore fishing is perking up steadily. "I just wet my thumb and stuck it outside," Rose said, "and I'll predict good weather. The fish are there."

Sailfishing is good off Miami, with some big dolphin also being taken. Big kingfish are also falling to deep-fished bait south of Government Cut towards Fowey Rock.

Ernie Taulbee reports fast action on mackerel and bluefish off the Sunny Isles Pier, with some of the blues hitting five pounds. "Five kings were taken Wednesday," he noted, "one of them a 30-pounder."

Dolphin Hitting

Panfish—snapper and croakers — are biting well in the North Bay area, according to Ed Nappen of the Blue Marlin Dock on 163rd street. He pinpoints a couple of good spots at Markers 7 and 9 in Dumbfoundling Bay. "We've had a half-dozen good snook this week," Nappen adds, "which were caught by casting Mirrolures along the west shore of Dumbfoundling Bay."

Frash water anglers have a variety of good choices along the Tamaima Trail. Reports picked up by Rosene's Tackle Store on SW 8th St. indicate that bass are hitting best on black eels with limit catches common.

* * *

WEST COAST

Flamingo's resident manager, Stu Kenyon, says tarpon are hitting in fantastic numbers now, mostly in the Shark and Harney River areas. "They're not choosy, either," Stu notes. "Plugs, cut mullet and shrimp all have been drawing strikes.

Trout are abundant around Flamingo and are striking all over the neighboring Florida Bay territory, as well as inside waters.

FLORIDA KEYS

At Gilbert's Jewfish Creek Camp, Harry Gilbert is keeping his fingers crossed for good weekend weather, knowing that the trout fishing will be great. "A lot of trout — and some real big ones — around the Boggies in Blackwater Sound, and also in tarpon-basin," he says.

Dunk Dunkin at Alabama Jack's Camp, Card Sound, is equally high on trout. "They are running much bigger than they did last year," he s "Grouper fishing is good, t

From Cadenhead's Ma lay Camp, Key Largo, T Cadenhead listed the Thur wind at about 30 miles hour, and out of the sowthw "It's supposed to drop though," he reports.

Cadenhead says dolphin kings have been hitting

GENE GLOWNIAK of 'n Mary's Dock, Islamor summed up the weather r ly: "It looks like typical w end weather. What a wind! a lot of dolphin are out in Stream, and sailfish, There's action on jack, l fish and snapper on the side. Bonefishing also has good in the bay."

Around Marathon, sm craft warnings were up Th day for 25-35 mile winds. L ard Lowe of Leonard's Spor Goods, Marathon Shores, ports that the breezes are posed to diminish.

Lowe reports that dolp are really thick around M thon for the first time year.

"Reef fishing is excel particularly for grouper yellowtail. Of course, t fishing is always good when weather is. Bonefishing is fair right now," he says.

Ready Your Boat For Angling With Basic Tackle Kit

Small boats are getting to be as big a part of Florida living as swimming pools. And if you go around counting the number of trailered boats in carports, you can get a pretty good idea of the number of fishermen in your neighborhood.

Not all those people purchased their craft to go fishing, but few indeed are the boat-owners who do not get the angling yen sooner or later.

Small boaters who have not fished before naturally face problems when they decide to try the new sport.

DUNAWAY

You'll need a rod and reel which will cover the widest possible range of situations. For bay trolling and bottom fishing, I'd suggest one of two outfits: A light boat rod with service-type, star-drag reel and 20-pound line; or a spinning outfit with fairly stiff rod and 10 or 12-pound test.

Even more important, is to have on hand the proper terminal tackle. This should include a couple of dozen hooks, size 2-0 to 4-0; about the same number of swivels; a minimum of 25 feet of stainless steel leader wire; and a handful of egg (sliding) sinkers in half-ounce weight. You will also need two or three spoons (No. 3 best average), and the same number of white jigs, between ½ and 1 ounce. Jigs may be of feather, nylon or bucktail.

* * *

THESE are the ways you rig the tackle for various kinds of fishing:

BOTTOM FISHING—Wrap a swivel on one end of a two-foot leader and a 2-0 hook on the other. Slide one sinker onto your line, then tie line to swivel. Add more weight only if a strong current makes it necessary. This rig will serve for most all bay areas; however, if you're lucky enough to hit a good grouper-hole, use a longer leader and larger hook.

Boating
. . . . with Vic Dunaway

TROLLING—Using the same leader and swivel, substitute a spoon or jig for the hook. No sinker is necessary. Troll "straight" with a spoon, but jerk your rod sharply at regular intervals if using a jig.

DRIFTING—Use the bottom rig, but without a sinker.

* * *

REQUIRED accessories will be a landing net, wire-cutting pliers, a bait board and a knife. Always cut bait on a board to avoid slicing chunks in your prized boat seat.

To cut bait for bottom fishing, fillet a mullet and then slice off more and less square chunks. Strips for drift bait are cut diagonally from the fillets, and thinner than bottom chunks. For a long strip, slice the fillet in half, from head to tail section.

Dead shrimp may be fished whole or cut in chunks.

From Old Bridge, A Fine Fishing Pier

ST. AUGUSTINE —(AP)— Sports fishermen in the Green Cove Springs area may have a couple of fishing piers when the new bridge is built not far from the present Shands Bridge.

The St. Johns County commission has voted to ask the state road department to leave about 1,500 feet of the old wooden bridge standing from the St. Johns County side for fishermen to take advantage of deep water.

The road department agreed to leave stumps of the bridge on both sides if counties would maintain them; and several weeks ago the Clay County commission agreed to the plan.

OUTDOOR Weekend

Two Boats Hauled In

Late Tip from Weatherman: Winds Will Die Down Today

Rain-swept gusts pitched two disabled boats around choppy Biscayne Bay Thursday until the Coast Guard towed them to safety.

Bay-chopping winds of 20 to 30 miles an hour Thursday are expected to become gentle, 10 to 15 mile breezes today, the weatherman said.

The tossed sailors found themselves in trouble when:

THE RUDDER BROKE OFF the 30-foot Gigi II, near Fowey Rock.

In both cases, Coast Guardsmen said, the anchors were not enough to keep the craft from drifting into high dangerous seas.

The winds which whipped up to 30 miles an hour suddenly in advance of the cold front Thursday, lashed the two boats from the southwest.

But breezes will shift, coming from the northwest today, 15 to 20 miles an hour in the morning, and 10 to 15 miles an hour this afternoon, the weather bureau said.

Boating Rules to Remember

* * *

CARRY LIFE PRESERVERS: Enough for each passenger. The kind that slips on like a jacket is your best sea-going life insurance policy, and can be donned at the first sign of rough going.

* * *

TAKE A COMPASS—AND USE IT: As you head out to sea, note where land is on the compass—if you become engulfed in a blinding rainstorm, you won't wind up somewhere on the coast of Africa.

* * *

* * *

DOES YOUR EXTINGUISHER WORK? Precious little help to have a fire extinguisher, if it doesn't work. Keep it checked. Fire-producing accidents can be caused by high winds — it's a time for caution.

Outdoors Sports Show To Be Held Indoors

The outdoors moves indoors when the Miami-Miami Beach Sports and Vacation Show opens Saturday at the Miami Beach Exhibition Hall.

Featuring animals, guns and exhibits of sporting equipment and skill, the show will remain for nine days through March 22.

A huge indoor pool will be set up and will feature various demonstrations and aquatic shows. Jack Sharkey, ex-heavyweight world's boxing champ, will give demonstrations of fly-casting.

A troupe of retrieving dogs from Detroit will chase a diving duck around the pool and seldom catch it. A troupe of Canadian guides will fight a battle with padded tilting poles while standing in canoes, and a dog will logroll in the pool.

Frank Weed, local television performer and hunting and fishing guide, is director of the show and will have many of his snakes and animals at the show.

Exhibits include Swamp Buggies, Archery and shooting ranges, Airboats, National Rifle Association, Hunter Safety, Judo and many others.

May Be Friday The 13th, But . . .

Superstitious?

Featured in the performance, beginning at 8 o'clock, are a slide for life, walls of ice crash, tunnel of fire drive, ramp to ramp jumps, a head-on collision at an aggregate speed of 100 mph, and Roberts' 90-foot "death lap" over a 40-foot bus and several cars.

Gables Snares Gymnastic Meet

Nick Gonzales of Coral Gables tied the state record for the 20-foot rope climb Thursday night as the Cavaliers defeated Miami High, 64-50, in a gymnastics meet. His time was 4.6 seconds.

Leonard Woff had two individuals firsts and a second for the Gables while Dick Harton earned a first and a second. For Miami High, Paul Tuttle was top scorer with eight points.

S'west Golf Victor

Dana Perry shot a 42 for medalist honors Thursday as his unbeaten Southwest High golf team blanked North Miami, 5-0, for its sixth victory of the season.

Variety Of Boats Offered

Today's boat buyer has a greater choice of hull materials than ever before. Solid wood, plywood, molded plywood, steel, aluminum, fiberglass and composite types are clamoring for attention.

Solid wood has served well on vessels of all sizes for centuries, but you'll need properly seasoned wood of the right type for each purpose. White oak is fine for frames, but red oak should be avoided. Make sure frames are closely spaced.

Honduras mahogany and cedar are excellent for planking. Teak is durable, but heavy and hard to work. Yellow pine is good below the water line for salt water, but don't use it in fresh water.

* * *

FASTENINGS should be of copper, bronze or monel metal. Rivets stay tight. A leak is easier to fix in a carvel-planked boat than in a lapstrake hull.

On a plywood boat constructed of large, flat panels, make sure the joints around the keel, chines, stem and transom are absolutely watertight.

In round-bottom boats molded of thin transverse layers of wood, be certain that the ends of the plies are effectively sealed at the rails. Plywood boats of either type have the advantage of low first cost and light weight.

* * *

IF YOU ARE looking for a steel hull, try to get one made of plates of a formula designed for marine use. Make sure the plates are preformed, that the welding or riveting is expertly done, and that the entire surface is protected by being sprayed with hot zinc or coated with plastic.

Any metal hull makes an excellent ground for a radio telephone. And it ends all worry about dry rot and shipworms.

Aluminum is lighter than steel, and has served in fine manner for everything from small outboards to large racing sailboats.

Fiberglass is tops in low-cost maintenance, being not only free from rot and shipworm problems, but also proof against electrolysis.

Bar Owner Takes Rap, Won't Talk

By AL FINKELSTEIN
Herald Staff Writer

A Miami bar owner Thursday took a 120-day liquor license suspension rather than tattle on what beverage agents said were bookmaking contacts.

State Beverage Director H. G. Cochran ordered the Little River Bar, 8241 NE Second Ave. to close after owner Albert E. Lyons refused to give him the telephone number he used to call in bets.

"I only wanted to accomodate my friends," Lyons told Cochran.

The suspension was one of four handed down Thursday to Greater Miami bars and package stores in what Cochran called "a continuing crackdown" on liquor law violators.

Other suspensions and the charges which led to them:

THUNDERBIRD LOUNGE, 2359 Okeechobee Rd., Hialeah, owner Harry Rosen, 15 days, serving to minors.

LOS LATINOS LOUNGE 3037 NW Seventh Ave., 15 days, allowing disorderly conduct and an unauthorized person in charge of the premises.

Another Dade location suspended was the Glades Restuarant, 276 South Krome Ave., Homestead, 15 days, for selling to minors.

Cochran also suspended five licenses in Monroe County and issued two permanent suspensions. They went to the Last Stop bar, Stock Island, Monroe County, for selling to minors and engaging in prostitution, and the Purple Onion Inc., a hotel-bar setup, for keeping the bar open while not serving meals, as required under its special license.

Liquor law violation charges against the Bamboo Bar, 5429 NE Second Ave., were dismissed.

Boys Admit Vandalism

Two South Dade youths — one of them already on probation on a federal charge of rifling mail boxes—were placed in Youth Hall Thursday after admitting causing $2,000 damage during a vandalism spree on a mango grove.

The youths, 12 and 13, told District Constable George Wright and Metro police they destroyed 75 young mango trees last Sunday in a grove owned by Michael Rychece, of Lucille Dr., south of Florida City.

Police said the youths—whom they refused to identify because of their age—live nearby.

Investigators said the vandalism was the second major outburst involving teenage youths in the past three weeks. Two other boys are on probation for causing similar farm destruction.

Scooter Rider Hurt

A boy, 14, was thrown from his motor scooter into a shrub, and was punctured by a branch in Modello Thursday.

He was identified as John Howe, of Hainlin Dr., Goulds. Police said he crashed into a car driven by Fred August Haller, 70, of Lantana.

Neither Haller nor Howe's passenger, Roy King, also of Hainlin Dr., was injured. Haller was not at fault, police said.

The shrub, a croton bush, stabbed young Howe in the back. He will be charged with following a car too closely, police said. The accident occurred on S. Dixie Hwy.

Truck Takes Dip, Driver Takes Off

The panel truck plunged out of control into a canal alongside the Tamiami Trail about three miles west of the city limits and witnesses said that the driver swam out unhurt.

He was gone when Trooper H. R. Blair arrived.

"Perhaps he had a few belts in him," said Blair, "but he'll have to have a chat with us about leaving the accident before he gets his truck back."

The vehicle has been impounded. Its 1959 license, 1 GK 2077, could not be checked for ownership because the lists of new tag purchasers are not yet complete, Blair said.

Urges Better Education

School Head Says Critics Defeat Aims

By Herald Services

TALLAHASSEE — School Superintendent Thomas D. Bailey charged Thursday that many critics of Florida schools are more interested in saving money than improving the quality of education.

Some people would be "willing to throw overboard much of the progress made in regulating education to the individual difference of children for the saving of a few dollars," Bailey declared.

If Florida cannot support first-rate school system he said, the trouble lies with the tax structure.

Ex-Legislator Given 5 Years

BARTOW — E. B. (Shorty) Jones of Perry received a five-year-prison sentence Thursday for attempting to bribe Sheriff Hagan Parrish to allow a gambling syndicate to operate in Polk County.

News About Florida

Judge Roy Amidon imposed the maximum prison term on the former legislator. He also could have fined Jones up to $3,000.

"You are just before sentencing an innocent man," Jones told the Criminal Court judge during the proceedings.

Amidon denied a motion for a new trial before passing sentence.

PTA Backs 'Free Schools'

ORALNDO — Florida Parent-Teacher Association leaders pledged opposition Thursday to any legislation which appears to weaken the public school system or "threaten its very existence."

"Our survival as a democartic, free and responsible people depends directly on strong, effective free public school systems," the PTA board of managers said in a statement issued at its meeting here.

Collins Urges Buying Bill

TALLAHASSEE — Gov. LeRoy Collins said Thursday he would ask the 1959 Legislature to pass a general central purchasing bill which would place some supervision over need for state buying.

Collins told his news conference he is optimistic over the quality of the job which could be done with such a bill. If enacted it would save the state considerable money, he said.

Florida Special Rams Truck

Truck Driver W. J. Downing of Delray Beach jumped to safety only seconds before the thundering collision. The train, nearly hidden in a shower of sparks, hurtled down the tracks for more than a quarter of a mile before grinding to a halt. The force of the impact caved-in the front of the engine, knocking out the braking system, and an estimated 300 passengers on the 15-car "Florida Special" were forced to wait for several hours while a replacement engine was sent from Miami to haul them there.

City Awaits Law On Sex Films

WEST PALM BEACH — City legislation to block the showing of "trashy" and "sexy" films here will be delayed until an effort is made to obtain statewide regulations.

Commissioner Sylvan Burdick disclosed Thursday that he had discussed the film control situation with State Sen. Fred O. Dickinson, who already has one bill in the works and is drafting another to place controls over the type of films that can be shown in Florida. The city, meanwhile, is working on a local bill that would meet constitutional requirements.

Two Unions Picketing Two Hotels

Pickets representing two different unions paraded before two Miami Beach hotels Thursday.

For the third straight day pickets of the Hotel Employes Union marched in front of the Robert Richter Hotel.

And in a move to organize doormen and car runners, the Teamsters Union threw up a picket line at the Carilon Hotel.

Officials of the Carillon said that service was normal and that none of their employes had stayed off the job.

Dave Herman, president of Local 255, of the hotel union, said the Delmonico Hotel had signed a union contract. The Delmonico and the Robert Richter were struck at the same time in a revival of the hotel union's organizing drive in South Florida.

Mink Cape No Stole

Donald Basquin told Criminal Court Judge Ben C. Willard Thursday he was intoxicated and didn't realize he was walking out of a Miami Beach bar with a girl's mink cape but without the girl.

Basquin, 38, of 777 Curtiss Pkwy., said he was surprised to find the cape in his room when he awoke the next morning.

The girl, Miss Winona Bonham, in the meantime had reported disappearance of the cape from the back of a bar stool where she had left it with Basquin while she went to the powder room.

Miami Beach police traced it to Basquin, who led them to his employer. He had given it to his boss, he said, so his boss could give it to his own girl friend. There was no money involved and Judge Willard acquitted Basquin of a grand larceny charge.

Precision Flier Dies in Bailout

NELLIS AIR FORCE BASE, Nev. — (UPI) — A member of the famed U.S. Air Force Thunderbird precision flying team was killed Thursday when his F100 super Sabre collided in flight with another jet and he made an unsuccessful bailout.

SALMON

The Air Force said Capt. Charles B. (Fish) Salmon, 30, winner of the Distinguished Flying Cross in Korea, succeeded in climbing to 30,000 feet after the impact, but the plane then went into a spin. He made his unsuccessful attempt to bail out at an undetermined altitude.

Salmon's body was recovered 12 miles northeast of here.

The Thunderbirds are a famed supersonic flying team which travels around the world to demonstrate precision formation flying. Salmon became a member of the Thunderbirds in January of last year.

Salmon, of Port Jervis, N.Y., was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross after an encounter with eight MIGs.

The Air Force said that the four planes were practicing routine aerial maneuvering Thursday in a restricted acrobatic training area when Salmon's jet brushed with the wing man's F100. The tail assembly of the Salmon aircraft was crippled by the impact.

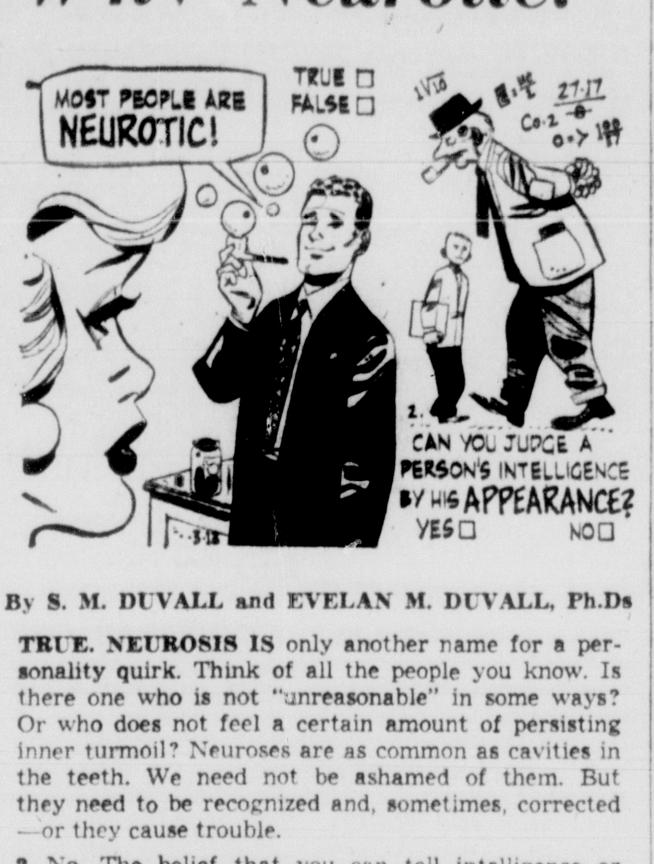
EXPLORE YOUR MIND

Whv Neurotic?



MOST PEOPLE ARE NEUROTIC!
TRUE ☐ FALSE ☐
2.
CAN YOU JUDGE A PERSON'S INTELLIGENCE BY HIS APPEARANCE?
YES☐
NO☐

By S. M. DUVALL and EVELAN M. DUVALL, Ph.Ds

TRUE. NEUROSIS IS only another name for a personality quirk. Think of all the people you know. Is there one who is not "unreasonable" in some ways? Or who does not feel a certain amount of persisting inner turmoil? Neuroses are as common as cavities in the teeth. We need not be ashamed of them. But they need to be recognized and, sometimes, corrected —or they cause trouble.

2. No. The belief that you can tell intelligence or character on sight is one of the superstitions that persist, despite continued and overwhelming evidence to the contrary. In test after test, not only ordinary people, but men of considerable experience in hiring others have tried to judge personality and character by appearances. They weren't able to do it. Janitors were mistaken for college presidents, geniuses were judged to be feeble-minded, and imbeciles mistaken for philosophers. Never judge the worth of a package by its wrapper.

40 MILES from downtown Miami right here in Dade County. Excellent elevation of 8 Ft. (less than 20% of the county has elevation as good). Have from 10 to 320 acres available North of Tamiami Trail (U.S. 41). History has proved that low-priced Dade County land like this offers the greatest opportunity for increase in value.
WE THINK that every investor, large or small ought to own some of this low-priced Dade County land. The future may be very bright for this property. No utilities or roads completed through the property at present. Title insurance of course, and oil and mineral rights.

Surprised
AND DELIGHTED are we to have been chosen to handle this House Beautiful! The home of a former Winter resident, it has been charmingly decorated in soft pastels and lovingly cared for. From the foyer entry throughout the eye is delighted; not a jarring note can be found. The screened pool and Patio is "offset" from the living room and accessible from the Master bedroom. Formal dining room, a wonderful kitchen, and servant quarters. A complete and lovely home. (We are requested by the Legatee to show to only qualified buyers, please!) Price is $59,500. The beautiful furniture may be purchased

WOW! Here's the best price yet for America's most popular model imported automobile. It's our completely factory original 1957 ENGLISH FORD ANGLIA 2 door sedan at a really low sale price. Because at the price of only $995 it's priced way below it's actual value. You'll find the Glacier Green factory finish is in spotless condition bumper to bumper. The interior will stay new looking for years if you just damp wipe down the Naugahyde door panels and seats — that incidentally are in show room condition too.
The best part of course is the up to 35 miles per gallon of gas economy that you'll be getting—and you'll be able to make part of the payments with the gas money saved. There's no cash needed — Just trade in your 1952 model for the down payment. STOCK No. 8552.

WE DON'T think that you can find another 1952 CHEVROLET 9 passenger, 4 door station wagon in the extra fine condition that ours is anywhere in the state of Florida. To start with, there's a BRAND NEW Starmist White and Bermuda Coral finish that is in showroom condition bumper to bumper. The interior is completely factory original with washable Naugahyde seats, headliner, floormats and special door panels. FOR your driving convenience, you'll have POWERGLIDE automatic transmission, the big "8" tube DeLuxe push button radio, clock, directional signals and a set of way way above average tires that you'd expect to find at this price. A word to the wise — Be early because it will sell quickly at this price. Guaranteed in writing for 90 days by Grentner Bros and no cash needed — Just trade in your 1947 model for the down payment.

HOLD it! That's not a missprint in the price. We're actually going to sell our 1955 DODGE Coronet "V8" 4 door sedan for only $795. I've just returned from tacking it for a long test drive and there's not a rattle to be heard in this smooth performer. Its finished in the factory two tone Forest and Misty Green that you'll find in top condition. The interior is factory original including door panels, headliner and floor mats and the seats have expensive Tailor Made to Order Loom Puff covers that were probably installed when the car was new.

The extras include Dashboard POWERFLITE automatic transmission, directional signals, Mopar thermostat controlled heating and fresh air system electric windshield wipers, E.Z. eye solex tinted glass and excellent white wall tires. It's guaranteed by Grentner Bros. in writing for 90 days and there's— No Cash Needed — Just trade in your 1950 model for the down payment.

1957 BEL-AIR CONVERTIBLE

HERE'S another example of the kind of "VALUE BUYS" that you'll always find in our huge selection of fine automobiles. It's our 1957 CHEVROLET Bel-Air CONVERTIBLE and, at the price of only $1,495 it's a "Bargain" in any ones country. This smooth performer has an excellent white Orlon Top that sets off the spotless factory original Ebony body. The entire interior is completely factory original too — and beautiful. The seats and door panels are finished in two tone Naugahyde and there's thick pile floor carpeting that would do justice to your home.

You'll have POWERGLIDE automatic transmission, the big Chevrolet "8" tube push button radio, thermostat heating and fresh air system, directional signals and No. 1 white wall tires. Of course it's guaranteed by Grentner Bros. in writing for 90 days and there's No Cash Needed — Just trade in your 1952 model for the down payment.

NOTICE

Since we began our "Free Gas Courtesy Card" Plan with the purchase of an ENGLISH FORD it has come to our attention that a great deal of misinformation has reached the public about how the plan works. We have therefore compiled the following list of questions that you might ask and we have answered each one in order to give you the true facts on the "Free Gas" Plan.

C. E. Grentner

Q. When and How do I receive the free gas?	A. You receive a Courtesy Card immediately which is good at over 200 stations in Dade County.
Q. How do you figure "1 Year's Supply?"	A. By using an average mileage of 10,000 and arriving at a total of 333 gallons.
Q. Do I pay any more for the car on the Free Gas Campaign?	A. No. All factory prices are the same at all dealers as required by the Federal Price labeling law.
Q. Must I buy any "EXTRA'S?"	A. No.
Q. Does the Free Gas plan apply to all models?	A. Yes, there are no gimmicks or restrictions on this plan.
Q. May I choose my brand of gas?	A. Yes. You may choose any brand of regular gas and the station.
Q. Must I use all the Gas within one year?	A. No. If you do not use this much within a year your courtesy card is valid until all the gas has been used.
Q. Am I limited to a certain amount each week?	A. No. You may use as much or as little as you wish.
Q. If I move or go on Vacation do I still receive my free gas?	A. Yes. We can arrange to supply you free gas anywhere in the United States.

A Wonderful Day

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Wednesday, March 18, 1959

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) If you have been properly attuned astrologically, you will get up this morning feeling just fine and most happy. Then you can take advantage of the wonderful aspects favorable to you right now. Be alert.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Anything you desire to do that will improve matters at own abode is easily done this fine day, and quickly. Also spend your free time there at your ease.

Your Horoscope

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Fine day for either selling or buying, or at least getting the ball rolling in such directions. Also good for advertisements, gardening, shopping, travel.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Excellent day for any financial matters, since they are bound to turn out most successfully. Dig into reports, budgets, statements and find out where you can cut expenses.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Think in terms of self today and you will find that close ties, finance experts, friends will all appreciate your worth and efforts and give you the support you want. FOR YOUR COPY of Carroll Righter's individual 16-page Forecast for April send your birth date and 50c in coin (no stamps) to Carroll Righter Forecast, Miami Herald, Box 1895, Grand Central Sta., N.Y. 17, N.Y.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) This is not a day for travel and dashing about. Look into the most vital affairs that have to do with desk work and the home sphere especially. Get your accounts in best order.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Extraverted and knowing persons can today point out to you those individuals who are in a position and willing to give you the backing you need right now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Anything that has to do with higher ups can now be resolved with alacrity and real harmony. Be most cooperative and honest with those upon whom you depend for your living.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) It is particularly fine to step out of dull-doldrum existence today. Look into your paper and other periodicals for good suggestions how to expand.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Let the day hours be wisely occupied with really important money matters. Latter part of day you can truly know what a close tie is really thinking.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A rather blustery pal will come forth with excellent ideas that you would be wise to listen to, for there is a great opportunity at hand that you must not let slip through your fingers.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Especially fine day to come to harmonious understanding with fellow workers and regular partners. Later, get right to work on duties facing you. Labor diligently.

Irishman Wanted

TOKYO — (AP) — Tokyo's American Club faces defeat in its search for a genuine Irishman to be honored as "Mayor of Dublin—Japan" at the club's St. Patrick's celebration.

"Here in this city of nearly nine million persons," said Club Spokesman Jim Farrell, "we've found friends of Ireland and persons of Irish ancestry but no one holding an Irish passport.

"We couldn't even find an Irish flag."

The club is still hopeful that a true son of Ireland will turn up. Preparations for the party are going ahead under the direction of a committee headed by Leon Greenberg.

Portugal Tore Up Walks To Help Sullivan Show

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK—(UPI)—They tore up the sidewalks for Ed Sullivan in Portugal!

GAVER

Can you imagine what will happen when the impresario's new foreign affairs program finally gets him to Liechtenstein?

They'll probably just move the tiny principality over here and set it up in a CBS studio so Ed can do the show live.

Sullivan, of course, has been using foreign talent galore, in all shapes and sizes, on his Sunday show for years.

Last year he took some cameras to Brussels and did a program about the World's Fair there.

His St. Patrick's Day program Sunday will have filmed material from Ireland, including a sequence with Prime Minister De Valera and a guided tour of Dublin with former Lord Mayor Briscoe leading the way.

Late last year he got in on the 49th state deal by building a program around Alaska, filmed on the spot.

All of these things have helped lead to a decision to deal more and more in far-off backgrounds and personalities to help keep his program in the limelight.

* * *

THE PROGRAM about Portugal is coming up March 22. It was filmed on the spot. On the Sullivan planning board are programs featuring Rome and Vienna—he expects to record them next summer; Britain, Spain and France.

India also has been mentioned as a future possibility.

The Portuguese adventure was a pure delight, according to Producer Robert Precht. Everywhere, the utmost in cooperation. Take the resort town of Estoril, for example.

Precht wanted his crew to capture on film the town's carnival spectacle. This required the mounting of special street lights along the carnival route.

That, it developed, would mean tearing up certain stretches of sidewalk to lay lines. The council conferred briefly, cheerfully agreed to sacrifice the sidewalks.

But after the special lights were installed came another problem. He needed to keep the lithgts on all night so his crew could get set up for the shooting.

There is an Estoral curfew on street lighting, so the council changed the law, permitting lights to be on from dusk to dawn.

Objecting citizens were told to pull down their shades.

* * *

PRECHT discovered a two-centuries-old royal carriage in the coach museum of Portugal and felt he just had to have it for American vocalist Jacquelin McKeever to ride in while she sang "I Could Have Danced All Night."

Museum officials were shocked, but Precht appealed to the ministry of public affairs, and the coach was made available to Miss McKeever and American TV.

Frenchman Maurice Chevalier was in Portugal and was worked into the program.

Portuguese talent, of course, will participate, as well as England's Richard Hearne and a Swiss quartet called the Noberti.

TAYLOR

WALLACE

CLARK

Persons and Programs

Reruns of the old mystery series, Suspicion, are being talked about as the summer replacement for NBC-TV's Steve Allen.

Allan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loew, composers of "My Fair Lady," are readying two TV specials for next season that would feature their music. Not network yet.

CBS-TV will fold Your Hit Parade on April 24 and move the starting time of its Western, Rawhide, up a half hour into the Hit Parade spot on May 1.

Rawhide will be followed in the Friday night lineup by The Invisible Man, which was jerked off the network earlier this season.

Some of the new series ABC-TV is plotting for next season include a Robert Taylor crime series, The Detectives; a western about an insurance investigator, Cry Fraud; an hour series, War Against Crime; a situation comedy about an Ozark family, Cissie; a police series, The Big Walk; a Dick Clark panel show, World of Talent; an da Mike Wallace panel show, Take A Good Look.

THE Last Word

By DR. BERGEN EVANS

ANSWER: No, it is the English word bone. Under its gay-seeming name, bonfire is one of the grimmest words in our language.

Originally it was spelled bone fire and a definition in a Latin dictionary of 1483 leaves no doubt that it was a fire "wherein men's bodyes were burned."

A bonfire may originally have been a fire in which the dead were burned after a victory and it may be from that fact that we think of it as a part of a celebration. Today the festive associations have so completely overshadowed the gruesome ones that when we read in an Elizabethan book that Queen Dido burned herself up in a "bonfire" our first thought is that some gaieties had had an unexpectedly tragic ending.

(Copyright, 1959, by Bergen Evans)

Today's Quick Quiz

Score one point for a correct solution of each of the five problems.

1. When a man proposes to his sweetheart in the conventional manner, he rests on which bone?

Patella Sternum
Clavicle Tibia

2. Which one of these creatures is not a ruminant?

Goat Zebra Antelope Buffalo

3. The Huguenots were Protestants who fled to America from the country whose capital city is

Berlin Rome Paris Brussels

4. Which one of the following plays involves more than one player on the same team?

Line drive Fly
Balk Hit & run

5. Which one of these verbs suggests the most lawful type of action?

Entice Entreat Lure Inveigle

ANSWERS

1 Patella (kneecap); 2 Zebra; 3 Paris; 4 Hit & Run; 5 Entreat.

7 p.m.

2—EVERYDAY SPANISH — "Hotel Service."

10—FRONTIER — An Indian who commits murder is set free on his promise to return for his own hanging.

2—BALANCE — "A Quizzical Look at Nutrition."

4—YOUR HIT PARADE—Special guest Stubby Kaye joins Dorothy Collins and Johnny Desmond.

2—NATURE'S REALM—"Unusual Fish of Florida."

4—RAWHIDE—The rawhiders become enmeshed in a plot when they pick up a preacher (MacDonald Carey) lost in the dry plains.

7—BOB HOPE—Tonight's special was taped partly before Bob's recent visit to a eye specialist, partly after that trip. You can see the difference. The part that was done before — a 10-minute Western parody — is vigorous and lively. Then he got his slow-down prescription from the doctor and so his monologue, taped subsequently, is strictly a stand-up-and-talk bit. In the monologue, he covers everything from his bad eye to the Academy Awards. The Western skit, with a lot of cowboy stars, has Bob as a cane-wielding smoothie (there's booze in one end, olives in the other) and he's helped out by Walker Edmiston, who did the Chester take-off on Maverick and repeats it here. Another skit has Hope as the last man on earth with Julie London as the last woman. Julie and Guy Mitchell supply the musical relief . . . Color.

Best Bet

10—WALT DISNEY — Donald Duck's 25th birthday will be marked tonight with the madcap mallard's adventures in "Highway to Trouble."

8:30

2 — COMMUNITY OF CONDEMNED — "Public Myths About Prisons."

2—PREFACE—"Music at the Library."

4—PHIL SILVERS — Tonight is a repeat of "Bilko's Vampire." This is the one in which Bilko cons Joe E. Ross into believing he's a vampire. It all has some vague connection with Hollywood's need for a new monster. This was first shown on Oct. 3, 1958.

William Bendix and Tim Hovey

. . . Star Playhouse on Ch. 4 at 9:30

7—M SQUAD — Ballinger becomes the target of a revenge-crazed gunman.

10 — TOMBSTONE TERRITORY — This Pat Conway Western, which expired last season, has been revived by popular demand. The opener has Pat ambushed by Apaches and saved by the accused killer he was supposed to jail. From there, it's a battle of wits between Pat and the real killer to persuade the young man to lay that pistol down.

9:30

4—STAR PLAYHOUSE—Tonight's story has William Bendix as an ex-Marine sergeant in college. This is called "Ivy League" and it has some funny moments, particularly one in which Bendix and a bunch of collegians fish a cannon out of the river.

10

4—LINEUP — Police investigate a strange robbery in which an armed bandit makes off with hundreds of dollars in cash but ignores thousands of dollars worth of jewels.

4—PERSON TO PERSON — Edward R. Murrow visits with Vassar College president, Miss Sarah Gibson Blanding and writer Bud Schulberg.

11:10

10 — MOVIE — "Unknown World," (1951), Bruce Kellogg, Marilyn Nash. Scientists invent a machine that can burrow to the earth's center.

11:20

11:25

4—MOVIE — "Dragonwyck," (1946), Gene Tierney, Walter Huston, Vincent Price. A psychological drama of a young farmgirl who becomes the second wife of a murderous landowner driven mad by his thwarted desire to have a son.

Ike Seeking Way to Get Public Into Steel Talks

By EDWIN A. LAHEY
Chief Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Can the U.S. any longer afford the luxury of "free collective bargaining" like that in the steel industry?

Should a "third force" be represented at the bargaining table when an administered price industry and a monolithic labor union negotiate a contract that sends ripples all through the national and international economy?

These questions have reached the level of cabinet discussion in Washington.

And their urgency increases each week, with the approach of the next steel wage-price crisis on June 30.

Members of the President's cabinet committee on inflation, headed by Vice President Nixon, are pretty certain of what will happen on that date.

There will be a steel strike as the three year contract of the steel workers' union expires at midnight of June 30.

Eventually it will be settled.

There will be a wage increase.

There will be a price increase.

And the inflationary spiral will be in another spin. It has been so since the steel crisis of 1946. After every settlement, the repercussions extend to the remotest corner of a society built on steel.

The dreary inevitability of these "booster shots" that the inflation gets from each steel settlement has set Vice President Richard Nixon, Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, and other cabinet members off on a search for some way to protect the public interest at collective bargaining sessions as important as those in the steel industry.

There's one big block in these cabinet discussions.

How does one persuade the steel industry and the steel workers' union to recognize the public interest in their bargaining sessions without some sort of government compulsion?

Neither Nixon, Mitchell, nor any other member of the President's cabinet committee on inflation has found a satisfactory solution to this problem.

And for the present, at least, they are unwilling to accept any suggestion of government compulsion in collective bargaining.

The late Philip Murray of the CIO was the father of a plan for "industry councils" at which the public interest would be represented in bargaining sessions which gave the public repercussions that the steel industry negotiations have.

But the administration leaders are worried about the implications of the "industry council" plan, which they feel would be a step toward compulsory arbitration.

Compulsory arbitration has become an ugly symbol, with good reasons based on experience. Political influence frequently tips the scales when employers, unions, and the public depend upon compulsory arbitration to find the golden mean of justice in an industrial dispute.

Some form of a "board of review" to protect the public interest in matters like a steel wage settlement has also been considered, but again the ugly spectre of government control has dimmed the hope of government leaders for a solution in this manner.

President Eisenhower has suggested, in his many pleas for "restraint" by employers and unions, that wage and price controls might finally become a reality if the public is victimized too often through inflationary wage and price movements.

The President's cabinet committee, while shrinking from any plan that involves government compulsion, nevertheless is exploring every possibility of getting recognition for the public interest at the steel wage negotiations this spring.

They are certain of only one thing.

They believe that the era of collective bargaining that began with the steel-wage settlement of 1946 should come to an end, and with it the pattern of riding inflation toward infinity.

They are alarmed not only at the national impact of inflation, and the erosion of the dollar since World War II, but at the international implications of continuing price and wage increases.

"Some of the labor leaders are still living in the Gompers period, and are quite oblivious to the danger that we can be priced out of world markets, and that increasing costs in this country can also forfeit domestic markets to foreign competition," one high government official points out.

The high cost factors in the textile, machinery, plywood, typewriter, glass, and auto industries have already made these industries vulnerable to increasing competition from foreign goods, another official said.

Foundation to Sell 110 Million Worth Of Ford Co. Stock

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Ford Foundation will offer a two million-share block of Ford Motor Co. stock for public sale shortly, it notified the Securities and Exchange Commission Thursday.

At today's price for Ford common shares, the offering will be worth more than 110 million dollars.

This will be the second big offering of Ford stock to investors. The first was made in 1956, when the public was first invited into part ownership of the previously tightly held family corporation.

That issue was 10,200,000 shares, and was the largest issue of equity stock in history.

The prospectus outlining plans for the stock sale said the offering price will depend on the price of Ford stock on the New York Stock Exchange just before the block of shares is released. The stock closed on that exchange Thursday at $55.37, up 62 cents on the day.

This compares with the original offering price of $64.50 a share and a low of $35.87 in 1957.

The registration statement covering the proposed new issue was filed with the SEC late Thursday.

The offering of common class "A" stock will be made at the end of this month.

The Foundation said the sale is to be made in order to let it further diversify its investments.

Ford stock owned by the Foundation totals 36,132,239 shares. It was acquired through gifts and bequests from Henry and Edsel Ford.

Producers Of Potatoes Are Hurting

They were getting only $1 to $1.10 for a harvested and packed 50-pound bag of U. S. No. 1 potatoes — a package they say it takes a minimum of $1.30 to produce.

There are some 7,400 South Dade acres in the crop this year, as against approximately 10,000 acres last year. But rains drowned out much of the last year crop, while this year it is a bumper yield.

Two other factors are adding to the "hurt." The Hastings area of Florida has also come in with a heavy crop — and there is a tremendous potato carry-over from Maine, Idaho and the other potato growing section of the nation.

County Agent John Campbell said his office could see no ground for hope that the situation will get any better. Nolan Durre, assistant in his office who specializes in truck crop marketing, agreed that the outlook remains glum.

New Brake Will Be Made Here

A Pennsylvania manufacturer said Thursday he will build a plant in Hialeah to manufacture a revolutionary new automobile brake which requires no relining or adjustment.

David Hoppenstand of 210 Palm Ave., Miami Beach, said the brake, which he has been manufacturing for aircraft at a plant in Conneautville, Pa., will be standard equipment on some 1960 model automobiles manufactured by the Chrysler Corp.

Called the Expander, the brake has only three parts as opposed to 59 in conventional brake sets.

Hoppenstand, who designed it, claims the Expander can be used for the lifetime of a car without relining or adjustment. He said his brake has twice the stopping power of ordinary ones, but costs 20 per cent less to produce.

Hoppenstand said he will build a 10,000-square-foot plant in Hialeah and employ 40 to 50 people to manufacture the product for the Chrysler Corp.

At Dinner Key

138,500 See Industrial Exposition

Attendance at the Greater Miami Industrial Exposition, now in its last three days at Dinner Key Auditorium, is running ahead of last year's for the same period.

Managing Director John S. Gassaway said Thursday night more than 138,500 persons have witnessed the display of locally-made products at the auditorium thus far.

"This is a gain of about 3,500 over last year's attendance for the first week of the show," Gassaway said.

More than 75,000 are expected today, Saturday and Sunday, bringing the total to more than 210,000.

Coupled with the industrial display is a combined armed forces exhibit that includes a mock-up of a Cape Canaveral rocket launching.

Savings Climb

'Average Man' Builds Reserve

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The average man had his own anti-recession program, it developed Thursday. He not only balanced the 1958 family budget but built up a surplus which President Eisenhower might envy.

Mr. Average tucked away six cents out of every take-home dollar. It was a record saving rate surpassed only during World War II, when goods were so scarce Americans couldn't find much of anything to buy.

The consumer's tight-money policy was a bit rough on the auto and appliance makers, but it built up a tidy family reserve against possible layoffs or shortened hours.

★ ★ ★

This national nest egg grew by 18 billion dollars last year, in the kind of savings which are easily turned into cash, the Federal Home Loan Bank Board reported.

The increase represents a reserve of buying power on which the government's economists now rely heavily to keep the business recovery rolling.

The board's figures include only the income of individuals which is plunked into bank savings accounts and savings and loan deposits, stashed away in U.S. savings bonds, postal savings and credit unions, or built up as cash equities in life insurance policies.

The 1958 growth of such investments was equal to almost six cents of each average income dollar, after taxes, of the nation's 175 million individuals during the year, the board said.

About 4½ cents of each take-home dollar was similarly invested in 1957.

The banks and savings and loan companies benefited handsomely from the prudent family fiscal policy. Savings deposits in banks rose by more than eight billion dollars, almost 45 per cent of the increase.

★ ★ ★

Accounts in savings and loan companies rose by more than six billion dollars, about one-third of the gain.

Development Corp. Reports Increase Of 213 Per Cent

By STAN JOHNSON
Herald Business Writer

General Development Corp. reported Thursday that its net income from the sale of Florida homes and real estate rose a whopping 213.5 per cent in fiscal 1958.

Frank E. Mackle, president of the Miami-based firm, said total sales for the year were $41,085,284 up 84.3 per cent from the previous year. Net income after taxes was $6,583,833, against $2,099,831 for the 1957 year.

The net income was equal to $2.80 a share on 2,519,183 shares of outstanding common stock, compared with 92 cents a share in the previous year.

General Development sold 39,791 lots and 1,571 homes during the year. Most of the lots were sold by mail on a $10 down, $10 a month basis, Mackle said.

Lot sales currently are running 25 per cent ahead of last year, and homes are being sold at the rate of 10 a day, he said.

"We could sell 10,000 lots and 1,000 homes a month if we could produce that many," Mackle added.

The company's sales figures reflect the total value of lots sold, minus a 20 per cent "loss discount," rather than money actually received from sales during the year, Mackle explained.

He attributed the sharp rise in the company's stock to increased lot sales and to speculation over the industrial potential of a company-owned process for chrome-plating aluminum.

General Development's stock, which sold at about $10 a share at the time of the merger, is currently quoted at about $60.

Mackle disclosed that he and his two brothers each hold options to purchase 35,000 shares of General Development stock at preferred prices, and that five key employes have options for another 45,000 shares.

He said the company plans to do some additional financing in 1959, but that it will be debt rather than equity financing.

Canada Fund Has Tax Advantages

By WILLIAM DOYLE

Q. In planning for my children's future, I have decided to invest some of my extra cash. I have been thinking of Canada General Fund. Can you enlighten me at all on this new company? Would it be a safe enough risk?

A. This is one of the eight mutual fund-type companies incorporated in Canada whose shares have been registered for sale in the U.S. It has been in operation since 1954. That makes it "new" by some measurements.

DOYLE

Investment companies of this type put practically all their money into Canadian securities. The shareholders of the funds receive no dividends and no capital gains distributions. Instead of distributing cash, management reinvests it.

There are several tax advantages in this setup. The biggest one is that the U.S. shareholder does not have to pay any U.S. taxes until he sells his shares.

And, because the dividends and capital gains are reinvested, this type of fund is considered to be real growth situations. Canada General, like the other Canadian incorporated funds, is intended for the long-term.

However, with growth you take on a risk. And safety and risk just aren't synonymous in anybody's dictionary.

* * *

Q. I am a hard-working businesswoman to whom nothing comes easy. That is why I am very careful with my money. I own 200 shares of American Telephone & Telegraph capital stock (preferred) and 35 shares of Pacific Gas & Electric 5 per cent preferred stock. I have money invested in real estate second mortgages. Now I have $2,000 more to invest.

I would like to sell the PG&E preferred and change the AT&T preferred into AT&T common. Am I right? Would I gain anything? Would International Business Machines be a good investment for me?

A. The first thing that we had better do is straighten out that you don't own any AT&T preferred stock. AT&T doesn't have any preferred.

That company's only stock issue is officially designated as capital stock.

Now, preferred and common stocks are both capital stocks. But when a company has no preferred stock and has no foreseeable intention of creating any it usually calls its stock capital stock.

In cases such as these the capital stock, for all practical purposes, is common stock. That's the way it is with AT&T.

Pacific Gas & Electric, on the other hand, has eight different preferred issues in addition to its common stock. Investors who hold any of those preferred issues can count on safe dividends — but little else, certainly no major increase in price such as AT&T has shown since it has announced plans to raise its dividend payout.

Your stock holdings are very conservative. How good your second mortgages are cannot be determined without examining each one individually.

What would you gain by selling the PG&E preferred? That depends on what you do with the proceeds. If you put it into a high-grade common stock, you should see it grow in value over the years. You would, of course, be taking on more risk.

But your 200 shares of AT&T give you a good anchor in safety. There's no reason why you shouldn't try for growth. IBM does seem suited for you for that purpose.

Glamorous Stocks Fall, Steels Rise

NEW YORK — (AP) — The stock market made another record high Thursday as it forged the best advance in a week on the heaviest volume in that time.

Zenith was the runaway feature, climbing 28 points to 269½. Several other "glamour" issues showed sharp losses on profit taking, Thiokol dropping 8⅛ and Polaroid 7½.

Late strength by steels helped push the list to a decisive gain.

The big three motors, rubbers, aircrafts, utilities, chemicals, oils, airlines and tobaccos were mostly higher. Drugs were lower and nonferrous metals were mixed.

American Motors dropped 1⅛ in active dealings and Studebaker-Packard fell 5-8 in the wake of Ford's announcement that it would enter an economy auto in the 1960 model car market.

The business and economic background remained generally encouraging. Both investment buying and speculative interest were reported at a high pitch.

Avco, which announced receipt of some 40 million dollars worth of new contracts in February, was the most active stock, rising 1¼ to 13 5-8 on 208,700 shares. Second was International Telephone, up 1 7-8 at 40¼ on 1,400 shares.

American Stock Exchange prices were generally higher on volume of 2,870,000 shares compared with 2,670,080 Wednesday.

Corporate bonds declined in moderately active trading.

Goren on Bridge: Deft Use Of Dummy Lands a Slam

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	3 NT.	Pass
5 ♥	Pass	6 ♥	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Three of clubs.

A favorable opening lead plus deft manipulation of the dummy by declarer was required to land the ambitious slam contract which his partner had thrust on him.

North could have said his piece in one brief utterance by a jump raise to four hearts after South's initial response. Instead of which he unjustifiably bid all around the deck and virtually catapulted his partner into a slam.

West chose as his opening lead the three of clubs, and in so doing cinched the nomination for the "goat" of the deal. Yet there is something to be said on his behalf. With no trump bid on his right there was a grave danger that the diamond lead might be into the major tenace. In view of dummy's spade bid, unless a club trick could be set up before the ace of spades was dislodged, there seemed little hopes for the defense. He placed his hopes, therefore, in finding East with the queen of clubs. East unfortunately did not measure up to his partner's expectations.

Declarer promptly availed himself of the benefit of this little windfall. He naturally permitted the club to ride to his queen, drew trumps in three rounds, led to the ace of clubs, and ruffed the remaining club.

Declarer's chances seemed to rest with the hope that the ten of spades would fall so that South could discard two diamonds. But he had another hope, that is that West held no more than two spades, including the ace. He therefore led the five of spades. There was no escape for West. If he ran up with the ace, declarer would obtain two discards on dummy's king and queen. West ducked, but a low spade put him into commit suicide by leading either a diamond or a club.

Debris Yields Another Body

HAZLETON, Pa. — (AP) — Firemen removed the body of a 47-year-old woman from the charred debris of the five-story Hotel Gary. Mrs. Mary McAlarney was the seventh victim of last week's early morning blaze.

Authorities said they now have accounted for all 55 persons known to have been in the brick building when the fire erupted.

Cut That Out!

MEXICO CITY —(AP)— The Mexican government is telling customs men to go easy on tourists' luggage. "Avoid useless inspections that are bothersome," says a directive.

Fast Way To Dry Up
FEVER BLISTERS
COLD SORES

Don't let an unsightly fever blister or cold sore embarrass you and ruin your social life for days. Instead, at the first sign of a fever blister or cold sore . . . QUICK! Apply CAMPHO-PHENIQUE! CAMPHO-PHENIQUE acts as a local anesthetic to stop pain instantly; as an antiseptic to help prevent infection. CAMPHO-PHENIQUE doesn't stain the skin. And this cooling, soothing antiseptic's special drying action promotes rapid healing. So remember, at the first sign of a fever blister or cold sore, apply CAMPHO-PHENIQUE at once.

Always keep a bottle of CAMPHO-PHENIQUE in your medicine chest ready for instant use. Get CAMPHO-PHENIQUE today! Only 35¢. —Adv.

Plagued Day And Night with Bladder Discomfort?

Unwise eating or drinking may be a source of mild, but annoying bladder irritations — making you feel restless, tense, and uncomfortable. And if restless nights, with nagging backache, headache or muscular aches and pains due to over-exertion, strain or emotional upset, are adding to your misery—don't wait—try Doan's Pills.

Doan's Pills act 3 ways for speedy relief. 1 — They have a soothing effect on bladder irritations, 2 — A fast pain-relieving action on nagging backache, headaches, muscular aches and pains, 3 — A wonderfully mild diuretic action thru the kidneys, tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes. So, get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. New, large, economy size saves money. Get Doan's Pills today! —Adv.

Worry of FALSE TEETH
Slipping or Irritating?

Don't be embarrassed by loose false teeth slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, talk or laugh. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This pleasant powder gives a remarkable sense of added comfort and security by holding plates more firmly. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter. —Adv.

Who Says Our Youngsters Won't Read Good Books?

—Herald Staff Photo by Mike Freeman

Cathy Winewica Enjoys Reading an Encyclopedia
. . . while she waits for appointment with her dentist

By MARCIE FEINGOLD
Herald Staff Writer

What's life coming to anyway? You can't even read a comic book in the dentist's office anymore. At least not in the office of Dr. Bruce Higley, a South Miami orthodontist, who recently purchased a set of encyclopedias for his waiting room.

It seems Dr. Higley has a number of steady customers—youngsters who spend several hours each week in his office. Rather than see his patients while away their time devouring the funny books, the doctor decided to give them something worthwhile to read.

Now the kids won't go home. They plop down on the floor the minute school is over and out comes their homework—right in the middle of the waiting room. They even miss their regular appointment time, letting some other child go ahead rather than give up the coveted books.

The children trek to the waiting room on days when they don't have an appointment—just to use the books. They even bring their friends.

The parents are thrilled to see their children so eagerly soaking up knowledge. And Dr. Higley says the encyclopedias are so popular the youngsters hardly ever pick up a comic anymore.

'I Wrote on the Wall And Mom Is Angry

DEAR MRS. RICKER:

I am almost 15 and I am very fond of a girl of 14. This is not a mushy type friendship; it is genuine, wholesome affection.

Recently I wrote her name on the wall in my room and my mother got mad. She said if I had real affection for the girl I wouldn't make a "circus side show" out of our friendship.

I am really worried, is this the truth? Thank you.

JOE

Mom's first reason to be angry was because you wrote ANYTHING on the wall. That is inexcusable for a youngster of your age. The fact that it was the girl's name probably just added "fuel to the fire." However, it is not good taste to make a "circus side show" out of affection for anyone.

Dorothy Ricker

Memo for Men

By BERT BACHARACH

PAINTING TIP: You can give an ordinary plywood wall or ceiling the appearance of plaster by brushing the surface with a heavy coating of a texture paint. While the paint is still wet, "trowel" the surface with a flat sponge. The effect is quite good when dry.

'We'll Control All the Funds:' Cancer Institute Auxiliary

By JEAN WARDLOW
Herald Staff Writer

By an 81-9 vote, the Women's Corps of the Cancer Institute at Miami voted to dissolve its organization. The Corps is a major fund contributor to the institute but, the women say, their group has no voice in saying how these funds will be used.

At a spirited annual meeting Thursday at the Dupont Plaza Hotel, delegates representing 1,750 members from 25 units voted to seek a charter whereby their organization will operate instead as The Women's Cancer Corps.

The auxiliary group has operated under the institute's charter.

The institute, however, will remain the new group's major project.

"We are not changing the status of our organization other than that we will have a little more control over the money we turn over to the institute," said Mrs. E. S. Gerson, auxiliary president, in explaining the proposal.

It was the fear that the new group might pull out entirely from support of the institute that caused most of the discussion from the floor—discussion which ran over the allotted meeting time and into that of the planned luncheon program.

An additional meeting — Wednesday, March 18, at a place to be named—was eventually proposed.

Mrs. Milton Linn said, "First we cannot do anything to hurt the institute. If we leave them, they'll have to shut their doors.

"I go along with the charter if the institute is our main project . . . our money is needed here at the institute."

Applause often followed speakers who pointed out dangers of dissolving the auxiliary and setting up a new group. There were indications at times that the vote might go against the proposed dissolving.

* * *

HOW THE NEW GROUP'S monies would be spent caused much concern: Mrs. Jean Owen asked, "Who will be our business manager; do we intend to do it among ourselves?"

"I don't think this group of women has the experience to alot $100,000," said Mrs. A. A. Downing. "I'm talking in round figures," she added.

(The local units collected more than $72,000 from April 1, 1958 until the present time. After units' disbursement, this means about $39,000 will be turned over to the institute.)

"I'm against giving out in dribs and drabs . . . I don't think you should go into this until you decide exactly what you're going to raise the money for."

After a call for speakers who might present another side for discussion, Mrs. P. J. Franzino said, "Cancer is the most important thing we're working for," echoing several speakers' views, "but this seems to be a case of someone taking control and the people not having a voice in spending the money they contribute.

"As long as we're raising the money, we SHOULD have a voice in what they're going to do with it . . . we're not ringing doorbells. We're raising the money ourselves."

Last years' funds, reports presented at the meeting indicated, came from such varied projects as the horse show, theater tickets, luncheons, book reviews, cocktail parties and sales of baked goods, candy, hosiery, Christmas cards and cook books.

Mrs. Thomas Perry, "speaking in the capacity of district director," said, "We are losing members day after day and week after week due to dissension that we've had in the past year."

Is Elected Mrs. Ravlin

New officers for the Women's Auxiliary of the Cancer Institute at Miami, which will soon become The Women's Cancer Corps, are:

Mrs. Fred Ravlin, who was the auxiliary's first president in 1953, president. She is a member of Bush Unit.

Vice presidents are: Mrs. Fred Rouse, Bay Park; Mrs. Harold R. Wright, Bush; Mrs. Franklin C. Bush, Bush; Mrs. George Finegold, Royal Palm; Mrs. Pearl Hyams, Shore.

Secretaries are Mrs. Leonard Mead, Ellsworth; and Mrs. John Gier, Kendall Beavers. Mrs. David Miller, Spring Garden, is treasurer, and Mrs. Joe Farrington, Bush, financial secretary.

Their election was announced at the luncheon program of the auxiliary's annual meeting.

The old organization, formed in 1953, will be dissolved as of March 30. The Women's Cancer Corps will be a non-profit organization with purposes "first, cancer welfare and second, education."

BON VOYAGE FOR REVIEWER

Luggage, Books and a Doll

By HELEN WELLS
Herald Society Editor

PERSON TO PERSON

Mrs. Ford

Miss Ellis

Florence and her husband, Jean Fardulli and their guest Maggie Hoeger left Wednesday afternoon, the day of the luncheon, to Chicago. Florence had completed the last of her five book reviews at the Surf and went away with good wishes and a hearty round of applause.

She and Maggie have opened a book shop in Woodstock, N.Y. called The Little Brown Book Shop and modeled after A. A. Milne's shop in London. "The town is 147 years old. There's never been a book shop there. So now we'll know whether they need one or not!" said Florence.

* * *

ON THE OTHER SIDE of the table was a pond on which floated a plastic ship, the United States. This was in honor of Annie Loys and Rouse Smith, who sail in May for an extended tour of Europe . . . their first. They'll go first to Paris, "do" Italy thoroughly, and visit Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Denmark, Holland and England before they return on the Queen Elizabeth.

Hilda Eacho told of the jaunt she and Carlton are taking to Europe, also in May. Carl has been asked to represent the U.S. in Barcelona for the State and Agriculture departments at an American Exhibit. They'll pick up their Mercedes Benz in Paris and motor to Spain and then other spots on the continent during their four months stay.

Laurel Wilson said she and Steve are flying away to South America next week. There they'll join their American friends the F. E. Lees who are in business in Sao Paulo. Mr. Lee's grandfather was a cousin of Gen. Robert E. Lee. (Hurrah!)

Everyone was agog when Surf Club photographer Frank Boran brought in pictures he had taken at the Yukon costume gala. Egads, you should see Annie Loys waving her two inch eye lashes, ditto Polly (Mrs. Bill) Stevens plus the cheese cake!

* * *

Three Generation Coffee

Three generations greeted guests at the coffee given Wednesday by Mrs. Rufus King at her lovely Belle Isle home, overlooking Biscayne Bay.

Honorees at Coffee
. . . Mrs. Jack King, Bonnie King

Receiving with her were daughter-in-law Dixie Dunbar (Mrs. Jack) King of Hallandale and granddaughter Bonnie King. Bonnie's on a brief vacation from her new job with a Manhattan interior decorator.

Wearing Kelly green was Mrs. Jessie M. Woodall of Atlanta, Mrs. King's sister and houseguest for the winter.

Lilies and yellow and white gladiolas blended with the gold and white color scheme of Mrs. King's two-story living room. Adorning her home are paintings, rare porcelains and other objets d'art. Dining table decor was an arrangement of spring flowers.

A Belle Isle neighbor of some 20 winters' standing, Mrs. Ray Lawson brought her daughter Mrs. R. E. C. Kindersley. They live in Toronto, Ontario.

Vacationing from Manhasset, L. I., Mrs. Garry M. Ketcham told friends her husband's due here from the frozen North Saturday Another vacationer was Ohioan Mrs. Oscar Bowden who is visiting her mother Mrs. Samuel B. Rohrer.

"This is the only jewelry I wear any more," said Mrs. Clinton Brettell, pointing proudly to her charm bracelet upon which dangle tiny gold frames holding color snapshots of her six grandchildren.

Mrs. King's justly famed creamed chicken with spoon bread and the spicy hot Russian tea drew raves from Mrs. Carl A. Joerissen and her daughter Kay (Mrs. William) Helvestine.

Jane (Mrs. Theodore V.) Moore wore a smart polkadot sheath with white flowered hat. Mrs. Hoite Agey's choice was a deep pink linen.

Among others there were Mrs. Alfred Schmidt, Mrs. Marion Pafford, Mrs. J. P. Simmons, Mrs. George Newsome, Mrs. J. E. Stone, Mrs. Edwin Spence, Mrs. Forrest Haines and Mrs. Kenneth Burritt.

* * *

'Meet Miss Jones'

When Don Allen introduced his blonde dancing partner at the Surf Club the other eve as "Miss Jones", his friends took a double take.

Mrs. Allen

Under the blonde wig was Esther (Mrs. Allen) who was having the time of her life in her new coiffure. The Allens are getting settled in their new one story home on La Gorce Island where they moved from their two story house on the Island.

* * *

Away in Buffalo is Mrs. E.J. Cutting of North Miami Beach. She went north to see son Robert receive his sheepskin and BA from University of Buffalo. Robert will continue to study at the University for his master's.

* * *

In Germany, Frankfort to be exact, after a year in Monte Carlo is Martha Gifford Parker, former wife of architect Alfred Browning Parker.

She is secretary to the president of a company which manufactures heavy machinery and hopes to come to Miami this month for a visit, says her mother, Mrs. John Gifford. The Parkers have five children.

Cooking With Cheese

URBANA, Ill. — To insure the best possible cheese use in your meals, Dorothy McIvor, University of Illinois foods specialist, gives these rules of thumb for cooking with cheese:

Always cook cheese preparations at low temperatures. Melt the cheese in the top of a double boiler. Broil cheese 4 to 5 inches from direct heat. Always bake cheese dished in a low to moderate oven (300-350 degrees).

Never overcook cheese. Cut, shred or crumble it for quick cooking or melting.

Mix shredded cheese with blended dry ingredients or mixes in making quick breads or pastries.

Use a sharp variety of Cheddar or processed cheese to guarantee a full, rich flavor in cooked foods.

Mrs. McIvor suggests the American processed cheeses for cooking, since they melt easily. The hard Italian-type cheeses, such as Provolone, Parmesan or Romano, should be grated and sprinkled over hot cooked foods as you serve them.

Easter Visit For Deitschs

Planning an Easter vacation in Miami are newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Jay Deitsch of Cleveland.

They will be guests of Mr. Deitsch's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Deitsch, 5731 SW 13th St.

Mr. Deitsch is a senior at Case School of Applied Sciences in Cleveland. His December bride is the former Irene Ruth Levin, daughter of the Benjamin Levins of Toledo.

Smorgasbord

It's only natural that the Danish-American Club is holding its seventh anniversary banquet Saturday in Old Scandia Restaurant, Opa-locka. Party starts at 6:30 p.m.

Honor guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Alex Balfe (he is the Danish consul in Miami) and Mme. Mary Lenander, a founder of the club.

UM Newcomers To Give Party

Each year the newcomer auxiliary of the University of Miami Women's Club gives a party for the "oldtimers," and this year it is at 7 p.m. Saturday in the University of Miami Student Union.

Evening in Paris is the theme, and the student union will be decorated as a cafe by the Seine. During the dinner, Dr. A. J. Radosta will play his violin and Norman Whitten, recreation director, will be a strolling artist.

Mrs. Herbert L. Seamans, chairman of the newcomers auxiliary, and Mrs. H. Duane Heath are co-chairmen.

BERMUDA SHORTS for the golf course were made by hand — by Mrs. Eugene Zukowski, who's modeling them. She's chairman of the South Shore Junior Woman's Club's "sew-it-yourself" fashion show. Show and luncheon are at 12:30 p.m. Saturday in the Miami Springs Country Club on Curtiss Pkwy. All of the clothes to be shown—from sportswear to party dresses—are made by club members. Mrs. Philip Ware, 3835 SW 73rd Ct., is taking reservations. Proceeds are for the club's scholarship fund.

THEY CRACKLE

Can She Soften Shower Curtains?

By JEAN WARDLOW
Herald Staff Writer

Noise. That's the bit we start out with today.

Mrs. L.R.D. of Vero Beach says she has the noisiest shower curtain of anyone in Florida. And that seems to be pretty noisy.

READERS' EXCHANGE

The difficulty is that once upon a time it was nice and soft, but now it's stiff "and it snap, crackles and pops when we move it back and forth across the shower rod."

"I'd like to know what will make it soft and pliable again, like it was when I first bought it. I've tried soaking it in detergent and liquid bleach water in the tub; washing it in the machine; and even hosing it down while on the clothesline.

"Nothing seems to help."

Can you help Mrs. D. With this problem?

* * *

Crayons Melted In the Laundry

Well, actually what Mrs. H. T. of North Miami Beach has on her hands is Technicolor. But it's the hard way.

"A tub of laundry went through my washing machine and clothes dryer with my children's crayons. The dryer melted the wax crayons, of course, and now the clothes look like the funny papers.

"What advice for removing?" she asks.

* * *

Oh, That Messy Model Plane Hobby

Now, about her problem.

"Every pair of my son's jeans and twill trousers are a sight, thanks to plastic model cement and airplane 'dope.' He's the world's worst spiller, dripper, and wiper-of-hands-on-pants."

Well, the dope hardens and won't come off. She's tried hot water, carbon tetrachloride, nail polish remover and concentrated bottled detergents.

What next, readers? Mrs. T. says, perhaps some other mother has discovered a way, since model plane and boat building are such popular hobbies and mine surely is not the only messy boy in South Florida.

* * *

An aside to Mrs. H. M. B. of Stuart: Mrs. M. B of Miami writes, "Dried arrangements being a hobby of mine, I would appreciate the title of the book mentioned by Mrs. H. M. B."

* * *

Mrs. Housewife, Take a Break

Well, business firms have "coffee breaks." Why not the housewife? The U.S. Department of Agriculture is all for it.

In a bulletin it advises the housewife to rest often during her day if she has four hours of housework to do—and what housewife hasn't?

A 10-minute rest after each hour's worth of chores is better than four hours of work, then a 45-minute rest, it says.

This is a Sunday, Tuesday and Friday column for the Florida homemaker. Hints, questions and answers may be mailed with full name and address to Readers' Exchange, The Miami Herald, Miami, 30. The Herald is not responsible for the safety or efficiency of methods recommended by our readers.

Pioneer Women To Hear International Leader

The Greater Miami Council of Pioneer Women will hold its 19th annual donor luncheon at noon Sunday in the Fontainebleau's grand ballroom.

Mrs. Surchin

Speaker will be Mrs. Chava Surchin, now serving her second term as international head of Pioneer Women, labor Zionist organization with chapters in the U.S., Canada, Latin America and Europe.

Some 700 members and guests from Miami's seven chapters will hear Mrs. Surchin outline the extensive social service activities in Israel of the Working Women's Council, sister organization of Pioneer Women. About 60 per cent of the Council's budget comes from Pioneer Women.

"Our vocational and agricultural schools train newcomers to take their place in Israeli society," says Mrs. Surchin, who is vacationing in Miami Beach.

In addition to teaching 4,000 Jewish women a year, the Council currently instructs 2,000 Arab women in fields such as dressmaking and hairdressing.

The Council's children's homes and day nurseries free mothers of 20,000 youngsters for working careers. Village warehouses provide clothing distribution centers for immigrants.

Among their many projects in support of the Council, Miami and Pioneer Women maintain a children's home in Israel.

Scots and Germans Get Together at Gulfstream Races

By [illegible]
[illegible]

Winners' Circle

Gulfstream's James Donn may be Scottish as the thistle but not Mrs. James Donn Jr. She's as German as sauerbraten, and so are her sisters and her cousins and her aunts, as goes the song.

Some of those aunts and uncles were among Mrs. Donn Jr.'s guests this week — Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schmidt and Mr. and Mrs. Chris Hahn from Evansville, Ind., and Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Unverzagt.

A special guest, although no relation, was Helga Schaefer from Tauberbischofsheim, Germany. (That's between Frankfurt and Stuttgart, she explained hastily.) Miss Schaefer is in the U.S. for a year, thanks to the International Christian Youth Exchange. Since July she's been living with the junior Chris Hahns in Evansville.

Mrs. Donn Jr.

Back home in Tauberbischofsheim she was expert enough in gymnastics while still in her teens to teach her own class of youngsters the fine points of the swinging rings and the parallel bars.

And she's book-minded, too. She has had seven years of English, six of Latin, three of French, German all her life and now she's starting Spanish.

Pola Negri: 'I Love Horses'

"ALL MY LIFE I have loved horses," said former silent screen actress Pola Negri in her throaty, Continental manner. "I had my first pony when I was three years old in Poland."

Miss Negri was talking horses at Gulfstream Tuesday because the sixth race was named for her.

"I had many races named for me in France," she continued, "but never here. What a surprise when I opened the program!"

After her first pony Miss Negri became an equestrienne and a ribbon winner, too. She had two jumpers before she came to this country in the 20's, but has never owned a race horse.

A striking woman still, Miss Negri complemented her jet-black hair with a white silk suit and a ripple-brim red straw hat dotted with red silk poppies Tuesday. She's leaving for New York March 28 to confer with the publishers of her forthcoming autobiography.

"I have three titles for it," she said, "and they're all secret."

Claiming Race Left Them Blue

TWO ATTRACTIVE Baltimore couples were singing the Claiming Race Blues at Gulfstream Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Copeland Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. John W. Boynton lost their four-year-old black fillie Pensive Gigi in the second race.

Like many another owner, the Copeland-Boynton team, who race as Ben - Corral Stable, wanting a win for their filly, entered her in a race where the competition was less stiff, but so was the price. As luck would have it, Pensive Gigi was claimed at $4,000, then won the race.

This is a familiar story around race tracks, but that doesn't make it any easier for the Baltimore quartet. Pensive Gigi was their first thoroughbred, bought last year from a friend as an unraced three-year-old.

New Cream Shampoo Colors Hair Easily

By ELEANOR HART
Herald Glamor Clinic Editor

Mr. Gelb

"The husband who says, 'Don't touch a gray hair in your head,' never misses looking at a passing blonde or red-head," observes Lawrence Gelb, president of the world's largest hair coloring company.

The debonair, gray-haired New Yorker believes in hair coloring for most women. "The time will come," he says "when all but 10 per cent (those born with unusually beautifully colored hair) will do so."

Meanwhile, Mr. Gelb, like the masses, has an eye for blonde tresses. You might say, his eye is sharper than most because in the hair coloring business, the blonde-beige moods are the current rage — rose, champagne, deep blondes with overtones, and of course, platinum.

Many women, he feels, have shied away from golden head tones because of sensitive scalp, but thinks that with a new cream hair lightener their problem is solved (discounting, of course, hubby's feeble objections).

This new color bath, he says, is easier and cooler to apply. It whips into an instant froth (like whipped cream) when placed in an applicator and shaken with peroxide. The average time saved by beauticians using it is more than 50 per cent. (Formerly they had to rely on an eggbeater to get the same results).

"It's easy to be a blonde, now," says Miss Pat O'Neill, local representative for the company, who will be on hand in a Miami department store beauty salon all day Monday for consultations..

Where To Buy?

Call FR 9-3826 after 9:30 a.m. today. After 24 hours, write to The Miami Herald Shopping Service, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

However, Miss O'Neill hastens to emphasize the importance of hair coloring by trained personnel. She frowns on women "messing with their hair at home. They can ruin their hair, because they are not trained to look for the finished result."

When you bleach your hair, from black to pale yellow, for example, the hair goes through seven major color changes. It changes gradually in color and tone as it bleaches.

First the dark colors are eliminated, then the reds, then the golds until the de-colorized stage is reached. The bleach must be left on long enough so that hair will be lightened to the final stage.

That's why professional know-how is important.

If you're a raven-haired miss turned platinum, you'll need a touch-up every two weeks. But if the change is less drastic, you can probably get by with a once-a-month visit to your favorite beauty salon.

To learn name of new product, where Miss O'Neill will be available for consultation on Monday, call Herald Shopping Service.

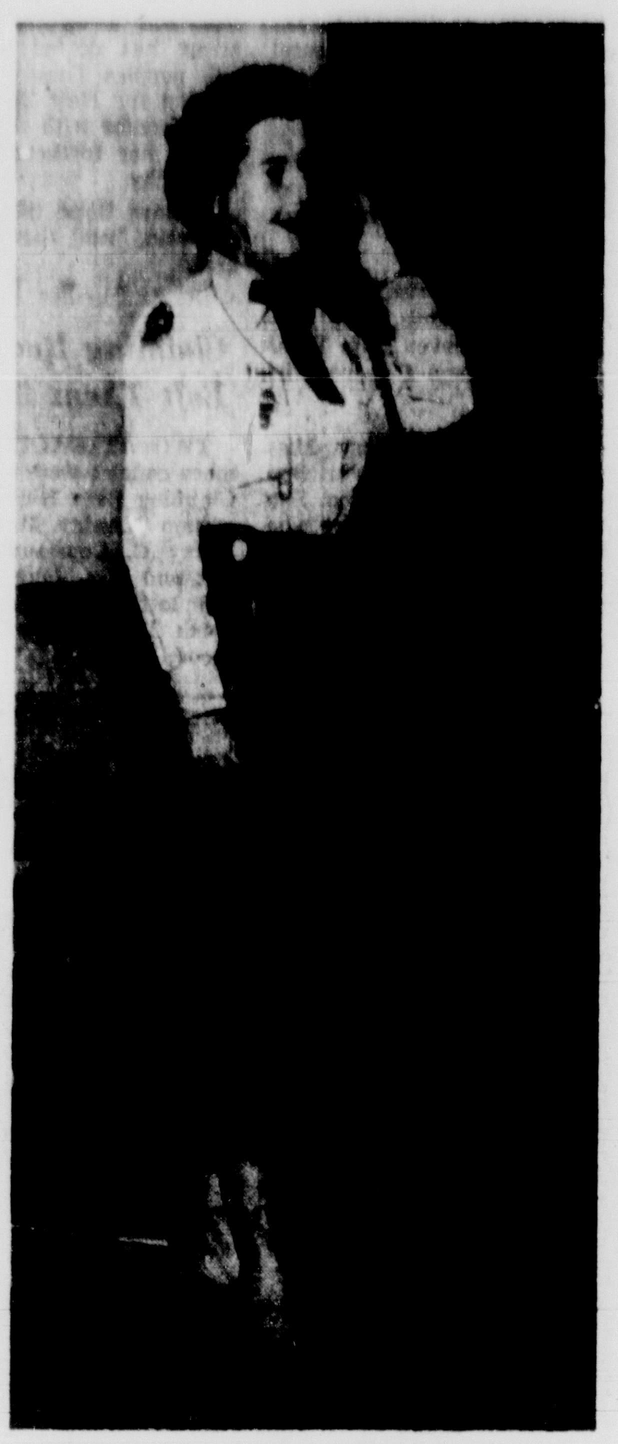
Guide to Good Posture

POSTING BOOK is one of many duties that keeps police matrons on their feet. Here Mary puts her right foot forward in proper basic style as she records the arrival of a newcomer in the women's section of City Jail. If you're interested in background, those bars are a soothing lime sherbet green.
—Herald Staff Photos by Ray Fisher



GOOD BASIC standing position is demonstrated by Police Matron Dorothy as she answers the phone in the women's section of Miami City Jail. 'Every time the phone rings, pull in tummy five times,' Glamor Clinic exercise instructor told her.

This is the sixth in a series of articles on Police Matrons Dorothy, age 42, and Mary, 40, who lost weight and inches, improved their posture and changed the color of their hair, with the help of The Miami Herald Glamor Clinic.

By ELEANOR HART
Herald Glamor Clinic Editor

Glamor Clinic

"You may not be a model, but you are modeling every minute of your life," the svelte brunette instructor told Dorothy and Mary in their first posture and walk class.

The two matrons were especially interested in this phase of their Glamor Clinic personal improvement training at a local modeling school.

"We're on our feet a lot, we're not always sitting," said Mary, referring to their police matron duties at Miami's City Jail.

For example, they're standing when they assist the booking officer by posting book, entering the prisoner's name, time of arrival, etc., in the gigantic volume in which all data on the law's daily violators are recorded.

And many times, these gals in blue are on the go when the phone rings, as it does with regularity in the Municipal Justice Building.

"We'll practice good posture every chance we get," Mary confided. "But," she added, looking squarely at Dorothy, "we mustn't be too obvious about it. We don't want the boys at the station to know what we're up to until we've finished the course."

Well, the boys didn't get the official word until the girls' pictures started appearing in the paper, but they were aware, long before, that "something" was going on.

"We were more particular, not only with how we stood, but our appearance in general — make-up, hair, eyebrows — the works," Dorothy explained.

Good posture begins with how you stand. And you're not standing correctly if:

1. You stick out behind.
2. You're wilting all over — shoulders droop, chest is flat, stomach sags.
3. Stomach protrudes, spine caves in, shoulders curve like the letter C.

The basic test for good posture hasn't changed. Stand against a wall, if possible in view of a full length mirror (woman's best friend) and check these points:

1. Head high, neck straight from hairline to shoulders.
2. Chin parallel to floor.
3. Shoulders relaxed but not drooped.
4. Hips tucked in and under.
5. Lower abdomen pulled in.
6. Knees slightly flexed.
7. Feet pointing straight ahead.

The basic standing position, which Dorothy demonstrates in the accompanying photo is achieved by placing heels of right foot against the instep of the left foot, which is at an angle. Right knee is flexed, keeping hips straight without bending the body. Knee of left foot is slightly flexed, too, so the back leg is not stiff and hips remain in position.

"You can stand this way comfortably for hours," the instructor confided.

If the back leg is not flexed slightly, the hips automatically are thrown out of position.

Here's a posture tip that may help: Pretend you're trying to squeeze through a narrow area. Automatically, you straighten up, raise the shoulders and tuck in the tummy. If you don't, you'll never get through that imaginary opening!

DON'T MAKE COMPARISONS

'U.S. and Russia Aren't Similar'

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

MRS. FDR

NEW YORK — I had a most enjoyable stay last Friday night as guest of my friends, Mr. and Mrs. Hershey Martin of Beverly Hills, Calif., who always make life as easy for me as possible.

While the two Martin girls went off for a tennis lesson, I had a very well-attended press conference. One thing stands out in my mind.

A correspondent at this session wanted to know how one could compare the women of Russia to the women of the United States.

I sometimes wonder whether we ever will reach the point where we will stop trying to compare perfectly impossible things.

Every woman in Russia must work. Every woman in the U.S. may work if she wants to work, but she is not in any way obliged to do so, and conditions of life and of work in the two countries are entirely different.

We should understand that in the Soviet Union the people themselves are making no real comparison between the U.S. and their country.

They hear nothing about the real way of life here, and quite obviously it would be impossible to describe it to them as it really is.

Of course, it may be possible in the years to come that the two countries may reach a point where the way of life of each could be compared, but this is not at all possible at the present time.

'Hubby Won't Buy Insurance'

DEAR ELEANOR HART:

I have a wonderful husband and three beautiful children. Although my husband's income is moderate, we have a nice home and live comfortably.

Column with a Heart

Not too long ago a neighbor of ours died. He left his wife and children only a small amount of life insurance, money which won't last too long.

In seeing this widow's problems, I cannot help thinking of my own situation if anything like that were to happen in our family.

Some people might say I am morbid, but for the sake of my children's future I feel I must be realistic, although I am sure I love my husband as much as any wife.

My husband has a small policy where he works. I know it is not nearly enough, but he won't even discuss it with me. He says he would rather put the money in the bank.

We have some good friends . . . former schoolmates. The man is an insurance man. I spoke to him in private, and although he agrees with me, he won't say anything to my husband because he doesn't want to take a chance on making him mad.

This is very important to me. How can I convince my husband? Please tell me if I'm right or wrong.

WORRIED

This is an insurance salesman — a man who won't talk to a "prospective" client because he might make him mad?

Money invested in life insurance is not money thrown away, and your insurance friend should be able to explain this fact to your husband, without making him "mad."

However, much depends on your present budget and present financial obligations. Can you really afford to increase insurance payments now? No man should be an insurance pauper . . . and some money in the bank can come in handy.

Your husband owes you an explanation of why he feels the way he does about increased insurance. Assure him you will be more at ease once you understand his reasoning in the matter.

And maybe, once the subject has been brought out in the open, you can squeeze in a few pointers that may not bear fruit today, but possibly tomorrow.

* * *

Only Good Thing Here: Weather

DEAR ELEANOR HART:

I agree with Damned Yankee. I have been living here six months and no one yet has been in to say hello and welcome to our city.

My husband met with an accident and not one neighbor asked him how he feels or what happened.

Sorry to say, but Miamians are very cold people and resent northerners. That southern hospitality stuff is just built up, it means nothing. The only good thing here is the weather, but give me the northern people and the cold climate . . . the difference is big.

HEADING FOR HOME

A great many Miamians have no more southern blood than a polar bear . . . in reality, they are just Displaced Yankees!

Six months isn't a fair trial for any new locale — you need at least a year.

Carrot Pancakes Win Prize

Everybody knows potato pancakes. But what about carrot and potato pancakes? This is Mrs. Rose Leion's idea, first prize recipe in the carrot contest.

Carrots in Pepper Shells, the second prize recipe, add bright color to a meal. And Mrs. Sam Coulter, who entered the recipe, points out it is low in calories.

Carrots Gourmet are simple to slip in the oven with roasting meat or poultry. Carrots are seasoned with butter, a bouillon cube, parsley and chives, then wrapped in foil to bake. This recipe from Mrs. Samuel L. Koons wins third prize.

CARROT-POTATO PANCAKES

(First Prize, $5 in cash)

2 large carrots, grated
3 medium potatoes, grated
1 onion, minced
½ cup milk
¼ cup sifted flour
3 eggs, slightly beaten
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Sour cream

Combine carrots, potatoes and onion. Beat in milk, flour, eggs, salt and pepper. Drop by tablespoonfuls onto hot, greased griddle. Brown on both sides. Serve with sour cream. Makes 12 pancakes.

CARROTS IN PEPPER SHELLS

(Second Prize, $3 in cash)

3 medium-size green peppers
3 cups cooked, sliced or diced carrots
½ cup buttermilk
Salt
Marjoram
Parsley

Prepare green peppers by cutting off stem end, removing seeds and white membrane. Plunge them into hot water and let stand 2 minutes. Drain. Combine carrots with buttermilk and season to taste with salt and marjoram. Fill peppers with carrot mixture. Sprinkle with chipped parsley. Place in a lightly greased baking dish and bake uncovered in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 25 minutes. Makes 3 servings.

MRS. SAM COULTER
1321 NW 58th Ter.

CARROTS GOURMET

(Third Prize, $2 in cash)

4 medium-size carrots
1 bouillon cube (chicken or beef)
½ teaspoon finely chopped parsley
½ teaspoon finely snipped chives (if desired)
2 tablespoons butter or margarine (or more if desired)

Wash and scrape carrots. Cut into quarters. Place carrots on a large square of heavy duty aluminum foil. Crumble bouillon cube over them, sprinkle with parsley and chives, then dot with butter. Seal foil wrapper around carrots. Place in a moderately hot oven (375 to 400 degrees) for 1 hour while other items for dinner are cooking. If lower temperature is needed for other dishes, allow slightly more time for carrots. Makes 4 servings.

Recipes must be entered in the contestant's own name. Each entry must be signed. Write on one side of the paper only. Be sure address is given and date of entry.

Entries must be postmarked not later than March 19. Mail to the Homemaking Editor, The Miami Herald, Miami 30.

Prizes of $5, $3 and $2 in cash will be awarded for the three best recipes. The next 10 best will be given honorable mention awards of $1 each.

Delta Gammas To Celebrate

Delta Gamma Alumnae Chapter of Miami will install officers and celebrate founders' day at 12:15 p.m. Saturday in the Riviera Country Club. Speaker will be Mrs. W. Clinton Terry, former province alumnae chairman.

Miss Margaret Earnest, 1870 Micanopy Ave., is president, and Mrs. A. R. Knust, 7500 SW 137th St., is corresponding secretary.

National project of Delta Gamma is sight conservation and aid to the blind. Locally, the alumnae conducted a visual screening program among Dade county's pre-school children.

Hash and Soupy Beans Do the Trick

Here's How to Deal With Hungry Kin

By ANN LANDERS

DEAR READERS: Since Christmas I've had a rash of letters from victims of Hungry Relatives. This affliction apparently plagues a great many people. There is no known cure, short of announcing in plain English that the soup kitchen is closed and to come only when invited please.

ANN

A unique approach was suggested by a Chicago reader. I'm printing her letter for whatever value it may have.—ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: People who fuss about poaching relatives may learn something from my system. It worked for me and could possibly work for others.

We have a nice big home and I'm a fairly good cook. My husband and I like people, but we also enjoy our own company.

Last year it dawned on us that five nights out of seven we had uninvited guests for dinner. Our relatives brought their relatives. Friends came from the suburbs and out of town, without the courtesy of a phone call.

Our grocery bill looked as if we were feeding a regiment of soldiers. It was nothing for me to spend $40 a week with the butcher alone. (Eight steaks ran me $13.80, and this was one meal.)

When my husband said to me, "Too bad the chow around here is so good" I got an idea. The next time his sister, her husband, their two kids and my in-laws came in at dinnertime (they live 70 miles from here) they were greeted by the aroma of mackerel patties. Somehow the potatoes got burned.

Next morning we had mush for breakfast and the bacon was black. When I began to cut up two big heads of cabbage for dinner, everyone remembered they had other plans. I never saw people leave a house so fast.

The next night my family dropped in for dinner. I served hash and soupy beans. For desert I opened a can of peaches. We followed this formula for two weeks, and it cured the whole tribe. No one drops in for meals anymore. Apparently the food was the big attraction. "Somehow" we accumulated an extra $900 in our bank account last January. We're going away for three weeks. Toodle-doo!—E. D. S.

* * *

DEAR ANN: I'm a "mama's boy" but I don't want to be one. Can you help me?

I'm in my first year of high school and now I see all the mistakes I've made. I never went out for athletics because my mother was afraid I'd get hurt. I don't know how to dance because I was too blamed lazy to learn.

I never made any friends because my mother drilled it into my head that school was a place to get an education, not to make social contacts.

The kids have let me alone because I made it clear I wasn't interested in their friendship. Now I want friends so bad I can't see straight, but no one pays any attention to me. I have three and a half years of high school left and six years of college after that. This adds up to nine years of loneliness. Did I wake up too late? Can you help me? I sure need it. — THE LONER

Dear Loner: Anyone so acutely aware of his shortcomings and able to express them as openly as you, need not resign himself to a life of loneliness. You've won half the battle by understanding the problem. Now do something about it.

Start by making conversation with the kids around you. Ask simple questions. Show an interest in them. Join some clubs. Go out for a sport or two even if you're sure to land on the fourth team. Develop a sense of humor regarding your limitations and you'll find the kids laughing with you, not at you.

If you haven't seen my booklet "How To Be Well Liked" send for it. It was written for teenagers just like you. And please write to me again in three months. I'd like to know how you get along.

* * *

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A $10 Bill Pays Fares

NEW YORK —(UPI)— The conscience of a longtime subway fare evader finally got the best of him.

The New York City Transit Authority reported it received a $10 bill from an anonymous hitherto free-loading passenger. Enclosed was a note which said:

"I am sending to you here inclosed, a payment for rides on the transit system for which I did not pay. Will you please put it in the conscience fund?"

The transit authority said it was the largest "conscience" payment in its history.

Leipzig Fair Reports Gains

BERLIN —(AP)— The Leipzig Spring Fair reports a half million persons from 73 countries visited its 10-day show. Export orders were reported 35 per cent over last year's—a total of 3,363,000,000 East German marks ($1,528,000,000 at the official rate).

The East German News Agency ADN said a third of the orders were from Western nations. Top booster for the fair from out of town was visiting Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Negro Named

WASHINGTON —(AP)— George M. Johnson, Negro educator, has been nominated by President Eisenhower to be a member of the Civil Rights Commission.

Gables Film Studio Completes Harness Racing Series for TV

STAGE AND FILM producer Dore Schary checks into the Fontainebleau on St. Patrick's Day . . . The Richard Zanucks — he's Daryll's son and producer of "Compulsion"; she's Lili Gentile, movie star — have a joint production in the works. A Stork Production. They're at the Eden Roc . . . Ramon Navarro, star of "Ben Hur," "Scaramouche" and other silent movies, including "Where the Pavement Ends" which was made in part around Miami, has been cast as an outlaw ruler in Paramount's "Heller with a Gun."

Sam Levenson will be back at the Diplomat for a second show date late in April . . . Mike Gordon, who owns that smart seafood restaurant and lounge at the Miami end of the 79th St. Causeway, started as a bartender for Jack Kriendler's "21" in New York — though it was called "The Puncheons Club" when Mike started there. Name stemmed from its Yale man clientele, Punch being a Yale campus periodical.

Horsemen Laud Film's Authenticity

NATIONWIDE Pictures of Coral Gables has completed "The Big Red Mile" harness racing series and details of its sponsorship and TV release are being worked out. Robert J. Crocher, its producer, has won high praises for the film from standard-bred horsemen for whom he has screened it. Owner-driver Del Miller and driver Billy Haughton, winner of the Horsemen's Award for 1958, are among those who have stated it has captured authentic qualities of "a day at the track."

Rumor is rife that a hotel featuring a top star will have picket line trouble unless it signs on the dotted line. Problem is there seem to be two dotted lines to choose from! . . . Guess what "little theater" is doing in Calcutta, India? "Othello" and Gorky's "Lower Depths"! In the native language, but with original names retained.

Bet there is a good movie script in the story behind the firm which does business (it's listed on the American Exchange) under the name of Two Guys from Harrison . . . Enoch Johnson, one-time boss of Atlantic City, has turned author. He's penning his memoirs . . . Walter Jacobs, who will be readying the Lake Tarleton Club in New Hampshire for another season soon, informs that you can be fined $500 for shooting a moose in N.H., but the fine is only $300 if it turns out you hit a man!

Scenes of the Week: Jimmie Durante, Latin Quarter star, in his pre-war bathing suit. His favorite girl song is still "Margie" . . . Frank Sinatra, who is cabana-crowd shy, spotted on the terrace of his Fontainebleau suite, casing the bathers at the pool via a pair of binoculars, with a sun reflector around his neck and bright orange trunks protecting other parts of him from the sun.

"Rio Bravo," starring Dean Martin, John Wayne and Ricky Nelson," opens at the Olympia, Gables and Beach Theaters "about March 26" . . . "These Thousand Hills," reviewed here last week, is currently at the Trail Theater as well as at the Lincoln and Town.

How to Make a Million-Disc Sales

EVER HEAR of a song named "You Don't Have to be a Baby to Cry"? Well, Terry Shands, Gala Lounge pianist, wrote it and it sold over a million records. It was on the back of Ernie Ford's "16 Tons"! . . . Singer Bob Ellis and pianist Dilson Petry will do a concert at the Whitehall Hotel in Palm Beach Sunday night . . . Tom Raffington will pre-empt, as the TV people say, his Irish Night at the Ivanhoe next week with a St. Patrick's Night party. It will be more Irisher, that's all.

Oops, this is the night that the Admiral Vee lounge becomes the Orchid Club. That's fame for you! . . . Dancer Bubbles Darlene opens on Saturday night at Leon and Eddie's. She's billed as "The Gal who Shocked Havana." There's a Castro joke there somewhere — but who has time?

Richard Zanuck . . . 3 soon

Jimmy Durante . . . pre-war

Bubbles Darlene . . . post-war

Amusements

Confidentially . . .
They're Saying:

THAT the Fontainebleau Hotel, which now displays its name nowhere on its exterior may have it, via a neon sign, on the planned addition . . . THAT Gene Leone is buying into a Virginia TV station . . . THAT Miami Tent, Variety Clubs, hopes to bring back a commitment for the 1960 convention from the upcoming (1959) session in Las Vegas . . . THAT somebody in Miami Springs is trying to unload a Havana duplex penthouse, with roof swimming pool. Available due to owner's illness, it says here . . . THAT Miami Beach's night club talent bill for 15-week winter season will top $3,750,000. (Variety estimate.)

Italians Charm Japanese

Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

TOKYO — Japan, which imports everything from American baseball teams to Paris fashions, has fallen head over heels for Italian opera.

During the last few weeks some of Italy's top opera stars have sung "Otello," "La Traviata," "La Boheme" and "Carmen" to packed, cheering houses in both Tokyo and Osaka.

They had special praise for Conductor Alberto Erede, who first conducted in Chicago in the mid-30's.

Bird Films At Library

"Glamor Birds" and "Flamingos of Inagua" will be featured on film at the meeting of the Tropical Audubon Society, co-sponsored by the Miami Public Library, March 24 in the auditorium of the Main Library, 1 Biscayne Boulevard. Laymond Hardy, science teacher at Southwest Miami High School, will speak. The meeting, opening at 8 p.m., is free to the public.

Who Goofed? New Cabanas Are in Shade

BONER OF THE YEAR: The big tch-tch in hotel circles (especially in Greater Miami) deals with the prize goof of them all . . . The victim is a new multi-million dollar hotel, the architect of which built over 150 luxurious cabanas . . . All of them in the shade!!!

* * *

CELEBS ABOUT TOWN: Ethel Merman and Gypsy Rose Lee, stars for over 20 years, meeting for the first time at the "Gypsy" pre-rehearsal sessions . . . Kim Novak signing autographs for dozens of school children near the New York Museum. No pufflicity stunt. Not a photog in sight . . Claire Bloom of "Rashomon" dining at Downey's in her full Japanese makeup after the matinee . . . Ermine-covered Marilyn Monroe creating excitement at the Met Opera. She was mobbed . . . Red Buttons, slimmer via his special diet, happy being back in the Broadway scene at the "Juno" Winter Garden premiere . . . John Jacob Astor, the multi-millionaire, tiffing with the Casa Cugat maitre d' over paying the minimum . . . Merle Oberon and husband doing the East Horizon spot with Paulette Goddard . . . Van Heflin, star of "Tempest," who never takes a keb or car anywhere in Manhattan . . . Always uses The Shoe Leather Express.

Ethel Merman

Gypsy Rose Lee

. . . 'heard a lot about you'

John Jacob Astor . . . tiff

Van Heflin . . . tough

* * *

SALLIES In Our Alley: At McCarthy's Steak House recently some music publishers were chatting about the Bing Crosby clan . . . "All his sons are working," observed one of the group. "I wonder what Bing said to them" . . . "Prob'ly only two words," chucked a wag, "Ricky Nelson" . . . Overheard in Lindy's: "Think Perry's new $25 million contract will change him?" . . . "Why should all that money change him? All that success never did."

* * *

MEMOS of a Midnighter: Frank Costello shares his Atlanta prison cell with seven hill-billy moonshiners, who never heard of him . . . George Raft is doing the stage-door-Johnny bit at the Latin Quarter in honor of gorgeous Diana Hamilton . . . Beautiful "Destry Rides Again" dancer Lillian Doneau is learning all about Wall Street from broker Henry Heaton . . . Jaime Sanchez of "West Side Story" takes Arletta Pignatari (Baby's niece) to the Stage Delly for Lox-and-Bagels . . . Coasters tell you not to invite Dane Clark and any of his "Bold Venture" cast to the same screening . . . Ann Sothern's daughter Tish (also a dish) fast becoming a top teen model . . . Henry Calahan, corresponding with Princess Margaret (he was invited to the Royal Box in a London theater last month), is the chief decorator for Saks-Fifth Avenue.

* * *

Broadway Lights: The Mike Todd estate will be the target for another accounting suit flung by MGM producer J. Pasternak . . . Roz Russell and husband Fred Brisson, producer of "Auntie Mame," have been invited to the White House. The President and Mamie roared at the comedy . . . Otto Preminger's form of criticism: Replacing Lana Turner, who resigned from "Anatomy of a Murder," with Lee Remick, who is an Ingenue . . . Don't invite Allen & DeWood, the comics, to any party after their Chez Paree booking. They are splitting the act and each other's head . . . Don't ditto former sweeties Peggy King and maestro Andre Previn . . . For the first time an entire cast has been nominated for a "Tony." The "La Plume" troupe . . . The comic Jackie Kannons expect a little pistol . . . Nobody can figure why Raymond Massey and Christopher Plummer wouldn't rehearse with James Daly, replacing injured Pat Hingle in "JB."

* * *

NEW YORK NOVELET: A good story without names and why spoil a girl's gimmick? . . . It is safe to report, perhaps, that she's one of the lookers at The Latin Q . . . Several of the girls warned that her new date was a nice fellow, rich, and pleasant company. But for some reason that eluded them all, he never bought gifts or handed them currency or sent flowers, etc . . . Our Heroine went right ahead, anyhow . . . After two weeks of dinner-dates she cooed: "Would you take my paycheck and invest it for me in some good stock?" . . .Yes, he would . . . To make an impression a week later he handed her a few hundred bux (from his own bankroll) and said the stock he "invested" the check in had paid off . . . So she does it every week and winds up with more than she gets show-girling . . . The Latin Quarter gals can't get over her Genius . . . Neither can she!

But O'Casey Play Had More Drive and Fury

Musical 'Juno' Has Many Fine Scenes

By BROOKS ATKINSON
The New York Times Service

Drama Review

NEW YORK — Thanks to a vivid prologue, "Juno," the new musical at the Winter Garden, begins well. It begins with an overwhelming dance, song and dramatic incident.

Marc Blitzstein, the composer, Agnes De Mille, the choreographer, and Joseph Stein, the librettist, have managed to concentrate in one introduction scene the bitterness of O'Casey's "Juno and the Paycock" — the stealth, hatred and tyranny, the uselessness of a political murder, the agony of the mother whose son has been slaughtered.

"We're Alive" is the title of the bold song Blitzstein has written for the prologue. It epitomizes the terrible strength and fury of the O'Casey drama on which the musical has been based.

Since "Juno" has a great theme, and since it is the season's first musical with a high purpose, it would be pleasant to report that the whole work has the distinction of that powerful prologue. But it seems to this theater goer that "Juno" alternates between vigorous scenes and commonplaceness.

Every scene concerned with the wasteful brutalities of the trouble in Dublin retains the fiery spirit and the humanity of O'Casey.

But the comedy scenes are only derived from O'Casey. In his moments of rivalry Capt. Boyle looks like Alfred P. Doolittle of "My Fair Lady." For "Juno" as a whole does not have the strength, the rhythm and the sustained personality of an independent theater work. It does not quite hang together.

Those comments are set down here with considerable reluctance. For the separate parts of "Juno" on the whole have genuine quality. Oliver Smith's scenery is rich in atmosphere, and Irene Sharoff's costumes give the poor of Dublin a raffish vitality. Miss De Mille's festive ballets admirably capture the decorum of Irish folk dancing.

As the sharp-tongued Juno, Shirley Booth gives a performance that is warm and intimate, but less triumphant than most of her roles. The bitterness is lacking. Nor is "Captain" Boyle one of Melvyn Douglas' finest characterizations. It lacks the tightness and querulousness of O'Casey's eloquent imposter.

There are a lot of wonderful scenes and episodes in the musical version of O'Casey's tempestuous drama; and Jose Ferrer, the director, has molded them into shape as units. But "Juno" is more earthbound than "Juno and the Paycock." As a musical work, it does not have the drive, the scorn and the fury of the play.

Poitier Terrific in New Play

By JACK GAVER
UPI Drama Editor

NEW YORK—A very good play and a tremendous actor got together at the Ethel Barrymore Theater Wednesday night with the result that "A Raisin in the Sun" is one of the dramatic highlights of the season.

The actor is Sidney Poitier, who finally gets his big stage opportunity after building an imposing reputation in television and the movies within a few years. He is magnificent.

The play is the work of a new dramatist, Lorraine Hansberry, the first Negro woman to have a work presented on Broadway. She has made a telling entrance.

A few other current Broadway works deserve certain superlatives, but certainly "A Raisin in the Sun" is the most moving piece of writing on the boards, and it gets the most moving performance in town.

That last is due not only to Poitier but to the entire cast, which has only one white actor. Claudia McNeil is almost incredibly fine in her role of the matriarch of a Negro family living in a slum on Chicago's South Side.

The best tribute that can be paid the director, Lloyd Richards, believed to be the first Negro to stage a Broadway drama, is to say that there are no obtrusive directorial touches; that the play just seems to be lived.

The story is that of a Negro chauffeur with a wife, young son, a sister seeking a medical career and widowed mother. His ambition for years has been to get enough money to invest in some business.

The dreamed-of opportunity seems at hand when the mother gets the $10,000 insurance money for her dead husband. But the mother refuses to let him have it to go into partnership in a liquor store. She uses part for down payment on a house — in a white neighborhood, by the way — sets part aside for her daughter's medical schooling.

The son almost goes off the deep end and she lets him have control of the school money and the balance whereupon one of his would-be partners absconds with the funds.

This is not a preachment, not a racial play despite the presence of certain elements. It is primarily a powerful and moving drama about people.

Don't miss it. Poitier alone is worth the price.

TRIM JIM CAGNEY cuts loose with his daily dance rehearsal in Dublin, Ireland, where he is making "Shake Hands with the Devil" for United Artists. Cagney's accompanist is a retail fish market operator, Miss Julia Grey, of Dublin. When the actor discovered Miss Grey's business specialty, he arranged that the film's cast and crew purchase all their fish from the ivory-tapping fish dealer.

Band Concert

Leading numbers from the musical "Carousel" by Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein, II, will be presented tonight in conjunction with the concert by Caesar La Monaca and his band in Bayfront Park bandshell.

Members of Ladislao Vaida's school of musical comedy will present the Carousel numbers with the following cast, Jean Vaida as Julie, Sharline Curfew as Carrie, Ann Congelo as Nettie, Bill Eastham as Bigelow, Frank White as Mister Snow and Esther Barrett at the piano. Gordon Shaw will narrate the program which opens at 7:45.

Type-Cast Star Mourns

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. —(AP)— Singer Shirley Jones' first two movies were successful musicals — "Oklahoma" and "Carousel."

"They were too successful for me," she complains. In both she was cast in the sweet heroine mold. "Now producers can't see me as anything but the pure and innocent type."

But she has played an alcoholic on TV and is now doing a night club act with her husband, Jack Cassidy. In the act, she belts a couple of sexy numbers and does a lot of comedy. When the act played the Coconut Grove in Miami, Fla, reviewers commented on Shirley's sexy figure.

Even one producer commented on "the new Shirley Jones" after seeing the act. Then he offered her a part.

"It was the same old song," says Shirley, "'Laurie' in 'Oklahoma.'"

LIFE WITH LARRY THOMPSON

Little Girl Is Trapped

TAKING HER TOTS, a 10-year-old boy and a 6-year-old girl, to the doctor's office, Mrs. Dorothy Southworth, Hialeah, herded them into the lobby of the tall building.

Chucha, the little girl, oose and ran for the elevator. She got in and turned over her slow-footed brother.

t then, somebody on the sixth floor touched a button automatic elevator went into action. The doors closed elevator started to go up.

little girl was trapped inside this monster. Her could be heard on the ground floor during her entire he sixth floor.

n't think of anything more terrifying. There she was, standing in this lighted booth, ready to taunt her exultant that she had ran ahead, and all of a sudden s slammed in front of her with nobody touching them, was in motion, headed for parts unknown. It's no the girl screamed.

tunately, those automatic elevators work both ways was returned safely to the ground floor.

she probably won't trust another elevator as long ves.

BEHALF OF A LADY from Naples, we asked for ds to a song about a man who wanted to sit on the he could spy on his girl friend.

invited a deluge. I don't know how many people sent ds to Naples, but 18 copies were sent to this corner. ame from Hallandale, Tampa, Fort Lauderdale, Mi-erritt Island, Naples, Miami Beach, Wabasso, Vero Key West, and I hope I didn't overlook anybody.

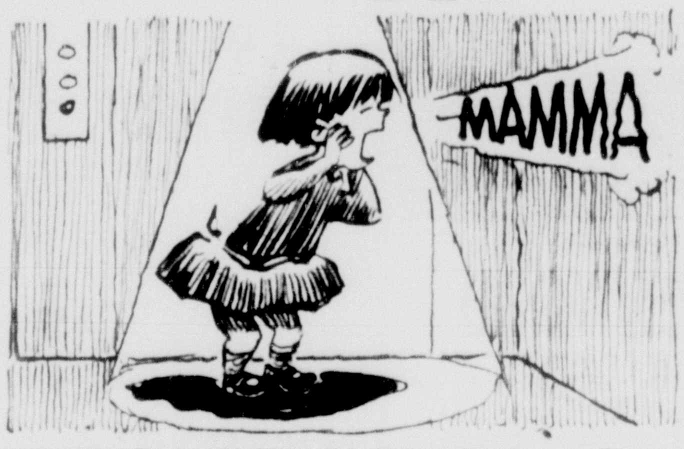
he says if he ever gets to heaven, he's going to sit moon and keep his eyes on her, to make sure that n't flirt.

tells this girl that "I'd be out most every night, so throw down the light, And see the things that you . So watch out and don't you spoon, cause I'll sit right oon, And keep my eyes on you."

, if he isn't jealous I'll kiss a pig.

. J. C. Perry, 563 NW 56th St., says that this song n her favorite for many years and that when she ed at her husband she tells him some day she'll perch moon and keep an eye on him, just like in the song. e she's joking.



Lambert Rock, 234 Alton Rd., Miami Beach, says the song was written about 1910 "and never became too popular, although it has a pleasing tune." Seems to me a lot of people remember it in its old age, so it's at least enjoying a delayed popularity.

Harold Baker, Naples, even wrote his own words. In his version, the guy sitting on the moon says that he's going to keep a watch on his girl even though he has a gay old time himself, "consorting with angels and making celestial hay."

I don't think that would be very nice of the fellow.

And Mrs. Mary Sally Cary, 109 NE 10th Ave., Biscayne Park, not only knew the words but made a proposition. She wrote: "I would be pleased to sing it over the phone for the lady, if she has a tape recorder."

I'll tell you, there's not much our readers won't do for one another.

I ALWAYS THOUGHT that a shrew was a nagging woman, but now I learn that a shrew can be a very small animal that looks like a mouse but really is related to a mole.

This new knowledge I owe to William C. Wilson, 9960 SW 53rd St., who suggested that the baby mouse I saw recently may actually have been an adult shrew.

"This little beast of prey is always famished," he says, "and would starve to death overnight in a waste basket, with nothing but a cracker to eat.

"A sudden loud noise could cause a shrew to die of fright. On the other hand, I once saw a shrew fight for his life, seemingly without fear, against a cat."

Jack Kofoed Says

Carelessness Bids Thieves a Welcome

THEIR car was parked in a quiet, London street while the Dockers attended a dinner party. Having finished crepes Suzette and brandy, husband and wife returned to the automobile. A few minutes later, in a screaming-meemie mood, they blistered the pants off the bobbies in a near police station.

When the Dockers strolled away for their dinner date, they left on the seat of their car $400,000 worth of jewelry. It startled and horrified them that there should be people in the world venal enough to take those gewgaws.

And, what were the police doing? Even if they didn't know Sir Bernard and Lady Norah had been stupid, they should see to it no crimes are committed in London.

People as careless as the Dockers proved themselves to be, deserve what they get.

Come to think of it, we have some of that stripe right here. A doll, who leaves a fortune in diamonds lying about her room while she dunks the torso in the pool, issues an engraved invitation to thieves.

The best security precautions a hotel can take won't prevent thefts of that kind.

* * *

FOR MORE than 15 years the man was a New York police sergeant. Apparently there had been questions about his activities . . . a polite way of saying superiors suspected him of wrong doing. Apparently, the investigators were satisfied. The sergeant went placidly on his way, and eventually retired.

The fact that he lived in a Long Island home, valued at between $30,000 and $40,000 dollars aroused little suspicion, though no one could afford such a place on a sergeant's pay.

Last week this fellow was arrested on a drunken driving charge. When his car was searched, the searchers found $16,000 in cash in the trunk, $1,500, and several comfortably fat bank books in the glove compartment.

That stirred up a storm, but the ex-cop had an explanation. He said: "I'm keeping it for my dear old mother in Jersey. It makes her happy to look at folding money."

Even if the grand jury doesn't believe him . . . even if mom says she didn't know a thing about the dough . . . you've got to give the sergeant credit for one of the most heart warming excuses on record.

Everybody likes to look at folding money. Everybody wants his mother to be happy. You couldn't tie together two happier thoughts.

But, you know what? Those hard-hearted investigators are just the kind of guys to disbelieve a lovely tale like that. Some people don't have faith in anything . . . least of all such a thoughtful relationship between son and mother.

Hours Are Long and It's No Snap

Working for a Lawmaker Is Work

By JAMES M. HASWELL
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — It's no snap working for a congressman, or senator. The hours are long—and sometimes longer.

SMATHERS

A 6 p.m. check of eight congressional offices the other night showed every one open and busy.

With Congress in session it's nothing unusual to find secretaries and assistants on hand Saturdays and Sundays.

It's a Washington saying that more government business gets done between 5 and 7 p.m. than any other two hours of the day.

The larger executive departments keep special staffs of secretaries and stenographers to serve executives who work into the evening hours. This is especially true of executives who deal with members of Congress.

Here's what a spot check showed:

Sen. George Smathers of Florida, 16 of his 17 office workers present, and expecting to work to 6:30 or 7:30 p.m.

Sen. Pat McNamara (D., Mich.), seven out of eight present, one girl ill. They expected to be through by 7 p.m.

Sen. Frank Lausche (D., Ohio), all 13 working.

Sen. Sam Ervin (D., N.C.), three out of eight on hand.

Rep. Dante Fascell (D., Fla.), four out of six working.

Rep. Charles Jonas (R., N.C.), all five employes working. This office is regularly open Saturdays.

Rep. William Ayres (R., Ohio) three out of four working.

Rep. T. M. Machrowicz (D., Mich.), one of two office employes working.

Common office rules are that the day's mail must be answered before the last employe goes home, and that somebody must stay as long as the Senate, or House, remains in session.

Congressmen who put relatives on the payroll to finish their schooling or clip newspapers at home, are relatively rare.

But it's not unusual to find Congressional wives who are pretty good politicians. The House boasts several widows who hold seats their late husbands once occupied.

Mrs. John Sparkman runs her husband's Senate office, Mrs. Pat McNamara runs her husband's Detroit office, and there are other examples.

Rep. Louis C. Rabaut (D., Mich.), raised a big family. As each girl grew up, he put her to work in his office, to serve until a younger sister could take her place. The Rabaut girls kept the place humming.

Plant Opens In Brazil

SAO JOSE DOS CAMPOS, Brazil — (UPI) — President Juscelino Kubitschek opened a new General Motors plant designed to produce 25,000 truck motors a year.

The plant, built in this Sao Paulo state city at a cost of $13,500,000, will turn out motors for six-ton Chevrolet trucks and light pickups. It is completely air-conditioned.

House Goes Along, Hawaii Goes Wild

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The House Thursday threw open the gates to statehood for Hawaii, climaxing a 40-year battle by the Pacific Island chain to become the nation's 50th state.

The House stamped its approval on the statehood bill after two days of debate and sent it to President Eisenhower who was certain to sign it. The Senate approved the measure Wednesday night by a whopping 76 to 15 vote.

There was a burst of applause when Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas announced the House vote as 323 to 89.

Voting for admission were 203 Democrats and 120 Republicans; voting against were 65 Democrats and 24 Republicans.

Democratic Whip Carl Albert of Oklahoma said the "brightest star of the West" had risen to "the galaxy of Old Glory."

It may take as long as five or six months to complete the statehood formalities. But once this is done, the nation's western boundaries will extend to the mid-Pacific and the national banner will display a 50th star.

Completion of congressional action was the signal for jubilant Hawaiians to begin a two-day celebration that included hula dancing, a typically-American fireworks display, a giant bonfire on Sand Island in Honolulu harbor and the ringing of a special statehood bill at Honolulu stadium.

The House rejected with thunderous "no's" two last ditch efforts to scuttle the measure.

It first shouted down an attempt by Rep. W. R. Poage (D., Tex.) to amend the bill to provide for ultimate inclusion of all U.S. Pacific islands in the new state. It then rejected a motion by Rep. John R. Pillion (R., N.Y.) to kill the bill by sending it back to the House Interior Committee.

Hawaii was the second territory Congress has agreed to give statehood status in recent months. Alaska was admitted as the 49th state Jan. 7 as the result of legislation enacted last year.

Before Alaska was voted into the Union, the last state to win statehood was Arizona, which was admitted Feb. 14, 1912.

Hawaii probably will not actually enter the Union until sometime next fall. The bill provides that residents of the islands must first approve statehood in a referendum and elect state officials and two senators and one representative to Congress.

The House cleared the way for quick action on the statehood legislation by agreeing to substitute the Senate-passed measure for its own slightly different version.

Rep. James C. Davis (D., Ga.) fought the bill on racial grounds. He told the House Hawaii's 56 per cent non-white population was "so radically different" from that of the rest of the nation that the territory did not qualify for admission.

When Hawaii sends its representatives to Congress, Senate membership will go up permanently from the present 98 to 100. House membership will rise temporarily from 436 to 437 and then fall back to its permanent level of 435 after the new population census. It went to 436 after Alaska's admission to the Union.

Florida 5-3 For Hawaii

Florida's eight-man House delegation split 5 to 3 Thursday in favor of Hawaiian statehood.

Voting for admission of Hawaii as the 50th state were Reps. Dante Fascell of Miami, Charles Bennett of Jacksonville, Syd Herlong of Leesburg, Paul Rogers of West Palm Beach and William Cramer of St. Petersburg.

The "no" votes were cast by Reps. James Haley of Sarasota, Robert Sikes of Crestview and Billy Matthews of Gainesville.

'The Biggest Day In Our History'

HONOLULU — (AP) — Hawaii whooped it up with fireworks and street dancing Thursday to celebrate statehood.

Sirens, church bells, horns, ship whistles and gunfire joined in a loud, discordant din within minutes after Congress completed passage of the statehood bill.

"This is the biggest day in Hawaii's history," exclaimed the acting governor, Edward E. Johnson, Gov. William Quinn was in Washington for the big moment.

"It is something we've waited for a long time," Johnson said.

He proclaimed a holiday throughout the island chain at once. It will continue all day today.

Children were let out of school.

Business places shut down.

Government workers got off work.

The Territorial Legislature arranged to meet in joint session.

Oahu's 52 air raid sirens wailed for five minutes.

Leaves Berlin

Khrushchev Hurls Another Warning

BERLIN—(UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev flew home to Moscow Thursday, leaving the West with a warning not to attempt any "break through" to Berlin once the East German Reds are in control of the lifelines to that Western outpost.

In a statement on the German crisis made before boarding his Soviet-built TU104 jet transport for the flight home, Khrushchev declared:

"If the aggressors should try, in spite of everything, to carry through their adventurous aims and — as they say — try to 'break through' anywhere, they would meet with the appropriate resistance."

In Washington it was reported the U.S. has drafted a plan for sending a test convoy through a Berlin blockade if the Communists impose one.

The plan as it now stands apparently calls for sending a normal size unarmed convoy of four to 10 trucks over the 110-mile road from Helmstedt in West Germany through East Germany to West Berlin.

(If the convoy were stopped, it might then be strenthened with tanks and go ahead. What would happen if it drew fire from East German guards was not known.)

Macmillan Talks With Adenauer

BONN, Germany—(AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer conferred for three hours Thursday on Western measures to counter the Soviet threat to Berlin.

Macmillan said on arrival he was convinced there should be talks with Russia this summer. He urged the West to adopt a flexible position, saying: "We all stand together but in the methods of defense we must remain elastic."

Conference Set In Mountains

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The White House announced Thursday that the Berlin crisis conferences between President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will be held at Camp David, in the Catoctin Mountains of Maryland.

Macmillan will arrive in Washington Thursday.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President, Macmillan and their immediate staffs would confer at the secluded White House retreat Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Navy Seaplane Crashes; 1 Hurt

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex.—(AP)—A Navy P5M Marlin seaplane with eight crewmen aboard crashed in Corpus Christi Bay Thursday but the Navy said apparently only one man was injured.

The Navy Air Station said one member of the crew suffered a leg fracture. Another seaplane from NAS landed at the crash scene to pick up survivors.

McClellan Calls For Blacklist

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senate roackets probers Thursday said Dominic Senese and Victor Comforte, alleged labor racketeers, are part owners of a firm holding subcontracts on 60 per cent of the Nike missile site installations in the Chicago area.

Sen. John L. McClellan (D., Ark), chairman of the special investigating committee, said the Defense Department should take immediate steps to blacklist the firm which he named as the Broadway Sheet Metal Co. of Chicago.

McClellan said he would move "at once" to present a written demand to the Defense Department for the blacklisting.

He said he would back up his demand with a transcript of testimony in which Victor Comforte of Chicago invoked the Fifth Amendment on many questions.

Comforte had refused to tell whether Dominic Senese, described by the committee as a brother-in-law of Mobster Tony Accardo, holds a one-third interest in the company, or answer other questions.

Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy told the committee that Senese, who invoked the Fifth Amendment Wednesday, Comforte and a man identified only as L. A. Moody own about a one-third interest each in the Broadway Sheet Metal Co.

Kennedy told the committee that "on about 60 per cent of all the Nike sites around Chicago, the work is done by this company — has been done in the past."

Comforte drew fire from McClellan by pleading it might tend to incriminate him to tell whether that is true.

"I think this company ought to be immediately disbarred from doing business with the government and the Defense Department," McClellan snapped.

McClellan said he would request a quick report from the Defense Department on what it finds in its own investigation of the company, what it proposes to do about it, and what steps it plans to assure that other contracting and subcontracting companies are not headed by men who must find refuge in the Fifth Amendment.

Among other things, Comforte refused to tell whether Kennedy was right in alleging that "up to recently, under the new administration, it was possible for you to go into the Chicago Police Department and have your police records destroyed. They did this on March 16, 1949, at your request."

Nor would he say whether Kennedy was right in alleging that "you have been involved in labor racketeering in the 1930s," and "you were recognized as an enforcer" in labor union strife.

Disease Traced To Egg Powder

GRAZ, Austria —(AP)— City health authorities have traced a paratyphoid outbreak to powdered eggs imported from Communist China. Graz residents promptly dubbed the disease the yellow peril.

The infected powder was used by local bakeries in pastries. Officials confiscated all stocks.

Sleet, Rain Add Peril To Snows

Schools Closed; Travel Snarled

By the Associated Press

The worst snowstorm of a mean, dying winter struck a savage blow at the northeast Thursday, just nine days before spring. It also hit the Midwest and South to Virginia.

The storm claimed five lives in Ohio and New Jersey, most of the deaths resulting from heart attacks brought on by shoveling snow.

Up to 14 inches of snow, followed by sleet and rain, lashed an area from Indiana to Virginia and Maine Thursday, the anniversary of one of history's great winter storms—the blizzard of 1888.

Falling temperatures were expected to freeze the slush overnight, thus heightening hazardous driving conditions that tied up many of the East's highways. But today is expected to be partly sunny and milder.

As one storm center moved in from the west, a second came off the Virginia coast. Winds up to 60 miles an hour whistled in with the snow. Tides ranged two to three feet above normal.

Western Maryland and upstate New York measured 14 inches of snow. West Virginia and western Massachusetts had a foot. New Jersey got up to 10 inches. Ohio had seven inches, Indiana, six.

Air travelers were grounded in Cleveland, Boston, Buffalo, Rochester and New York. Commuter trains ran late. So did buses. New York's subways were slowed as thousands who usually drive to work went underground instead.

Hundreds of schools were closed in New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts and upstate New York. All public schools in Boston were closed.

In North Utica, N. Y., 25 children were marooned for two hours when their school bus became stranded in five inches of drifting snow.

Two Ford assembly plants in northern New Jersey, with 4,500 employes, had to close when the storm prevented workers from getting to their jobs. Massachusetts State House employes in Boston were sent home shortly after noon.

Coastal roads near Boston were closed, visibility was so poor that public works employes had to walk in front of snowplows to guide them.

A skidding bus in Binghamton, N. Y., stalled traffic bumper to bumper for an hour. Pittsfield, Mass., had a traffic jam seven miles long.

New York City got nearly six inches of snow, or almost as much as the 6½ inches that had fallen previously this winter.

It's a Snap --Feel It?

You'll be chilly Friday.

Florida is in for nippy weather throughout the peninsula, the weatherman asid.

Greater Miamians encountered the chilly front when a great gust of wind whipped through about 4 p.m. Thursday.

"That was the squall line on the fringe of the cold front," Weatherman Philip Ackerman said.

The forecast is for a low in the low 50s, high in the mid-60s for Greater Miami.

Casino Idea Flops

Puerto Rico Rejects Gambling Proposal

By DOM BONAFEDE
Herald Staff Writer

The commonwealth government of Puerto Rico slammed the door Thursday on two big-time operators who had elaborate plans to open a string of gambling casinos on Miami's Caribbean doorstep.

Rafael Benitez Carle, director of tourism, reported Puerto Rican officials turned down a request by Cliff Jones and Jacob Kozloff to operate a gambling emporium at Barranquitas, a new mountain resort.

Jones and Kozloff — both graduates of the Las Vegas school of gambling — are currently operating the Casino International d'Haiti in Port-au-Prince. Jones, former lieutenant governor of Nevada, also holds the gambling franchise at the Havana Hilton in Cuba.

Since putting new life in Haiti's government-owned casino, the partners announced plans to enlarge their horizon to include a chain of gambling parlors strategically placed throughout the tourist-popular West Indies.

The plan drew the undivided attention of Greater Miami tourist leaders, who were afraid it would siphon off some of the traffic headed for the Gold Coast.

With Puerto Rico no longer in their plans, Jones and Kozloff will now have to put all their eggs in a casino they are promoting in the Dutch-owned island of Aruba off the coast of Venezuela.

Jones and Kozloff were invited to take over the Haiti casino by the government there last December.

Since that time they have transformed it into a Las Vegas-type casino attracting the mink and dinner jacket set.

"They've turned it into an efficient and successful operation," a Haitian official recently reported.

Under their deal with the Haitian government they get about 60 per cent of the gross take and the government 20 per cent. The rest goes for outside expenses and upkeep.

Legislators OK Pupil Spanking

ALBANY, N. Y. — (AP) — Should teachers be free to use corporal punishment on pupils?

Yes, the New York Assembly said. It approved, 100-43, a bill that would prevent school boards from adopting any policy that would bar teachers from using "reasonable force" to discipline unruly pupils.

Advocates of the bill maintained that teachers needed new authority to deal with hoodlumism and other classroom disorders.

Trujillo: Beards Will Fly

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic — (AP) — Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo declared "brains and beards will fly like butterflies" if any attempt is made to invade this country from Cuba or Venezuela.

In a statement, the Dominican strongman said "the distance from Cuba to this country is no greater than the distance from here to Cuba."

He made the same reference to Venezuela. His remarks obviously came in response to movements in Cuba and Venezuela advocating overthrow of the Dominican government.

"The people can have a strong confidence that if the aggressors want to see brains and beards flying like butterflies, they have only to approach the Dominican beaches in a hostile attitude," Trujillo said.

His mention of beards clearly was aimed at the Cuban rebels who ousted Cuban President Fulgencio Batista Jan 1. Batista now is living in Ciudad Trujillo.

Castro: That Four-Flusher

SANTIAGO, Cuba — (UPI) — Fidel Castro told a mass meeting of 300,000 here Thursday he would like to lead a campaign against Dominican Republic Dictator Rafael Trujillo but cannot because he is premier of Cuba.

"I cannot follow my impulses so I must resign myself to condemning him (Trujillo) from this tribunal," Castro told the cheering crowd.

The gathering was the largest in the history of this Oriente province capital where Castro launched the successful revolution that overthrew Cuban Dictator Fulgencio Batista Jan. 1. Batista now is in the Dominican Republic.

He tabbed Trujillo a "four-flusher . . . who does not frighten us. He is afraid."

He predicted the Dominican people eventually would overthrow Trujillo themselves.

Critics Ready to Test U.S. Military Punch

Senators Hear AF Staff Chief

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower's Democratic critics said Thursday they were determined to find out if the nation's armed forces are geared to meet the threat of world danger points going far beyond the Berlin crisis.

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson delivered the Democratic reply to the President's biting charges at his news conference Wednesday. Eisenhower accused his critics of "hysterical" opposition to his military manpower cuts and other defense policies.

Johnson retorted that his Senate preparedness subcommittee wanted to know whether the U. S. was armed with the men and weapons capable of delivering a "paralyzing punch" in any one of a number of spots that could explode even before Berlin.

"We realize that Berlin is only one element of conflict in a world which is studded with danger points," he said. "The real crisis may erupt elsewhere even before Berlin comes to a head."

While he named no other trouble areas, he apparently referred to Red China's renewed activities in the Formosa Straits and to the always tense Middle East.

Johnson made public remarks he delivered before the preparedness subcommittee as it heard Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, testify behind closed doors on his "reservations" to the President's new military budget.

White has expressed concern about military construction, replacement of bombers for the Strategic Air Command and the President's decision not to proceed now with production of an atomic-powered plane.

Although Johnson did not so label it, his statement was an obvious reply to Eisenhower's spirited attack on the Democrats.

Johnson told White that "our concern goes to the problem of whether you have been supplied with the needed manpower and tools" that would give the Air Force the knockout punch it packed in World War II.

"Although we must meet the problem of Berlin," Johnson said, "we know that the American problem goes far beyond one city. We must know whether our paralyzing punch is still within our capacity — and whether we will have it in the foreseeable future."

Noted Composer Dies in London

LONDON — (AP) — Haydn Wood, composer of "Roses of Picardy" and other wistful ballads associated with birds, flowers and graceful old age, died in a London nursing home.

Wood, 76, had an output ranging from rag time to symphony in a productive span of more than 50 years. Early in his career, he toured abroad as a solo violinist, but his 200 songs brought him his greatest fame.

He wrote "Roses of Picardy" while riding a London bus in World War I. It was an instant hit and sheet music sales reached 50,000 copies a month.

Cuba Gives Miamian The 'Boot'

Michael Moreno, a Miami free-lance photographer who has been held in Havana since Saturday on unspecified charges, will be deported as an "undesirable alien," police there said Thursday.

It was not certain whether Moreno, of 16930 NW 37th Pl., would be allowed to continue a flight to British Honduras which was interrupted by his arrest in Havana.

He was detained with two other Miamians — Robert J. Daut and Richard Jaffe — when they arrived in Havana from Miami.

Jaffe and Daut have since been released. Jaffe, who said he was going to British Honduras on business, has returned to Miami, but Daut, who piloted the plane, has been awaiting the release of Moreno, his copilot.

"Mike flew here as my copilot, and he will leave here as my co-pilot," Daut said in Havana.

The Americans said the questions they were asked by their captors indicated that the Cubans believed they might have flown to Havana with the idea of smuggling out some refugee member of ousted ex-President Fulgencio Batista's government.

Honduran Rebels Put To Flight

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras — (AP) — The government announced Thursday that a group of rebels was routed in an attempt to seize Choluteca, important city near the Nicaraguan border. It said army units killed one rebel and took seven prisoners.

The government press office termed the incident a last desperate attempt by the rebels who have been under the command of Col. Armando Velasquez Cerrato.

Velasquez, a long-time career officer, made some forays into northwestern Honduras last month before being chased into the mountains. He made unsuccessful efforts to enlist the support of the army in his campaign to overthrow President Ramon Villeda Morales.

Velasquez was reported officially to be in San Jose, Costa Rica, and headed for exile in Mexico City.

La Couture is survived by his wife, Marjorie; and four sons, Michael Jr., of East Paterson; John Alfred of Lakeland, Fla.; Charles Henry of Wayne; Edward Francis of Lodi.

Pay Base Increase Opposed

Mitchell Tells His Position

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Eisenhower administration came out Thursday against any increase in the present $1 an hour minimum wage. Organized labor and some Democrats in Congress are seeking a rise to $1.25.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell made known the administration's position. He said in a statement he would soon recommend to Congress legislation to bring under the law "several million workers" now exempt from its provisions.

The law, known as the Fair Labor Standards Act, requires payment of the $1 an hour minimum wage and payment of time and a half regular pay for hours worked beyond 40 a week.

About 24 million workers are now covered by the law.

Retail trade employes, now exempt, are a group that Mitchell previously has recommended be included under the law.

The AFL-CIO recently urged a reduction in the 40-hour work week standard to 35 hours as well as a rise in the minimum wage to $1.25.

Secretary Mitchell said the the exempted workers for whom he will recommend coverage under law "very much need a federal minimum wage."

"Their chances of receiving this protection," he said, "would be jeopardized by an effort at the same time to raise the minimum wage for workers already covered by the act. Consequently, I am not recommending an increase in the minimum wage at this time."

Lemus Asks Press Help Latin Ties

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Jose Maria Lemus of El Salvador urged newsmen Thursday to help establish better human relations between Latin America and the U.S.

The Central American chief executive, in the U.S. on a state visit, was the chief speaker at a National Press Club luncheon.

He said that in addition to "the great deal that the press is doing and has done for the welfare and progress of the peoples of the free world," it now has an opportunity for a further contribution.

Latin Americans for years have argued that newspapers of the U.S. devote little attention to Latin American news, except in cases of revolutions or national disasters.

The Salvadorean president did not mention that in the address, but urged that his listeners, as representatives of the press of the U.S., offer their cooperation in the task of achieving better understanding.

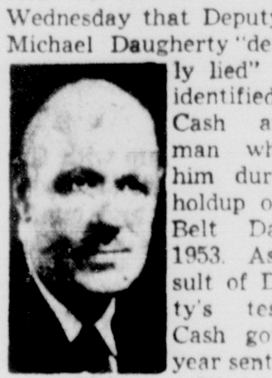
The Town Crier

BY Jack Bell

ATTORNEY Walter Gwinn told the Florida Parole Board Wednesday that Deputy Sheriff Michael Daugherty "deliberately lied" when he identified Virgil Cash as the man who shot him during the holdup of White Belt Dairy in 1953. As a result of Daugherty's testimony, Cash got a 30-year sentence.



BELL

It's a fantastic yarn, any way you look at it. Gwinn told me two weeks ago he was going to tell the Parole Board "the truth." Gwinn defended "Long John" Fulford, one of the Cash gang, and Fulford was declared innocent of the robbery. But Gwinn says Fulford told him that he (Long John), not Virgil Cash, shot Daugherty.

Gwinn says that another officer, who sent out a call to pick up three Negroes suspected of the holdup, was asked to go along with a deal that would identify Virgil Cash as the killer. He refused, saying, "How can I do that when I've already indicated I thought Negroes did it." Gwinn says this man offered to testify before the Parole Board, but couldn't be there Wednesday.

So here's Gwinn, who knew Fulford shot the officer, keeping quiet and letting Cash go to prison on the robbery and attempted murder charge. When such a confession no longer could be used against him, Fulford let Gwinn disclose the story. And there were Cash and Fulford imprisoned together in Raiford.

I was in Raiford about a year after the Cash boys went up. Virgil was in Flat Top, a horrible hole, "just so he can't start anything," said officials. Baby Ray, his younger brother, told me, "It ain't good for Virgil. He's a worrier." Now I'm told that Virgil is on the verge of becoming completely "stir crazy." If he is pardoned, he plans to go to his parents who have a small filling station in Georgia.

Reserves To Leave Airport

AF Agreeable To Homestead

By DAVID KRASLOW
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The Air Force agreed Thursday to move its reserve units from Miami International Airport to Homestead Air Force Base, a Dade County Commission delegate reported.

"We won out on every single count," Commissioner Arthur Patten said after a meeting with Air Force officials.

Patten said the Air Force agreed to move on the condition that the Dade County Port Authority pay $500,000 to defray part of the cost of the transfer.

Patten quoted the Air Force as saying that it would take a minimum of 18 months before the move could be made and that the next step will be for the Port Authority to forward a letter of commitment to the Air Force for putting up the half million dollars.

"The whole problem has been satisfactorily resolved," Patten said. "The Air Force and the Federal Aviation Agency are cooperating fully."

Patten said the spokesman for the Air Force group was John M. Ferry, assistant secretary of the Air Force for installations.

Patten said the question of whether the Strategic Air Command would oppose such a transfer did not arise during the discussion. He said this was an Air Force problem which would be worked out by military authorities.

In addition to Patten, who is chairman of the Port Authority committee, those at the meeting included Commissioners Ralph Fossey, Ben McGahey, Ed Mason and Port Authority Director George McSherry.

The delegation is to meet today with naval officials to discuss the possibility of the Port Authority acquiring control of the old Richmond Air Base.

The base has not been used as an air facility for many years and has been occupied under lease by the University of Miami which maintains experimental stations there.

Patten explained that the commission if it is successful in acquiring Richmond will transfer all flying activities now maintained at Tamiami airport to Richmond.

This is primarily executive and private-type aircraft.

He said the Port Authority is already under orders from the FAA to "phase out" the Tamiami operation completely as soon as the first alternate field becomes available.

Patten said this was designed to reduce air traffic and eliminate an "interlocking traffic pattern problem."

Patten also said the delegation will confer with Defense Department officials on the status of releasing military air installations in Opa-locka to the Port Authority.

He said the delegation will return to Miami tonight.

Who, Meee?

Becoming a queen is an exciting moment—for everyone concerned, apparently. Even the losers were ecstatic when 21-year-old Sandra Freeman of Jacksonville was named Florida Citrus Queen Wednesday night at Winter Haven. A drama major at Jacksonville University, her first official assignment will be to spread the word about Florida citrus in chilly Alaska.

Citrus Group Oks Program

LAKELAND — (UPI) — Florida Citrus Mutual's board of directors Thursday approved the citrus industry's 1959 legislative program — the same one approved by the Citrus Commission Wednesday.

But general Manager Robert W. Rutledge sent telegrams to all members of the Florida House and Senate from citrus belt counties canceling a meeting set March 17 to discuss the legislative proposals.

Rutledge noted that the lawmakers as well as the industry officials were tied up with other commitments and would be unable to attend.

He told the legislators, however, "our" 9,000 grower members will most sincerely appreciate your careful consideration and action on the proposals."

In a market report, Rutledge said if there are 83 million boxes of oranges harvested this season — the current government estimate — the average delivered-in price for fruit used in frozen concentrate will be 54 cents per pound of solids.

He said if there only turned out to be 90 million boxes, the average season price will be 57 cents per pound of solids.

Rutledge noted that fresh grapefruit shipments for the rest of this season will be considerably heavier than last season, but only about 8 per cent greater than two seasons ago.

Mutual, in an effort to stop fruit thefts from citrus groves, raised its reward from $100 to $200 for anyone providing information leading to the conviction of a citrus thief.

High Winds Hit Grove, 3 Homes

By the Associated Press

A windstorm damaged three homes, smashed four frame buildings, knocked over trees and disrupted power service during a 10-minute spree at Polk City Thursday.

No injuries were reported.

Weather Bureau officials said they would have to survey damage before determining whether to call it a tornado.

They said the storm accompanied a squall line which preceded a cold front moving southward into the state.

Heavy rains, coming in the form of thunderstorms in some areas, came with the squall line. A four-inch rainfall was reported at one point near Lakeland, about 16 miles south of Polk City. The Lakeland Weather Bureau measured 2.59 inches. Falls of 1.86 inches at Tampa and 1.62 inches at Ocala had been recorded by 7 a.m.

The Weather Bureau said the cold front could reach the Florida straits by nightfall. Temperatures began falling sharply over the northern and central areas of the state before noon.

Cooler weather was expected to linger through Friday in many sections.

Four shed-like structures at a Minute Maid Corp. grove maintenance station near Polk City were destroyed and 40 orange trees knocked down by the winds shortly before 5 a.m.

Officials of the firm estimated damage to the buildings and equipment at $20,000. They set no estimate on the damage to the grove, through which winds cut a path about 300 feet wide.

Audrey Bloodworth, caretaker for the grove, said the storm broke screens and windows at his home but otherwise caused no damage to the structure.

Four storage sheds, two of them measuring 20 by 75 feet, and the irrigation and spray equipment they housed were destroyed at the Minute Maid Grove.

After leaving the grove, the storm jumped about two miles and came back to earth near the home of Lee Rutledge. Winds knocked a hole in the roof of the house and twisted the structure on its foundation.

E.B. (Shorty) Jones
. . . "I'm innocent"

Jones Gets 5 Years in Bribe Case

BARTOW — (AP) — E. B. (Shorty) Jones of Perry received a five-year prison sentence Thursday for attempting to bribe Sheriff Hagan Parrish to allow a gambling syndicate to operate in Polk County.

Judge Roy Amidon imposed the maximum prison term on the former state legislator. He also could have fined Jones up to $3,000.

Amidon denied a motion for a new trial before passing sentence. Attorney Ellis Rubin of Miami said the decision would be appealed to higher courts. Amidon set bond at $5,000 while the appeal is being considered.

The sheriff testified that the former Madison County legislator offered him $5,000 in cash, plus 10 per cent of the monthly gross, in return for allowing a bolita syndicate to operate in the county.

Parrish said the offer was extended several times.

Rubin, in asking for clemency, said Jones was broke. He filed a petition of insolvency so that the state would bear the costs of the appeal.

The sheriff and another witness testified that Jones told them Cecil Webb, former State Road Board chairman, was a "big man" in the syndicate. Webb, president of the Dixie Lily Milling Co. at Tampa termed the statement "absurb."

Cutback Plans Imperil Schools, State Warned

Buying Bill Readied by Governor

TALLAHASSEE —(AP)— Gov. LeRoy Collins said Thursday he would ask the 1959 Legislature to pass a general central purchasing bill which would place some supervision over need for state buying.

Collins told his news conference he is optimistic over the quality of the job which could be done with such a bill. If enacted it would save the state considerable money, he said.

Declining to reveal details of the plan, the governor said the proposal would apply to all commodities and would affect all state agencies and departments.

"It will go so far as to embrace some supervision over the need for purchase of commodities," he said.

He said he had not discussed his plan with the Cabinet but planned to do so as soon as it had taken shape.

For the past two days Collins and his staff have conferred with a group of purchasing directors from other states which have central purchasing.

In 1957, Collins recommended a central purchasing bill to the Legislature that would include most buying, but the bill which emerged from the Legislature was watered down considerably, he said.

Collins said he would make other recommendations to the Legislature curtailing some state services, and for expanding others. He declined to say what they were.

He said the state could get by on a 685 million dollar spending program being recommended by the House and Senate appropriations committees but he said he would have to do some more studying before deciding whether a cutback to this figure would be wise.

Reward Hits $11,000 For Killer

TAMPA —(UPI)— Reward money for evidence leading to the killers of Bernardo (Bennie) Lazzara was raised to $11,000 Thursday.

The money was offered for information leading to conviction of the person who used a load of buckshot to cut down the wealthy and highly respected Tampa produce dealer in an ambush slaying at his home early Monday morning.

The funds were raised by the Lazzara family and friends of the victim.

Police are still searching for clues that will lead them to the killer, believed to be a professional member of the underworld. No motive has been found but officers ruled out the chance of mistaken identity. They said the ambush was too well planned for that.

Islanders Fight Bridge

FORT MYERS—Residents of two islands here are up in arms over threatened invasion of mainland traffic by bridge and ferry.

Residents of Bokeelia at the north end of Pine Island have just lodged a protest with the Florida Rail and Utilities Commission against petition to operate an automobile ferry to and from Boca Grande to the north.

Residents of Sanibel and Captiva islands, already served by automobile ferry, are opposing proposed building of a bridge from the mainland, given preliminary approval of the Lee County commission.

In both issues islanders argue that the new traffic links would bring an influx of visitors that would destroy their privacy.

Industrial Realtor Predicts It

Florida of '70s to Be Vast Statewide Metropolis?

By JAMES RUSSELL
Herald Business Editor

TAMPA — "We're dickering for an electronics plant at Naples that will bring between 500 and 1,000 families into the area," said a delegate to the first annual Florida Industrial Conference here Thursday.

"Well, we think we are on the verge of bringing in a steel rolling mill at DeLand that will employ about 300 people," said another.

You could hear comments like these everywhere you turned in the lobby and the dining rooms of the Hillsboro Hotel, where close to 200 persons from all over Florida opened two days of discussions about stimulating the state's industrial development.

The keynote speaker for the conference, Howell H. Watson of Dallas, Tex., carried the development theme a little further.

"All natural signs point to intensive industrial growth in Florida," said Watson, president of the National Society of Industrial Realtors.

The conference here is sponsored by the Florida chapter of the society and also by the State Chamber of Commerce and the extensive division of the University of Florida.

The word: Floridaopolis.

Watson attributed the word to Dr. Philip Howser, population expert of the University of Chicago, who used it to describe the Florida of the 1970's.

"Florida will make one of the great metropolitan areas in the 1970's," Howser was quoted as saying. "The only word for it is Floridaopolis."

"This," said Watson, "is a new concept—a statewide metropolitan area."

The Texas businessman, who just visited California a few days ago, praised Florida for grasping its industrial potential and exploiting it with conferences aimed at planning on a statewide scale.

He warned that "industry cannot live by climate alone" and said coordinated planning must be continued to let industry know it is welcome in Florida and will find conditions right for profitable operations.

But Florida, he said, is on its way.

Boss to Pay Higher Jobless Tax Rate

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — The State Industrial Commission disclosed Thursday that unemployment tax rates on Florida employers will be doubled in 1959 as a result of high unemployment last year.

The tax rates of individual employers will average out about twice the .0075 paid last year, or approximately .015.

The commission said an employer who hires 10 workers with an average payroll of $50,000 would pay tax of $450 under the new rate, compared to $225 last year.

Purpose of the doubled rate is to build the jobless benefits funds, strained during last year's recession, back to a level of 4 per cent of the taxable payrolls.

The balance at the start of the year had fallen to 3.7 per cent of taxable payrolls.

Jacked Up Car Slips, Kills Man

FORT LAUDERDALE — (UPI)—Henry Sevek, 71, retired businessman, was crushed to death Thursday when his car fell on him while he worked under it in his own carport.

Deputy Bob Mitchell said Sevek had propped up the car on concrete blocks to work on it, but apparently the brakes gave way and the vehicle slid off. Sevek was pinned to the concrete floor. He was pronounced dead on arrival at a local hospital.

Did Prosecutor Neglect Duty?

TALLAHASSEE —(AP)— Gov. LeRoy Collins has asked for a report on activities of County Prosecutor Henry Hamilton in Jefferson County bootlegging cases.

Beverage Director H. G. Cochran Jr., was called upon for a report as to whether he considered Hamilton's conduct neglict of duty.

Hamilton, a former state Beverage agent, already has been called upon the carpet by the governor in connection with Jefferson County bootlegging.

Overhaul Of Tax Plan Urged

TALLAHASSEE —(UPI)— School Superintendent Thomas D. Bailey charged Thursday that many critics of Florida schools are more interested in saving money than improving the quality of education.

Some people would be "willing to throw overboard much of the progress made in relating education to the individual differences of children for the saving of a few dollars," Bailey declared.

If Florida cannot support a first-rate school system, he said, the trouble lies with the tax structure.

At a time when there is a demand for increased expenditures at both the local and state levels because of phenomenal growth and inflation, he said, "we are living in a political climate with an approaching legislative session advocating no additional taxes.

"When all local government must depend almost entirely on the antiquated property tax structure which now exists; it is only logical to predict that needed services will not be provided at the local level," he told the Florida State University Political Union.

"If we had an equitable tax structure, the burden of paying the additional cost of education would be no greater than at present," he said, pointing out that increased population brings additional tax revenue as well as increased school enrollments.

In this modern space age, Bailey said, everyone should be talking about expanding special, quality education rather than retrenching.

"Tax consciousness" is responsible for the upsurge of criticism of Florida schools in the past six months, he said.

This concept is going to harm the chances of youngsters to get a college education, he warned.

Public schools have no control over the size of enrollments and must make the best of some conditions not conducive to quality education. But the universities have already invoked admission requirements and they may soon have to think in terms of limiting enrollments because of inadequate financing, he said.

He said schools are accused of practicing "social promotion" and yet, this past year 62,000 pupils had to repeat a grade or certain course at an expense to the state of about $18,000,000.

The state should spend some money on a research program to find the causes for these failures, Bailey said, pointing out that "if by spending two million dollars, we could eliminate one half of the failures, the effort would be economical.

Commissioner Is Suspended

TALLAHASSEE —(AP)— Gov. LeRoy Collins has suspended Lake County Commissioner J. H. (Jack) Hooten, and named R. G. (Jake) Bishop, a retired citrus grower, to replace him.

Hooten was indicted by a Lake County Grand Jury Feb. 26 on a charge of selling the county land in which he had a financial interest while he was a member of the commission.

Take Showers, Turn Off Leaky Tap

Want to Cut Down on Water Bill?

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — Think before you turn the tap—pay for what you use, not what you lose.

"Tips," the city water department calls it and all for free. They're handing out these hints to conserve the city water supply and save the user some cash.

What do they advocate? Showers, not baths, they say. About 10 gallons is enough for a shower, but the average dunker takes 25 gallons to wash the dust off.

And 20 gallons is sufficient to submerge the physique in a bathtub, they say, but the average person uses 36 gallons.

Turn the water off, they tell shavers. Otherwise you may waste 20 gallons of water — and, besides, it will steam up the mirror.

The biggest villian of all, they claim, is the leaky faucet. Their advice is directed, particularly, to the home owner who leaves for extended vacations.

Listen for the drip, they say, for it may be the start of a flood in your house. Besides it can make the dials on a water meter twirl — all at your expense.

Public Rebels at Tax Hike But Wants Services

By SYLVIA PORTER
Financial Analyst

Not since the days of global war in the '40s, when the American public was getting its first taste of the bitterness of a record-sized tax dose, have taxes been so much in the headlines as today—but with two profoundly important differences.

1—This time, the rush to boost taxes to the highest marks ever is on at the state and local level. What the states vote on taxes will be THE big story of 1959, the Washington story will be of only picayune significance.

2—This time, there is a perceptible rebellion in state after state against tax-hiking proposals, but the public still wants services. It's not only a rebellion among us and businessmen, the taxpaying targets. It's also a revolt among legislators of both parties and all shades of economic-social opinion.

It was not this way in 1955, when a record-smashing total of almost 3,000 tax changes went on the states' books. It was not this way during World War II and the Korean conflict when a record-smashing total of tax changes went on the federal government's books.

The atmosphere is different now. There is almost a climactic aspect to the test of spending and taxing now taking place in our states.

SYLVIA PORTER

As a resident of New York City and New York State, I'm getting the full treatment. And even before I'm nicked for an extra penny (except via the two-cent-a-gallon state gas tax hike) by the tax-seeking measures of Gov. Rockefeller and Mayor Wagner, my pocketbook "feels" thinner, I "feel" poorer. Thus, perhaps it is in acknowledgement of the proverb that misery loves company that I again have been tracing the state tax battles the nation over. And there's plenty to trace.

Of the 49 Legislatures, 46 are meeting this year and of these, 31 have either proposed specific tax moves or are talking of them. Some already have acted to boost the gas tax or put in a system of withholding state income taxes or increased income tax rates.

In addition, there are proposals from coast to coast to:

Impose, raise or broaden the base of the sales tax. Arguing this sort of action are Arizona, Illinois, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Utah, Washington.

Impose or raise the corporation income tax. Talking of this are Iowa, Michigan, South Carolina.

Shift income tax payment to a withholding basis. Concentrating on this area are Minnesota, New York, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Utah.

Impose or raise the gas tax or tobacco tax or cigaret tax or beer and liquor tax or combinations thereof. Here, many states are involved, including Arkansas, California, Colorado, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, New Hampshire, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, West Virginia.

And there are dozen of other suggestions ranging from disallowing the federal income tax as a state tax deduction to taxing intangible personal property, inheritances, etc., etc.

Even before the Legislatures convened, it was obvious this would be a critical tax year in most states. For in state after state, spending has been skyrocketing because of zooming population among the very young and old, needs for more roads, schools, welfare assistance. At the same time, war-created surpluses have been wiped out, and the 1958 recession pushed tax collections below expectations.

But not so obvious until a few weeks ago was the strength of the rebellion against tax hikes from voters who simultaneously are demanding a continuation and expansion of services from the states.

The answer? Obviously, it is compromise and this, too, is taking place in state after state.

But the compromises still involve hefty tax boosts throughout the country.

And the full impact of these increases will be felt int he pocketbooks of millions of us as 1959 rolls on.

Plane Dive Was Its 2nd Mishap

NEW YORK —(AP)— The jet airliner that dived more than five miles over the Atlantic Feb. 3 because of automatic pilot failure had experienced similar trouble only the day before.

This testimony was presented before the Civil Aeronautics Board by pilots in charge of the plane on its eastward flight across the Atlantic Feb. 2 and its return trip next day.

In charge of the Pan American Boeing 707 with 114 passengers aboard on Feb. 3 was Capt. W. Waldo Lynch. He testified the automatic pilot was operating normally during the first part of the Paris-to-New York flight. The plane was flying at about 35,000 feet.

Lynch told of leaving the cockpit for the lounge after turning the controls over to Capt. Samuel T. Peters.

"There was a sharp right downward movement," Lynch continued. "I ran back to the cockpit and slammed into my seat. The gyro horizon was completely tumbled.

"I saw Capt. Peters struggling with the controls as we were losing altitude at a terrific rate of speed. Capt. Peters' instrument panel was completely dark.

Flight Engineer (John) Laird held me in my seat until I could get my safety belt strapped on, and I tried to stabilize the wings. The first thing I noticed that we were at 17,000 feeet.

"At about 8,000 I pulled the yoke (wheel) back as strongly as I could, and at 6,000 feet we took a terrific pounding. I thought the plane was breaking apart. The pounding lasted just a few seconds. We then started a moderate climb, first to 9,000 feet, and then the airplane responded and we went up higher."

Later the plane landed safely at Newfoundland on manual controls.

Lynch said his engineer had heard unofficially from the engineer on the previous day's New York-to-Paris flight of the same plane that the automatic pilot had acted up—but with less menacing consequences.

Flight Engineer John Anderson checked some fuses and fixed the automatic pilot after that incident. The trouble was not considered serious enough for a formal report. But Anderson mentioned it to the engineer of the westbound flight of the next day.

Lynch said the information was passed on to him, but that he also understood the trouble had been corrected.

Bullets Raise Fire Peril

SALT LAKE CITY — (AP) — Fire in a West Side home killed two children. Seven other member of the Hal Bjorkman family escaped but two were seriously injured.

Exploding bullets and black powder, stored in the room where the fire broke out, added to the danger for firemen. One blast blew out a rear wall of the concrete block structure.

The victims were eight-year-old Robert and two-year-old Naomi Bjorkman. Three other members of the family were hospitalized — the father and two sons, Douglas, 10 and Steven, 11. All three suffered burns, and the boys were listed in serious condition.

Their mother, Norma, was released from the hospital after treatment for shock. Her three other children, Elizabeth, six, Becky, 3 and Glen, eight months, are being cared for by neighbors.

Cooks in Phone Booth

CAROLINA BEACH, N.C.—(AP)—Police in this resort town figured the 67-year-old vacationer was overdoing it in making himself at home. They found him cooking his meals in a telephone booth.

Inside the little-used booth on Fisherman's Pier were a small oil stove, a frying pan, cheese, some eggs and cooking oil. An old broom was propped against the booth outside.

"We found out," said City Manager William Gary, "that he couldn't cook inside the room he had taken in a rooming house. So he went to the beach but the wind blew into his food out there and he moved into the booth."

Officers made the vacationer sweep out the booth, then found him a room with cooking privileges.

Tiny A-Plant

MOSCOW —(AP)— The Soviet Union has produced a portable nuclear power plant the size of a safety matchbox, the newspaper Soviet Aviation said.

The paper said the unit has 400 volts power and was suitable for jobs requiring high voltage and low amperage. It gave no other details.

Hubby Kills Man Peeping At His Wife

HILLSBORO, N.H.—(AP)—Enraged when he found an alleged "peeping Tom" staring at his half-naked wife through a window, a Hillsboro woodchopper killed the intruder with a rifle blast.

Held on a technical manslaughter charge was Reginald Gerbert, 34, the husband who poked his gun through a window and fired a single shot into the head of Austin J. Hogan, 23, of Nashua, a bakery truck driver.

County Attorney Conrad Danais said the bullet struck Hogan, married and the father of three children, as he was running down a road beside the Gerbert house. Danais quoted Gerbert as saying he fired after Hogan ignored commands to halt.

The county attorney said Mrs. Gerbert, a pretty 33-year-old brunette, was taking a sponge bath at the kitchen sink when she noticed the "peeping Tom" at the window. She was nude from the waist up.

She screamed to her husband, who reached for his rifle, threw open a window in the adjacent living room, knocked out the screen and ordered the fleeing Hogan to stop.

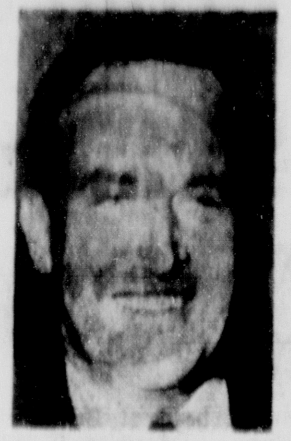
'Speak Softly and Carry a Little Stick'

U.S. Acting Cautiously on Integration

By DON OBERDORFER
Of Our Washington Bureau



William Rogers

WASHINGTON — The Eisenhower administration's newest civil rights posture is to speak softly and carry a little stick.

It reached this positon partly by contrasting the fate of integrated schools in Little Rock with those in Virginia.

In the case of Little Rock, where the federal government, was forced to display massive power, the situation is still bitter and unresolved.

The executive branch of the federal government rejected pleas that it take an active part in the Virginia court battle. Ten schools there are now operating integrated classes.

Attorney General William Rogers outlined the administration's new views before a House committee drafting civil rights legislation.

He rejected offers of a big new federal weapon—the power to begin court suits for new school integration. This was despite the fact that the administration asked Congress for this very same power two years ago.

"The image of the federal government dominating the states is apt to infuriate people and harden the resistance, making progress difficult," Rogers said.

He revealed the method in the new lamb-in-the-china shop approach by saying, "We tried to draft our proposals in such a way that it didn't seem to people that the federal government is trying to do too much."

The administration's main proposal this year would make it a crime for mobs to interfere or threaten to interfere with court orders for school integration.

Rogers hopes this anti-mob authority would be "a substitute" for calling out the troops in any future Little Rock crisis.

The attorney general's new, more cautious position on civil rights brought immediate fire from liberal Democrats demanding strong action to enforce the rights declared by the Supreme Court.

But Republicans on the House committee quickly embarrassed those attackers by bringing up the wide Democratic Party split on this issue. The GOP members pointed out that any demand for strong action would run into stiff resistance from Democratic congressional leaders, particularly in the Senate.

Rogers has attempted to spike rumors that he tried in vain to convince President Eisenhower to take a stronger civil rights stand this year.

But he quickly rejected a GOP congressman's helpful suggestion that the new program represents the attorney general's "profound conviction." Rogers said there are good arguments on both sides of the new posture, hinting his stance could be easily changed by a change of heart at a well-known Pennsylvania Ave. address.

Resignation Of Dulles Held a 'Must'

Moss said it was "a must" if American interests are to be fully protected abroad.

"Trouble spots across the world cry out to us that we cannot afford the luxury of a part-time secretary of state," he said.

Moss said in a statement that U. S. relations "with far too many nations are rapidly deteriorating for one reason or another."

"Where the nation's interests are at stake," Moss said, "we cannot afford sentimentality. Action should be taken at once. If the President will not take the initiative, then, as a final gesture of self abnegation and devotion to his country, Mr. Dulles should resign."

Ex-Mayor Is Cleared

SANTIAGO, Cuba — (AP) — Former Mayor Maximo Torres, who voluntarily returned from exile last week, was released from prison and cleared of suspicion of any wrongdoing during the administration of former Dictator Fulgencio Batista.

Torres fled Cuba after the collapse of the Batista regime Jan. 1. He returned Friday saying he preferred to come home rather than live in exile in Haiti. He was jailed for investigation on his arrival here.

Snuff, a Mutt, Dies a Hero

HAMDEN, Conn. — (AP) — A six-month-old mongrel dog named Snuff died a hero's death.

As smoke came from his master's home, Snuff ran in and waked Mr. and Mrs. Donald Schroeder.

The couple carried their son Carl, 11, and daughter Dorothy, six, to safety. Snuff, who belonged to Dorothy, remained inside the house, which was ruined by fire.

Nasser Woos Iraq People

Denounces Kassem as Red Puppet

DAMASCUS, Syria — (AP) — President Gamal Abdel Nasser wooed Iraq's people Thursday and denounced their premier as a man trying to spread a Communist reign of terror across the Arab world.

Nasser renewed his attack on the premier, Abdel Karim Kassem, in a biting disscussion of the Mosul rebellion before flag-waving student demonstrators at the Presidential Palace in Damascus.

He denied Baghdad charges that his United Arab Republic, which links Egypt and Syria, inspired Col. Abdel Wahab Shawaf's nationalist revolt last weekend against the leftist-inclined Kassem regime.

Instead, he said, the revolt sprang from opposition of Iraq's people to "a reign of Communist terror and persecution of free officers and Arab nationalists in Iraq."

"Kassem was trying to drive a wedge between the Iraqi people and the U.A.R.," he said, "assuming that by this policy he would divide the Arabs to strengthen communism in the Arab world and bring it under Communist terror, as in Iraq."

He accused Kassem of opening Baghdad to Syrian Communists fleeing the recent anti-Red campaign within the U.A.R. Kassem offered them haven, he said, in a vain belief that "through their agents he would be able to tear down our republic."

Though speaking harshly of the premier, a military man like himself, Nasser touched on his own theme of Arab unity in references to the Iraqi people. He said U.A.R. ties with Iraqi Arab villagers are close and U.A.R. aims are peaceful.

"We are determined never to attack another Arab state or kill another Arab brother," Nasser said.

That came out in his discussion of a reported Iraqi air attack Tuesday on the Syrian village of Hamoudiya, near the Iraqi frontier. His Cairo government has protested this in a note to Baghdad. Iraqi warplanes at the time had strafed Iraqi villages, apparently in pursuit of fleeing rebels.

Nasser implied he believed the Hamoudiya incident was not a pilot mistake, as some speculation has run, but said that the U.A.R. did not intend to strike back militarily.

He charged that Kassem risked U.A.R. retaliation for a purpose:

"Kassem did not care how many Iraqis might have been killed. He only wanted to exploit the situation to divide the Arab people . . .

"We are capable of returning the blow double, but we refrained because the villages we would have hit are purely Arab villages, with which we have close Arab ties."

Humphrey Pleads for Concessions

Keep A-Talks Going, Ike Urged

By EDWIN A. LAHEY
Chief Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D., Minn.) has pleaded with President Eisenhower to make some concessions to the Soviet Union in the cold war.

The Minnesota senator offered Eisenhower some specific suggestions to keep the Geneva atom test ban negotiations from going on the rocks.

"We could never forgive ourselves if we failed to exhaust every possibility in our search for peace," Humphrey said in a letter to the President which he made public on the floor of the Senate.

"The world looks to the U.S. for leadership in efforts to remove the threat of destructive war, and we shall be judged by the vigor, the imagination and the fair-mindedness of our work in Geneva."

The Geneva discussions for banning atom tests have been dragging on for five months, and there is a strong temptation for everyone in Geneva to pack up and go home.

"This is an endurance race, not a sprint," Humphrey said in urging the White House to make concessions at Geneva that would at least prolong the talks. "A delay of a few more weeks or months must be viewed with philosophy and patience."

The Geneva talks are deadlocked now because of the Soviet demand for veto power over the activities of proposed "inspection teams" that would police any agreement to ban nuclear tests.

Sen. Humphrey proposes U.S. negotiators at Geneva offer two specific inducements to the Russians to keep the meeting on the rails.

The first concessions would be an offer of a definite limit on the number of inspections the international teams could make. This, Humphrey said, would answer the recent gripe of Premier Nikita Khrushchev of Russia that these teams of foreigners would be running all over the Soviet Union "inspecting mines, quarries, woods, ravines and all the rest."

The second suggestion made by Humphrey would change the proposed representation on a seven-nation test control board to make it more palatable to the Russians.

The U.S. at present proposes that this board be made up of three Western nations, two Soviet bloc nations and two neutrals.

Humphrey asked the President to recede from his formula and offer the Russians at Geneva a control commission made up of two Western nations, two Communist nations, and three neutral nations.

Humphrey is chairman of the disarmament subcommittee of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He emphasized his belief time and again, in his Senate speech, that it was all-important to keep the Geneva talks going on the outside chance that the nations which have explored outer space could "penetrate the cold war atmosphere on earth."

U.S. Loses Petition But Records Are Kept

JACKSONVILLE — (AP) — A petition from the federal government for an injunction to prohibit the state of Alabama from destroying registration records of 20 Negroes in Macon County has been denied by the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals.

Judge Richard T. Rives of Montgomery, Ala., presiding, announced the court would deny the motion but added a suggestion that the state of Alabama give written assurance that all records would be preserved.

Attorney General McDonald Gallion of Alabama agreed and the assurance was put in writing after court adjourned.

The appellate court injunction had been sought to maintain the status quo of a suit on the Macon County issue which was dismissed Friday in Montgomery by U.S. District Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr.

The federal government has filed notice of appeal and Judge Rives Wednesday set the appeal for hearing the week of April 27 in New Orleans.

Homestead To Get Loan

From Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Approval of an interest-free loan of $2,670 to Homestead for the planning of sewer improvements and a swimming pool was announced here by the Community Facilities Administration.

Estimated cost of the sewer project is $150,000 and of the swimming pool $50,000. The pool will be in the city's Southwest section.

Homestead told the CFA it expects to start construction on both projects this year.

Federal advances for planning essential public works and community facilities are repayable on the start of construction.

Arabs Protest Exodus Of Jews From Romania

VIENNA — (AP) — Jews emigrating from Communist Romania to Israel still are arriving in Vienna, but the exodus soon may end because of Arab protests.

Jewish sources said Romanian authorities in Bucharest have issued no visaed passports to Jews for travel to Israel since Feb. 28. They fear Romanian authorities will halt the movement permanently to appease the Arabs.

Israel's Arab neighbors have protested against the emigration of Romanian Jews, charging it will lead to Israeli expansionism.

Romania's expulsion last weekend of Amnon Keren, attache of the Israeli legation in Bucharest, on charges of espionage and Zionist subversion, was regarded here as a gesture toward the Arabs.

Since then, Israeli-Romanian relations have become more strained. Israel charges its Bucharest legation was placed virtually under a state of siege in order to cut off contact with prospective Jewish emigrants.

Jewish sources in Vienna still hope the cutoff of visas is only temporary. They had hoped that in all about 80,000 Romanian Jews would go to Israel this year

Turkish Eidtor Gets Sentence

ANKARA, Turkey — (AP) — A special press court has sentenced an opposition editor to 16 months in prison for reprinting a summary of articles by U. S. Publisher Eugene Pulliam and his wife Nina.

The court said the articles belittled Premier Adnan Menderes.

MENDERES

The court also fined the editor, Ulki Arman, $444 and ordered his paper "Ulus" suspended for a month. Arman is already serving a one-year term for a previous press offense.

The latest sentence, which can be appealed, was the first court ruling in connection with the Pulliam articles, which were published in The Indianapolis Star.

The Pulliams came to Turkey last September on a reporting tour of the Middle East. Their stories severely criticized the Menderes government's record.

British Union Elects 2nd Red

LONDON — (AP) — The Communist head of Britain's big mineworkers union is retiring next month but another Red has been elected to succeed him.

Arthur Horner is quitting at 65 after 13 years as general secretary of the 700,000-man union. The union announced that stocky, craggy-featured Will Paynter, 54, has been elected to succeed him.

Paynter won in a January election by 52,304 votes, the union said.

He has been a member of the Communist Party for 30 years and an official of the Miners Union for 20. Once the Communist organizer for Wales, he served in the International Brigade in the Spanish Civil War.

The three princes of the Roman Catholic Church who received their insignia are Giuseppe Cardinal Fietta and Fernando Cardinal Cento of Italy and Joseph Cardinal Bueno y Monreal of Spain.

They did not attend the glittering consistories at which their colleagues were presented their red hats in December. Instead, following an ancient custom between the Vatican and the governments of Italy and Spain, they received their birettas of office from the chiefs of state of Italy and Spain.

Puerto Rico Seeks More Autonomy

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico — (AP) — The Legislature approved a resolution asking Congress to make certain changes in the Federal Relations Act which created the commonwealth status for this island in 1952.

Generally, the changes would provide for more local authority.

Main changes asked in the resolution include:

Taking appeals from the Puerto Rican Supreme Court directly to the U.S. Supreme Court. Appeals are now taken to the Boston District Circuit Court of Appeals.

Fixing in Puerto Rico the excise taxes on some items produced here for export to the mainland.

Changing wording in the act so as to eliminate what the government terms "phrases referring to colonialism."

House Throws Open Gates to Hawaiians

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The House Thursday threw open the gates to statehood for Hawaii, climaxing a 40-year battle by the Pacific Island chain to become a state.

The House stamped its approval on the statehood bill after two days of debate and sent it to President Eisenhower who was certain to sign it. The Senate approved the measure Wednesday night by a whopping 76 to 15 vote.

There was a burst of applause when Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas announced the House vote as 323 to 89.

Voting for admission were 203 Democrats and 120 Republicans; voting against were 65 Democrats and 24 Republicans.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said President Eisenhower was "delighted" with the congressional action. He said the President had been urging statehood for Hawaii for some time, "as did the platforms on which he ran in 1952 and 1956." Hagerty did not know when the President would sign the measure.

It may take as long as five or six months to complete the statehood formalities. But once this is done, the nation's western boundaries will extend to the mid-Pacific and the national banner will display a 50th star.

Completion of congressional action was the signal for jubilant Hawaiians to begin a two-day celebration that included hula dancing, a typically-American fireworks display, a giant bonfire on Sand Island in Honolulu harbor and the ringing of a special statehood bill at Honolulu stadium.

The House rejected with thunderous "no's" two last ditch efforts to scuttle the measure.

It first shouted down an attempt by Rep. W. R. Poage (D., Tex.) to amend the bill to provide for ultimate inclusion of all U.S. Pacific islands in the new state. It then rejected a motion by Rep. John R. Pillion (R., N.Y.) to kill the bill by sending it back to the House Interior Committee.

Hawaii was the second territory Congress has agreed to give statehood status in recent months. Alaska was admitted as the 49th state Jan. 7 as the result of legislation enacted last year.

Before Alaska was voted into the Union, the last state to win statehood was Arizona, which was admitted Feb. 14, 1912.

The House cleared the way for quick action on the statehood legislation by agreeing to substitute the Senate-passed measure for its own slightly different version.

Rep. James C. Davis (D., Ga.) fought the bill on racial grounds. He told the House Hawaii's 56 per cent non-white population was "so radically different" from that of the rest of the nation that the territory did not qualify for admission.

When Hawaii sends its representatives to Congress, Senate membership will go up permanently from the present 98 to 100. House membership will rise temporarily from 436 to 437 and then fall back to its permanent level of 435 after the new population census. It went to 436 after Alaska's admission to the Union.

Ecstatic Islanders Dance in Streets

HONOLULU — (AP) — They danced the hula in the streets Thursday night.

Hawaii — a melting pot of many races — celebrated congressional acceptance of statehood.

Jubilant islanders lit bonfires. They set off firecrackers. They whooped it up in a noisy climax to a 40-year quest for admission to the union.

Street dancing began at sunset at 14 places in and around Honolulu.

The acting governor, Edward E. Johnston, called an immediate holiday.

"This is the biggest day in Hawaii history," said Johnston, sitting in for Gov. William Quinn, who is in Washington.

News of the statehood vote touched off air raid sirens, ships' whistles and church bells.

Motorists sounded a cacophony of horns.

At Iolani Palace, seat of the government, legislators broke ut in tears, cheers, hand clapping and frenzied shouting when Hawaii's delegate to Congress, John A. Burns, telephoned the news from Washington.

Honolulu's two biggest newspapers, The Star-Bulletin and The Advertiser, rushed statehood extras to the streets. Radio stations devoted almost all of their time to the news and celebrations.

On the University of Hawaii campus, students finished a 50-star flag just a half-hour before Congress completed the voting. They rushed from classrooms and raised the flag on the university flagpole. The school band played the national and Hawaii anthems.

Kids in grammar and high schools also got a holiday until then.

Hawaii's replica of the Liberty Bell, which toured the mainland last year, was sounded for the first time in Hawaii.

At nightfall, military planes dropped flares for more than an hour off Waikiki Beach.

In the Territorial Legislature, the public address system announced:

"Everyone prepare to become first-class citizens."

The Territorial House adopted a resolution making "Aloha State" the official nickname of the islands. Both houses offered prayers of Thanksgiving.

Oahu prison trusties, riding a truck outside the prison walls when the news came, broke out in cheers.

Many stores and business offices shut down at midday.

Banks closed and announced they would open today.

Florida 5-3 For Hawaii

Florida's eight-man House delegation split 5 to 3 Thursday in favor of Hawaiian statehood.

Voting for admission of Hawaii as the 50th state were Reps. Dante Fascell of Miami, Charles Bennett of Jacksonville, Syd Herlong of Leesburg, Paul Rogers of West Palm Beach and William Cramer of St. Petersburg.

The "no" votes were cast by Reps. James Haley of Sarasota, Robert Sikes of Crestview and Billy Matthews of Gainesville.

Nikita Leaves Warning

Off for Home; Advises West

BERLIN — (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev flew home to Moscow Thursday, leaving the West with a warning not to attempt any "break through" to Berlin once the East German Reds are in control of the lifelines to that Western outpost.

In a statement on the German crisis made before boarding his Soviet-built TU104 jet transport for the flight home, Khrushchev declared:

"If the aggressors should try, in spite of everything, to carry through their adventurous aims and — as they say — try to 'break through' anywhere, they would meet with the appropriate resistance."

In Washington it was reported the U.S. has drafted a plan for sending a test convoy through a Berlin blockade if the Communists impose one.

The plan as it now stands apparently calls for sending a normal size unarmed convoy of four to 10 trucks over the 110-mile road from Helmstedt in West Germany through East Germany to West Berlin.

(If the convoy were stopped, it might then be strenthened with tanks and go ahead. What would happen if it drew fire from East German guards was not known.)

Macmillan Talks With Adenauer

BONN, Germany—(AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer conferred for three hours Thursday on Western measures to counter the Soviet threat to Berlin.

Macmillan said on arrival he was convinced there should be talks with Russia this summer. He urged the West to adopt a flexible position, saying: "We all stand together but in the methods of defense we must remain elastic."

Conference Set In Mountains

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The White House announced Thursday that the Berlin crisis conferences between President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will be held at Camp David, in the Catoctin Mountains of Maryland.

Macmillan will arrive in Washington Thursday.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President, Macmillan and their immediate staffs would confer at the secluded White House retreat today, Saturday and Sunday.

Senate Probe Chief Calls for Blacklist of Firm

2 Alleged Racketeers Linked to 'Nike' Jobs

Victor Comforte
. . . hot in here

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senate roackets probers Thursday said Dominic Senese and Victor Comforte, alleged labor racketeers, are part owners of a firm holding subcontracts on 60 per cent of the Nike missile site installations in the Chicago area.

Sen. John L. McClellan (D., Ark), chairman of the special investigating committee, said the Defense Department should take immediate steps to blacklist the firm which he named as the Broadway Sheet Metal Co. of Chicago.

McClellan said he would move "at once" to present a written demand to the Defense Department for the blacklisting.

He said he would back up his demand with a transcript of testimony in which Victor Comforte of Chicago invoked the Fifth Amendment on many questions.

Comforte had refused to tell whether Dominic Senese, described by the committee as a brother-in-law of Mobster Tony Accardo, holds a one-third interest in the company, or answer other questions.

Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy told the committee that Senese, who invoked the Fifth Amendment Wednesday, Comforte and a man identified only as L. A. Moody own about a one-third interest each in the Broadway Sheet Metal Co.

Kennedy told the committee that "on about 60 per cent of all the Nike sites around Chicago, the work is done by this company — has been done in the past."

Comforte drew fire from McClellan by pleading it might tend to incriminate him to tell whether that is true.

"I think this company ought to be immediately disbarred from doing business with the government and the Defense Department," McClellan snapped.

McClellan said he would request a quick report from the Defense Department on what it finds in its own investigation of the company, what it proposes to do about it, and what steps it plans to assure that other contracting and subcontracting companies are not headed by men who must find refuge in the Fifth Amendment.

Among other things, Comforte refused to tell whether Kennedy was right in alleging that "up to recently, under the new administration, it was possible for you to go into the Chicago Police Department and have your police records destroyed. They did this on March 16, 1949, at your request."

Nor would he say whether Kennedy was right in alleging that "you have been involved in labor racketeering in the 1930s," and "you were recognized as an enforcer" in labor union strife.

Sleet, Rain Add Peril To Snows

Schools Closed; Travel Snarled

By the Associated Press

The worst snowstorm of a mean, dying winter struck a savage blow at the northeast Thursday, just nine days before spring. It also hit the Midwest and south to Virginia.

The storm claimed five lives in Ohio and New Jersey, most of the deaths resulting from heart attacks brought on by shoveling snow.

Up to 14 inches of snow, followed by sleet and rain, lashed an area from Indiana to Virginia and Maine Thursday, the anniversary of one of history's great winter storms—the blizzard of 1888.

Falling temperatures were expected to freeze the slush overnight, thus heightening hazardous driving conditions that tied up many of the East's highways. But today is expected to be partly sunny and milder.

As one storm center moved in from the west, a second came off the Virginia coast. Winds up to 60 miles an hour whistled in with the snow. Tides ranged two to three feet above normal.

Western Maryland and upstate New York measured 14 inches of snow. West Virginia and western Massachusetts had a foot. New Jersey got up to 10 inches. Ohio had seven inches, Indiana, six.

Air travelers were grounded in Cleveland, Boston, Buffalo, Rochester and New York. Commuter trains ran late. So did buses. New York's subways were slowed as thousands who usually drive to work went underground instead.

Hundreds of schools were closed in New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts and upstate New York. All public schools in Boston were closed.

In North Utica, N. Y., 25 children were marooned for two hours when their school bus became stranded in five inches of drifting snow.

Two Ford assembly plants in northern New Jersey, with 4,500 employes, had to close when the storm prevented workers from getting to their jobs. Massachusetts State House employes in Boston were sent home shortly after noon.

Coastal roads near Boston were closed, visibility was so poor that public works employes had to walk in front of snowplows to guide them.

A skidding bus in Binghamton, N. Y., stalled traffic bumper to bumper for an hour. Pittsfield, Mass., had a traffic jam seven miles long.

New York City got nearly six inches of snow, or almost as much as the 6½ inches that had fallen previously this winter.

Chill Races The Length Of State

It'll drop to the low 40s in the north end of the state tonight, the weather bureau predicted.

The cold front rolled through Florida Thursday, plunging afternoon temperatures from the 80s to the 60s in three hours.

High winds preceded the front, and small craft warnings were hoisted along the coast — but they'll come down today, th weatherman said.

Greater Miami will shiver only slightly — it should drop to the low 50s tonight after reaching the high 50s Thursday night, Weatherman Philip Ackerman said.

Windstorm Damages Polk City Homes

By the Associated Press

A windstorm damaged three homes, smashed four frame buildings, knocked over trees and disrupted power service during a 10-minute spree at Polk City Thursday.

No injuries were reported.

Weather Bureau officials said they would have to survey damage before determining whether to call it a tornado.

They said the storm accompanied a squall line which preceded a cold front moving southward into the state.

Heavy rains, coming in the form of thunderstorms in some areas, came with the squall line. A four-inch rainfall was reported at one point near Lakeland, about 16 miles south of Polk City. The Lakeland Weather Bureau measured 2.59 inches. Falls of 1.86 inches at Tampa and 1.62 inches at Ocala had been recorded by 7 a.m.

Four shed-like structures at a Minute Maid Corp. grove maintenance station near Polk City were destroyed and 40 orange trees knocked down by the winds.

Officials of the firm estimated damage to the buildings and equipment at $20,000. They set no estimate on the damage to the grove, through which winds cut a path about 300 feet wide.

Fidel Official Kills Himself

HAVANA, Cuba — (AP) — Police said an official in Cuba's provisional government committed suicide Thursday at police headquarters while being held for investigation.

He was Rene Ray Rivero, a director in the ministry for the recovery of misappropriated public funds and a brother of Public Works Minister Manuel Ray Rivero.

Police said he shot himself.

Police Capt. Miguel Guitar said Ray had been questioned in connection with the release of confiscated funds of ex-Sen. Jose Perez Dominguez, a member of Congress in the Batista regime. Guitar did not say how much money was involved.

Critics Ready to Test U.S. Military Punch

Senators Hear AF Staff Chief

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower's Democratic critics said Thursday they were determined to find out if the nation's armed forces are geared to meet the threat of world danger points going far beyond the Berlin crisis.

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson delivered the Democratic reply to the President's biting charges at his news conference Wednesday. Eisenhower accused his critics of "hysterical" opposition to his military manpower cuts and other defense policies.

Johnson retorted that his Senate preparedness subcommittee wanted to know whether the U. S. was armed with the men and weapons capable of delivering a "paralyzing punch" in any one of a number of spots that could explode even before Berlin.

"We realize that Berlin is only one element of conflict in a world which is studded with danger points," he said. "The real crisis may erupt elsewhere even before Berlin comes to a head."

While he named no other trouble areas, he apparently referred to Red China's renewed activities in the Formosa Straits and to the always tense Middle East.

Johnson made public remarks he delivered before the preparedness subcommittee as it heard Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, testify behind closed doors on his "reservations" to the President's new military budget.

White has expressed concern about military construction, replacement of bombers for the Strategic Air Command and the President's decision not to proceed now with production of an atomic-powered plane.

Although Johnson did not so label it, his statement was an obvious reply to Eisenhower's spirited attack on the Democrats.

Johnson told White that "our concern goes to the problem of whether you have been supplied with the needed manpower and tools" that would give the Air Force the knockout punch it packed in World War II.

"Although we must meet the problem of Berlin," Johnson said, "we know that the American problem goes far beyond one city. We must know whether our paralyzing punch is still within our capacity — and whether we will have it in the foreseeable future."

New Game Invented at FSU

Brass Play Jacks; Are They Happy!

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — Who said "jacks" was a game for children?

A new game of jacks, announced to a worldwide conference of Air Force recreation officers here Thursday, had colonels, majors and captains down on the floor playing.

Some wanted to place orders for the game immediately to send to service clubs in far-off places.

The game of "Mat Jacks" was invented by Leo F. Milan of Denver, a graduate assistant working on a doctorate in recreation at Florida State University. He said he invented it to get the players off the dirty floor.

A 3 by 5 foot mat of canvas goes with the game, and for added interest, a circle is provided in the center and cut into numbered slices like a pie.

The game has standard rules no matter where it is played. The old rules for jacks vary so much from place to place, he said, you can hardly decide who won the game.

The new rules take a lot of the pure luck out of playing the game. You can play "mat jacks" either as singles or doubles.

Tallahassee recreation officials like it so much, they are considering a city-wide "mat jack" tournament in May.

Cuba Gives Miamian The 'Boot'

Michael Moreno, a Miami free-lance photographer who has been held in Havana since Saturday on unspecified charges, will be deported as an "undesirable alien," police there said Thursday.

It was not certain whether Moreno, of 16930 NW 37th Pl., would be allowed to continue a flight to British Honduras which was interrupted by his arrest in Havana.

He was detained with two other Miamians — Robert J. Daut and Richard Jaffe — when they arrived in Havana from Miami.

Jaffe and Daut have since been released. Jaffe, who said he was going to British Honduras on business, has returned to Miami, but Daut, who piloted the plane, has been awaiting the release of Moreno, his co-pilot.

"Mike flew here as my co-pilot, and he will leave here as my co-pilot," Daut said in Havana.

The Americans said the questions they were asked by their captors indicated that the Cubans believed they might have flown to Havana with the idea of smuggling out some refugee member of ousted ex-President Fulgencio Batista's government.

Graham Gets Ike Message To Australia

MELBOURNE, Australia — — Billy Graham said he has received a personal letter from President Eisenhower asking the evangelist to greet Australians for himself "and for all Americans."

Graham told 12,000 people at a crusade meeting he will read the letter in full at his last Melbourne meeting Sunday. He is winding up a four-week meeting here.

Sunday's meeting will be held at Melbourne Cricket Ground, which served as the main arena for the 1956 Olympic games. It holds 120,000 people.

Graham said he expected the Sunday meeting to be "one of the greatest in the history of evangelism in the world.

"A lot of people say we cannot fill the ground. I believe we can."

Pay Base Increase Opposed

Mitchell Tells His Position

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Eisenhower administration came out Thursday against any increase in the present $1 an hour minimum wage. Organized labor and some Democrats in Congress are seeking a rise to $1.25.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell made known the administration's position. He said in a statement he would soon recommend to Congress legislation to bring under the law "several million workers" now exempt from its provisions.

The law, known as the Fair Labor Standards Act, requires payment of the $1 an hour minimum wage and payment of time and a half regular pay for hours worked beyond 40 a week.

About 24 million workers are now covered by the law.

Retail trade employes, now exempt, are a group that Mitchell previously has recommended be included under the law.

The AFL-CIO recently urged a reduction in the 40-hour work week standard to 35 hours as well as a rise in the minimum wage to $1.25.

Secretary Mitchell said the the exempted workers for whom he will recommend coverage under law "very much need a federal minimum wage."

"Their chances of receiving this protection," he said, "would be jeopardized by an effort at the same time to raise the minimum wage for workers already covered by the act. Consequently, I am not recommending an increase in the minimum wage at this time."

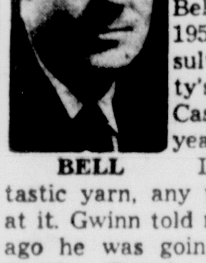
The Town Crier

BY Jack Bell

ATTORNEY Walter Gwinn told the Florida Parole Board Wednesday that Deputy Sheriff Michael Daugherty "deliberately lied" when he identified Virgil Cash as the man who shot him during the holdup of White Belt Dairy in 1953. As a result of Daugherty's testimony, Cash got a 30-year sentence.



BELL

It's a fantastic yarn, any way you look at it. Gwinn told me two weeks ago he was going to tell the Parole Board "the truth." Gwinn defended "Long John" Fulford, one of the Cash gang, and Fulford was declared innocent of the robbery. But Gwinn says Fulford told him that he (Long John), not Virgil Cash, shot Daugherty.

Gwinn says that another officer, who sent out a call to pick up three Negroes suspected of the holdup, was asked to go along with a deal that would identify Virgil Cash as the killer. He refused, saying, "How can I do that when I've already indicated I thought Negroes did it." Gwinn says this man offered to testify before the Parole Board, but couldn't be there Wednesday.

So here's Gwinn, who knew Fulford shot the officer, keeping quiet and letting Cash go to prison on the robbery and attempted murder charge. When such a confession no longer could be used against him, Fulford let Gwinn disclose the story. And there were Cash and Fulford imprisoned together in Raiford.

I was in Raiford about a year after the Cash boys went up. Virgil was in Flat Top, a horrible hole, "just so he can't start anything," said officials. Baby Ray, his younger brother, told me, "It ain't good for Virgil. He's a worrier." Now I'm told that Virgil is on the verge of becoming completely "stir crazy." If he is pardoned, he plans to go to his parents who have a small filling station in Georgia.

Jobless Aid Bill Gets OK

Original Plan Cut Sharply

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The House Ways and Means Committee overwhelmingly approved a bill Thursday to prevent an estimated 300,000 jobless workers from being chopped off the unemployment benefit rolls April 1.

The measure is expected to win House approval Monday. It is a sharply curtailed version of the plan originally proposed by House Democratic leaders for extending the emergency benefit program enacted last year at the peak of the recession.

The bill would extend the emergency program only for workers who file valid jobless claims before April 1. It would provide no payments to jobless persons who exhaust their state benefits after that date.

Democratic leaders originally had planned to push for a straight one-year extension of the program. They had even toyed with the idea of giving President Eisenhower power to cut off benefits after three months, thus putting him on the spot politically.

But a key Democrat said the Democratic-controlled committee over-hauled the bill in an effort to make sure some kind of extension will win congressional approval before April 1, when 30,000 unemployed otherwise would be dropped from the rolls.

Republicans were jubilant that the committee decided on the more modest approach, which appeared virtually to eliminate the matter as a political issue.

The bill as approved carried an estimated price tag of 49 million dollars. All payments would be made before July, 1, however, eliminating any threat to the President's narrowly-balanced budget for the new fiscal year 1960 which begins that date.

Noted Composer Dies in London

LONDON — (AP) — Haydn Wood, composer of "Roses of Picardy" and other wistful ballads associated with birds, flowers and graceful old age, died in a London nursing home.

Wood, 76, had an output ranging from rag time to symphony in a productive span of more than 50 years. Early in his career, he toured abroad as a solo violinist, but his 200 songs brought him his greatest fame.

He wrote "Roses of Picardy" while riding a London bus in World War I. It was an instant hit and sheet music sales reached 50,000 copies a month.

Advocates of the bill maintained that teachers need new authority to deal with hoodlumism and other classroom disorders.

Trujillo: Beards Will Fly

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic — (AP) — Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo declared "brains and beards will fly like butterflies" if any attempt is made to invade this country from Cuba or Venezuela.

In a statement, the Dominican strongman said "the distance from Cuba to this country is no greater than the distance from here to Cuba."

He made the same reference to Venezuela. His remarks obviously came in response to movements in Cuba and Venezuela advocating overthrow of the Dominican government.

"The people can have a strong confidence that if the aggressors want to see brains and beards flying like butterflies, they have only to approach the Dominican beaches in a hostile attitude," Trujillo said.

His mention of beards clearly was aimed at the Cuban rebels who ousted Cuban President Fulgencio Batista Jan 1. Batista now is living in Ciudad Trujillo.

Castro: That Four-Flusher

SANTIAGO, Cuba — (UPI) — Fidel Castro told a mass meeting of 300,000 here Thursday he would like to lead a campaign against Dominican Republic Dictator Rafael Trujillo but cannot because he is premier of Cuba.

"I cannot follow my impulses so I must resign myself to condemning him (Trujillo) from this tribunal," Castro told the cheering crowd.

The gathering was the largest in the history of this Oriente province capital where Castro launched the successful revolution that overthrew Cuban Dictator Fulgencio Batista Jan. 1. Batista now is in the Dominican Republic.

He tabbed Trujillo a "four-flusher . . . who does not frighten us. He is afraid."

He predicted the Dominican people eventually would overthrow Trujillo themselves.

Decision Overdue On Site?

By DAN BROWN
Cocoa Bureau Chief

COCOA — "This," said the Herald reader, "is getting monotonous."

BROWN

"Why don't they make up their minds and get it over with?" she asked.

Brevard school board members obviously are thinking hard about a site. They have filled the air with discussions of the merits and drawbacks of sites in Cocoa and Eau Gallie which are the chief contenders.

The care is commendable, but a spectator at last Thursday's school board meeting had a terse commentary:

"Let's get the agony over," he said.

Next Tuesday the board will meet for the third time of its "site selection" gatherings.

A LOCAL SAILER did right well in last Sunday's bigtime Mid-Winter Regatta of the Miami Yacht Club, we hear.

With him in his speedy boat, "Snooder," were two Brevard youngsters — Charles Cairnes Jr. of Indialantic and Billy Herndl of Melbourne Beach.

Affable Jim Thompson, chairman of the joint race committee of the RCA and Indian River Yacht clubs, never misses a chance to say the two-club program has caused a rebirth of competitive sailing in these parts.

Looks like the Williams' victory proves Jim's point . . . the efforts of young Cairnes and Herndl proves another. Both are graduates of the two-club sail training program.

JUNIOR CHAMBERS of Commerce in Cocoa, Melbourne, Eau Gallie and Titusville are issuing a call for comely young girls to vie for a "queen" title, but they intend to forego the usual beauty contest hoopla.

Instead, the Queen of the Indian River Jubilee will be selected at a "private showing" April 8, so the public won't get to look at her until she's crowned.

The JayCees are also departing from another beauty contest tradition. They're looking for girls with "poise, figures and personalities." They're not interested in running a talent contest.

* * *

The newly-named Indian River Jubilee, April 11, will be designed for industry, merchants, missile workers and everybody.

For nearly 30 years, the show had been the Orange Jubilee and was a celebration of the end of the winter tourist season.

In September, the county commission will receive a report which will recommend lines for every area in the county.

If the line is close to shore, real estate interests which like to fill bottom lands will fight. If it's far out the same group opposing a line which allows filling of about half the Banana River at Cocoa Beach will square off again.

Of course, that anti-Banana River line group, the Brevard Bulkhead Committee, is already prepared to take the fight about the Banana River line to the State Internal Improvement Board which has the final say so about bulkheads.

License Business Getting Too Good; Needs More Brevard County Space

By BILL BUNGE
Melbourne Bureau Chief

MELBOURNE — The Brevard County unit of the Florida Highway Patrol has been doing such a rushing business in driver's licenses that the Department of Public Safety has had to double headquarters space in Melbourne.

However, explains Sgt. Hope Carlan, the officer in charge, "this doesn't mean that we're merely handing them out to anybody and everybody in wholesale lots."

In fact, the sergeant says that "one of the reasons more building space was needed was because we have been strict about who gets licenses. And this practice will continue."

Out of the estimated 1,000 persons who apply for Florida driver's licenses in Brevard County every 30-day period, Sgt. Carlan says about 50 per cent do not pass the examination.

This means these people must return later for another test, and thereby add to the work load of the county's two examiners — Jesse Harnage and Freddy Patrick.

These examiners, who take refresher courses at Tallahassee regularly, give exams to prospective Florida drivers from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Monday, Thursday and Saturday at Melbourne; Tuesday and Friday during the same hours at the Cocoa police station, and at the same time on Wednesday in the courthouse at Titusville.

In Melbourne, exams are given to an average of 35 persons on each day the examiners are here. Sgt. Carlan said that recently 75 persons turned up during one of the Cocoa sessions, and all of them couldn't be checked out that day.

Carlan said approximately 60,000 of the 1959 Florida driver's licenses have been issued in Brevard since last Sept. 30.

Among that number of drivers were "quite a few who held licenses from states not honored by Florida," he said. These people had to take examinations before getting a Florida license.

Every time one more out of state license is not honored by Florida, the sergeant said, there is an increase in the two local examiner's work load. He said the patrol unit is looking for a third examiner to lighten the burden.

Because of this brisk license business, the patrol headquarters in Melbourne were enlarged to provide examination rooms and a large record and supply room. Previously, the state rented the local American Legion home for examinations, and the tiny station overflowed with records and supplies.

"Now we're really in business, and we're proud of our new headquarters," Sgt. Carlan said.

Voters Keep Old Charter

MELBOURNE — Sweeping changes in the Melbourne Beach charter were defeated by voters at a special election Thursday.

There were 132 ballots against and 117 for the changes.

The charter proposals included increasing the City Commission from three to five members and the creation of five new governmental departments.

W. S. Grant Dies at 30

MELBOURNE — W. S. Grant, 30, Melbourne civic leader, died early Thursday in his Indialantic home.

A staff engineer for Radiation, Inc., Mr. Grant was active in the Indian Rivers Players and Florida sports car racing circles. He was a member of the Miami Sports Car Club, Sun Coast Sports Car Club of Vero Beach, Institute of Radio Engineers, and Holy Trinity Episcopal Church.

Library Expansion Job Let

Melbourne Bureau

MELBOURNE — The Civic Improvement Board Thursday accepted the bid of Wickham and Jessup Construction Co., Eau Gallie, for expanding the Melbourne Public Library.

The Eau Gallie firm bid $14,879 to provide more shelf storage and office space in the library. A $14,900 bid also was submitted by Atlantic Construction Co., Melbourne.

This is the second time the CIB received bids for the work. Previously, contractors turned in estimates that ranged from $2,000 to $6,000 above the $15,000 the board had earmarked for the project. All of the original bids were rejected.

Money for the expansion work comes from funds the CIB received from a city franchise with Florida Power and Light.

For 4-Laning

SRD To Let A-1-A Work This Month

Also Sees Cash for SR 401 Job

By DAN BROWN
Cocoa Bureau Chief

COCOA — Joe Grotegut, State Road Board chairman, said Thursday contracts for four-laning State Road A-1-A from the Cocoa-Cocoa Beach causeway to the south end of Patrick Air Force Base will be let this month and next.

Grotegut also said there may be enough money to four-lane State Road 401 — the overcrowded highway to Cape Canaveral — if right-of-way is available. He said he would know about the money within 30 days. Most of the needed right-of-way has already been donated by property owners.

The Road Board chairman also said the Road Department will know in 30 days whether a toll causeway connecting Cocoa and Port Canaveral can be financed.

His comments came at a road conference at DeLand, attended by Pruitt and officials of the State Road Department, Brevard County, Port Canaveral Authority and the Air Force.

Money for the 401 project has been available for over a year in SRD and Air Force budgets, but lack of right-of-way had stymied the work.

Just a month ago, property owners, led by Cocoa Beach developer R. B. Brossier, donated most of the estimated 750 million dollars worth of right-of-way needed.

State Road 401 connects Cape Canaveral with the Cocoa-Cocoa Beach Causeway and is the only road to Port Canaveral.

Completion of 410 four-laning will create a four lane highway from the Cape to the south end of Patrick Air Force Base, 17 miles away. Four-laning of State Road A1A between the South limit of the base and the Causeway is about to start.

The A1A-401 network carries an estimated 20,000 cars of missile workers in two one-hour periods each day.

At the Thursday evening conference Brevard commissioners were planning to offer to give up all 1959 secondary road projects if the sacrifice would help the SRD improve county's overtaxed primary roads. Most of the primary roads are still two-laned.

The county move would release $188,000 for primary road work. The State Road Department is committed to four lane US1, but lacks right of way.

Commissioners' and port commissioners are also ready to offer to build a temporary causeway across the Banana River at Port Canaveral if a permanent Cocoa-Port Canaveral causeway can't be undertaken immediately.

The temporary causeway—which would connect the port with State Road 3 on Merritt Island—is needed so the Port can grow, according to port commissioners.

Meeting Called

Site for Negro School Sought

Herald Bureau

COCOA — Representatives of two cities and the Brevard County School Board will meet here today in the first step of a search for a Negro elementary school site.

The school—which will serve the Cocoa Negro section—was to have been built in nearby Rockledge, but the Rockledge City Council has blocked its construction.

Present for the 1 p.m. meeting will be Cocoa Mayor Gary Bennett, Rockledge Mayor J. W. Wilkins, Cocoa Council Chairman Dr. John Braton and Crockett and Mrs. Elsie LaRoche of the school board.

Bennett, the only participant who could be reached Thursday, said, "Cocoa is gravely concerned by the crisis. We'll do everything we can do to help."

The Rockledge Council blocked the school construction last week because the school site is in an "area which up till now has been white."

The school site is on the Rockledge-Cocoa border just west of the Florida East Coast Railway tracks. It is across a street from the southernmost homes of the Cocoa Negro section.

Melbourne CC To Widen Efforts

Herald Bureau

MELBOURNE — The Greater Melbourne Chamber of Commerce plans to launch a complete reorganization program soon, President Richard B. Muldrew announced Thursday.

He said this will include an intensive membership campaign that "we hope will add some 400 new members, which would increase the present total to 700."

Along with the member drive, he said, the Chamber of Commerce will push for industrial expansion in an effort to broaden the Greater Melbourne area's economy.

Meanwhile, the organization is looking for an executive vice president to replace Charles L. Harring, who has held the post for the last 10 years. Herring recently resigned to go into private business in this area.

Muldrew said no applications have been received, but the board plans to make an immediate search for "a young man to take over this important job."

Snead Will Play For Fund

SATELLITE BEACH — Sam Snead, one of the golf world's biggest names and money winners, will come here March 22 for an exhibition program that will raise money for development of more recreation facilities.

SNEAD

Snead will play three nine-hole rounds at the par three Skyline Golf Course here, and Satellite Beach Mayor Percy L. Hedgecock will be the famous golfer's caddy.

All profits from the program, including money received from auctioning off the hat that Snead wore when he won several tournaments, will go into the town's fund for a little league ball park and similar facilities.

While at the local course, Snead will play three nine-hole exhibitions with nine different Satellite Beach players.

Advance tickets for the program, which will start at 2 p.m., now are on sale at beach business places and in Melbourne and Eau Gallie.

Aid Asked On Project

EAU GALLIE — Mayor Milton McGrath said plans are under way to make a community project of developing Crane Field into a complete recreation area.

"Finances are the greatest problem," said McGrath, who is asking civic organizations to work up money making projects to aid the program.

The Brevard Light Opera Association is the first group to pledge aid. The association will turn over its proceeds from the March 21 performance of "Hit the Deck," at 8 p.m. in the Civic Center.

He Won't Take Cat Though

Students 'Get Word' From Von Braun

Dr. Von Braun
. . . furnishes glossary

COCOA BEACH —(AP)— It takes a top missile scientist like Dr. Wernher Von Braun to help students keep pace with the German language these days.

At least that's the opinion of a group of junior high school students living in this booming missile town adjacent to Cape Canaveral.

The students at St. David's Episcopal Academy, many of them children of missile scientists working at the Cape, felt their German studies were not complete without, for instance, the word for a missile's inertial guidance system—"traegheitssteuerung."

When text books and dictionaries failed to provide an answer, the students explained their problem in a letter to Von Braun, the Army's German born director of missile development.

"If we go to live abroad we would like to speak to people of what we saw while we lived near Cape Canaveral," wrote Student Council President Richard D'Alli.

As a bonus, a cat named "Inky" was offered as a future space passenger "if you promise to bring him back safely."

In a return letter Von Braun politely turned down the offer of the cat, but inclosed a German missile glossary which, in addition to "traegheitssteuerung," includes:

"Kenkwaffe" for missile, "racketenspitze" for nose cone, "slufentrennung" for stage separation and "abschuss platform" for launching pad.

Public Rebels at Tax Hike But Wants Services

By SYLVIA PORTER
Financial Analyst

SYLVIA PORTER

Not since the days of global war in the '40s, when the American public was getting its first taste of the bitterness of a record-sized tax dose, have taxes been so much in the headlines as today—but with two profoundly important differences.

1—This time, the rush to boost taxes to the highest marks ever is on at the state and local level. What the states vote on taxes will be THE big story of 1959; the Washington story will be of only picayune significance.

2—This time, there is a perceptible rebellion in state after state against tax-hiking proposals, but the public still wants services. It's not only a rebellion among us and businessmen, the taxpaying targets. It's also a revolt among legislators of both parties and all shades of economic-social opinion.

It was not this way in 1955, when a record-smashing total of almost 3,000 tax changes went on the states' books. It was not this way during World War II and the Korean conflict when a record-smashing total of tax changes went on the federal government's books.

The atmosphere is different now. There is almost a climactic aspect to the test of spending and taxing now taking place in our states.

As a resident of New York City and New York State, I'm getting the full treatment. And even before I'm nicked for an extra penny (except via the two-cent-a-gallon state gas tax hike) by the tax-seeking measures of Gov. Rockefeller and Mayor Wagner, my pocketbook "feels" thinner, I "feel" poorer. Thus, perhaps it is in acknowledgement of the proverb that misery loves company that I again have been tracing the state tax battles the nation over. And there's plenty to trace.

Of the 49 Legislatures, 46 are meeting this year and of these, 31 have either proposed specific tax moves or are talking of them. Some already have acted to boost the gas tax or put in a system of withholding state income taxes or increased income tax rates.

In addition, there are proposals from coast to coast to:

Impose, raise or broaden the base of the sales tax. Arguing this sort of action are Arizona, Illinois, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Utah, Washington.

Impose or raise the personal income tax. Debating this are California, Iowa, Michigan, Montana, New York, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Carolina, West Virginia.

Impose or raise the corporation income tax. Talking of this are Iowa, Michigan, South Carolina.

Shift income tax payment to a withholding basis. Concentrating on this area are Minnesota, New York, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Utah.

Impose or raise the gas tax or tobacco tax or cigaret tax or beer and liquor tax or combinations thereof. Here, many states are involved, including Arkansas, California, Colorado, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, New Hampshire, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, West Virginia.

And there are dozens of other suggestions ranging from disallowing the federal income tax as a state tax deduction to taxing intangible personal property, inheritances, etc., etc.

Even before the Legislatures convened, it was obvious this would be a critical tax year in most states. For in state after state, spending has been skyrocketing because of zooming population among the very young and old, needs for more roads, schools, welfare assistance. At the same time, war-created surpluses have been wiped out, and the 1958 recession pushed tax collections below expectations.

But not so obvious until a few weeks ago was the strength of the rebellion against tax hikes from voters who simultaneously are demanding a continuation and expansion of services from the states.

The answer? Obviously, it is compromise and this, too, is taking place in state after state.

But the compromises still involve hefty tax boosts throughout the country.

And the full impact of these increases will be felt in the pocketbooks of millions of us as 1959 rolls on.

Plane Dive Was Its 2nd Mishap

NEW YORK —(AP)— The jet airliner that dived more than five miles over the Atlantic Feb. 3 because of automatic pilot failure had experienced similar trouble only the day before.

This testimony was presented before the Civil Aeronautics Board by pilots in charge of the plane on its eastward flight across the Atlantic Feb. 2 and its return trip next day.

In charge of the Pan American Boeing 707 with 114 passengers aboard on Feb. 3 was Capt. W. Waldo Lynch. He testified the automatic pilot was operating normally during the first part of the Paris-to-New York flight. The plane was flying at about 35,000 feet.

Lynch told of leaving the cockpit for the lounge after turning the controls over to Capt. Samuel T. Peters.

"There was a sharp right downward movement," Lynch continued. "I ran back to the cockpit and slammed into my seat. The gyro horizon was completely tumbled.

"I saw Capt. Peters struggling with the controls as we were losing altitude at a terrific rate of speed. Capt. Peters' instrument panel was completely dark.

Flight Engineer (John) Laird held me in my seat until I could get my safety belt strapped on, and I tried to stabilize the wings. The first thing I noticed that we were at 17,000 feeet.

"At about 8,000 I pulled the yoke (wheel) back as strongly as I could, and at 6,000 feet we took a terrific pounding. I thought the plane was breaking apart. The pounding lasted just a few seconds. We then started a moderate climb, first to 9,000 feet, and then the airplane responded and we went up higher."

Later the plane landed safely at Newfoundland on manual controls.

Lynch said his engineer had heard unofficially from the engineer on the previous day's New York-to-Paris flight of the same plane that the automatic pilot had acted up—but with less menacing consequences.

Flight Engineer John Anderson checked some fuses and fixed the automatic pilot after that incident. The trouble was not considered serious enough for a formal report. But Anderson mentioned it to the engineer of the westbound flight of the next day.

Lynch said the information was passed on to him, but that he also understood the trouble had been corrected.

Hubby Kills Man Peeping At His Wife

HILLSBORO, N.H.—(AP)—Enraged when he found an alleged "peeping Tom" staring at his half-naked wife through a window, a Hillsboro woodchopper killed the intruder with a rifle blast.

Held on a technical manslaughter charge was Reginald Gerbert, 34, the husband who poked his gun through a window and fired a single shot into the head of Austin J. Hogan, 23, of Nashua, a bakery truck driver.

County Attorney Conrad Danais said the bullet struck Hogan, married and the father of three children, as he was running down a road beside the Gerbert house. Danais quoted Gerbert as saying he fired after Hogan ignored commands to halt.

The county attorney said Mrs. Gerbert, a pretty 33-year-old brunette, was taking a sponge bath at the kitchen sink when she noticed the "peeping Tom" at the window. She was nude from the waist up.

She screamed to her husband, who reached for his rifle, threw open a window in the adjacent living room, knocked out the screen and ordered the fleeing Hogan to stop.

PRESS CONFERENCES at the White House usually find these men putting their heads together. President Eisenhower and his press secretary, James C. Hagerty, were answering reporters' questions when this picture was made.

Bullets Raise Fire Peril

SALT LAKE CITY —(AP)— Fire in a West Side home killed two children. Seven other member of the Hal Bjorkman family escaped but two were seriously injured.

Exploding bullets and black powder, stored in the room where the fire broke out, added to the danger for firemen. One blast blew out a rear wall of the concrete block structure.

The victims were eight-year-old Robert and two-year-old Naomi Bjorkman. Three other members of the family were hospitalized — the father and two sons, Douglas, 10 and Steven, 11. All three suffered burns, and the boys were listed in serious condition.

Their mother, Norma, was released from the hospital after treatment for shock. Her three other children, Elizabeth, six, Becky, 3 and Glen, eight months, are being cared for by neighbors.

Cooks in Phone Booth

CAROLINA BEACH, N.C.—(AP)—Police in this resort town figured the 67-year-old vacationer was overdoing it in making himself at home. They found him cooking his meals in a telephone booth.

Inside the little-used booth on Fisherman's Pier were a small oil stove, a frying pan, cheese, some eggs and cooking oil. An old broom was propped against the booth outside.

"We found out," said City Manager William Gary, "that he couldn't cook inside the room he had taken in a rooming house. So he went to the beach but the wind blew into his food out there and he moved into the booth."

Officers made the vacationer sweep out the booth, then found him a room with cooking privileges.

Tiny A-Plant

MOSCOW —(AP)— The Soviet Union has produced a portable nuclear power plant the size of a safety matchbox, the newspaper Soviet Aviation said.

The paper said the unit has 400 volts power and was suitable for jobs requiring high voltage and low amperage. It gave no other details.

Who, Meee?

Becoming a queen is an exciting moment—for everyone concerned, apparently. Even the losers were ecstatic when 21-year-old Sandra Freeman of Jacksonville was named Florida Citrus Queen Wednesday night at Winter Haven. A drama major at Jacksonville University, her first official assignment will be to spread the word about Florida citrus in chilly Alaska.

Cutback Plans Endanger Schools, Bailey Warns

TALLAHASSEE —(UPI)— School Superintendent Thomas D. Bailey charged Thursday that many critics of Florida schools are more interested in saving money than improving the quality of education.

Some people would be "willing to throw overboard much of the progress made in relating education to the individual differences of children for the saving of a few dollars," Bailey declared.

If Florida cannot support a first-rate school system, he said, the trouble lies with the tax structure.

At a time when there is a demand for increased expenditures at both the local and state levels because of phenomenal growth and inflation, he said, "we are living in a political climate with an approaching legislative session advocating no additional taxes.

"When all local government must depend almost entirely on the antiquated property tax structure which now exists, it is only logical to predict that needed services will not be provided at the local level," he told the Florida State University Political Union.

"If we had an equitable tax structure, the burden of paying the additional cost of education would be no greater than at present," he said, pointing out that increased population brings additional tax revenue as well as increased school enrollments.

In this modern space age, Bailey said, everyone should be talking about expanding special, quality education rather than retrenching.

"Tax consciousness" is responsible for the upsurge of criticism of Florida schools in the past six months, he said.

This concept is going to harm the chances of youngsters to get a college education, he warned.

Public schools have no control over the size of enrollments and must make the best of some conditions not conducive to quality education. But the universities have already invoked admission requirements and they may soon have to think in terms of limiting enrollments because of inadequate financing, he said.

He said schools are accused of practicing "social promotion" and yet, this past year 62,000 pupils had to repeat a grade or certain course at an expense to the state of about $18,000,000.

The state should spend some money on a research program to find the causes for these failures, Bailey said, pointing out that "if by spending two million dollars, we could eliminate one half of the failures, the effort would be economical.

Citrus Mutual OKs Legislative Plans

LAKELAND —(UPI)— Florida Citrus Mutual's board of directors Thursday approved the citrus industry's 1959 legislative program — the same one approved by the Citrus Commission Wednesday.

But general Manager Robert W. Rutledge sent telegrams to all members of the Florida House and Senate from citrus belt counties canceling a meeting set March 17 to discuss the legislative proposals.

Rutledge noted that the lawmakers as well as the industry officials were tied up with other commitments and would be unable to attend.

He told the legislators, however, "our 9,000 grower members will most sincerely appreciate your careful consideration and action on the proposals."

In a market report, Rutledge said if there are 83 million boxes of oranges harvested this season — the current government estimate — the average delivered-in price for fruit used in frozen concentrate will be 54 cents per pound of solids.

He said if there only turned out to be 90 million boxes, the average season price will be 57 cents per pound of solids.

Rutledge noted that fresh grapefruit shipments for the rest of this season will be considerably heavier than last season, but only about 8 per cent greater than two seasons ago.

Mutual, in an effort to stop fruit thefts from citrus groves, raised its reward from $100 to $200 for anyone providing information leading to the conviction of a citrus thief.

Education 'Gone to Pot?'

GAINESVILLE —(UPI)— Former Gov. Millard Caldwell charged Thursday that politics and education in America have "pretty well gone to pot."

"America must overhaul its elementary and secondary system of schools and drastically improve its universities," Caldwell told a joint meeting of civic clubs here.

"There is far too much waste in the time and effort of both student and teacher. The teachers are so busy with baby-sitting and paper work they no longer have time to teach."

The former governor, now a Tallhassee attorney, said money spent on sorry training is wasted, as is money spent on inferior instruction, trifling courses of study and indifferent students.

Committee Chiefs Named

QUINCY —(UPI)— Senate President Dewey Johnson has named Sen. Doyle E. Carlton Jr., Wauchula, as chairman of the Citrus Committee.

Johnson said Irlo Bronson, Kissimmee, will head the Committee on Agriculture and livestock.

He also announced Sen. Bart Knight, Bloutstown, as chairman of judiciary criminal, James E. Connor, Brooksville, banking, and Harry Stratton, Callahan, labor.

Jones Gets 5 Years in Bribe Case

BARTOW —(AP)— E. B. (Shorty) Jones of Perry received a five-year prison sentence Thursday for attempting to bribe Sheriff Hagan Parrish to allow a gambling syndicate to operate in Polk County.

Judge Roy Amidon imposed the maximum prison term on the former state legislator. He also could have fined Jones up to $3,000.

Amidon denied a motion for a new trial before passing sentence. Attorney Ellis Rubin of Miami said the decision would be appealed to higher courts. Amidon set bond at $5,000 while the appeal is being considered.

The sheriff testified that the former Madison County legislator offered him $5,000 in cash, plus 10 per cent of the monthly gross, in return for allowing a bolita syndicate to operate in the county.

Parrish said the offer was extended several times.

Rubin, in asking for clemency, said Jones was broke. He filed a petition of insolvency so that the state would bear the costs of the appeal.

The sheriff and another witness testified that Jones told them Cecil Webb, former State Road Board chairman, was a "big man" in the syndicate. Webb, president of the Dixie Lily Milling Co. at Tampa termed the statement "absurb."

Jacked Up Car Slips, Kills Man

FORT LAUDERDALE —(UPI)—Henry Sevek, 71, retired businessman, was crushed to death Thursday when his car fell on him while he worked under it in his own carport.

Deputy Bob Mitchell said Sevek had propped up the car on concrete blocks to work on it, but apparently the brakes gave way and the vehicle slid off. Sevek was pinned to the concrete floor. He was pronounced dead on arrival at a local hospital.

Commissioner Is Suspended

TALLAHASSEE —(AP)— Gov. LeRoy Collins has suspended Lake County Commissioner J. H. (Jack) Hooten, and named R. G. (Jake) Bishop, a retired citrus grower, to replace him.

Hooten was indicted by a Lake County Grand Jury Feb. 26 on a charge of selling the county land in which he had a financial interest while he was a member of the commission.

Productive

Florida production of citrus concentrate for the '57-'58 season totaled 62,391,335 gallons.

Industrial Realtor Predicts It

Florida of '70s to Be Vast Statewide Metropolis?

By JAMES RUSSELL
Herald Business Editor

TAMPA — "We're dickering for an electronics plant at Naples that will bring between 500 and 1,000 families into the area," said a delegate to the first annual Florida Industrial Conference here Thursday.

"Well, we think we are on the verge of bringing in a steel rolling mill at DeLand that will employ about 300 people," said another.

You could hear comments like these everywhere you turned in the lobby and the dining rooms of the Hillsboro Hotel, where close to 200 persons from all over Florida opened two days of discussions about stimulating the state's industrial development.

The keynote speaker for the conference, Howell H. Watson of Dallas, Tex., carried the development theme a little further.

"All natural signs point to intensive industrial growth in Florida," said Watson, president of the National Society of Industrial Realtors.

The conference here is sponsored by the Florida chapter of the society and also by the State Chamber of Commerce and the extensive division of the University of Florida.

The word: Floridaopolis.

Watson attributed the word to Dr. Philip Howser, population expert of the University of Chicago, who used it to describe the Florida of the 1970's.

"Florida will make one of the great metropolitan areas in the 1970's," Howser was quoted as saying. "The only word for it is Floridaopolis."

"This," said Watson, "is a new concept—a statewide metropolitan area."

The Texas businessman, who just visited California a few days ago, praised Florida for grasping its industrial potential and exploiting it with conferences aimed at planning on a statewide scale.

He warned that "industry cannot live by climate alone" and said coordinated planning must be continued to let industry know it is welcome in Florida and will find conditions right for profitable operations.

But Florida, he said, is on its way.

Liberal Church Is Parley Goal

By ADON TAFT
Herald Religion Editor

Dr. Dana McLean Greeley, president of the Unitarian denomination from Boston, will be the key speaker at the three-day Florida Conference of Liberal Churches which opens tonight in Orlando.

He spoke Thursday night in Miami's First Unitarian Church where he said the purpose of the conference is "to make all religions more liberal and all liberals more religious."

The tall New Englander also urged a reconciliation of religion and science and strengthening of the United Nations and peace efforts.

Dr. Greeley will report to the conference in Orlando that there now are 21 Unitarian and two Universalist groups in Florida, indicating a doubling of membership in five years to a current total of 2,000.

He will point out that a similar growth has been shown throughout the nation, largely as the result of an emphasis on church schools.

In his message Sunday he will discuss the progress of man even in the midst of crisis and suggest that creation of a moral heaven on earth still is possible.

Also on the conference program is a discussion on whether to close public schools as a way to avoid integration. Leaders will be the Rev. William Williams, executive director of the Dade County Council on Community Relations, and Herbert Davidson, editor of the Daytona News Journal.

There will be a panel discussion of the proposed Unitarian-Universalist merger and groundbreaking ceremonies for the new building for the Orlando First Unitarian Church where the conference is being held.

Reward Hits $11,000 For Killer

TAMPA —(UPI)— Reward money for evidence leading to the killers of Bernardo (Bennie) Lazzara was raised to $11,000 Thursday.

The money was offered for information leading to conviction of the person who used a load of buckshot to cut down the wealthy and highly respected Tampa produce dealer in an ambush slaying at his home early Monday morning.

The funds were raised by the Lazzara family and friends of the victim.

Police are still searching for clues that will lead them to the killer, believed to be a professional member of the underworld. No motive has been found but officers ruled out the chance of mistaken identity. They said the ambush was too well planned for that.

Buying Bill Readied by Governor

TALLAHASSEE —(AP)— Gov. LeRoy Collins said Thursday he would ask the 1959 Legislature to pass a general central purchasing bill which would place some supervision over need for state buying.

Collins told his news conference he is optimistic over the quality of the job which could be done with such a bill. If enacted it would save the state considerable money, he said.

Declining to reveal details of the plan, the governor said the proposal would apply to all commodities and would affect all state agencies and departments.

"It will go so far as to embrace some supervision over the need for purchase of commodities," he said.

He said he had not discussed his plan with the Cabinet but planned to do so as soon as it had taken shape.

For the past two days Collins and his staff have conferred with a group of purchasing directors from other states which have central purchasing.

In 1957, Collins recommended a central purchasing bill to the Legislature that would include most buying, but the bill which emerged from the Legislature was watered down considerably, he said.

Collins said he would make other recommendations to the Legislature curtailing some state services, and for expanding others. He declined to say what they were.

He said the state could get by on a 685 million dollar spending program being recommended by the House and Senate appropriations committees but he said he would have to do some more studying before deciding whether a cutback to this figure would be wise.

Employer To Get Tax Boosted

TALLAHASSEE —(UPI)— The State Industrial Commission disclosed Thursday that unemployment tax rates on Florida employers will be doubled in 1959 as a result of high unemployment last year.

The tax rates of individual employers will average out about twice the .0075 paid last year, or approximately .015.

The commission said an employer who hires 10 workers with an average payroll of $50,000 would pay tax of $450 under the new rate, compared to $225 last year.

Purpose of the doubled rate is to build the jobless benefits funds, strained during last year's recession, back to a level of 4 per cent of the taxable payrolls.

The balance at the start of the year had fallen to 3.7 per cent of taxable payrolls.

Did Prosecutor Neglect Duty?

TALLAHASSEE —(AP)— Gov. LeRoy Collins has asked for a report on activities of County Prosecutor Henry Hamilton in Jefferson County bootlegging cases.

Beverage Director H. G. Cochran Jr., was called upon for a report as to whether he considered Hamilton's conduct neglect of duty.

Hamilton, a former state beverage agent, already has been called upon the carpet by the governor in connection with Jefferson County bootlegging.

PERSONALLY SPEAKING

Spring Is Near, But Party Round Is Still a Spin

By DORIS REYNOLDS
Herald Correspondent

NAPLES . . . Mid-March! Seems like yesterday that the new year arrived and we're barely accustomed to writing 1959. All of a sudden we have all the symptoms of spring fever and a nagging conscience keeps reminding that April 15 and income tax time is drawing nearer and nearer.

MRS. REYNOLDS

Easter's practically here, and soon the placid time in Naples will begin; when the "year rounders" become tourists. We rediscover our beaches, boats are cleaned of barnacles and our "company clothes" are replaced with our wonderfuly casual wardrobes.

In the meantime, however, the swift pace continues and we're swept along the tide of parties, club activities and lots and lots of "company."

Dr. and Mrs. S. C. Ogburn are entertaining Mr. O's sister, Mrs. T. Edgar Sikes of Greensboro, N.C. Mrs. Sikes will be in Naples for some time and the Ogburns have been showing her their favorite fishing spots from their Galleon Dr. home.

After five years apart, Sue (Mrs. E. M.) Brown, and her life time friend Lois Morgan got together this week. Lois' doctor husband, Dick, was due in Florida for a medical meeting, so Lois came along for a visit with Sue and Brownie. The Morgans, who hail from Sue's old hometown of Marion, Ohio, left this week to return to the Buckeye state.

Last Saturday the Browns entertained at a cocktail party for their houseguests. The newly engaged Frances Jewett and Ed Lyon were there; also the John Cowles, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hill, the Don Elferdinks, Judge Ora and Mildred Wildermuth and their guest, Mildred's sister, Bess.

Also on hand to meet the Morgans were the Thomas Connells and Capt. W. A. Burton (Lindy was in Palm Beach week-ending with Elizabeth Roen).

Another "snow bird" soaking up the sun and surf is attractive Diane Holbrook, who is holidaying from her job in New York with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Holbrook. Diane is with the Ogilvy, Benson and Mather advertising firm in Gotham.

On Monday the Holbrooks honored Diane with a cocktail party at their beautiful home on Marina Dr. Mr. and Mrs. Holbrook are from Canada and many of their guests were from the growing Canadian colony here.

Mr. and Mrs. George Miller of Sudbury, Ont., were there; also Mr. and Mrs. Jack White and the Theodore Rippingilles of Toronto. Other guests included Bonnie and Andon Kazanjian, Mona and John Becker, the Alexander Ardreys, Mamie Tooke, and several others.

Stage And Movies Take Over

EVERGLADES is at it again! They've barely gotten over the filming of "Wind Across the Everglades," and now Columbia Pictures has moved in. The Screen Gems division of Columbia is in Everglades filming a television drama about the Florida Sheriff's Bureau. Today is the final one for casting and they're looking for about 29 men to appear in the film.

So if you've a hankerin' to be in pictures; here's your chance. Contact Susan Slade at Screen Gems in Everglades. Famous Photographer Jack Etra has been assigned as photo director.

The Red Stockings Revue last week-end at the Supper Club was an enormous success. It was originally scheduled for Friday and Saturday nights, but was held over Sunday by popular request. Roger Franklin, of the Cargill organization, director of the production did a magnificent job.

The revue was cast, rehearsed, and presented in only two weeks. Hit of the show was Irene Jones, who appeared in two acts: "The Petuna Girl" and a Parisian sequence. Irene did her bit as a flapper to perfection; singing, dancing and hamming it up.

In the Parisian skit she sang (with gestures) "I Just Don't Understand the Parisians." Bouquets should also go to Jean Smith, John Cricton and Polly Jenkins (terrific as the shy, little "Petunia Girl").

Surprise of the evening was Tony Porter, normally the sweet young matron. Tony wowed 'em as Mary Pickford, and later in the show, the country gal who went to the city and returned a vamp. Tony's mother, Clarice Benson, was a member of the foursome who regaled the packed house with their scrub woman sequence.

Practically all Naples turned out. We spied the Hank Hoffmans, Elise and Norman Santini, the Anton Nystroms, Walter Wolfe (Barbara was in the review), Jane Tibbett, Dr. and Mrs. Dan Langley, the Frank Claytons, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hilberg, the Nelson Faerbers, Bill and Jane Tucker, Patty and Jack Altermatt and so many, many more in the audience.

Billie and Ray Williams were entertaining Billie's sister and husband that evening; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Corcoran of Chicago. Paul Corcoran is an alderman in the Windy City and while in Naples they're staying at the Driftwood. Mrs. C.—looked perfectly stunning at Red Stockings. She was a model before she married, and on Friday she wore a champagne linen sheath, topped with a blending sweater with a mink collar.

Art Exhibition Draws Many

EVEN GREY SKIES and occasional showers failed to dampen the annual Naples Art Association show last weekend. Droves of people came to view the display of oils and water colors, created by the members.

Mary Potter Love (Mrs. John) came away with first prize in the oil division, with Mrs. Eben Morse and Mrs. Edward Smith coming in second and third. In the water color division, Mrs. Morse captured another prize; this time the first place ribbon. Mrs. Calvin Good was second, and John Cannon third.

Friday, the 13th, Lucky?

. . . WELL, IT'S ANOTHER one of those days . . . Friday the 13th. We suggest you rub that rabbit's foot, throw salt over your shoulder, and say the magic word and thus prepared you should be extra lucky in cards.

The Woman's Club had this all arranged when they planned their annual card party this evening at the Woman's Club Building. All sorts of card games, and scrabble too, will be played.

House Throws Open Gates to Hawaiians

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The House Thursday threw open the gates to statehood for Hawaii, climaxing a 40-year battle by the Pacific Island chain to become a state.

The House stamped its approval on the statehood bill after two days of debate and sent it to President Eisenhower who was certain to sign it. The Senate approved the measure Wednesday night by a whopping 76 to 15 vote.

There was a burst of applause when Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas announced the House vote as 323 to 89.

Voting for admission were 203 Democrats and 120 Republicans; voting against were 65 Democrats and 24 Republicans.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said President Eisenhower was "delighted" with the congressional action. He said the President had been urging statehood for Hawaii for some time, "as did the platforms on which he ran in 1952 and 1956." Hagerty did not know when the President would sign the measure.

It may take as long as five or six months to complete the statehood formalities. But once this is done, the nation's western boundaries will extend to the mid-Pacific and the national banner will display a 50th star.

Completion of congressional action was the signal for jubilant Hawaiians to begin a two-day celebration that included hula dancing, a typically-American fireworks display, a giant bonfire on Sand Island in Honolulu harbor and the ringing of a special statehood bill at Honolulu stadium.

The House rejected with thunderous "no's" two last ditch efforts to scuttle the measure.

It first shouted down an attempt by Rep. W. R. Poage (D., Tex.) to amend the bill to provide for ultimate inclusion of all U.S. Pacific islands in the new state. It then rejected a motion by Rep. John R. Pillion (R., N.Y.) to kill the bill by sending it back to the House Interior Committee.

Hawaii was the second territory Congress has agreed to give statehood status in recent months. Alaska was admitted as the 49th state Jan. 7 as the result of legislation enacted last year.

Before Alaska was voted into the Union, the last state to win statehood was Arizona, which was admitted Feb. 14, 1912.

The House cleared the way for quick action on the statehood legislation by agreeing to substitute the Senate-passed measure for its own slightly different version.

Rep. James C. Davis (D., Ga.) fought the bill on racial grounds. He told the House Hawaii's 56 per cent non-white population was "so radically different" from that of the rest of the nation that the territory did not qualify for admission.

When Hawaii sends its representatives to Congress, Senate membership will go up permanently from the present 98 to 100. House membership will rise temporarily from 436 to 437 and then fall back to its permanent level of 435 after the new population census. It went to 436 after Alaska's admission to the Union.

Ecstatic Islanders Dance in Streets

HONOLULU — (AP) — They danced the hula in the streets Thursday night.

Hawaii — a melting pot of many races — celebrated congressional acceptance of statehood.

Jubilant islanders lit bonfires. They set off firecrackers. They whooped it up in a noisy climax to a 40-year quest for admission to the union.

Street dancing began at sunset at 14 places in and around Honolulu.

The acting governor, Edward E. Johnston, called an immediate holiday.

"This is the biggest day in Hawaii history," said Johnston, sitting in for Gov. William Quinn, who is in Washington.

News of the statehood vote touched off air raid sirens, ships' whistles and church bells.

Motorists sounded a cacophony of horns.

At Iolani Palace, seat of the government, legislators broke ut in tears, cheers, hand clapping and frenzied shouting when Hawaii's delegate to Congress, John A. Burns, telephoned the news from Washington.

Burns' line was connected to a loudspeaker in the legislative chambers.

Honolulu's two biggest newspapers, The Star-Bulletin and The Advertiser, rushed statehood extras to the streets. Radio stations devoted almost all of their time to the news and celebrations.

In downtown Honolulu, office workers tossed paper streamers from windows.

On the University of Hawaii campus, students finished a 50-star flag just a half-hour before Congress completed the voting. They rushed from classrooms and raised the flag on the university flagpole. The school band played the national and Hawaii anthems.

Kids in grammar and high schools also got a holiday until then.

Hawaii's replica of the Liberty Bell, which toured the mainland last year, was sounded for the first time in Hawaii.

At nightfall, military planes dropped flares for more than an hour off Waikiki Beach.

In the Territorial Legislature, the public address system announced:

"Everyone prepare to become first-class citizens."

The Territorial House adopted a resolution making "Aloha State" the official nickname of the islands. Both houses offered prayers of Thanksgiving.

Oahu prison trusties, riding a truck outside the prison walls when the news came, broke out in cheers.

Many stores and business offices shut down at midday.

Banks closed and announced they would open today.

Florida 5-3 For Hawaii

Florida's eight-man House delegation split 5 to 3 Thursday in favor of Hawaiian statehood.

Voting for admission of Hawaii as the 50th state were Reps. Dante Fascell of Miami, Charles Bennett of Jacksonville, Syd Herlong of Leesburg, Paul Rogers of West Palm Beach and William Cramer of St. Petersburg.

The "no" votes were cast by Reps. James Haley of Sarasota, Robert Sikes of Crestview and Billy Matthews of Gainesville.

Nikita Leaves Warning

Off for Home; Advises West

BERLIN — (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev flew home to Moscow Thursday, leaving the West with a warning not to attempt any "break through" to Berlin once the East German Reds are in control of the lifelines to that Western outpost.

In a statement on the German crisis made before boarding his Soviet-built TU104 jet transport for the flight home, Khrushchev declared:

"If the aggressors should try, in spite of everything, to carry through their adventurous aims and — as they say — try to 'break through' anywhere, they would meet with the appropriate resistance."

In Washington it was reported the U.S. has drafted a plan for sending a test convoy through a Berlin blockade if the Communists impose one.

The plan as it now stands apparently calls for sending a normal size unarmed convoy of four to 10 trucks over the 110-mile road from Helmstedt in West Germany through East Germany to West Berlin.

(If the convoy were stopped, it might then be strenthened with tanks and go ahead. What would happen if it drew fire from East German guards was not known.)

Macmillan Talks With Adenauer

BONN, Germany—(AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer conferred for three hours Thursday on Western measures to counter the Soviet threat to Berlin.

Macmillan said on arrival he was convinced there should be talks with Russia this summer. He urged the West to adopt a flexible position, saying: "We all stand together but in the methods of defense we must remain elastic."

Conference Set In Mountains

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The White House announced Thursday that the Berlin crisis conferences between President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will be held at Camp David, in the Catoctin Mountains of Maryland.

Macmillan will arrive in Washington Thursday.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President, Macmillan and their immediate staffs would confer at the secluded White House retreat today, Saturday and Sunday.

Sleet, Rain Add Peril To Snows

Schools Closed; Travel Snarled

By the Associated Press

The worst snowstorm of a mean, dying winter struck a savage blow at the northeast Thursday, just nine days before spring. It also hit the Midwest and south to Virginia.

The storm claimed five lives in Ohio and New Jersey, most of the deaths resulting from heart attacks brought on by shoveling snow.

Up to 14 inches of snow, followed by sleet and rain, lashed an area from Indiana to Virginia and Maine Thursday, the anniversary of one of history's great winter storms—the blizzard of 1888.

Falling temperatures were expected to freeze the slush overnight, thus heightening hazardous driving conditions that tied up many of the East's highways. But today is expected to be partly sunny and milder.

As one storm center moved in from the west, a second came off the Virginia coast. Winds up to 60 miles an hour whistled in with the snow. Tides ranged two to three feet above normal.

Western Maryland and upstate New York measured 14 inches of snow. West Virginia and western Massachusetts had a foot. New Jersey got up to 10 inches. Ohio had seven inches, Indiana, six.

Air travelers were grounded in Cleveland, Boston, Buffalo, Rochester and New York. Commuter trains ran late. So did buses. New York's subways were slowed as thousands who usually drive to work went underground instead.

Hundreds of schools were closed in New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts and upstate New York. All public schools in Boston were closed.

In North Utica, N. Y., 25 children were marooned for two hours when their school bus became stranded in five inches of drifting snow.

Two Ford assembly plants in northern New Jersey, with 4,500 employes, had to close when the storm prevented workers from getting to their jobs. Massachusetts State House employes in Boston were sent home shortly after noon.

Coastal roads near Boston were closed. visibility was so poor that public works employes had to walk in front of snowplows to guide them.

A skidding bus in Binghamton, N. Y., stalled traffic bumper to bumper for an hour. Pittsfield, Mass., had a traffic jam seven miles long.

New York City got nearly six inches of snow, or almost as much as the 6½ inches that had fallen previously this winter.

Chill Races The Length Of State

It'll drop to the low 40s in the north end of the state tonight, the weather bureau predicted.

The cold front rolled through Florida Thursday, plunging afternoon temperatures from the 80s to the 60s in three hours.

High winds preceded the front, and small craft warnings were hoisted along the coast — but they'll come down today, th weatherman said.

Greater Miami will shiver only slightly — it should drop to the low 50s tonight after reaching the high 50s Thursday night, Weatherman Philip Ackerman said.

Windstorm Damages Polk City Homes

By the Associated Press

A windstorm damaged three homes, smashed four frame buildings, knocked over trees and disrupted power service during a 10-minute spree at Polk City Thursday.

No injuries were reported.

Weather Bureau officials said they would have to survey damage before determining whether to call it a tornado.

They said the storm accompanied a squall line which preceded a cold front moving southward into the state.

Heavy rains, coming in the form of thunderstorms in some areas, came with the squall line. A four-inch rainfall was reported at one point near Lakeland, about 16 miles south of Polk City. The Lakeland Weather Bureau measured 2.59 inches. Falls of 1.86 inches at Tampa and 1.62 inches at Ocala had been recorded by 7 a.m.

Four shed-like structures at a Minute Maid Corp. grove maintenance station near Polk City were destroyed and 40 orange trees knocked down by the winds.

Officials of the firm estimated damage to the buildings and equipment at $20,000. They set no estimate on the damage to the grove, through which winds cut a path about 300 feet wide.

Fidel Official Kills Himself

HAVANA, Cuba — (AP) — Police said an official in Cuba's provisional government committed suicide Thursday at police headquarters while being held for investigation.

He was Rene Ray Rivero, a director in the ministry for the recovery of misappropriated public funds and a brother of Public Works Minister Manuel Ray Rivero.

Police said he shot himself.

Police Capt. Miguel Guitar said Ray had been questioned in connection with the release of confiscated funds of ex-Sen. Jose Perez Dominguez, a member of Congress in the Batista regime. Guitar did not say how much money was involved.

Senate Probe Chief Calls for Blacklist of Firm

2 Alleged Racketeers Linked to 'Nike' Jobs

Victor Comforte
. . . hot in here

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senate roackets probers Thursday said Dominic Senese and Victor Comforte, alleged labor racketeers, are part owners of a firm holding subcontracts on 60 per cent of the Nike missile site installations in the Chicago area.

Sen. John L. McClellan (D., Ark), chairman of the special investigating committee, said the Defense Department should take immediate steps to blacklist the firm which he named as the Broadway Sheet Metal Co. of Chicago.

McClellan said he would move "at once" to present a written demand to the Defense Department for the blacklisting.

He said he would back up his demand with a transcript of testimony in which Victor Comforte of Chicago invoked the Fifth Amendment on many questions.

Comforte had refused to tell whether Dominic Senese, described by the committee as a brother-in-law of Mobster Tony Accardo, holds a one-third interest in the company, or answer other questions.

Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy told the committee that Senese, who invoked the Fifth Amendment Wednesday, Comforte and a man identified only as L. A. Moody own about a one-third interest each in the Broadway Sheet Metal Co.

Kennedy told the committee that "on about 60 per cent of all the Nike sites around Chicago, the work is done by this company — has been done in the past."

Comforte drew fire from McClellan by pleading it might tend to incriminate him to tell whether that is true.

"I think this company ought to be immediately disbarred from doing business with the government and the Defense Department," McClellan snapped.

McClellan said he would request a quick report from the Defense Department on what it finds in its own investigation of the company, what it proposes to do about it, and what steps it plans to assure that other contracting and subcontracting companies are not headed by men who must find refuge in the Fifth Amendment.

Among other things, Comforte refused to tell whether Kennedy was right in alleging that "up to recently, under the new administration, it was possible for you to go into the Chicago Police Department and have your police records destroyed. They did this on March 16, 1949, at your request."

Nor would he say whether Kennedy was right in alleging that "you have been involved in labor racketeering in the 1930s," and "you were recognized as an enforcer" in labor union strife.

Critics Ready to Test U.S. Military Punch

Senators Hear AF Staff Chief

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower's Democratic critics said Thursday they were determined to find out if the nation's armed forces are geared to meet the threat of world danger points going far beyond the Berlin crisis.

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson delivered the Democratic reply to the President's biting charges at his news conference Wednesday. Eisenhower accused his critics of "hysterical" opposition to his military manpower cuts and other defense policies.

Johnson retorted that his Senate preparedness subcommittee wanted to know whether the U. S. was armed with the men and weapons capable of delivering a "paralyzing punch" in any one of a number of spots that could explode even before Berlin.

"We realize that Berlin is only one element of conflict in a world which is studded with danger points," he said. "The real crisis may erupt elsewhere even before Berlin comes to a head."

While he named no other trouble areas, he apparently referred to Red China's renewed activities in the Formosa Straits and to the always tense Middle East.

Johnson made public remarks he delivered before the preparedness subcommittee as it heard Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, testify behind closed doors on his "reservations" to the President's new military budget.

White has expressed concern about military construction, replacement of bombers for the Strategic Air Command and the President's decision not to proceed now with production of an atomic-powered plane.

Although Johnson did not so label it, his statement was an obvious reply to Eisenhower's spirited attack on the Democrats.

Johnson told White that "our concern goes to the problem of whether you have been supplied with the needed manpower and tools" that would give the Air Force the knockout punch it packed in World War II.

"Although we must meet the problem of Berlin," Johnson said, "we know that the American problem goes far beyond one city. We must know whether our paralyzing punch is still within our capacity — and whether we will have it in the foreseeable future."

New Game Invented at FSU

Brass Play Jacks; Are They Happy!

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — Who said "jacks" was a game for children?

A new game of jacks, announced to a worldwide conference of Air Force recreation officers here Thursday, had colonels, majors and captains down on the floor playing.

Some wanted to place orders for the game immediately to send to service clubs in far-off places.

The game of "Mat Jacks" was invented by Leo F. Milan of Denver, a graduate assistant working on a doctorate in recreation at Florida State University. He said he invented it to get the players off the dirty floor.

A 3 by 5 foot mat of canvas goes with the game, and for added interest, a circle is provided in the center and cut into numbered slices like a pie.

The game has standard rules no matter where it is played. The old rules for jacks vary so much from place to place, he said, you can hardly decide who won the game.

The new rules take a lot of the pure luck out of playing the game. You can play "mat jacks" either as singles or doubles.

Tallahassee recreation officials like it so much, they are considering a city-wide "mat jack" tournament in May.

Cuba Gives Miamian The 'Boot'

Michael Moreno, a Miami free-lance photographer who has been held in Havana since Saturday on unspecified charges, will be deported as an "undesirable alien," police there said Thursday.

It was not certain whether Moreno, of 16930 NW 37th Pl., would be allowed to continue a flight to British Honduras which was interrupted by his arrest in Havana.

He was detained with two other Miamians — Robert J. Daut and Richard Jaffe — when they arrived in Havana from Miami.

Jaffe and Daut have since been released. Jaffe, who said he was going to British Honduras on business, has returned to Miami, but Daut, who piloted the plane, has been awaiting the release of Moreno, his copilot.

"Mike flew here as my copilot, and he will leave here as my co-pilot," Daut said in Havana.

The Americans said the questions they were asked by their captors indicated that the Cubans believed they might have flown to Havana with the idea of smuggling out some refugee member of ousted ex-President Fulgencio Batista's government.

Graham Gets Ike Message To Australia

MELBOURNE, Australia — — Billy Graham said he has received a personal letter from President Eisenhower asking the evangelist to greet Australians for himself "and for all Americans."

Graham told 12,000 people at a crusade meeting he will read the letter in full at his last Melbourne meeting Sunday. He is winding up a four-week meeting here.

Sunday's meeting will be held at Melbourne Cricket Ground, which served as the main arena for the 1956 Olympic games. It holds 120,000 people.

Graham said he expected the Sunday meeting to be "one of the greatest in the history of evangelism in the world.

"A lot of people say we cannot fill the ground. I believe we can."

Pay Base Increase Opposed

Mitchell Tells His Position

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Eisenhower administration came out Thursday against any increase in the present $1 an hour minimum wage. Organized labor and some Democrats in Congress are seeking a rise to $1.25.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell made known the administration's position. He said in a statement he would soon recommend to Congress legislation to bring under the law "several million workers" now exempt from its provisions.

The law, known as the Fair Labor Standards Act, requires payment of the $1 an hour minimum wage and payment of time and a half regular pay for hours worked beyond 40 a week.

About 24 million workers are now covered by the law.

Retail trade employes, now exempt, are a group that Mitchell previously has recommended be included under the law.

The AFL-CIO recently urged a reduction in the 40-hour work week standard to 35 hours as well as a rise in the minimum wage to $1.25.

Secretary Mitchell said the the exempted workers for whom he will recommend coverage under law "very much need a federal minimum wage."

"Their chances of receiving this protection," he said, "would be jeopardized by an effort at the same time to raise the minimum wage for workers already covered by the act. Consequently, I am not recommending an increase in the minimum wage at this time."

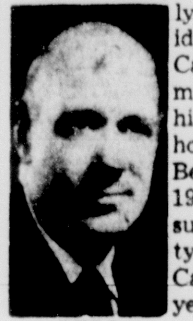
The Town Crier

BY Jack Bell

ATTORNEY Walter Gwinn told the Florida Parole Board Wednesday that Deputy Sheriff Michael Daugherty "deliberately lied" when he identified Virgil Cash as the man who shot him during the holdup of White Belt Dairy in 1953. As a result of Daugherty's testimony, Cash got a 30-year sentence.



BELL

It's a fantastic yarn, any way you look at it. Gwinn told me two weeks ago he was going to tell the Parole Board "the truth." Gwinn defended "Long John" Fulford, one of the Cash gang, and Fulford was declared innocent of the robbery. But Gwinn says Fulford told him that he (Long John), not Virgil Cash, shot Daugherty.

Gwinn says that another officer, who sent out a call to pick up three Negroes suspected of the holdup, was asked to go along with a deal that would identify Virgil Cash as the killer. He refused, saying, "How can I do that when I've already indicated I thought Negroes did it." Gwinn says this man offered to testify before the Parole Board, but couldn't be there Wednesday.

So here's Gwinn, who knew Fulford shot the officer, keeping quiet and letting Cash go to prison on the robbery and attempted murder charge. When such a confession no longer could be used against him, Fulford let Gwinn disclose the story. And there were Cash and Fulford imprisoned together in Raiford.

I was in Raiford about a year after the Cash boys went up. Virgil was in Flat Top, a horrible hole, "just so he can't start anything," said officials. Baby Ray, his younger brother, told me, "It ain't good for Virgil. He's a worrier." Now I'm told that Virgil is on the verge of becoming completely "stir crazy." If he is pardoned, he plans to go to his parents who have a small filling station in Georgia.

Jobless Aid Bill Gets OK

Original Plan Cut Sharply

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The House Ways and Means Committee overwhelmingly approved a bill Thursday to prevent an estimated 300,000 jobless workers from being chopped off the unemployment benefit rolls April 1.

The measure is expected to win House approval Monday. It is a sharply curtailed version of the plan originally proposed by House Democratic leaders for extending the emergency benefit program enacted last year at the peak of the recession.

The bill would extend the emergency program only for workers who file valid jobless claims before April 1. It would provide no payments to jobless persons who exhaust their state benefits after that date.

Democratic leaders originally had planned to push for a straight one-year extension of the program. They had even toyed with the idea of giving President Eisenhower power to cut off benefits after three months, thus putting him on the spot politically.

But a key Democrat said the Democratic-controlled committee over-hauled the bill in an effort to make sure some kind of extension will win congressional approval before April 1, when 30,000 unemployed otherwise would be dropped from the rolls.

Republicans were jubilant that the committee decided on the more modest approach, which appeared virtually to eliminate the matter as a political issue.

President Eisenhower opposed the original Democratic plan at his news conference Wedesday, saying jobless benefits basically are a state matter.

The bill as approved carried an estimated price tag of 49 million dollars. All payments would be made before July, 1, however, eliminating any threat to the President's narrowly-balanced budget for the new fiscal year 1960 which begins that date.

Noted Composer Dies in London

LONDON — (AP) — Haydn Wood, composer of "Roses of Picardy" and other wistful ballads associated with birds, flowers and graceful old age, died in a London nursing home.

Wood, 76, had an output ranging from rag time to symphony in a productive span of more than 50 years. Early in his career, he toured abroad as a solo violinist, but his 200 songs brought him his greatest fame.

He wrote "Roses of Picardy" while riding a London bus in World War I. It was an instant hit and sheet music sales reached 50,000 copies a month.

ALBANY, N. Y. — (AP) — Should teachers be free to use corporal punishment on pupils?

Yes, the New York Assembly said. It approved, 100-43, a bill that would prevent school boards from adopting any policy that would bar teachers from using "reasonable force" to discipline unruly pupils.

Advocates of the bill maintained that teachers need new authority to deal with hoodlumism and other classroom disorders.

Trujillo: Beards Will Fly

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic — (AP) — Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo declared "brains and beards will fly like butterflies" if any attempt is made to invade this country from Cuba or Venezuela.

In a statement, the Dominican strongman said "the distance from Cuba to this country is no greater than the distance from here to Cuba."

He made the same reference to Venezuela. His remarks obviously came in response to movements in Cuba and Venezuela advocating overthrow of the Dominican government.

"The people can have a strong confidence that if the aggressors want to see brains and beards flying like butterflies, they have only to approach the Dominican beaches in a hostile attitude," Trujillo said.

His mention of beards clearly was aimed at the Cuban rebels who ousted Cuban President Fulgencio Batista Jan 1. Batista now is living in Ciudad Trujillo.

Castro: That Four-Flusher

SANTIAGO, Cuba — (UPI) — Fidel Castro told a mass meeting of 300,000 here Thursday he would like to lead a campaign against Dominican Republic Dictator Rafael Trujillo but cannot because he is premier of Cuba.

"I cannot follow my impulses so I must resign myself to condemning him (Trujillo) from this tribunal," Castro told the cheering crowd.

The gathering was the largest in the history of this Oriente province capital where Castro launched the successful revolution that overthrew Cuban Dictator Fulgencio Batista Jan. 1. Batista now is in the Dominican Republic.

He tabbed Trujillo a "four-flusher . . . who does not frighten us. He is afraid."

He predicted the Dominican people eventually would overthrow Trujillo themselves.

KEYS AREAS—Clearing and continued cold Friday and Friday night. Highest temperature Friday about 66. Lowest on Friday night about 55. Small craft warnings displayed for Northwesterly winds, 20-30 mph gradually diminishing Friday and Friday night.

SMALL BOAT BULLETIN — Northwesterly winds at 20 to 30 miles an hour but slowly diminishing to 10 to 15 mile an hour northwest to north winds. Seas moderate, and becoming rough but slowly subsiding as winds diminish. Fair and cold.

National Summary

Snow has continued to spread northward through the northeastern states and had moved into northern New England. Snow fall amounts ranging from four to eight inches cover the area extending from Ohio across much of Pennsylvania and New York State into southwestern New England.

The intensity of the snow is diminishing through Pennsylvania but several additional inches of snow is expected to occur in eastern New York State with the amounts of new snow ranging up to as much as six to twelve inches through parts of Maine, New Hampshire, southern Vermont and the central and western portions of Massachusetts.

Lesser amounts are expected to occur over the remainder of New England.

A mixture of rain and sleet in the coastal area of southern New England is expected.

Gale warnings are displayed along the New England coast and small craft warnings are displayed elsewhere along the Atlantic coast southward to Florida.

Tides produced by strong inshore winds are expected to become two to three feet above normal along the New England coast but will diminish later as winds shift to the northwest.

Sale of Electric System Proposed for Finances

Citizens to Oversee Civic Improvements

By HARRY CAICEDO
Key West Bureau Chief

KEY WEST — An orderly, old-fashion type town hall meeting generated some constructive comments on this community's improvement needs and spawned a citizens committee to oversee the planning of any future civic development program.

City commissioners, Chamber of Commerce officials, representatives from several civic organizations and the general public crowded into City Hall Wednesday night for the two-hour discussion.

Kermit Lewin, president of the Chamber of Commerce, submitted the Chamber directors' plan for a limited improvement program financed by a 10 per cent utility tax. Projects favored in this proposal are an 18-hole golf course and a marina.

The meeting was called in an attempt to obtain for Key West some capital improvements after the collapse of a city government-proposed construction program. Popular sentiment defeated this plan because it called for a utility tax and a 33-year indebetdness on a $2,750,000 bond issue.

Fifteen citizens were named to the Citizens Capital Improvement and Development Advisory Commission created Wednesday by the City Commission.

The resolution setting up the group, sponsored by Commissioner Joe Fernandez, requires the city fathers to submit to the new commission "plans and specifications for construction and financing" of any proposed major capital improvement before beginning it.

The citizens group is charged with the duty to study these plans, hold public hearings and make recommendations to the City Commission.

Named to the body were Joe Pinder, Robert Dion, Larry Gardner, Kermit Lewin, Sam Silberman, Rev. Joseph Beaver, Rev. Frank A. Hooper, Sheldon Smith, Sam Golan, Hilario Ramos, Charles Rosam, Ed Knight, Norman Artman, Joseph Baulas and Melvin Levitt.

Opinions expressed during the meeting indicated almost unanimous agreement of the city's needs for improvements.

Differences appeared, however, on what particular projects are desirable, in what order of importance, and how they would be financed.

An official of the golf course termed that facility indispensable to the tourist trade. He pointed out that for $150,000 to $175,000 the present nine-hole course could be expanded to 18.

Four motel or hotel owners backed the golf course need, but came out more strongly for a convention hall. Such a facility, they argued, would bring the tourist who "stays for three or four days" and really contributes to the entire economy of the community.

Herman Sarno, of The Key Wester, advised the City to "sell its sunshine" in building its tourist trade "as a backstop and perhaps one day as a substitute industry for the big Navy installation here."

He proposed an improvement plan to build a convention hall and expand the golf course. It could be done with a million-dollar bond issue payable over 10 years with a five per cent utility tax.

Another motel owner, Sam Golan, warned against the increasing threat of Marathon to the Key West tourist trade. "They now have good boating facilities, two 18-hole golf courses and a convention hall," he pointed out.

Several members of the audience agreed that all these projects were fine, but should be built by private enterprise, not by the city government through additional taxation.

A Jaycee representative said his group would oppose any new taxes unless first submitted to the people. Commissioner Charlis Parra declared he would "under no circumstances" vote for a tax until all other means of financing the improvements have been explored.

Revision Of Voting Suggested

Herald Bureau

KEY WEST — City Commissioner Charles Parra believes the people should have the right to decide whether to sell the City Electric System to private business or keep it a public utility.

The people actually do have that right, Parra admits, but the way laws are set up now it takes 66 and two-thirds of the registered voters voting yes in a referendum to sell the system.

"Now anyone knows it's impossible to get out this sort of vote when at best only some 70 per cent of the voters even go to the polls," he declared.

Parra called on the citizenry and the civic organizations of Key West Wednesday night at City Hall to appeal to the state representatives to change the law.

"If that law is changed to require 51 or even 55 per cent of the voters, then we can have a fair vote, we can hear our voices," he said.

Parra described two channels open for Key West to get its much-needed capital improvements without further taxation. One is through private business. The other is by selling the municipally-owned City Electric System.

The sale idea was suggested by Parra as an alternative to having the system provide the city with $200,000 a year. With this we can get our improvements without taxes for ever," he said.

"I understand that they say they cannot help the city, that they owe tremendous amounts to the bondholders. Yet they are doing a two million dollar business a year, and expanding up into the Keys outside of Key West," the commissioner declared.

"Why, they do twice the business that the City of Key West is doing," he said.

Sale of the system would produce about 15 million dollars, Parra said. He explained that the bulk of this could be used to pay off the indebtedness, leaving about 4½ million dollars for improvements in the city.

"And with the system out of politics, there would be no more fat jobs, no more fat expense accounts, and our power rates would be lower," Parra vowed.

Islanders Fight Bridge

FORT MYERS—Residents of two islands here are up in arms over threatened invasion of mainland traffic by bridge and ferry.

Residents of Bokeelia at the north end of Pine Island have just lodged a protest with the Florida Rail and Utilities Commission against petition to operate an automobile ferry to and from Boca Grande to the north.

Residents of Sanibel and Captiva islands, already served by automobile ferry, are opposing proposed building of a bridge from the mainland, given preliminary approval of the Lee County commission.

In both issues islanders argue that the new traffic links would bring an influx of visitors that would destroy their privacy.

Collier Cases Totaled 120

EVERGLADES—There were 120 cases heard in Collier County Judge's Court in February, Dick Stanley, prosecuting attorney, reported.

Stanley said 59 persons forfeited $1,695 in bonds, 48 were convicted, six were dismissed, one nolle prossed, and seven held for Circuit Court trial.

County Court will sound its spring term docket March 24 and begin trials March 30.

In Retail Stores

4 Dairies Start Price Increases

By DOM BONAFEDE
Herald Staff Writer

Southeast Florida housewives will soon have to dig deeper in their pocketbooks for half gallon containers of milk, now selling at the bargain price of 39 cents at many supermarkets.

In an industry-wide price shakeup, The Herald learned Thursday that four big dairies have jumped their wholesale milk prices to the stores from 48 cents a half gallon to 51 cents. The increase is effective in Palm Beach, Broward, Dade and Monroe Counties.

According to grocers, this means consumers will probably have to shell out 55 cents per half gallon — 16 cents above the current price.

Unaffected by the price change will be quart sales and home deliveries.

Putting the price readjustment in motion Thursday was Land O'Sun Dairy.

Three other distributors—Sealtest, Borden's and Home Milk — notified their retail customers that the markup will be effective early next week.

Odds are better than even that the other eight dairy distributors in South Florida will follow suit.

Distributors blame the price change on a financial squeeze caused by increasing costs and a long price war among their members.

Many dairymen claim they are going into the red under the current market prices and that unless their margin of profit is increased they will be on the verge of bankruptcy.

They point out that Sunnybrook Dairy, of Miami, went bankrupt last year under the present price setup.

Distributors cannot reduce the price they pay for raw milk since the farmers' price is fixed by federal law at $7 per hundredweight.

Commented Curry Bassett, manager of Borden's in Miami:

"Compared to this distributors pay $4.31 in Chicago, $5.70 in Philadelphia, $4.28 in Milwaukee, $5.68 in Los Angeles and so on.

"Our local farmers are justified in their price because tropical dairy farms operate at a very high cost. However, the result is that the present 48 cents wholesale price could no longer be endured financially."

J. C. Nesmith, zone manager for Sealtest Dairies, noted:

"Our financial losses, and that of the retail stores we serve, have been so substantial since the price war started that there is no other choice.

"The Sealtest wholesale price will be 51 cents per half gallon effective Monday."

Willaim Bridges, managing director for Home Milk, said his company "always prided itself on the very small margin of profit it enjoyed, but the half gallon package has caused us severe losses."

The dairymen maintain they would lose about six million dollars during the next year if they continued to operate within the present price range.

Storeowners also welcomed the new prices.

By offering half-gallon containers at 39 cents as a loss leader item, the retailers lose nine cents with each sale.

A loss leader is merchandise sold below cost to attract customers into a store.

Citrus Loss Insurance Extended

LAKELAND — (AP) — Three more Florida counties have been placed among those eligible for citrus crop insurance starting next season.

The Florida Citrus Commission said it received word Thursday that the Federal Crop Insurance Corp. will make its coverage available to citrus grove owners in Indian River, Brevard and St. Lucie counties.

Grove owners in Polk, Lake, Orange and parts of Osceola and Seminole County have carried the insurance in past years.

They pay premiums to the corporation for protection against hail, freeze, hurricane and tornado damage.

When 10 per cent of the crop is damaged by any combination of these elements, the owner recovers the loss from the corporation.

Science Show Set This Week

NAPLES — Science exhibits prepared by Naples High School students in the seventh through the 12th grades will be shown tonight and Saturday at the annual Science Fair in Lake Park School.

Top exhibits in the show will go to the Regional Science Fair in Miami March 18-21.

The fair is open to the public from 4 to 8 p.m. on Friday and 9 a.m. to noon Saturday.

Six Bars' Licenses Suspended

The State Beverage Department Thursday temporarily suspended liquor licenses in five Monroe County bars and package stores — and ordered the permanent closing down of a sixth bar also facing prostitution charges.

State Beverage Director H. G. Cochran ordered the suspensions on the following premises:

Sports Center Bar and Lounge, 513 Fleming St., Key West, 30 days, possession of lottery tickets.

Golden Key Yacht Club, Islamorado, 30 days, selling whiskey with only a beer-wine license.

Sociedad Cuba Inc., 1110 Duval St., Key West, 21 days, selling to non-members on a private club license.

The PGC Grocery, 712 Caroline St., Key West, 15 days, selling to minors.

The Gallery Lounge, 224 Duval St., Key West, seven days, serving beer after hours.

The Last Stop, Stock Island, permanent suspension, selling to minors and engaging in prostitution.

Filled Land Destroying Bird Roosts

PLANTATION KEY — The Florida Keys are "unique and wonderful" from a wild fowl standpoint, but filling of shallow waters is threatening the birds, the Upper Keys Chamber of Commerce was told at a meeting here.

The speaker was Robert P. Allen, research director of the National Audubon Society. He said Cowpens, which has the largest colony of roseate spoonbills in the U.S., has been turned over to the board of parks and monuments.

Large flocks of wading birds, found in no other part of the country, have been forced to move from Plantation Key because of filling of shallows by builders.

The birds have moved to Dove Creek slough on Key Largo, he said.

"If this is filled they will move again, I do not know where," Allen said.

Allen told the civic group that "climate, birds, and fish are the three natural gifts of the Keys, and all are essential to our economy. The birds and fish must be protected at all cost," he declared.

New Ceiling For Sailors

KEY WEST — The ceiling for military personnel at the Naval Air Station here has been approved for an increase from 526 to 603 men, Capt. R. O. Greene, NAS commanding officer, announced Thursday.

Although the increase has not yet taken place, the officer added, the additional personnel are expected to arrive in the near future.

Milk 'Wars' Nearly Cause Setting of Retail Prices

JACKSONVILLE — Price wars in Jacksonville and Tampa Bay areas, which small dairymen complained may soon put them out of business, pushed the Florida Milk Commission Thursday within a hair's breath of approving a "semblance of retail price control."

The commission abolished retail controls two years ago but after listening to complaints of price wars, a member first offered — but later withdrew — a motion that the 1959 Legislature remove the power to fix retail controls but set a flat minimum consumer price of 150 per cent of the price the producer gets for his top-grade milk.

In place of that proposal the commission voted to name a committee of its members and representatives of the milk industry to work out a plan to help independent distributors, who asked the commission to jump in to prevent price-cutting.

Auto Insurance Hearings Reset

TALLAHASSEE — State Insurance Commissioner J. Edwin Larson announced Thursday that the recessed hearing on proposed increases in automobile liability insurance rates would be resumed here March 23.

Larson has hired the firm of J. Huel Briscoe and Associates, independent actuaries, to assist his department in determining whether a rate increase asked by the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters is necessary in Florida. It the petition is granted private car owners will be forced to pay from $3 to $65 a year more for their basic casualty insurance.

City Awaits Law On Sex Films

WEST PALM BEACH — City legislation to block the showing of "trashy" and "sexy" films here will be delayed until an effort is made to obtain statewide regulations.

Commissioner Sylvan Burdick disclosed Thursday that he had discussed the film control situation with State Sen. Fred O. Dickinson, who already has one bill in the works and is drafting another to place controls over the type of films that can be shown in Florida. The city, meanwhile, is working on a local bill that would meet constitutional requirements.

UF Drive Looks Up

NAPLES—The third annual United Fund Drive prospects are considerably brighter, but by no means secure, reported Chairman Don Page.

Page said $18,545 has been collected so far "and there are a lot of special gifts due within the next few days." The drive's goal is $46,178.

The chairman emphasized the drive is by no means through, nor are the final returns in.

Florida Special Rams Truck

Truck Driver W. J. Downing of Delray Beach jumped to safety only seconds before the thundering collision. The train, nearly hidden in a shower of sparks, hurtled down the tracks for more than a quarter of a mile before grinding to a halt. The force of the impact caved-in the front of the engine, knocking out the braking system, and an estimated 300 passengers on the 15-car "Florida Special" were forced to wait for several hours while a replacement engine was sent from Miami to haul them there.

2 Indicted In Slayings

FORT PIERCE — A grand jury returned two true bills Thursday.

Indicted for murder in the first degree were James Moore, charged with the Nov. 22, 1958 killing of Dan Mills; and Robert Larkin, charged with the shooting of part time policeman Jerry Lee Walker on Nov. 14, 1958.

New Lions Club Starts Meeting

KEY WEST—A second Lions Club group has been organized here, under the sponsorship of the present Club. Lion District Governor Vic Semet of Margate, attended the organizational meeting.

The new club, tentatively named the "Noon" Lions Club, elected C. E. Smith Jr., president:, J. M. Costar, secretary; John Koenig, treasurer, and Robert Brown, tail twister.

Take Showers, Turn Off Leaky Tap

Want to Cut Down on Water Bill?

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — Think before you turn the tap—pay for what you use, not what you lose.

"Tips," the city water department calls it and all for free. They're handing out these hints to conserve the city water supply and save the user some cash.

What do they advocate? Showers, not baths, they say. About 10 gallons is enough for a shower, but the average dunker takes 25 gallons to wash the dust off.

And 20 gallons is sufficient to submerge the physique in a bathtub, they say, but the average person uses 36 gallons.

Turn the water off, they tell shavers. Otherwise you may waste 20 gallons of water — and, besides, it will steam up the mirror.

The biggest villian of all, they claim, is the leaky faucet. Their advice is directed, particularly, to the home owner who leaves for extended vacations.

Listen for the drip, they say, for it may be the start of a flood in your house. Besides it can make the dials on a water meter twirl — all at your expense.

Public Rebels at Tax Hike But Wants Services

By SYLVIA PORTER
Financial Analyst

SYLVIA PORTER

Not since the days of global war in the '40s, when the American public was getting its first taste of the bitterness of a record-sized tax dose, have taxes been so much in the headlines as today—but with two profoundly important differences.

1—This time, the rush to boost taxes to the highest marks ever is on at the state and local level. What the states vote on taxes will be THE big story of 1959; the Washington story will be of only picayune significance.

2—This time, there is a perceptible rebellion in state after state against tax-hiking proposals, but the public still wants services. It's not only a rebellion among us and businessmen, the taxpaying targets. It's also a revolt among legislators of both parties and all shades of economic-social opinion.

It was not this way in 1955, when a record-smashing total of almost 8,000 tax changes went on the states' books. It was not this way during World War II and the Korean conflict when a record-smashing total of tax changes went on the federal government's books.

The atmosphere is different now. There is almost a climactic aspect to the test of spending and taxing now taking place in our states.

As a resident of New York City and New York State, I'm getting the full treatment. And even before I'm nicked for an extra penny (except via the two-cent-a-gallon state gas tax hike) by the tax-seeking measures of Gov. Rockefeller and Mayor Wagner, my pocketbook "feels" thinner. I "feel" poorer. Thus, perhaps it is in acknowledgement of the proverb that misery loves company that I again have been tracing the state tax battles the nation over. And there's plenty to trace.

Of the 49 Legislatures, 46 are meeting this year and of these, 31 have either proposed specific tax moves or are talking of them. Some already have acted to boost the gas tax or put in a system of withholding state income taxes or increased income tax rates.

In addition, there are proposals from coast to coast to:

Impose, raise or broaden the base of the sales tax. Arguing this sort of action are Arizona, Illinois, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Utah, Washington.

Impose or raise the personal income tax. Debating this are California, Iowa, Michigan, Montana, New York, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Carolina, West Virginia.

Impose or raise the corporation income tax. Talking of this are Iowa, Michigan, South Carolina.

Shift income tax payment to a withholding basis. Concentrating on this area are Minnesota, New York, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Utah.

Impose or raise the gas tax or tobacco tax or cigaret tax or beer and liquor tax or combinations thereof. Here, many states are involved, including Arkansas, California, Colorado, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, New Hampshire, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, West Virginia.

And there are dozens of other suggestions ranging from disallowing the federal income tax as a state tax deduction to taxing intangible personal property, inheritances, etc., etc.

Even before the Legislatures convened, it was obvious this would be a critical tax year in most states. For in state after state, spending has been skyrocketing because of zooming population among the very young and old, needs for more roads, schools, welfare assistance. At the same time, war-created surpluses have been wiped out, and the 1958 recession pushed tax collections below expectations.

But not so obvious until a few weeks ago was the strength of the rebellion against tax hikes from voters who simultaneously are demanding a continuation and expansion of services from the states.

The answer? Obviously, it is compromise and this, too, is taking place in state after state.

But the compromises still involve hefty tax boosts throughout the country.

And the full impact of these increases will be felt int he pocketbooks of millions of us as 1959 rolls on.

Plane Dive Was Its 2nd Mishap

NEW YORK —(AP)— The jet airliner that dived more than five miles over the Atlantic Feb. 3 because of automatic pilot failure had experienced similar trouble only the day before.

This testimony was presented before the Civil Aeronautics Board by pilots in charge of the plane on its eastward flight across the Atlantic Feb. 2 and its return trip next day.

In charge of the Pan American Boeing 707 with 114 passengers aboard on Feb. 3 was Capt. W. Waldo Lynch. He testified the automatic pilot was operating normally during the first part of the Paris-to-New York flight. The plane was flying at about 35,000 feet.

Lynch told of leaving the cockpit for the lounge after turning the controls over to Capt. Samuel T. Peters.

"There was a sharp right downward movement," Lynch continued. "I ran back to the cockpit and slammed into my seat. The gyro horizon was completely tumbled.

"I saw Capt. Peters struggling with the controls as we were losing altitude at a terrific rate of speed. Capt. Peters' instrument panel was completely dark.

Flight Engineer (John) Laird held me in my seat until I could get my safety belt strapped on, and I tried to stabilize the wings. The first thing I noticed that we were at 17,000 feeet.

"At about 8,000 I pulled the yoke (wheel) back as strongly as I could, and at 6,000 feet we took a terrific pounding. I thought the plane was breaking apart. The pounding lasted just a few seconds. We then started a moderate climb, first to 9,000 feet, and then the airplane responded and we went up higher."

Later the plane landed safely at Newfoundland on manual controls.

Lynch said his engineer had heard unofficially from the engineer on the previous day's New York-to-Paris flight of the same plane that the automatic pilot had acted up—but with less menacing consequences.

Flight Engineer John Anderson checked some fuses and fixed the automatic pilot after that incident. The trouble was not considered serious enough for a formal report. But Anderson mentioned it to the engineer of the westbound flight of the next day.

Lynch said the information was passed on to him, but that he also understood the trouble had been corrected.

Hubby Kills Man Peeping At His Wife

HILLSBORO, N.H.—(AP)—Enraged when he found an alleged "peeping Tom" staring at his half-naked wife through a window, a Hillsboro woodchopper killed the intruder with a rifle blast.

Held on a technical manslaughter charge was Reginald Gerbert, 34, the husband who poked his gun through a window and fired a single shot into the head of Austin J. Hogan, 23, of Nashua, a bakery truck driver.

County Attorney Conrad Danais said the bullet struck Hogan, married and the father of three children, as he was running down a road beside the Gerbert house. Danais quoted Gerbert as saying he fired after Hogan ignored commands to halt.

The county attorney said Mrs. Gerbert, a pretty 33-year-old brunette, was taking a sponge bath at the kitchen sink when she noticed the "peeping Tom" at the window. She was nude from the waist up.

She screamed to her husband, who reached for his rifle, threw open a window in the adjacent living room, knocked out the screen and ordered the fleeing Hogan to stop.

PRESS CONFERENCES at the White House usually find these men putting their heads together. President Eisenhower and his press secretary, James C. Hagerty, were answering reporters' questions when this picture was made.

Bullets Raise Fire Peril

SALT LAKE CITY — (AP) — Fire in a West Side home killed two children. Seven other member of the Hal Bjorkman family escaped but two were seriously injured.

Exploding bullets and black powder, stored in the room where the fire broke out, added to the danger for firemen. One blast blew out a rear wall of the concrete block structure.

The victims were eight-year-old Robert and two-year-old Naomi Bjorkman. Three other members of the family were hospitalized — the father and two sons, Douglas, 10 and Steven, 11. All three suffered burns, and the boys were listed in serious condition.

Their mother, Norma, was released from the hospital after treatment for shock. Her three other children, Elizabeth, six, Becky, 3 and Glen, eight months, are being cared for by neighbors.

Cooks in Phone Booth

CAROLINA BEACH, N.C.—(AP)—Police in this resort town figured the 67-year-old vacationer was overdoing it in making himself at home. They found him cooking his meals in a telephone booth.

Inside the little-used booth on Fisherman's Pier were a small oil stove, a frying pan, cheese, some eggs and cooking oil. An old broom was propped against the booth outside.

"We found out," said City Manager William Gary, "that he couldn't cook inside the room he had taken in a rooming house. So he went to the beach but the wind blew into his food out there and he moved into the booth."

Officers made the vacationer sweep out the booth, then found him a room with cooking privileges.

Tiny A-Plant

MOSCOW —(AP)— The Soviet Union has produced a portable nuclear power plant the size of a safety matchbox, the newspaper Soviet Aviation said.

The paper said the unit has 400 volts power and was suitable for jobs requiring high voltage and low amperage. It gave no other details.

House Throws Open Gates to Hawaiians

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The House Thursday threw open the gates to statehood for Hawaii, climaxing a 40-year battle by the Pacific Island chain to become a state.

The House stamped its approval on the statehood bill after two days of debate and sent it to President Eisenhower who was certain to sign it. The Senate approved the measure Wednesday night by a whopping 76 to 15 vote.

There was a burst of applause when Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas announced the House vote as 323 to 89.

Voting for admission were 203 Democrats and 120 Republicans; voting against were 65 Democrats and 24 Republicans.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said President Eisenhower was "delighted" with the congressional action. He said the President had been urging statehood for Hawaii for some time, "as did the platforms on which he ran in 1952 and 1956." Hagerty did not know when the President would sign the measure.

It may take as long as five or six months to complete the statehood formalities. But once this is done, the nation's western boundaries will extend to the mid-Pacific and the national banner will display a 50th star.

Completion of congressional action was the signal for jubilant Hawaiians to begin a two-day celebration that included hula dancing, a typically-American fireworks display, a giant bonfire on Sand Island in Honolulu harbor and the ringing of a special statehood bell at Honolulu stadium.

The House rejected with thunderous "no's" two last ditch efforts to scuttle the measure.

It first shouted down an attempt by Rep. W. R. Poage (D., Tex.) to amend the bill to provide for ultimate inclusion of all U.S. Pacific islands in the new state. It then rejected a motion by Rep. John R. Pillion (R., N.Y.) to kill the bill by sending it back to the House Interior Committee.

Hawaii was the second territory Congress has agreed to give statehood status in recent months. Alaska was admitted as the 49th state Jan. 7 as the result of legislation enacted last year.

Before Alaska was voted into the Union, the last state to win statehood was Arizona, which was admitted Feb. 14, 1912.

The House cleared the way for quick action on the statehood legislation by agreeing to substitute the Senate-passed measure for its own slightly different version.

Rep. James C. Davis (D., Ga.) fought the bill on racial grounds. He told the House Hawaii's 56 per cent non-white population was "so radically different" from that of the rest of the nation that the territory did not qualify for admission.

When Hawaii sends its representatives to Congress, Senate membership will go up permanently from the present 98 to 100. House membership will rise temporarily from 436 to 437 and then fall back to its permanent level of 435 after the new population census. It went to 436 after Alaska's admission to the Union.

Ecstatic Islanders Dance in Streets

HONOLULU — (AP) — They danced the hula in the streets Thursday night.

Hawaii — a melting pot of many races — celebrated congressional acceptance of statehood.

Jubilant islanders lit bonfires. They set off firecrackers. They whooped it up in a noisy climax to a 40-year quest for admission to the union.

Street dancing began at sunset at 14 places in and around Honolulu.

The acting governor, Edward E. Johnston, called an immediate holiday.

"This is the biggest day in Hawaii history," said Johnston, sitting in for Gov. William Quinn, who is in Washington.

News of the statehood vote touched off air raid sirens, ships' whistles and church bells.

Motorists sounded a cacophony of horns.

At Iolani Palace, seat of the government, legislators broke out in tears, cheers, hand clapping and frenzied shouting when Hawaii's delegate to Congress, John A. Burns, telephoned the news from Washington.

Burns' line was connected to a loudspeaker in the legislative chambers.

Honolulu's two biggest newspapers, The Star-Bulletin and The Advertiser, rushed statehood extras to the streets. Radio stations devoted almost all of their time to the news and celebrations.

In downtown Honolulu, office workers tossed paper streamers from windows.

On the University of Hawaii campus, students finished a 50-star flag just a half-hour before Congress completed the voting. They rushed from classrooms and raised the flag on the university flagpole. The school band played the national and Hawaii anthems.

Kids in grammar and high schools also got a holiday until then.

Hawaii's replica of the Liberty Bell, which toured the mainland last year, was sounded for the first time in Hawaii.

At nightfall, military planes dropped flares for more than an hour off Waikiki Beach.

In the Territorial Legislature, the public address system announced:

"Everyone prepare to become first-class citizens."

The Territorial House adopted a resolution making "Aloha State" the official nickname of the islands. Both houses offered prayers of Thanksgiving.

Oahu prison trusties, riding a truck outside the prison walls when the news came, broke out in cheers.

Many stores and business offices shut down at midday.

Banks closed and announced they would open today.

Florida 5-3 For Hawaii

Florida's eight-man House delegation split 5 to 3 Thursday in favor of Hawaiian statehood.

Voting for admission of Hawaii as the 50th state were Reps. Dante Fascell of Miami, Charles Bennett of Jacksonville, Syd Herlong of Leesburg, Paul Rogers of West Palm Beach and William Cramer of St. Petersburg.

The "no" votes were cast by Reps. James Haley of Sarasota, Robert Sikes of Crestview and Billy Matthews of Gainesville.

Nikita Leaves Warning

Off for Home; Advises West

BERLIN — (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev flew home to Moscow Thursday, leaving the West with a warning not to attempt any "break through" to Berlin once the East German Reds are in control of the lifelines to that Western outpost.

In a statement on the German crisis made before boarding his Soviet-built TU104 jet transport for the flight home, Khrushchev declared:

"If the aggressors should try, in spite of everything, to carry through their adventurous aims and — as they say — try to 'break through' anywhere, they would meet with the appropriate resistance."

In Washington it was reported the U.S. has drafted a plan for sending a test convoy through a Berlin blockade if the Communists impose one.

The plan as it now stands apparently calls for sending a normal size unarmed convoy of four to 10 trucks over the 110-mile road from Helmstedt in West Germany through East Germany to West Berlin.

(If the convoy were stopped, it might then be strenthened with tanks and go ahead. What would happen if it drew fire from East German guards was not known.)

Macmillan Talks With Adenauer

BONN, Germany—(AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer conferred for three hours Thursday on Western measures to counter the Soviet threat to Berlin.

Macmillan said on arrival he was convinced there should be talks with Russia this summer. He urged the West to adopt a flexible position, saying: "We all stand together but in the methods of defense we must remain elastic."

Conference Set In Mountains

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The White House announced Thursday that the Berlin crisis conferences between President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will be held at Camp David, in the Catoctin Mountains of Maryland.

Macmillan will arrive in Washington Thursday.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President, Macmillan and their immediate staffs would confer at the secluded White House retreat today, Saturday and Sunday.

Sleet, Rain Add Peril To Snows

Schools Closed; Travel Snarled

By the Associated Press

The worst snowstorm of a mean, dying winter struck a savage blow at the northeast Thursday, just nine days before spring. It also hit the Midwest and south to Virginia.

The storm claimed five lives in Ohio and New Jersey, most of the deaths resulting from heart attacks brought on by shoveling snow.

Up to 14 inches of snow, followed by sleet and rain, lashed an area from Indiana to Virginia and Maine Thursday, the anniversary of one of history's great winter storms—the blizzard of 1888.

Falling temperatures were expected to freeze the slush overnight, thus heightening hazardous driving conditions that tied up many of the East's highways. But today is expected to be partly sunny and milder.

As one storm center moved in from the west, a second came off the Virginia coast. Winds up to 60 miles an hour whistled in with the snow. Tides ranged two to three feet above normal.

Western Maryland and upstate New York measured 14 inches of snow. West Virginia and western Massachusetts had a foot. New Jersey got up to 10 inches. Ohio had seven inches, Indiana, six.

Air travelers were grounded in Cleveland, Boston, Buffalo, Rochester and New York. Commuter trains ran late. So did buses. New York's subways were slowed as thousands who usually drive to work went underground instead.

Hundreds of schools were closed in New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts and upstate New York. All public schools in Boston were closed.

In North Utica, N. Y., 25 children were marooned for two hours when their school bus became stranded in five inches of drifting snow.

Two Ford assembly plants in northern New Jersey, with 4,500 employes, had to close when the storm prevented workers from getting to their jobs. Massachusetts State House employes in Boston were sent home shortly after noon.

Coastal roads near Boston were closed, visibility was so poor that public works employes had to walk in front of snowplows to guide them.

A skidding bus in Binghamton, N. Y., stalled traffic bumper to bumper for an hour. Pittsfield, Mass., had a traffic jam seven miles long.

New York City got nearly six inches of snow, or almost as much as the 6½ inches that had fallen previously this winter.

Chill Races The Length Of State

A cold front chilled Florida's weekend weather prospects Thursday.

It'll drop to the low 40s in the north end of the state tonight, the weather bureau predicted.

The cold front rolled through Florida Thursday, plunging afternoon temperatures from the 80s to the 60s in three hours.

High winds preceded the front, and small craft warnings were hoisted along the coast — but they'll come down today, th weatherman said.

Greater Miami will shiver only slightly — it should drop to the low 50s tonight after reaching the high 50s Thursday night, Weatherman Philip Ackerman said.

Wage Rate Not Disclosed

Broward Pact Ends Long Builder Dispute

More Broward News, Pages 20A, 1B

By HENRY KINNEY
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — A wage agreement was reached Thursday in the year-long dispute between Broward County's builders and union carpenters.

This was announced after a two-hour meeting, but the agreed-on wage rate was not disclosed.

It is subject to ratification by members of the Broward Builders Exchange and the carpenters, but spokesmen for both groups said Thursday they were "confident" it will be accepted.

Ratification is expected to require not more than two weeks.

The agreement was reached in a parley of representatives of the BBE and the Broward County Carpenters District Council with William McAllister, of Miami, representative of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

It apparently calls for a wage rate somewhere between the $3 an hour which the builders offered and the $3.20 which the carpenters demanded.

The carpenters left their job last April 1 at the expiration of a contract which paid them $2.85 an hour.

The dispute was marked by some bitterness and an exchange of charges to the National Labor Relations Board in its early stages, but in recent months has been comparatively peaceful.

Sizable constructino jobs were shut down at intervals, but a wholesale work stoppage never developed. Union leaders contended most builders consented to the $3.20 wage early in the dispute.

Honduran Rebels Put To Flight

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras — (AP) — The government announced Thursday that a group of rebels was routed in an attempt to seize Choluteca, important city near the Nicaraguan border. It said army units killed one rebel and took seven prisoners.

The government press office termed the incident a last desperate attempt by the rebels who have been under the command of Col. Armando Velasquez Cerrato.

Velasquez, a long-time career officer, made some forays into northwestern Honduras last month before being chased into the mountains. He made unsuccessful efforts to enlist the support of the army in his campaign to overthrow President Ramon Villeda Morales.

Velasquez was reported officially to be in San Jose, Costa Rica, and headed for exile in Mexico City.

British Cut Cyprus Unit

LONDON —(AP)— Defense Minister Duncan Sandys said Thursday Britain has started reducing its Cyprus garrison by 5,000 to 6,000 from the present force of about 20,000.

Advance parties of four army units already have left, he told the House of Commons, and the units themselves will follow during April and May. Another four units, together with some Royal Air Force elements, will be withdrawn during June and July.

Senate Probe Chief Calls for Blacklist of Firm

Two Alleged Racketeers Linked to 'Nike' Jobs

Victor Comforte
... hot in here

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senate rackets probers Thursday said Dominic Senese and Victor Comforte, alleged labor racketeers, are part owners of a firm holding subcontracts on 60 per cent of the Nike missile site installations in the Chicago area.

Sen. John L. McClellan (D., Ark), chairman of the special investigating committee, said the Defense Department should take immediate steps to blacklist the firm which he named as the Broadway Sheet Metal Co. of Chicago.

McClellan said he would move "at once" to present a written demand to the Defense Department for the blacklisting.

He said he would back up his demand with a transcript of testimony in which Victor Comforte of Chicago invoked the Fifth Amendment on many questions.

Comforte had refused to tell whether Dominic Senese, described by the committee as a brother-in-law of Mobster Tony Accardo, holds a one-third interest in the company, or answer other questions.

Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy told the committee that Senese, who invoked the Fifth Amendment Wednesday, Comforte and a man identified only as L. A. Moody own about a one-third interest each in the Broadway Sheet Metal Co.

Kennedy told the committee that "on about 60 per cent of all the Nike sites around Chicago, the work is done by this company — has been done in the past."

Comforte drew fire from McClellan by pleading it might tend to incriminate him to tell whether that is true.

"I think this company ought to be immediately disbarred from doing business with the government and the Defense Department," McClellan snapped.

McClellan said he would request a quick report from the Defense Department on what it finds in its own investigation of the company, what it proposes to do about it, and what steps it plans to assure that other contracting and subcontracting companies are not headed by men who must find refuge in the Fifth Amendment.

Among other things, Comforte refused to tell whether Kennedy was right in alleging that "up to recently, under the new administration, it was possible for you to go into the Chicago Police Department and have your police records destroyed. They did this on March 16, 1949 at your request."

Nor would he say whether Kennedy was right in alleging that "you have been involved in labor racketeering in the 1930s," and "you were recognized as an enforcer" in labor union strife.

Critics Ready to Test U.S. Military Punch

Senators Hear AF Staff Chief

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower's Democratic critics said Thursday they were determined to find out if the nation's armed forces are geared to meet the threat of world danger points going far beyond the Berlin crisis.

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson delivered the Democratic reply to the President's biting charges at his news conference Wednesday. Eisenhower accused his critics of "hysterical" opposition to his military manpower cuts and other defense policies.

Johnson retorted that his Senate preparedness subcommittee wanted to know whether the U. S. was armed with the men and weapons capable of delivering a "paralyzing punch" in any one of a number of spots that could explode even before Berlin.

"We realize that Berlin is only one element of conflict in a world which is studded with danger points," he said. "The real crisis may erupt elsewhere even before Berlin comes to a head."

While he named no other trouble areas, he apparently referred to Red China's renewed activities in the Formosa Straits and to the always tense Middle East.

Johnson made public remarks he delivered before the preparedness subcommittee as it heard Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, testify behind closed doors on his "reservations" to the President's new military budget.

White has expressed concern about military construction, replacement of bombers for the Strategic Air Command and the President's decision not to proceed now with production of an atomic-powered plane.

Although Johnson did not so label it, his statement was an obvious reply to Eisenhower's spirited attack on the Democrats.

Johnson told White that "our concern goes to the problem of whether you have been supplied with the needed manpower and tools" that would give the Air Force the knockout punch it packed in World War II.

"Although we must meet the problem of Berlin," Johnson said, "we know that the American problem goes far beyond one city. We must know whether our paralyzing punch is still within our capacity — and whether we will have it in the foreseeable future."

New Game Invented at FSU

Brass Play Jacks; Are They Happy!

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — Who said "jacks" was a game for children?

A new game of jacks, announced to a worldwide conference of Air Force recreation officers here Thursday, had colonels, majors and captains down on the floor playing.

Some wanted to place orders for the game immediately to send to service clubs in far-off places.

The game of "Mat Jacks" was invented by Leo F. Milan of Denver, a graduate assistant working on a doctorate in recreation at Florida State University. He said he invented it to get the players off the dirty floor.

A 3 by 5 foot mat of canvas goes with the game, and for added interest, a circle is provided in the center and cut into numbered slices like a pie.

The game has standard rules no matter where it is played. The old rules for jacks vary so much from place to place, he said, you can hardly decide who won the game.

The new rules take a lot of the pure luck out of playing the game. You can play "mat jacks" either as singles or doubles.

Tallahassee recreation officials like it so much, they are considering a city-wide "mat jack" tournament in May.

Igor Stravinsky To Get Award

COPENHAGEN, Denmark—(AP)—The Sonning Foundation said it would present its first international music award to American Composer and Conductor Igor Stravinsky.

Stravinsky, 74, will receive an award of $7,140 in May when he conducts a Danish orchestra at a music festival here. The Sonning Foundation was established with funds bequeathed by the late Danish Editor C. J. Sonning.

Cuba Gives Miamian The 'Boot'

Michael Moreno, a Miami free-lance photographer who has been held in Havana since Saturday on unspecified charges, will be deported as an "undesirable alien," police there said Thursday.

It was not certain whether Moreno, of 16930 NW 37th Pl., would be allowed to continue a flight to British Honduras which was interrupted by his arrest in Havana.

He was detained with two other Miamians — Robert J. Daut and Richard Jaffe — when they arrived in Havana from Miami.

Jaffe and Daut have since been released. Jaffe, who said he was going to British Honduras on business, has returned to Miami, but Daut, who piloted the plane, has been awaiting the release of Moreno, his co-pilot.

"Mike flew here as my co-pilot, and he will leave here as my co-pilot," Daut said in Havana.

The Americans said the questions they were asked by their captors indicated that the Cubans believed they might have flown to Havana with the idea of smuggling out some refugee member of ousted ex-President Fulgencio Batista's government.

Graham Gets Ike Message To Australia

MELBOURNE, Australia — — Billy Graham said he has received a personal letter from President Eisenhower asking the evangelist to greet Australians for himself "and for all Americans."

Graham told 12,000 people at a crusade meeting he will read the letter in full at his last Melbourne meeting Sunday. He is winding up a four-week meeting here.

Sunday's meeting will be held at Melbourne Cricket Ground, which served as the main arena for the 1956 Olympic games. It holds 120,000 people.

Graham said he expected the Sunday meeting to be "one of the greatest in the history of evangelism in the world.

"A lot of people say we cannot fill the ground. I believe we can."

Pay Base Increase Opposed

Mitchell Tells His Position

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Eisenhower administration came out Thursday against any increase in the present $1 an hour minimum wage. Organized labor and some Democrats in Congress are seeking a rise to $1.25.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell made known the administration's position. He said in a statement he would soon recommend to Congress legislation to bring under the law "several million workers" now exempt from its provisions.

The law, known as the Fair Labor Standards Act, requires payment of the $1 an hour minimum wage and payment of time and a half regular pay for hours worked beyond 40 a week.

About 24 million workers are now covered by the law.

Retail trade employes, now exempt, are a group that Mitchell previously has recommended be included under the law.

The AFL-CIO recently urged a reduction in the 40-hour work week standard to 35 hours as well as a rise in the minimum wage to $1.25.

Secretary Mitchell said the the exempted workers for whom he will recommend coverage under law "very much need a federal minimum wage."

"Their chances of receiving this protection," he said, "would be jeopardized by an effort at the same time to raise the minimum wage for workers already covered by the act. Consequently, I am not recommending an increase in the minimum wage at this time."

"I was a bad boy," he said. "Marie hit me with a plate, and I'm glad she did. However, we couldn't be happier and nothing will come of the incident. I don't even have a bump on my head."

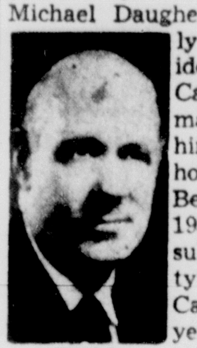
The Town Crier

BY Jack Bell

ATTORNEY Walter Gwinn told the Florida Parole Board Wednesday that Deputy Sheriff Michael Daugherty "deliberately lied" when he identified Virgil Cash as the man who shot him during the holdup of White Belt Dairy in 1953. As a result of Daugherty's testimony, Cash got a 30-year sentence.



BELL

It's a fantastic yarn, any way you look at it. Gwinn told me two weeks ago he was going to tell the Parole Board "the truth." Gwinn defended "Long John" Fulford, one of the Cash gang, and Fulford was declared innocent of the robbery. But Gwinn says Fulford told him that he (Long John), not Virgil Cash, shot Daugherty.

Gwinn says that another officer, who sent out a call to pick up three Negroes suspected of the holdup, was asked to go along with a deal that would identify Virgil Cash as the killer. He refused, saying, "How can I do that when I've already indicated I thought Negroes did it." Gwinn says this man offered to testify before the Parole Board, but couldn't be there Wednesday.

So here's Gwinn, who knew Fulford shot the officer, keeping quiet and letting Cash go to prison on the robbery and attempted murder charge. When such a confession no longer could be used against him, Fulford let Gwinn disclose the story. And there were Cash and Fulford imprisoned together in Raiford.

I was in Raiford about a year after the Cash boys went up. Virgil was in Flat Top, a horrible hole, "just so he can't start anything," said officials. Baby Ray, his younger brother, told me, "It ain't good for Virgil. He's a worrier." Now I'm told that Virgil is on the verge of becoming completely "stir crazy." If he is pardoned, he plans to go to his parents who have a small filling station in Georgia.

Jobless Aid Bill Gets OK

Original Plan Cut Sharply

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The House Ways and Means Committee overwhelmingly approved a bill Thursday to prevent an estimated 300,000 jobless workers from being chopped off the unemployment benefit rolls April 1.

The measure is expected to win House approval Monday. It is a sharply curtailed version of the plan originally proposed by House Democratic leaders for extending the emergency benefit program enacted last year at the peak of the recession.

The bill would extend the emergency program only for workers who file valid jobless claims before April 1. It would provide no payments to jobless persons who exhaust their state benefits after that date.

Democratic leaders originally had planned to push for a straight one-year extension of the program. They had even toyed with the idea of giving President Eisenhower power to cut off benefits after three months, thus putting him on the spot politically.

But a key Democrat said the Democratic-controlled committee over-hauled the bill in an effort to make sure some kind of extension will win congressional approval before April 1, when 30,000 unemployed otherwise would be dropped from the rolls.

Republicans were jubilant that the committee decided on the more modest approach, which appeared virtually to eliminate the matter as a political issue.

President Eisenhower opposed the original Democratic plan at his news conference Wedesday, saying jobless benefits basically are a state matter.

The bill as approved carried an estimated price tag of 49 million dollars. All payments would be made before July, 1, however, eliminating any threat to the President's narrowly-balanced budget for the new fiscal year 1960 which begins that date.

Noted Composer Dies in London

LONDON — (AP) — Haydn Wood, composer of "Roses of Picardy" and other wistful ballads associated with birds, flowers and graceful old age, died in a London nursing home.

Wood, 76, had an output ranging from rag time to symphony in a productive span of more than 50 years. Early in his career, he toured abroad as a solo violinist, but his 200 songs brought him his greatest fame.

He wrote "Roses of Picardy" while riding a London bus in World War I. It was an instant hit and sheet music sales reached 50,000 copies a month.

Legislators OK Pupil Spanking

ALBANY, N. Y. — (AP) — Should teachers be free to use corporal punishment on pupils?

Yes, the New York Assembly said. It approved, 100-43, a bill that would prevent school boards from adopting any policy that would bar teachers from using "reasonable force" to discipline unruly pupils.

Advocates of the bill maintained that teachers need new authority to deal with hoodlumism and other classroom disorders.

Trujillo: Beards Will Fly

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic — (AP) — Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo declared "brains and beards will fly like butterflies" if any attempt is made to invade this country from Cuba or Venezuela.

In a statement, the Dominican strongman said "the distance from Cuba to this country is no greater than the distance from here to Cuba."

He made the same reference to Venezuela. His remarks obviously came in response to movements in Cuba and Venezuela advocating overthrow of the Dominican government.

"The people can have a strong confidence that if the aggressors want to see brains and beards flying like butterflies, they have only to approach the Dominican beaches in a hostile attitude," Trujillo said.

His mention of beards clearly was aimed at the Cuban rebels who ousted Cuban President Fulgencio Batista Jan 1. Batista now is living in Ciudad Trujillo.

Castro: That Four-Flusher

SANTIAGO, Cuba — (UPI) — Fidel Castro told a mass meeting of 300,000 here Thursday he would like to lead a campaign against Dominican Republic Dictator Rafael Trujillo but cannot because he is premier of Cuba.

"I cannot follow my impulses so I must resign myself to condemning him (Trujillo) from this tribunal," Castro told the cheering crowd.

The gathering was the largest in the history of this Oriente province capital where Castro launched the successful revolution that overthrew Cuban Dictator Fulgencio Batista Jan. 1. Batista now is in the Dominican Republic.

Castro publicly warned Trujillo "not to continue his campaign of provocations" against Cuba.

He tabbed Trujillo a "four-flusher . . . who does not frighten us. He is afraid."

He predicted the Dominican people eventually would overthrow Trujillo themselves.

BREVARD AND INDIAN RIVER AREAS—Fair and cold with slowly diminishing winds Friday and Friday night. Highest temperatures on Friday, 64-68. Low Friday night, 38-44. Small craft warnings displayed for Northwest to North winds 20-30 mph diminishing Friday and Friday night.

NAPLES, LAKE OKEECHOBEE, BROWARD AND PALM BEACH AREAS — Fair and continued cold with slowly diminishing winds Friday and Friday night. Highest temperatures on Friday, 66-70. Low Friday night about 50. Small craft warnings displayed on both coasts for Northwest to North winds slowly diminishing through Friday night.

KEYS AREAS—Clearing and continued cold Friday and Friday night. Highest temperature Friday about 66. Lowest on Friday night about 55. Small craft warnings displayed for Northwesterly winds. 20-30 mph gradually diminishing Friday and Friday night.

SMALL BOAT BULLETIN — Northwesterly winds at 20 to 30 miles an hour but slowly diminishing to 10 to 15 mile an hour northwest to north winds. Seas moderate, and becoming rough but slowly subsiding as winds diminish. Fair and cold.

National Summary

Snow has continued to spread northward through the northeastern states and had moved into northern New England. Snow fall amounts ranging from four to eight inches cover the area extending from Ohio across much of Pennsylvania and New York State into southwestern New England.

The intensity of the snow is diminishing through Pennsylvania but several additional inches of snow is expected to occur in eastern New York State with the amounts of new snow ranging up to as much as six to twelve inches through parts of Maine, New Hampshire, southern Vermont and the central and western portions of Massachusetts.

Lesser amounts are expected to occur over the remainder of New England.

A mixture of rain and sleet in the coastal area of southern New England is expected.

Gale warnings are displayed along the New England coast and small craft warnings are displayed elsewhere along the Atlantic coast southward to Florida.

Tides produced by strong inshore winds are expected to become two to three feet above normal along the New England coast but will diminish later as winds shift to the northwest.

Help Needed, Not Wanted

A NOTEWORTHY OBSERVATION on the caliber of local young people was made in the course of a conversation the other day by a Fort Lauderdale man who frequently helps deserving boys and girls get to college.

Discussing the subject of willingness to help one's self, he said: "With many people, all they need is to know that someone is willing to help them and they'll get along without help. I've probably run across 20 young people around here who could have had help from me if they'd asked for it; just knowing it was available to them, they got along without it."

He told of one girl who had such confidence that she went away to a southern college literally, although her books, tuition and lodging were paid for, with no money to eat on. Her faith paid off.

Musing: What's Really Important

IT'S GOOD FOR MAN to be made aware of his insignificance in the universe occasionally, and many an individual must have experienced a shrinking of his ego Wednesday night in watching the magnificent spectacle of the planet Venus hanging about the bowl of the new moon.

A phone call from a reader sent the household out into the yard to see it, and although the weather experts calculated that Venus passed roughly seven million miles on the other side of the moon, from our street the show seemed to be staged right over Plantation, at about Bayberry Dr.

The ancients would have run and hidden in their caves at such a sight, and perhaps they understood the enormity of it even more than we. It seemed to suggest that the 1959 man might well retire to his split-level living room and ponder a little on how many of his machinations and maneuvers are truly important.

Mediclinics Noted Nationally

THE MINNESOTA MEDICLINICS sessions which closed here has attracted the attention of Newsweek Magazine, which in its current issue devotes a full column to it.

Many of us hometowners may have missed the significance of these annual meetings, which have been going on for four years. This year there were 265 doctors here, almost all of them from outside Florida.

Some have dreamed that this area can become a world famous medical center, because of the number of people who come here seeking health and because numerous skilled physicians and surgeons are being drawn here by Florida's opportunity and way of living. The mediclinics could be one of the springboards to making that dream come true.

The mediclinics are nonprofit. Surplus funds are divided among medical and educational institutions, and last year Broward General Hospital benefited in the amount of $500.

Mediclinics Like Us; Will Return in '60

Herald Bureau

FORT LAUDERDALE — Mediclinics of Minnesota will be back here next year for the fifth time to conduct a refresher course for general practitioners.

The University of Minnesota medical team would up its 10-day 1959 session Thursday.

The program attracted 265 registrants, all but about 16 of them from states other than Florida, Dr. Arthur C. Kerkhof, director, said.

Heaviest registrations were from Ohio, Michigan and Minnesota, he said.

The "school" brought nationwide attention to Fort Lauderdale through an account of it in the current issue of a national news magazine.

Mediclinics, sponsored by the Florida Academy of General Practice and Broward General Hospital, is a non-profit undertaking. Surplus funds, above expenses, are divided between medical institutions in Florida and Minnesota.

Slowdowns Called Isolated Cases

West Hollywood Chamber Says Business Flourishing

Herald Bureau

WEST HOLLYWOOD — Business in West Hollywood has never been better, businessmen said here Thursday.

They said a Miami Herald story Thursday was misleading in saying there was a business lag in the area.

Henry Briggs, owner of the Waffle Shoppe in the large West Hollywood Shopping Plaza, said, "Business has never been better. We have 25 off-duty policemen out here directing traffic."

Briggs is a Chamber of Commerce member.

Chamber Manager Wilfred Cadotte said any individual cases of business difficulty are exceptions and do not represent the full picture.

"Business in West Hollywood is good," he said.

Tom Papst, head of the Merchants Association of the shopping plaza agreed. He said, "My business is well ahead of last season."

And he added that other merchants in the plaza are doing well.

The overall business picture is good. The area has sprung in a few years from cow pastures dotted by a few homes to a bustling community of over 35,000 residents.

Lois Carey, secretary of the chamber, believes some of the small stores operated by inexperienced hands are partly responsible for distortion of the true picture.

To insure the continued growth and success of the business here, the chamber is conducting an active campaign which includes:

1 — Promotions making shopping here more attractive.

2 — Unified advertising drives.

3 — An inter-community bus service to bring shoppers here from scattered subdivisions.

Cadotte feels the future is bright.

Restaurant Padlocked By State

The Purple Onion — a Fort Lauderdale restaurant which sold more liquor than food — was closed down permanently Thursday by the State Beverage Department.

State Beverage Director H. G. Cochran revoked the restaurant's license for keeping its bar "continuously" open and its kitchen "repeatedly" closed.

Under its special liquor license, Cochran said, the restaurant at 27 Wall St. could only serve liquor at the same time it was serving meals. In recent months the restaurant has been closed.

The suspension was the only one handed down in Broward County. Cochran suspended liquor licenses in six Monroe bars and in five Dade premises Thursday.

He said the suspensions were part of "a continuing crackdown" on liquor law violators.

Hollywood Water Hunt Continues

HOLLYWOOD — The city will have to go north or south instead of west to find new well fields, City Manager Joseph Watson said Thursday.

Watson was directed a month ago to start looking around for new fields because four of the 10 city wells have been closed.

Pumping at two was stopped because of salt intrusion, and the others show a high iron content.

"The engineer's report recommends that we go north or south because tests indicate a high iron content to the west," he said.

Watson said there was no immediate danger of the city running out of good water.

"We're just looking to the future," he said.

Nylon Runs (Away), But He'll Steal Back

By PAT MANGAN
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — Sylvester Wilcox, 38, of 412½ NW Fifth Ave., known as "Nylon" because he's so slick, escaped from a city work gang Thursday.

But police aren't worried about finding him again. He's well known.

Wilcox's record takes up three arrest sheets (both sides) on police records. Charges include larceny.

Police say Wilcox has a reputation for not stealing anything small. They recall how two detectives once watched him walk past a station wagon, take a spare tire from the back and roll it down the street.

On another occasion, police say Wilcox was observed trudging past the police station at 2 a.m. with an outboard motor on his back.

Another officer watched him stretch out a coat hanger to its full length and use it as a hook to hook an electric heater from behind a used goods dealer's fence. It was a cold day.

Wilcox took off from SW First St. and 14th Ave. at 9 a.m.

At 2:15 p.m. Charlie Edward Sherod, 24, of 436 NW Fifth Ave., walked away from another work gang at W. Broward Blvd. and Fourth Ave.

Long Hits Sewage 'Nuisance'

By CLARENCE ZAITZ
North Broward Bureau

LIGHTHOUSE POINT — Assistant State Attorney Quentin Long has entered the long-standing sewer plant effluent case here, and is expected to take action by today on what he terms a "public nuisance."

LONG

Mayor Russell Clarke conferred with Long Thursday in an effort to have the attorney get a declaratory decree from Circuit Court ordering Broward Utilities, Inc., to eliminate the nuisance caused by its Collier Manor sewage treatment plant.

That may be one form of action, Long admitted, but he still was not certain what he would do. "I've conferred with Mayor Clarke and also with BUI officials," Long explained, "and I'm trying to get something worked out within 24 hours."

Long admitted the matter "must have immediate action."

Lighthouse Point, concerned because effluent from the sewer plant flows through a drainage ditch and into waterway canals bordered by expensive homes, took action of its own earlier in the week.

At the order of the mayor, city employes Tuesday dammed up the ditch. Wednesday the dam was raised even higher, to prevent the water from reaching Kingfisher Canal.

Clarke said he hopes Long will obtain the declaratory decree, ordering BUI to do "certain things" within 90 days.

"If they improve the condition, and if they heavily chlorinate the water, then the city will probably remove the dam," Clarke admitted.

"But we're not going to do anything until we get the power of the Circuit Court and the power of Long behind us," the mayor said.

Correction

FORT LAUDERDALE — County Commissioner Frank Adler asserted Thursday that he had voted in Tuesday's commission meeting against the enlargement of a water treatment plant in West Hollywood.

The Herald erroneously reported that Adler had voted for the plant's enlargement. It was Adler, not commissioner Vivian Saxon who was opposed to it.

4 Dairies Lead Return to Normal

By DOM BONAFEDE
Herald Staff Writer

Southeast Florida housewives will soon have to dig deeper in their pocketbooks for half gallon containers of milk, now selling at the bargain price of 39 cents at many supermarkets.

In an industry-wide price shakeup, The Herald learned Thursday that wholesale milk prices were bounced back from 48 cents a half gallon to 51 cents by four big dairies. The increase is effective in Palm Beach, Broward, Dade and Monroe Counties.

According to grocers, this means consumers will probably have to shell out 55 cents per half gallon — 16 cents above the current price.

Unaffected by the price change will be quart sales and home deliveries.

Putting the price readjustment in motion Thursday was Land O'Sun Dairy.

Three other distributors—Sealtest, Borden's and Home Milk — notified their retail customers that the markup will be effective early next week.

Odds are better than even that the other eight dairy distributors in South Florida will follow suit.

Distributors blame the price change on a financial squeeze caused by increasing costs and a long price war among their members.

Many dairymen claim they are going into the red under the current market prices and that unless their margin of profit is increased they will be on the verge of bankruptcy.

They point out that Sunnybrook Dairy, of Miami, went bankrupt last year under the present price setup.

Distributors cannot reduce the price they pay for raw milk since the farmers' price is fixed by federal law at $7 per hundredweight.

Commented Curry Bassett, manager of Borden's in Miami:

"Compared to this distributors pay $4.31 in Chicago, $5.70 in Philadelphia, $4.28 in Milwaukee, $5.68 in Los Angeles and so on.

"Our local farmers are justified in their price because tropical dairy farms operate at a very high cost. However, the result is that the present 48 cents wholesale price could no longer be endured financially."

The dairymen maintain they would lose about six million dollars during the next year if they continued to operate within the present price range.

Storeowners also welcomed the new prices.

By offering half-gallon containers at 39 cents as a loss leader item, the retailers lose nine cents with each sale.

A loss leader is merchandise sold below cost to attract customers into a store.

'Porky' Jury Out Overtime

By PETER LAINE
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE—Over five hours of jury deliberation still had not produced a verdict late Thursday in the case of Donald (Porky) Baines, charged with receiving a stolen white mink cape.

The six-man panel at 5:05 p.m. began one of the longest deliberations on record in Criminal Court, climaxing a dramatic three-day trial that stirred up intense feeling on both sides.

Defense Attorney Ray Sandstrom, who represented the case, ranked the credibility of police witnesses over the coals Thursday. "A harum-scarum case," he called it.

The main conflict in the case was whether Baines knew the fur was stolen when he bought it from Chris di Bona. He maintained he did not.

Police testified Baines admitted after his arrest that he did know. Baines denied any such admission.

The jury retired to consider its verdict just after 5 p.m. but was back half an hour later to ask a question.

It wanted to know if it could review the transcript of testimony given by Lloyd Pickard, Fort Lauderdale detective, and deputies James O'Toole and Ben Grigsby.

Judge Louis Weissing asked the panel to decide if it could reach a verdict without the review. It would take two or three hours to read back, he said.

The morning session opened the defense case. Six witnesses testified that Fort Lauderdale detectives said they would "get" Baines.

Baines told the court he bought two furs from Chris di Bona to give to his wife later, and put them in the fireplace so she wouldn't find them.

He broke down on the stand as he started to tell about the boy he and his wife hoped to adopt. The court was recessed.

When it resumed after lunch, Baines said he was taking the boy to school in September when he saw di Boan on crutches, and later stopped in to see him.

"I went up the steps and saw two detectives coming down," he related. "Di Bona told me I couldn't have come at a worse time."

Then, Baines went on, he learned for the first time that police were interested in the furs he'd bought.

Public Rebels at Tax Hike But Wants Services

By SYLVIA PORTER
Financial Analyst

Not since the days of global war in the '40s, when the American public was getting its first taste of the bitterness of a record-sized tax dose, have taxes been so much in the headlines as today—but with two profoundly important differences.

1—This time, the rush to boost taxes to the highest marks ever is on at the state and local level. What the states vote on taxes will be THE big story of 1959; the Washington story will be of only picayune significance.

2—This time, there is a perceptible rebellion in state after state against tax-hiking proposals, but the public still wants services. It's not only a rebellion among us and businessmen, the taxpaying targets. It's also a revolt among legislators of both parties and all shades of economic-social opinion.

It was not this way in 1955, when a record-smashing total of almost 8,000 tax changes went on the states' books. It was not this way during World War II and the Korean conflict when a record-smashing total of tax changes went on the federal government's books.

The atmosphere is different now. There is almost a climactic aspect to the test of spending and taxing now taking place in our states.

SYLVIA PORTER

As a resident of New York City and New York State, I'm getting the full treatment. And even before I'm nicked for an extra penny (except via the two-cent-a-gallon state gas tax hike) by the tax-seeking measures of Gov. Rockefeller and Mayor Wagner, my pocketbook "feels" thinner, I "feel" poorer. Thus, perhaps it is in acknowledgement of the proverb that misery loves company that I again have been tracing the state tax battles the nation over. And there's plenty to trace.

Of the 49 Legislatures, 46 are meeting this year and of these, 31 have either proposed specific tax moves or are talking of them. Some already have acted to boost the gas tax or put in a system of withholding state income taxes or increased income tax rates.

In addition, there are proposals from coast to coast to:

Impose, raise or broaden the base of the sales tax. Arguing this sort of action are Arizona, Illinois, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Utah, Washington.

Impose or raise the personal income tax. Debating this are California, Iowa, Michigan, Montana, New York, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Carolina, West Virginia.

Impose or raise the corporation income tax. Talking of this are Iowa, Michigan, South Carolina.

Shift income tax payment to a withholding basis. Concentrating on this area are Minnesota, New York, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Utah.

Impose or raise the gas tax or tobacco tax or cigaret tax or beer and liquor tax or combinations thereof. Here many states are involved, including Arkansas, California, Colorado, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, New Hampshire, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, West Virginia.

And there are dozens of other suggestions ranging from disallowing the federal income tax as a state tax deduction to taxing intangible personal property, inheritances, etc., etc.

Even before the Legislatures convened, it was obvious this would be a critical tax year in most states. For in state after state, spending has been skyrocketing because of zooming population among the very young and old, needs for more roads, schools, welfare assistance. At the same time, war-created surpluses have been wiped out and the 1958 recession pushed tax collections below expectations.

But not so obvious until a few weeks ago was the strength of the rebellion against tax hikes from voters who simultaneously are demanding a continuation and expansion of services from the states.

The answer? Obviously, it is compromise and this, too, is taking place in state after state.

But the compromises still involve hefty tax boosts throughout the country.

And the full impact of these increases will be felt on the pocketbooks of millions of us as 1959 rolls on.

Plane Dive Was Its 2nd Mishap

NEW YORK —(AP)— The jet airliner that dived more than five miles over the Atlantic Feb. 3 because of automatic pilot failure had experienced similar trouble only the day before.

This testimony was presented before the Civil Aeronautics Board by pilots in charge of the plane on its eastward flight across the Atlantic Feb. 2 and its return trip next day.

In charge of the Pan American Boeing 707 with 114 passengers aboard on Feb. 3 was Capt. W. Waldo Lynch. He testified the automatic pilot was operating normally during the first part of the Paris-to-New York flight. The plane was flying at about 35,000 feet.

Lynch told of leaving the cockpit for the lounge after turning the controls over to Capt. Samuel T. Peters.

"There was a sharp right downward movement," Lynch continued. "I ran back to the cockpit and slammed into my seat. The gyro horizon was completely tumbled.

"I saw Capt. Peters struggling with the controls as we were losing altitude at a terrific rate of speed. Capt. Peters' instrument panel was completely dark.

Flight Engineer (John) Laird held me in my seat until I could get my safety belt strapped on, and I tried to stabilize the wings. The first thing I noticed that we were at 17,000 feeet.

"At about 8,000 I pulled the yoke (wheel) back as strongly as I could, and at 6,000 feet we took a terrific pounding. I thought the plane was breaking apart. The pounding lasted just a few seconds. We then started a moderate climb, first to 9,000 feet, and then the airplane responded and we went up higher."

Later the plane landed safely at Newfoundland on manual controls.

Lynch said his engineer had heard unofficially from the engineer on the previous day's New York-to-Paris flight of the same plane that the automatic pilot had acted up—but with less menacing consequences.

Flight Engineer John Anderson checked some fuses and fixed the automatic pilot after that incident. The trouble was not considered serious enough for a formal report. But Anderson mentioned it to the engineer of the westbound flight of the next day.

Lynch said the information was passed on to him, but that he also understood the trouble had been corrected.

Hubby Kills Man Peeping At His Wife

HILLSBORO, N.H.—(AP)—Enraged when he found an alleged "peeping Tom" staring at his half-naked wife through a window, a Hillsboro woodchopper killed the intruder with a rifle blast.

Held on a technical manslaughter charge was Reginald Gerbert, 34, the husband who poked his gun through a window and fired a single shot into the head of Austin J. Hogan, 23, of Nashua, a bakery truck driver.

County Attorney Conrad Danais said the bullet struck Hogan, married and the father of three children, as he was running down a road beside the Gerbert house. Danais quoted Gerbert as saying he fired after Hogan ignored commands to halt.

The county attorney said Mrs. Gerbert, a pretty 33-year-old brunette, was taking a sponge bath at the kitchen sink when she noticed the "peeping Tom" at the window. She was nude from the waist up.

She screamed to her husband, who reached for his rifle, threw open a window in the adjacent living room, knocked out the screen and ordered the fleeing Hogan to stop.

PRESS CONFERENCES at the White House usually find these men putting their heads together. President Eisenhower and his press secretary, James C. Hagerty, were answering reporters' questions when this picture was made.

Bullets Raise Fire Peril

SALT LAKE CITY — (AP) — Fire in a West Side home killed two children. Seven other member of the Hal Bjorkman family escaped but two were seriously injured.

Exploding bullets and black powder, stored in the room where the fire broke out, added to the danger for firemen. One blast blew out a rear wall of the concrete block structure.

The victims were eight-year-old Robert and two-year-old Naomi Bjorkman. Three other members of the family were hospitalized — the father and two sons, Douglas, 10 and Steven, 11. All three suffered burns, and the boys were listed in serious condition.

Their mother, Norma, was released from the hospital after treatment for shock. Her three other children, Elizabeth, six, Becky, 3 and Glen, eight months, are being cared for by neighbors.

Cooks in Phone Booth

CAROLINA BEACH, N.C.—(AP)—Police in this resort town figured the 67-year-old vacationer was overdoing it in making himself at home. They found him cooking his meals in a telephone booth.

Inside the little-used booth on Fisherman's Pier were a small oil stove, a frying pan, cheese, some eggs and cooking oil. An old broom was propped against the booth outside.

"We found out," said City Manager William Gary, "that he couldn't cook inside the room he had taken in a rooming house. So he went to the beach but the wind blew into his food out there and he moved into the booth."

Officers made the vacationer sweep out the booth, then found him a room with cooking privileges.

Tiny A-Plant

MOSCOW —(AP)— The Soviet Union has produced a portable nuclear power plant the size of a safety matchbox, the newspaper Soviet Aviation said.

The paper said the unit has 400 volts power and was suitable for jobs requiring high voltage and low amperage. It gave no other details.

'Speak Softly and Carry a Little Stick'

U.S. Acting Cautiously on Integration

By [illegible]
Of Our Washington Bureau

William Rogers

WASHINGTON — The Eisenhower administration's newest civil rights posture is to speak softly and carry a little stick.

It reached this position partly by contrasting the fate of integrated schools in Little Rock with those in Virginia.

In the case of Little Rock, where the federal government was forced to display massive power, the situation is still bitter and unresolved.

The executive branch of the federal government rejected pleas that it take an active part in the Virginia court battle. The schools there are now operating integrated classes.

Attorney General William Rogers outlined the administration's new views before a House committee drafting civil rights legislation.

He rejected offers of a big new federal weapon—the power to begin court suits for new school integration. This was despite the fact that the administration asked Congress for this very same power two years ago.

"The image of the federal government dominating the states is apt to infuriate people and harden the resistance, making progress difficult," Rogers said.

He revealed the method in the new [illegible]-in-the-china shop approach by saying: "We tried to draft our proposals in such a way that it didn't seem to people that the federal government is trying to do too much."

The administration's main proposal this year would make it a crime for mobs to interfere or threaten to interfere with court orders for school integration.

Rogers hopes this anti-mob authority would be "a substitute" for calling out the troops in any future Little Rock crisis.

The attorney general's new, more cautious position on civil rights brought immediate fire from liberal Democrats demanding strong action to enforce the rights declared by the Supreme Court.

But Republicans on the House committee quickly embarrassed those attackers by bringing up the wide Democratic Party split on this issue. The GOP members pointed out that any demand for strong action would run into stiff resistance from Democratic congressional leaders, particularly in the Senate.

Rogers has attempted to spike rumors that he tried in vain to convince President Eisenhower to take a stronger civil rights stand this year.

But he quickly rejected a GOP congressman's helpful suggestion that the new program represents the attorney general's "profound conviction." Rogers said there are good arguments on both sides of the new posture, hinting his stance could be easily changed by a change of heart at a well-known Pennsylvania Ave. address.

Snuff, a Mutt, Dies a Hero

HAMDEN, Conn. — (AP) — A six-month-old mongrel dog named Snuff died a hero's death.

As smoke came from his master's home, Snuff ran in and waked Mr. and Mrs. Donald Schroeder.

The couple carried their son Carl, 11, and daughter Dorothy, six, to safety. Snuff, who belonged to Dorothy, remained inside the house, which was ruined by fire.

Resignation Of Dulles Held a 'Must'

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Rep. John E. Moss (D., Calif.) Thursday called for the resignation of ailing Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Moss said it was "a must" if American interests are to be fully protected abroad.

"Trouble spots across the world cry out to us that we cannot afford the luxury of a part-time secretary of state," he said.

Moss said in a statement that U. S. relations "with far too many nations are rapidly deteriorating for one reason or another."

"Where the nation's interests are at stake," Moss said, "we cannot afford sentimentality. Action should be taken at once. If the President will not take the initiative, then, as a final gesture of self abnegation and devotion to his country, Mr. Dulles should resign."

Ex-Mayor Is Cleared

SANTIAGO, Cuba — (AP) — Former Mayor Maximo Torres, who voluntarily returned from exile last week, was released from prison and cleared of suspicion of any wrongdoing during the administration of former Dictator Fulgencio Batista.

Torres fled Cuba after the collapse of the Batista regime Jan. 1. He returned Friday saying he preferred to come home rather than live in exile in Haiti. He was jailed for investigation on his arrival here.

Hospital Here Testing Drug for Mentally Ill

Herald Bureau

WEST HOLLYWOOD — A study of a new tranquilizing drug for treatment of the mentally ill is being conducted at South Florida State Hospital in the first active research department at the institution.

The new division was made possible by private grants to the state institution, according to Milton E. Gallinant, head of personnel operations.

Gallinant said two other programs—one on personality types and the other on occupational therapy — are also under way.

The department officially began functioning March 1.

Assisting in the work will be Miss Bernice Billett, whose post is financed by private sources, Gallinant said. She will assist in setting up, supervising and tabulating results.

Gallinant said the tranquilizer already has had extensive use in other states. The manufacturers contributed to the cost of further study at the hospital.

New tests, devised by Walter J. Clark Associates, are being used at the hospital for research of personality types that work well together. Some patients and employes are being studied.

The occupational therapy department has applied for a $17,027 grant from the National Institute of Mental Health to enlarge its study of patient response to the program.

Safety Move

The Seaboard Air Line Railroad will install gates, lights and bells at the Prospect Rd. crossing, City Manager William J. Veeder said Thursday. The city requested the protection at the crossing a year ago because of potential danger created by a chlorine tank car stored on a siding there. The crossing adjoins the Fiveash water plant.

Barstool Case Goes To Court

By ERWIN POTTS
Herald Staff Writer

WILTON MANORS — Mayor Frank Starling, faced with a charge of violating a barstool ordinance he signed two years ago, asked Thursday that the constitutionality of the ordinance be decided on before his guilt or innocence.

Starling and his business partner, LaMar Braddy, petitioned Circuit Court to determine the "constitutionality and validity" of an ordinance prohibiting a restaurant from serving liquor at the bar to patrons sitting on stools.

Arrest warrants were taken out for Braddy and Starling by the Broward County Liquor Dealers Association after the two opened "The Flame" restaurant. The liquor dealers said a city ordinance is being violated by having stools at the bar.

Starling and Braddy said they are chairs, not stools.

Claiming the city ordinance is "unconstitutional, invalid and void," Starling and Braddy asked the court to rule on these grounds before attempting to decide their guilt or innocence of the violation.

New Charges Hit Teeners

Herald Bureau

POMPANO BEACH — Additional charges of breaking and entering have been filed against two teenage youths who police say went on a spree while on parole from Raiford State Prison.

County Solicitor Tom Coker said the youths, William Donald Nading, 18, of 640 NE 21st St., Collier Manor, and Elwood Lamar Albright, 19, of 950 SW 23rd Ave., Fort Lauderdale, have been linked with "about six or seven" breaking and entering cases in the county.

Coker said they were on parole under breaking and entering charges when arrested Tuesday, riding in a car with another youth picked up for reckless driving.

A hearing has been set for 2:30 today to determine if the two violated parole.

Architect Sued Over High Bids

FORT LAUDERDALE — Totterdale Development Inc. of Delray Beach filed suit in Circuit Court Thursday to recover $5,400 in preliminary fees allegedly paid to Architect Charles McKirahan.

The corporation claimed it engaged McKirahan to design a Highland Beach restaurant that would cost not more than $90,000. The lowest construction bid recieved was $189,000, it declared.

McKirahan was out of town and could not be reached for comment.

New Church Gets Go-Ahead

HALLANDALE — The City Commission has cleared the way for construction of a Catholic Church and school east of Gulftream Race Track.

On a request from the Miami Diocese, the city agreed to vacate certain streets in a seven and one-half acre tract in the Golden Isle sub-division.

HORNING IN, so to speak, on the sixth annual District Ensemble contest at Pompano Beach was Trombonist Robert Rencher, a Pompano High senior. He was one of 40 contestants in Wednesday's judging. Sponsored by the Florida Bandmasters Association, the 25 events were judged by Owen Sellers, assistant dean at Florida University.

Pompano Charter Changes Outlined

By CLARENCE ZAITZ
North Broward Bureau

POMPANO BEACH — A provision for civil service for all city employes and another to allow city-wide voting in primary municipal elections are among charter changes which will be reviewed at a public hearing at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

The city commission and the county's legislative delegation will hold the hearing in the city commission room.

The civil service protection would extend to all city employes and department heads except the city manager, city clerk, municipal judge and city attorney.

At present primary voting is restricted to residents of the district in which there is a contest. The change would allow all voters in the city to participate in each primary contest.

Other revisions would:

Permit annexation of new areas only after a referendum of both the city and affected area.

Allow the city commission to appoint a new member to a vacant commission seat if fewer than 60 days remain in the term of that seat.

Give police the right to pursue law violators beyond the city limits and make arrests outside the city.

Make the position of municipal judge elective (it is now appointive).

While Others Worry

She's Been Happy On Friday the 13th

Herald Bureau

POMPANO BEACH — A local construction firm secretary is looking forward to Friday the 13th because "it's a day I like."

Mrs. Lee Byrd got a $10 salary increase the last Friday the 13th, but thats' not the most important thing that's happened to her on that date.

On Friday, Feb. 13, 1940, she gave birth to a boy, although doctors had warned she would not live to have him because of a heart condition. At one point in the delivery, doctors later admitted, Mrs. Byrd was as dead for three minutes "as she will be when she's six feet under grounr."

Then again in 1953, Mrs. Byrd was slated for a delicate heart operation on Friday the 13th, but developed a touch of pneumonia, and a staff of five doctors advised postponing the operation for three months.

Nearly everyone in the hospital had advised her that "today is Friday the 13th. Don't let them operate on you."

But Mrs. Byrd pleaded and begged. She cried for them to operate. "I won't live another three months," she told the doctors.

The medicos finally consented, and performed the delicate operation on Friday the 13th. After it was successfully completed, they disclosed that Mrs. Byrd had indeed been right — she would not have lived another three months without the operation.

So now Mrs. Byrd confidently looks forward to each Friday the 13th, and the good fortune she expects on that date.

Arabs Protest Exodus Of Jews From Romania

VIENNA — (AP) — Jews emigrating from Communist Romania to Israel still are arriving in Vienna, but the exodus soon may end because of Arab protests.

Jewish sources said Romanian authorities in Bucharest have issued no visaed passports to Jews for travel to Israel since Feb. 28. They fear Romanian authorities will halt the movement permanently to appease the Arabs.

Israel's Arab neighbors have protested against the emigration of Romanian Jews, charging it will lead to Israeli expansionism.

Romania's expulsion last weekend of Amnon Keren, attache of the Israeli legation in Bucharest, on charges of espionage and Zionist subversion, was regarded here as a gesture toward the Arabs.

Since then, Israeli-Romanian relations have become more strained. Israel charges its Bucharest legation was placed virtually under a state of siege in order to cut off contact with prospective Jewish emigrants.

Jewish sources in Vienna still hope the cutoff of visas is only temporary. They had hoped that in all about 80,000 Romanian Jews would go to Israel this year.

Turkish Editor Gets Sentence

ANKARA, Turkey — (AP) — A special press court has sentenced an opposition editor to 16 months in prison for reprinting a summary of articles by U. S. Publisher Eugene Pulliam and his wife Nina.

MENDERES

The court said the articles belittled Premier Adnan Menderes.

The court also fined the editor, Ulki Arman, $444 and ordered his paper "Ulus" suspended for a month. Arman is already serving a one-year term for a previous press offense.

The latest sentence, which can be appealed, was the first court ruling in connection with the Pulliam articles, which were published in The Indianapolis Star.

The Pulliams came to Turkey last September on a reporting tour of the Middle East. Their stories severely criticized the Menderes government's record.

British Union Elects 2nd Red

LONDON — (AP) — The Communist head of Britain's big mineworkers union is retiring next month but another Red has been elected to succeed him.

Arthur Horner is quitting at 65 after 13 years as general secretary of the 700,000 man union. The union announced that stocky, craggy-featured Will Paynter, 54, has been elected to succeed him.

Paynter won in a January election by 52,304 votes, the union said.

He has been a member of the Communist Party for 30 years and an official of the Miners Union for 20. Once the Communist organizer for Wales, he served in the International Brigade in the Spanish Civil War.

3 Cardinals Get Red Hats

VATICAN CITY — (AP) — Pope John XXIII Thursday conferred red hats and rings on three of the 23 cardinals he created last December.

The three princes of the Roman Catholic Church who received their insignia are Giuseppe Cardinal Fietta and Fernando Cardinal Cento of Italy and Joseph Cardinal Bueno y Monreal of Spain.

They did not attend the glittering consistories at which their colleagues were presented their red hats in December. Instead, following an ancient custom between the Vatican and the governments of Italy and Spain, they received their birettas of office from the chiefs of state of Italy and Spain.

Australia, Reds Patch Up Rift

BROADBEACH, Australia — (AP) — Australia and the Soviet Union appeared to be patching up diplomatic relations broken off in 1954 when runaway Soviet Spy Vladimir Petrov was given political asylum here.

Australian Foreign Minister Richard G. Casey and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Nikolai Firyubin met for 45 minutes in a hotel room after sitting side by side at a luncheon.

Firyubin is here for a conference of the Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East. The lunch that brought him together with the Australian minister was given by the chief U. S. delegate to the conference, Christopher H. Phillips. Casey said that his meeting with Firyubin was very friendly.

Puerto Rico Seeks More Autonomy

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico — (AP) — The Legislature approved a resolution asking Congress to make certain changes in the Federal Relations Act which created the commonwealth status for this island in 1952.

Generally, the changes would provide for more local authority.

The resolution was approved by votes of the majority Popular Party while minority parties voted against it.

Main changes asked in the resolution include:

Giving Puerto Rico power to fix its own debt limit. The limit now is fixed by the U.S. Congress.

Taking appeals from the Puerto Rican Supreme Court directly to the U.S. Supreme Court. Appeals are now taken to the Boston District Circuit Court of Appeals.

Fixing in Puerto Rico the excise taxes on some items produced here for export to the mainland.

Changing wording in the act so as to eliminate what the government terms "phrases referring to colonialism."

House Throws Open Gates to Hawaiians

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The House Thursday threw open the gates to statehood for Hawaii, climaxing a 40-year battle by the Pacific Island chain to become a state.

The House stamped its approval on the statehood bill after two days of debate and sent it to President Eisenhower who was certain to sign it. The Senate approved the measure Wednesday night by a whopping 76 to 15 vote.

There was a burst of applause when Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas announced the House vote as 323 to 89.

Voting for admission were 203 Democrats and 120 Republicans; voting against were 65 Democrats and 24 Republicans.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said President Eisenhower was "delighted" with the congressional action. He said the President had been urging statehood for Hawaii for some time, "as did the platforms on which he ran in 1952 and 1956." Hagerty did not know when the President would sign the measure.

It may take as long as five or six months to complete the statehood formalities. But once this is done, the nation's western boundaries will extend to the mid-Pacific and the national banner will display a 50th star.

Completion of congressional action was the signal for jubilant Hawaiians to begin a two-day celebration that included hula dancing, a typically-American fireworks display, a giant bonfire on Sand Island in Honolulu harbor and the ringing of a special statehood bell at Honolulu stadium.

The House rejected with thunderous "no's" two last ditch efforts to scuttle the measure.

It first shouted down an attempt by Rep. W. R. Poage (D., Tex.) to amend the bill to provide for ultimate inclusion of all U.S. Pacific islands in the new state. It then rejected a motion by Rep. John R. Pillion (R., N.Y.) to kill the bill by sending it back to the House Interior Committee.

Hawaii was the second territory Congress has agreed to give statehood status in recent months. Alaska was admitted as the 49th state Jan. 7 as the result of legislation enacted last year.

Before Alaska was voted into the Union, the last state to win statehood was Arizona, which was admitted Feb. 14, 1912.

The House cleared the way for quick action on the statehood legislation by agreeing to substitute the Senate-passed measure for its own slightly different version.

Rep. James C. Davis (D., Ga.) fought the bill on racial grounds. He told the House Hawaii's 56 per cent non-white population was "so radically different" from that of the rest of the nation that the territory did not qualify for admission.

When Hawaii sends its representatives to Congress, Senate membership will go up permanently from the present 98 to 100. House membership will rise temporarily from 436 to 437 and then fall back to its permanent level of 435 after the new population census. It went to 436 after Alaska's admission to the Union.

Ecstatic Islanders Dance in Streets

HONOLULU — (AP) — They danced the hula in the streets Thursday night.

Hawaii — a melting pot of many races — celebrated congressional acceptance of statehood.

Jubilant islanders lit bonfires. They set off firecrackers. They whooped it up in a noisy climax to a 40-year quest for admission to the union.

Street dancing began at sunset at 14 places in and around Honolulu.

The acting governor, Edward E. Johnston, called an immediate holiday.

"This is the biggest day in Hawaii history," said Johnston, sitting in for Gov. William Quinn, who is in Washington.

News of the statehood vote touched off air raid sirens, ships' whistles and church bells.

Motorists sounded a cacophony of horns.

At Iolani Palace, seat of the government, legislators broke out in tears, cheers, hand clapping and frenzied shouting when Hawaii's delegate to Congress, John A. Burns, telephoned the news from Washington.

Burns' line was connected to a loudspeaker in the legislative chambers.

Honolulu's two biggest newspapers, The Star-Bulletin and The Advertiser, rushed statehood extras to the streets. Radio stations devoted almost all of their time to the news and celebrations.

In downtown Honolulu, office workers tossed paper streamers from windows.

On the University of Hawaii campus, students finished a 50-star flag just a half-hour before Congress completed the voting. They rushed from classrooms and raised the flag on the university flagpole. The school band played the national and Hawaii anthems.

University President Laurence Snyder called off all classes until next Monday.

Kids in grammar and high schools also got a holiday until then.

Hawaii's replica of the Liberty Bell, which toured the mainland last year, was sounded for the first time in Hawaii.

At nightfall, military planes dropped flares for more than an hour off Waikiki Beach.

In the Territorial Legislature, the public address system announced:

"Everyone prepare to become first-class citizens."

The Territorial House adopted a resolution making "Aloha State" the official nickname of the islands. Both houses offered prayers of Thanksgiving.

Oahu prison trusties, riding a truck outside the prison walls when the news came, broke out in cheers.

Many stores and business offices shut down at midday.

Banks closed and announced they would open today.

Florida 5-3 For Hawaii

Florida's eight-man House delegation split 5 to 3 Thursday in favor of Hawaiian statehood.

Voting for admission of Hawaii as the 50th state were Reps. Dante Fascell of Miami, Charles Bennett of Jacksonville, Syd Herlong of Leesburg, Paul Rogers of West Palm Beach and William Cramer of St. Petersburg.

The "no" votes were cast by Reps. James Haley of Sarasota, Robert Sikes of Crestview and Billy Matthews of Gainesville.

Nikita Leaves Warning

Off for Home; Advises West

BERLIN — (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev flew home to Moscow Thursday, leaving the West with a warning not to attempt any "break through" to Berlin once the East German Reds are in control of the lifelines to that Western outpost.

In a statement on the German crisis made before boarding his Soviet-built TU104 jet transport for the flight home, Khrushchev declared:

"If the aggressors should try, in spite of everything, to carry through their adventurous aims and — as they say — try to 'break through' anywhere, they would meet with the appropriate resistance."

In Washington it was reported the U.S. has drafted a plan for sending a test convoy through a Berlin blockade if the Communists impose one.

The plan as it now stands apparently calls for sending a normal size unarmed convoy of four to 10 trucks over the 110-mile road from Helmstedt in West Germany through East Germany to West Berlin.

(If the convoy were stopped, it might then be strenthened with tanks and go ahead. What would happen if it drew fire from East German guards was not known.)

Macmillan Talks With Adenauer

BONN, Germany—(AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer conferred for three hours Thursday on Western measures to counter the Soviet threat to Berlin.

Macmillan said on arrival he was convinced there should be talks with Russia this summer. He urged the West to adopt a flexible position, saying: "We all stand together but in the methods of defense we must remain elastic."

Conference Set In Mountains

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The White House announced Thursday that the Berlin crisis conferences between President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will be held at Camp David, in the Catoctin Mountains of Maryland.

Macmillan will arrive in Washington Thursday.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President, Macmillan and their immediate staffs would confer at the secluded White House retreat today, Saturday and Sunday.

Sleet, Rain Add Peril To Snows

Schools Closed; Travel Snarled

By the Associated Press

The worst snowstorm of a mean, dying winter struck a savage blow at the northeast Thursday, just nine days before spring. It also hit the Midwest and south to Virginia.

The storm claimed five lives in Ohio and New Jersey, most of the deaths resulting from heart attacks brought on by shoveling snow.

Up to 14 inches of snow, followed by sleet and rain, lashed an area from Indiana to Virginia and Maine Thursday, the anniversary of one of history's great winter storms—the blizzard of 1888.

Falling temperatures were expected to freeze the slush overnight, thus heightening hazardous driving conditions that tied up many of the East's highways. But today is expected to be partly sunny and milder.

As one storm center moved in from the west, a second came off the Virginia coast. Winds up to 60 miles an hour whistled in with the snow. Tides ranged two to three feet above normal.

Western Maryland and upstate New York measured 14 inches of snow. West Virginia and western Massachusetts had a foot. New Jersey got up to 10 inches. Ohio had seven inches, Indiana, six.

Air travelers were grounded in Cleveland, Boston, Buffalo, Rochester and New York. Commuter trains ran late. So did buses. New York's subways were slowed as thousands who usually drive to work went underground instead.

Hundreds of schools were closed in New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts and upstate New York. All public schools in Boston were closed.

In North Utica, N. Y., 25 children were marooned for two hours when their school bus became stranded in five inches of drifting snow.

Two Ford assembly plants in northern New Jersey, with 4,500 employes, had to close when the storm prevented workers from getting to their jobs. Massachusetts State House employes in Boston were sent home shortly after noon.

Coastal roads near Boston were closed. visibility was so poor that public works employes had to walk in front of snowplows to guide them.

A skidding bus in Binghamton, N. Y., stalled traffic bumper to bumper for an hour. Pittsfield, Mass., had a traffic jam seven miles long.

New York City got nearly six inches of snow, or almost as much as the 6½ inches that had fallen previously this winter.

Chill Races The Length Of State

A cold front chilled Florida's weekend weather prospects Thursday.

It'll drop to the low 40s in the north end of the state tonight, the weather bureau predicted.

The cold front rolled through Florida Thursday, plunging afternoon temperatures from the 80s to the 60s in three hours.

High winds preceded the front, and small craft warnings were hoisted along the coast — but they'll come down today, th weatherman said.

Greater Miami will shiver only slightly — it should drop to the low 50s tonight after reaching the high 50s Thursday night, Weatherman Philip Ackerman said.

Condemnation Suits Held Up

West Palm Studies Family Relocation

WEST PALM BEACH — A city committee planning redevelopment of slum areas is faced with the problem of what to do with displaced families during the razing and construction of houses.

At a meeting Thursday, the committee indicated it is anxious to proceed with plans to raze substandard housing. It felt, however, no action should be taken until the people involved are consulted and a solution is found on how to house temporarily those who will be displaced.

No solution was presented.

City Engineer John Klink said the city is ready to go ahead on condemnation suits, but felt action should be delayed because of the temporary housing problem.

He suggested meetings between the city, the people living in the substandard areas and an agency.

The agency, he said, should be hired by the city to investigate thoroughly incomes and housing of each individual before the city takes action.

Dunbar Village can handle some displacement, depending on the turnover of renters, but could never absorb a large-scale move, W. E. Poland, executive director of the Public Housing Authority, said.

He endorsed Klink's idea that the city hire some agency which could also handle dispalcement, and recommended that the city have an overall plan rather than tackle redevelopment on a piecemeal basis.

The city received approval in February from the Housing and Home Finance Agency for the use of Federal Housing Authority mortgage insurance for up to 350 low-rent private housing units.

The big question now is: When is slum clearance going to function?

Honduran Rebels Put To Flight

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras — (AP) — The government announced Thursday that a group of rebels was routed in an attempt to seize Choluteca, important city near the Nicaraguan border. It said army units killed one rebel and took seven prisoners.

The government press office termed the incident a last desperate attempt by the rebels who have been under the command of Col. Armando Velasquez Cerrato.

Velasquez, a long-time career officer, made some forays into northwestern Honduras last month before being chased into the mountains. He made unsuccessful efforts to enlist the support of the army in his campaign to overthrow President Ramon Villeda Morales.

Velasquez was reported officially to be in San Jose, Costa Rica, and headed for exile in Mexico City.

Fidel Official Kills Himself

HAVANA, Cuba — (AP) — Police said an official in Cuba's provisional government committed suicide Thursday at police headquarters while being held for investigation.

He was Rene Ray Rivero, a director in the ministry for the recovery of misappropriated public funds and a brother of Public Works Minister Manuel Ray Rivero.

Police said he shot himself. Police Capt. Miguel Guitar said Ray had been questioned in connection with the release of confiscated funds of ex-Sen. Jose Perez Dominguez, a member of Congress in the Batista regime. Guitar did not say how much money was involved.

Senate Probe Chief Calls for Blacklist of Firm

Two Alleged Racketeers Linked to 'Nike' Jobs

Victor Comforte

. . . hot in here

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senate rackets probers Thursday said Dominic Senese and Victor Comforte, alleged labor racketeers, are part owners of a firm holding subcontracts on 60 per cent of the Nike missile site installations in the Chicago area.

Sen. John L. McClellan (D., Ark), chairman of the special investigating committee, said the Defense Department should take immediate steps to blacklist the firm which he named as the Broadway Sheet Metal Co. of Chicago.

McClellan said he would move "at once" to present a written demand to the Defense Department for the blacklisting.

He said he would back up his demand with a transcript of testimony in which Victor Comforte of Chicago invoked the Fifth Amendment on many questions.

Comforte had refused to tell whether Dominic Senese, described by the committee as a brother-in-law of Mobster Tony Accardo, holds a one-third interest in the company, or answer other questions.

Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy told the committee that Senese, who invoked the Fifth Amendment Wednesday, Comforte and a man identified only as L. A. Moody own about a one-third interest each in the Broadway Sheet Metal Co.

Kennedy told the committee that "on about 60 per cent of all the Nike sites around Chicago, the work is done by this company — has been done in the past."

Comforte drew fire from McClellan by pleading it might tend to incriminate him to tell whether that is true.

"I think this company ought to be immediately disbarred from doing business with the government and the Defense Department," McClellan snapped.

McClellan said he would request a quick report from the Defense Department on what it finds in its own investigation of the company, what it proposes to do about it, and what steps it plans to assure that other contracting and subcontracting companies are not headed by men who must find refuge in the Fifth Amendment.

Among other things, Comforte refused to tell whether Kennedy was right in alleging that "up to recently, under the new administration, it was possible for you to go into the Chicago Police Department and have your police records destroyed. They did this on March 16, 1949, at your request."

Nor would he say whether Kennedy was right in alleging that "you have been involved in labor racketeering in the 1930s," and "you were recognized as an enforcer" in labor union strife.

Critics Ready to Test U.S. Military Punch

Senators Hear AF Staff Chief

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower's Democratic critics said Thursday they were determined to find out if the nation's armed forces are geared to meet the threat of world danger points going far beyond the Berlin crisis.

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson delivered the Democratic reply to the President's biting charges at his news conference Wednesday. Eisenhower accused his critics of "hysterical" opposition to his military manpower cuts and other defense policies.

Johnson retorted that his Senate preparedness subcommittee wanted to know whether the U. S. was armed with the men and weapons capable of delivering a "paralyzing punch" in any one of a number of spots that could explode even before Berlin.

"We realize that Berlin is only one element of conflict in a world which is studded with danger points," he said. "The real crisis may erupt elsewhere even before Berlin comes to a head."

While he named no other trouble areas, he apparently referred to Red China's renewed activities in the Formosa Straits and to the always tense Middle East.

Johnson made public remarks he delivered before the preparedness subcommittee as it heard Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, testify behind closed doors on his "reservations" to the President's new military budget.

White has expressed concern about military construction, replacement of bombers for the Strategic Air Command and the President's decision not to proceed now with production of an atomic-powered plane.

Although Johnson did not so label it, his statement was an obvious reply to Eisenhower's spirited attack on the Democrats.

Johnson told White that "our concern goes to the problem of whether you have been supplied with the needed manpower and tools" that would give the Air Force the knockout punch it packed in World War II.

"Although we must meet the problem of Berlin," Johnson said, "we know that the American problem goes far beyond one city. We must know whether our paralyzing punch is still within our capacity — and whether we will have it in the foreseeable future."

New Game Invented at FSU

Brass Play Jacks; Are They Happy!

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — Who said "jacks" was a game for children?

A new game of jacks, announced to a worldwide conference of Air Force recreation officers here Thursday, had colonels, majors and captains down on the floor playing.

Some wanted to place orders for the game immediately to send to service clubs in far-off places.

The game of "Mat Jacks" was invented by Leo F. Milan of Denver, a graduate assistant working on a doctorate in recreation at Florida State University. He said he invented it to get the players off the dirty floor.

A 3 by 5 foot mat of canvas goes with the game, and for added interest, a circle is provided in the center and cut into numbered slices like a pie.

The game has standard rules no matter where it is played. The old rules for jacks vary so much from place to place, he said, you can hardly decide who won the game.

The new rules take a lot of the pure luck out of playing the game. You can play "mat jacks" either as singles or doubles.

Tallahassee recreation officials like it so much, they are considering a city-wide "mat jack" tournament in May.

Igor Stravinsky To Get Award

COPENHAGEN, Denmark—(AP)—The Sonning Foundation said it would present its first international music award to American Composer and Conductor Igor Stravinsky.

Stravinsky, 74, will receive an award of $7,140 in May when he conducts a Danish orchestra at a music festival here. The Sonning Foundation was established with funds bequeathed by the late Danish Editor C. J. Sonning.

Cuba Gives Miamian The 'Boot'

Michael Moreno, a Miami free-lance photographer who has been held in Havana since Saturday on unspecified charges, will be deported as an "undesirable alien," police there said Thursday.

It was not certain whether Moreno, of 16930 NW 37th Pl., would be allowed to continue a flight to British Honduras which was interrupted by his arrest in Havana.

He was detained with two other Miamians — Robert J. Daut and Richard Jaffe — when they arrived in Havana from Miami.

Jaffe and Daut have since been released. Jaffe, who said he was going to British Honduras on business, has returned to Miami, but Daut, who piloted the plane, has been awaiting the release of Moreno, his copilot.

"Mike flew here as my copilot, and he will leave here as my co-pilot," Daut said in Havana.

The Americans said the questions they were asked by their captors indicated that the Cubans believed they might have flown to Havana with the idea of smuggling out some refugee member of ousted ex-President Fulgencio Batista's government.

Graham Gets Ike Message To Australia

MELBOURNE, Australia — — Billy Graham said he has received a personal letter from President Eisenhower asking the evangelist to greet Australians for himself "and for all Americans."

Graham told 12,000 people at a crusade meeting he will read the letter in full at his last Melbourne meeting Sunday. He is winding up a four-week meeting here.

Sunday's meeting will be held at Melbourne Cricket Ground, which served as the main arena for the 1956 Olympic games. It holds 120,000 people.

Graham said he expected the Sunday meeting to be "one of the greatest in the history of evangelism in the world.

"A lot of people say we cannot fill the ground. I believe we can."

Pay Base Increase Opposed

Mitchell Tells His Position

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Eisenhower administration came out Thursday against any increase in the present $1 an hour minimum wage. Organized labor and some Democrats in Congress are seeking a rise to $1.25.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell made known the administration's position. He said in a statement he would soon recommend to Congress legislation to bring under the law "several million workers" now exempt from its provisions.

The law, known as the Fair Labor Standards Act, requires payment of the $1 an hour minimum wage and payment of time and a half regular pay for hours worked beyond 40 a week.

About 24 million workers are now covered by the law.

Retail trade employes, now exempt, are a group that Mitchell previously has recommended be included under the law.

The AFL-CIO recently urged a reduction in the 40-hour work week standard to 35 hours as well as a rise in the minimum wage to $1.25.

Secretary Mitchell said the the exempted workers for whom he will recommend coverage under law "very much need a federal minimum wage."

"Their chances of receiving this protection," he said, "would be jeopardized by an effort at the same time to raise the minimum wage for workers already covered by the act. Consequently, I am not recommending an increase in the minimum wage at this time."

Marie Windsor Clouts Husband

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — (AP) — There was a better show than the strip teasers at the Club Largo on the Sunset Strip.

It was Actress Marie Windsor clobbering her husband, realtyman Jack Hupp, on the head with a plate.

Hupp explained to a reporter Thursday that Marie, statuesque star of many a Western opus, got mad when he didn't want to stop watching the strip teasers and go home.

"I was a bad boy," he said. "Marie hit me with a plate, and I'm glad she did. However, we couldn't be happier and nothing will come of the incident. I don't even have a bump on my head."

The Town Crier

BY Jack Bell

BELL

ATTORNEY Walter Gwinn told the Florida Parole Board Wednesday that Deputy Sheriff Michael Daugherty "deliberately lied" when he identified Virgil Cash as the man who shot him during the holdup of White Belt Dairy in 1953. As a result of Daugherty's testimony, Cash got a 30-year sentence.

It's a fantastic yarn, any way you look at it. Gwinn told me two weeks ago he was going to tell the Parole Board "the truth." Gwinn defended "Long John" Fulford, one of the Cash gang, and Fulford was declared innocent of the robbery. But Gwinn says Fulford told him that he (Long John), not Virgil Cash, shot Daugherty.

Gwinn says that another officer, who sent out a call to pick up three Negroes suspected of the holdup, was asked to go along with a deal that would identify Virgil Cash as the killer. He refused, saying, "How can I do that when I've already indicated I thought Negroes did it." Gwinn says this man offered to testify before the Parole Board, but couldn't be there Wednesday.

So here's Gwinn, who knew Fulford shot the officer, keeping quiet and letting Cash go to prison on the robbery and attempted murder charge. When such a confession no longer could be used against him, Fulford let Gwinn disclose the story. And there were Cash and Fulford imprisoned together in Raiford.

I was in Raiford about a year after the Cash boys went up. Virgil was in Flat Top, a horrible hole, "just so he can't start anything," said officials. Baby Ray, his younger brother, told me, "It ain't good for Virgil. He's a worrier." Now I'm told that Virgil is on the verge of becoming completely "stir crazy." If he is pardoned, he plans to go to his parents who have a small filling station in Georgia.

Jobless Aid Bill Gets OK

Original Plan Cut Sharply

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The House Ways and Means Committee overwhelmingly approved a bill Thursday to prevent an estimated 300,000 jobless workers from being chopped off the unemployment benefit rolls April 1.

The measure is expected to win House approval Monday. It is a sharply curtailed version of the plan originally proposed by House Democratic leaders for extending the emergency benefit program enacted last year at the peak of the recession.

The bill would extend the emergency program only for workers who file valid jobless claims before April 1. It would provide no payments to jobless persons who exhaust their state benefits after that date.

Democratic leaders originally had planned to push for a straight one-year extension of the program. They had even toyed with the idea of giving President Eisenhower power to cut off benefits after three months, thus putting him on the spot politically.

But a key Democrat said the Democratic-controlled committee over-hauled the bill in an effort to make sure some kind of extension will win congressional approval before April 1, when 30,000 unemployed otherwise would be dropped from the rolls.

Republicans were jubilant that the committee decided on the more modest approach, which appeared virtually to eliminate the matter as a political issue.

President Eisenhower opposed the original Democratic plan at his news conference Wedesday, saying jobless benefits basically are a state matter.

The bill as approved carried an estimated price tag of 49 million dollars. All payments would be made before July. 1, however, eliminating any threat to the President's narrowly-balanced budget for the new fiscal year 1960 which begins that date.

Noted Composer Dies in London

LONDON — (AP) — Haydn Wood, composer of "Roses of Picardy" and other wistful ballads associated with birds, flowers and graceful old age, died in a London nursing home.

Wood, 76, had an output ranging from rag time to symphony in a productive span of more than 50 years. Early in his career, he toured abroad as a solo violinist, but his 200 songs brought him his greatest fame.

He wrote "Roses of Picardy" while riding a London bus in World War I. It was an instant hit and sheet music sales reached 50,000 copies a month.

Legislators OK Pupil Spanking

ALBANY, N. Y. — (AP) — Should teachers be free to use corporal punishment on pupils?

Yes, the New York Assembly said. It approved, 100-43, a bill that would prevent school boards from adopting any policy that would bar teachers from using "reasonable force" to discipline unruly pupils.

Advocates of the bill maintained that teachers need new authority to deal with hoodlumism and other classroom disorders.

Trujillo: Beards Will Fly

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic — (AP) — Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo declared "brains and beards will fly like butterflies" if any attempt is made to invade this country from Cuba or Venezuela.

In a statement, the Dominican strongman said "the distance from Cuba to this country is no greater than the distance from here to Cuba."

He made the same reference to Venezuela. His remarks obviously came in response to movements in Cuba and Venezuela advocating overthrow of the Dominican government.

"The people can have a strong confidence that if the aggressors want to see brains and beards flying like butterflies, they have only to approach the Dominican beaches in a hostile attitude," Trujillo said.

His mention of beards clearly was aimed at the Cuban rebels who ousted Cuban President Fulgencio Batista Jan 1. Batista now is living in Ciudad Trujillo.

Castro: That Four-Flusher

SANTIAGO, Cuba — (UPI) — Fidel Castro told a mass meeting of 300,000 here Thursday he would like to lead a campaign against Dominican Republic Dictator Rafael Trujillo but cannot because he is premier of Cuba.

"I cannot follow my impulses so I must resign myself to condemning him (Trujillo) from this tribunal," Castro told the cheering crowd.

The gathering was the largest in the history of this Oriente province capital where Castro launched the successful revolution that overthrew Cuban Dictator Fulgencio Batista Jan. 1. Batista now is in the Dominican Republic.

Castro publicly warned Trujillo "not to continue his campaign of provocations" against Cuba.

He tabbed Trujillo a "four-flusher . . . who does not frighten us. He is afraid."

He predicted the Dominican people eventually would overthrow Trujillo themselves.

4 Dairies Call Halt To 'War'

Retail Store 'Bargain' Ends

By DOM BONAFEDE
Herald Staff Writer

Southeast Florida housewives will soon have to dig deeper in their pocketbooks for half gallon containers of milk, now selling at the bargain price of 39 cents at many supermarkets.

In an industry-wide price shakeup, The Herald learned Thursday that wholesale milk prices were bounced back from 48 cents a half gallon to 51 cents by four big dairies. The increase is effective in Palm Beach, Broward, Dade and Monroe Counties.

According to grocers, this means consumers will probably have to shell out 55 cents per half gallon — 16 cents above the current price.

Unaffected by the price change will be quart sales and home deliveries.

Putting the price readjustment in motion Thursday was Land O'Sun Dairy.

Three other distributors—Sealtest, Borden's and Home Milk — notified their retail customers that the markup will be effective early next week.

Odds are better than even that the other eight dairy distributors in South Florida will follow suit.

Distributors blame the price change on a financial squeeze caused by increasing costs and a long price war among their members.

Many dairymen claim they are going into the red under the current market prices and that unless their margin of profit is increased they will be on the verge of bankruptcy.

They point out that Sunnybrook Dairy, of Miami, went bankrupt last year under the present price setup.

Actually, the new wholesale price is a return to the level held prior to the distributors' price war.

Distributors cannot reduce the price they pay for raw milk since the farmers' price is fixed by federal law at $7 per hundredweight.

Commented Curry Bassett, manager of Borden's in Miami:

"Compared to this distributors pay $4.31 in Chicago, $5.70 in Philadelphia, $4.28 in Milwaukee, $5.68 in Los Angeles and so on.

"Our local farmers are justified in their price because tropical dairy farms operate at a very high cost. However, the result is that the present 48 cents wholesale price could no longer be endured financially."

J. C. Nesmith, zone manager for Sealtest Dairies, noted:

"Our financial losses, and that of the retail stores we serve, have been so substantial since the price war started that there is no other choice.

"The Sealtest wholesale price will be 51 cents per half gallon effective Monday."

Willaim Bridges, managing director for Home Milk, said his company "always prided itself on the very small margin of profit it enjoyed, but the half gallon package has caused us severe losses."

The dairymen maintain they would lose about six million dollars during the next year if they continued to operate within the present price range.

Storeowners also welcomed the new prices.

By offering half-gallon containers at 39 cents as a loss leader item, the retailers lose nine cents with each sale.

Dump Truck Driver Leaped to Safety Seconds Before Locomotive Hit
. . . collision at Delray Beach leaves mangled wreckage

Train Flattens Stalled Truck

Herald Bureau

DELRAY BEACH—A southbound Florida East Coast passenger train slammed into a stalled dump truck here Thursday, flattening the truck and disabling the train.

The truck driver, W. J. Downing of Delray Beach, jumped to safety only seconds before the collision.

Downing, who said "I'm not sure now whether I went out the door or the window, had run some 30 feet when the train scooped up the five-ton truck and sent it flying in an arc that one eye witness compared to a "well hit eight iron shot."

The mangled heap of wreckage landed some 112 feet from the NE Eighth St. crossing.

The train, nearly hidden in a shower of sparks, hurtled down the tracks for more than a quarter of a mile before grinding to a halt.

Downing told police the truck motor "just died" right in the middle of the crossing. "Less than a minute" elapsed "before I saw and heard that fellow coming," Downing said.

FEC officials said the force of the impact caved in the front of the train engine, knocking out the braking system.

An estimated 300 passengers on the 15-car "Florida speical" — FEC's main New York to Miami train — were forced to wait for several hours while a replacement engine was sent from Miami.

Precision Flyer Dies In Bailout

NELLIS AIR FORCE BASE, Nev. — (UPI) — A member of the famed U.S. Air Force Thunderbird precision flying team was killed Thursday when his F100 super Sabre collided in flight with another jet and he made an unsuccessful bailout.

SALMON

The Air Force said Capt. Charles B. (Fish) Salmon, 30, winner of the Distinguished Flying Cross in Korea, succeeded in climbing to 30,000 feet after the impact, but the plane then went into a spin. He made his unsuccessful attempt to bail out at an undetermined altitude.

Salmon's body was recovered 12 miles northeast of here.

The Thunderbirds are a famed supersonic flying team which travels around the world to demonstrate precision formation flying. Salmon became a member of the Thunderbirds in January of last year.

Salmon, of Port Jervis, N.Y., was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross after an encounter with eight MIGs.

Survivors include his wife, Harriet, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Salmon, Riviera Beach, Fla.

MRS. CLARABELLE WHITE

BOYNTON BEACH — Services for Mrs. Clara Belle White, 83, who died Tuesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Paul Mercer, will be held at 2 p.m. today at the Boynton Methodist Church. Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Mercer and Mrs. O. C. Knuth, both of Boynton, and Mrs. Ray B. Dame, Washington, and a brother.

RICHARD J. OWEN

WEST PALM BEACH — Richard J. Owen, 72, of 318 Preston Dr., who came here in 1954 from Utica, N.Y., died Wednesday at a local hospital. Survivors include his wife, Agnes. Services will be at 3 p.m. today in the Barton Memorial Chapel with burieal in Memory Gardens.

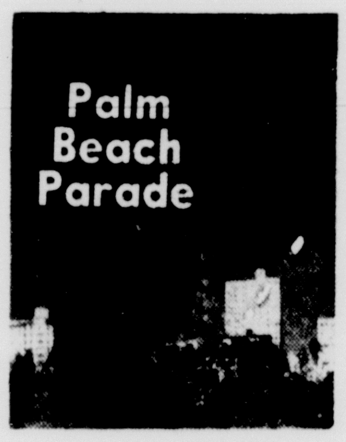
Bands, Floats Galore

Fiesta del Sol Parade's Tonight

Herald Bureau

LAKE WORTH—Floats, bands, beauty queens and a variety of marching units will vie here tonight in one of the biggest events of its kind on this section of the East Coast.

It is the gigantic parade of the Fiesta del Sol, the winter festival with a Spanish flavor that is expected to pack the city and highlight the 1959 celebration.



The Seminole Indian Sun Dance, of West Palm Beach, which goes on in April, will have a 40 foot float in the Fiesta parade, and Sem-I-No Grotto, a Scot Highland bagpipe band will be in the line of march.

Dignitaries will view the giant parade from a stand in the downtown area. It starts at 7 p.m. and will be followed by the Junior Queen's Ball in Lake Worth High School auditorium, under the sponsorship of teentown.

Teens Each Get 30 Days For Hoaxes

LAKE WORTH — Two 17-year-old youths accused of touching off bomb scares here since mid-February each received sentences of 30 days working time in jail Thursday.

They were identified by Lake Worth police as Peter Willems Leufkens, of 1201 N. O St., who pleaded guilty to phoning a newspaper here that a bomb had been planted at Lake Worth High School, and Harry Ronald Trotter, 828 S. K St.

Trotter pleaded guilty to phoning the Lake Worth Fire Department that a bomb had been planted in the Chamber of Commerce offices in civic auditorium.

They were the first jail sentences meted out in this section of the east coast under new ordinances making it a misdemeanor to make a bomb threat.

Local Ban Delayed on Smut Films

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH—Legislation to block the showing of immoral films here will be delayed until an effort is made to obtain regulations on a statewide basis.

City Commissioner Sylvan Burdick, who asked for an ordinance "with teeth in it" to halt showing of suggestive movies, made the disclosure Thursday.

He said regulation of movies on a statewide basis "Would be much more preferable."

The commissioner added, however, that if the legislature fails to act, the city commission will.

Burdick said he had discussed film control with State Sen. Fred O. Dickinson, who already has one statewide bill in the works and is drafting another.

The city, meantime, the commissioner said, is working on a local bill that would meet constitutional requirements.

Burdick also disclosed that a survey is underway to determine whether suggestive magazines are circulating in the city. He proposes to stop their distribution if an ordinance can be made effective.

The West Palm Beach commissioner pointed out that agitation here and in nearby cities for legislation to ban sex films has stopped such exhibitions.

He pointed out that while films passed by a New York board of review are acceptable in Florida, it is difficult for authorities to determine restrictions until after the films have completed their run in the state.

Murder, Check Charges Filed

WEST PALM BEACH—Second degree murder charges were filed against Franklin Mitchell, 32 by County Solicitor Charles A. Nugent for the Feb. 27 shooting of David Pickett, 38.

Nugent also filed forgery charges Wednesday against a woman serving a one-year probation for passing 12 worthless checks here last fall. Mrs. J. L. Gobroski is accused of writing a $650 worthless check, drawn on a Galveston, Tex., bank, at a Palm Beach motel, Feb. 25.

Ramp, Bridge Plans Vetoed By Palm Beach

Forest Hill Alternate Suggested

By ED PFISTER
Herald Bureau Chief

WEST PALM BEACH — The resort town of Palm Beach has tossed a monkey wrench into both this city's plans for a boat ramp north of Southern Blvd. Bridge and state proposals for a new 12th St. bridge.

The resort suggested as an alternate for the latter proposal that the state study the idea of building a bridge between the Palm Beaches off Forest Hill Blvd.

Opposition to both projects by the oceanfront resort was disclosed Thursday by West Palm Beach and Palm Beach county officials.

It developed at a conference Wednesday. Attending were West Palm Beach Commissioners Perry McCampbell and Sylvan Burdick, City Engineer John H. Klinck, State Road Department representative Ed Muller and County Commission Chairman Lake Lytal and Town Manager B. Arnold.

West Palm Beach has been pressing for the use of land for a small boat ramp on the north side of Southern Blvd. Bridge, just east of the span, which is owned by Palm Beach.

The town has already told county officials the land cannot be used for a boat ramp. It repeated the "no" when West Palm Beach officials pressed for use of the property.

It was explained at the meeting that the property in question had been purchased by some residents of Palm Beach and turned over to the town with the stipulation that it could not be developed.

Use of the land was permitted, in part, for a reconstructed Southern Blvd. Bridge causeway, but the donors refuse to allow further development.

The 12th St. bridge proposal is a less pressing matter. Plans for such a span were disclosed in a SRD "origin and destination" survey for Palm Beach County.

But Palm Beach said the bridge would run right into a residential area on the island, there are only a few lots available for development in that area and it has right now all the traffic it can handle.

A bridge in the Forest Hill area, however, would run across to the island at a point where there is still room for development.

Since the origin and destination survey is, in effect, a 20-year master road plan for the county, it is more than likely that the 12th St. bridge won't be pressed.

Hobos Held

WEST PALM BEACH — It was a sleepless night for hobos. But more rest is in sight — seven days of it.

Subdivision OKd

Boca to Get Interchange

By BILL BECK
Delray Bureau Chief

BOCA RATON—Arvida Corp. revealed Thursday it has arranged for a turnpike interchange for Boca Raton.

Following the announcement by the Arthur Vining Davis controlled holding company, the City Commission reversed its field and gave Arvida the green light to proceed with a 25-million dollar subdivision.

Arvida Attorney Stuart Patton said his firm has arranged to loan the Turnpike Commission $300,000 at no interest for five years to build the turnoff.

Patton further revealed that Arvida had agreed to guarantee the Turnpike Commission an annual income of $25,000 a year for five years to insure the feasibility of the project.

An interchange is something the city has been trying for years to get and without any success.

Patton followed up his surprise announcement by requesting that the commission change its mind about blocking progress on Arvida's proposed 545-acre subdivision.

The commission responded by voting 4-1 to grant a zoning change which will permit an immediate start on the plush Royal Palm Yacht and Country Club.

Arivida plans to construct an 18-hole golf course, yacht basin and 65 houses in the tract south of the Davis owned $40,000 and up bracket on a Boca Raton Hotel.

In addition to the subdivision, Arvida is planning to build a 200 million dollar "city" northwest of Boca Raton, as well as moving its national headquarters here.

The commission voted Tuesday to block the subdivision project until another of Davis' corporations, Boca Raton Properties, Inc., starts work on restoration of the Boca Raton Inlet.

Patton reminded the commission that Boca Raton Properties, Inc., has offered the city $50,000 toward engineering studies and work on the sand-choked inlet.

In switching his earlier position, Mayor Joseph De Long said "it looks like we had better go along or we might even lose the $50,000."

Voting with the mayor were commissioners Al Rueb, Harold Dane and John Flancer. The lone holdout was Commissioner William Herbold.

NEW CHIEF of police at Lake Worth is Henry F. (Hank) Hall, who assumed his duties following the retirement of G. S. Sanders, veteran of 27 years service. Hall attended University of Maryland and joined police department in 1913. He served in the Coast Guard in World War II.

Candidates Accept Bid To Forum

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — Voters will have an opportunity to hear all of the candidates campaigning for City Commission seats at an open meeting planned by the League of Women Voters March 24.

The league announced that all seven candidates have been invited to present their platforms on that date at 10 a.m. in the City Commission chambers at City Hall.

All seven have accepted. They are campaigning for two vacancies on the city commission.

Mrs. Wayne Branstrator, co-chairman of the League, pointed out in making the announcement that the open political meeting is part of the voters' service program of the organization.

The League in recent years has made a practice of sponsoring public political forums so voters can meet and hear candidates for municipal office.

Take Showers, Turn Off Leaky Tap

Want to Cut Down on Water Bill?

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — Think before you turn the tap—pay for what you use, not what you lose.

"Tips," the city water department calls it and all for free. They're handing out these hints to conserve the city water supply and save the user some cash.

What do they advocate? Showers, not baths, they say. About 10 gallons is enough for a shower, but the average dunker takes 25 gallons to wash the dust off.

And 20 gallons is sufficient to submerge the physique in a bathtub, they say, but the average person uses 36 gallons.

Turn the water off, they tell shavers. Otherwise you may waste 20 gallons of water — and, besides, it will steam up the mirror.

The biggest villian of all, they claim, is the leaky faucet. Their advice is directed, particularly, to the home owner who leaves for extended vacations.

Listen for the drip, they say, for it may be the start of a flood in your house. Besides it can make the dials on a water meter twirl — all at your expense.

Deadline Is Tuesday

She'll Miss Parade To Tend Vote Books

LAKE WORTH — City Clerk Ruth U. Fales is going to miss the big Fiesta del Sol parade tonight much as she'd like to see it.

It's because she just can't turn down a golden opportunity to get all the potential voters in Lake Worth properly registered for the April 7 municipal election.

So Mrs. Fales has arranged to keep her City Hall offices open tonight from 7 to 9 so those who come downtown to see the parade—particularly the workingman who can't get away in the daytime—can also take a few seconds to come in an register.

On top of that, she plans to keep the registration office open all day Saturday, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. instead of the customary half day, to spur registration.

Deadline for regstering is Tuesday but other City Hall activities would interfere with registration Monday and Tuesday.

Public Rebels at Tax Hike But Wants Services

By SYLVIA PORTER
Financial Analyst

SYLVIA PORTER

Not since the days of global war in the '40s, when the American public was getting its first taste of the bitterness of a record-sized tax dose, have taxes been so much in the headlines as today—but with two profoundly important differences.

1—This time, the rush to boost taxes to the highest marks ever is on at the state and local level. What the states vote on taxes will be THE big story of 1959; the Washington story will be of only picayune significance.

2—This time, there is a perceptible rebellion in state after state against tax-hiking proposals, but the public still wants services. It's not only a rebellion among us and businessmen, the taxpaying targets. It's also a revolt among legislators of both parties and all shades of economic-social opinion.

It was not this way in 1955, when a record-smashing total of almost 3,000 tax changes went on the states' books. It was not this way during World War II and the Korean conflict when a record-smashing total of tax changes went on the federal government's books.

The atmosphere is different now. There is almost a climactic aspect to the test of spending and taxing now taking place in our states.

As a resident of New York City and New York State, I'm getting the full treatment. And even before I'm nicked for an extra penny (except via the two-cent-a-gallon state gas tax hike) by the tax-seeking measures of Gov. Rockefeller and Mayor Wagner, my pocketbook "feels" thinner, I "feel" poorer. Thus, perhaps it is in acknowledgement of the proverb that misery loves company that I again have been tracing the state tax battles the nation over. And there's plenty to trace.

Of the 49 Legislatures, 46 are meeting this year and of these, 31 have either proposed specific tax moves or are talking of them. Some already have acted to boost the gas tax or put in a system of withholding state income taxes or increased income tax rates.

In addition, there are proposals from coast to coast to:

Impose, raise or broaden the base of the sales tax. Arguing this sort of action are Arizona, Illinois, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Utah, Washington.

Impose or raise the personal income tax. Debating this are California, Iowa, Michigan, Montana, New York, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Carolina, West Virginia.

Impose or raise the corporation income tax. Talking of this are Iowa, Michigan, South Carolina.

Shift income tax payment to a withholding basis. Concentrating on this area are Minnesota, New York, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Utah.

Impose or raise the gas tax or tobacco tax or cigaret tax or beer and liquor tax or combinations thereof. Here, many states are involved, including Arkansas, California, Colorado, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, New Hampshire, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, West Virginia.

And there are dozens of other suggestions ranging from disallowing the federal income tax as a state tax deduction to taxing intangible personal property, inheritances, etc., etc.

Even before the Legislatures convened, it was obvious this would be a critical tax year in most states. For in state after state, spending has been skyrocketing because of zooming population among the very young and old, needs for more roads, schools, welfare assistance. At the same time, war-created surpluses have been wiped out, and the 1958 recession pushed tax collections below expectations.

But not so obvious until a few weeks ago was the strength of the rebellion against tax hikes from voters who simultaneously are demanding a continuation and expansion of services from the states.

The answer? Obviously, it is compromise and this, too, is taking place in state after state.

But the compromises still involve hefty tax boosts throughout the country.

And the full impact of these increases will be felt in the pocketbooks of millions of us as 1959 rolls on.

Plane Dive Was Its 2nd Mishap

NEW YORK —(AP)— The jet airliner that dived more than five miles over the Atlantic Feb. 3 because of automatic pilot failure had experienced similar trouble only the day before.

This testimony was presented before the Civil Aeronautics Board by pilots in charge of the plane on its eastward flight across the Atlantic Feb. 2 and its return trip next day.

In charge of the Pan American Boeing 707 with 114 passengers aboard on Feb. 3 was Capt. W. Waldo Lynch. He testified the automatic pilot was operating normally during the first part of the Paris-to-New York flight. The plane was flying at about 35,000 feet.

Lynch told of leaving the cockpit for the lounge after turning the controls over to Capt. Samuel T. Peters.

"There was a sharp right downward movement," Lynch continued. "I ran back to the cockpit and slammed into my seat. The gyro horizon was completely tumbled.

"I saw Capt. Peters struggling with the controls as we were losing altitude at a terrific rate of speed. Capt. Peters' instrument panel was completely dark.

Flight Engineer (John) Laird held me in my seat until I could get my safety belt strapped on, and I tried to stabilize the wings. The first thing I noticed that we were at 17,000 feeet.

"At about 8,000 I pulled the yoke (wheel) back as strongly as I could, and at 6,000 feet we took a terrific pounding. I thought the plane was breaking apart. The pounding lasted just a few seconds. We then started a moderate climb, first to 9,000 feet, and then the airplane responded and we went up higher."

Later the plane landed safely at Newfoundland on manual controls.

Lynch said his engineer had heard unofficially from the engineer on the previous day's New York-to-Paris flight of the same plane that the automatic pilot had acted up—but with less menacing consequences.

Flight Engineer John Anderson checked some fuses and fixed the automatic pilot after that incident. The trouble was not considered serious enough for a formal report. But Anderson mentioned it to the engineer of the westbound flight of the next day.

Lynch said the information was passed on to him, but that he also understood the trouble had been corrected.

Hubby Kills Man Peeping At His Wife

HILLSBORO, N.H.—(AP)—Enraged when he found an alleged "peeping Tom" staring at his half-naked wife through a window, a Hillsboro woodchopper killed the intruder with a rifle blast.

Held on a technical manslaughter charge was Reginald Gerbert, 34, the husband who poked his gun through a window and fired a single shot into the head of Austin J. Hogan, 23, of Nashua, a bakery truck driver.

County Attorney Conrad Danais said the bullet struck Hogan, married and the father of three children, as he was running down a road beside the Gerbert house. Danais quoted Gerbert as saying he fired after Hogan ignored commands to halt.

The county attorney said Mrs. Gerbert, a pretty 33-year-old brunette, was taking a sponge bath at the kitchen sink when she noticed the "peeping Tom" at the window. She was nude from the waist up.

She screamed to her husband, who reached for his rifle, threw open a window in the adjacent living room, knocked out the screen and ordered the fleeing Hogan to stop.

PRESS CONFERENCES at the White House usually find these men putting their heads together. President Eisenhower and his press secretary, James C. Hagerty, were answering reporters' questions when this picture was made.

Bullets Raise Fire Peril

SALT LAKE CITY — (AP) — Fire in a West Side home killed two children. Seven other member of the Hal Bjorkman family escaped but two were seriously injured.

Exploding bullets and black powder, stored in the room where the fire broke out, added to the danger for firemen. One blast blew out a rear wall of the concrete block structure.

The victims were eight-year-old Robert and two-year-old Naomi Bjorkman. Three other members of the family were hospitalized — the father and two sons, Douglas, 10 and Steven, 11. All three suffered burns, and the boys were listed in serious condition.

Their mother, Norma, was released from the hospital after treatment for shock. Her three other children, Elizabeth, six, Becky, 3 and Glen, eight months, are being cared for by neighbors.

Cooks in Phone Booth

CAROLINA BEACH, N.C.—(AP)—Police in this resort town figured the 67-year-old vacationer was overdoing it in making himself at home. They found him cooking his meals in a telephone booth.

Inside the little-used booth on Fisherman's Pier were a small oil stove, a frying pan, cheese, some eggs and cooking oil. An old broom was propped against the booth outside.

"We found out," said City Manager William Gary, "that he couldn't cook inside the room he had taken in a rooming house. So he went to the beach but the wind blew into his food out there and he moved into the booth."

Officers made the vacationer sweep out the booth, then found him a room with cooking privileges.

Tiny A-Plant

MOSCOW —(AP)— The Soviet Union has produced a portable nuclear power plant the size of a safety matchbox, the newspaper Soviet Aviation said.

The paper said the unit has 400 volts power and was suitable for jobs requiring high voltage and low amperage. It gave no other details.

House Throws Open Gates to Hawaiians

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The House Thursday threw open the gates to statehood for Hawaii, climaxing a 40-year battle by the Pacific Island chain to become a state.

The House stamped its approval on the statehood bill after two days of debate and sent it to President Eisenhower who was certain to sign it. The Senate approved the measure Wednesday night by a whopping 76 to 15 vote.

There was a burst of applause when Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas announced the House vote as 323 to 89.

Voting for admission were 203 Democrats and 120 Republicans; voting against were 65 Democrats and 24 Republicans.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said President Eisenhower was "delighted" with the congressional action. He said the President had been urging statehood for Hawaii for some time, "as did the platforms on which he ran in 1952 and 1956." Hagerty did not know when the President would sign the measure.

It may take as long as five or six months to complete the statehood formalities. But once this is done, the nation's western boundaries will extend to the mid-Pacific and the national banner will display a 50th star.

Completion of congressional action was the signal for jubilant Hawaiians to begin a two-day celebration that included hula dancing, a typically-American fireworks display, a giant bonfire on Sand Island in Honolulu harbor and the ringing of a special statehood bill at Honolulu stadium.

It first shouted down an attempt by Rep. W. R. Poage (D., Tex.) to amend the bill to provide for ultimate inclusion of all U.S. Pacific islands in the new state. It then rejected a motion by Rep. John R. Pillion (R., N.Y.) to kill the bill by sending it back to the House Interior Committee.

Hawaii was the second territory Congress has agreed to give statehood status in recent months. Alaska was admitted as the 49th state Jan. 7 as the result of legislation enacted last year.

Before Alaska was voted into the Union, the last state to win statehood was Arizona, which was admitted Feb. 14, 1912.

The House cleared the way for quick action on the statehood legislation by agreeing to substitute the Senate-passed measure for its own slightly different version.

Rep. James C. Davis (D., Ga.) fought the bill on racial grounds. He told the House Hawaii's 56 per cent non-white population was "so radically different" from that of the rest of the nation that the territory did not qualify for admission.

When Hawaii sends its representatives to Congress, Senate membership will go up permanently from the present 98 to 100. House membership will rise temporarily from 436 to 437 and then fall back to its permanent level of 435 after the new population census. It went to 436 after Alaska's admission to the Union.

Ecstatic Islanders Dance in Streets

HONOLULU — (AP) — They danced the hula in the streets Thursday night.

Hawaii — a melting pot of many races — celebrated congressional acceptance of statehood.

Jubilant islanders lit bonfires. They set off firecrackers. They whooped it up in a noisy climax to a 40-year quest for admission to the union.

Street dancing began at sunset at 14 places in and around Honolulu.

The acting governor, Edward E. Johnston, called an immediate holiday.

"This is the biggest day in Hawaii history," said Johnston, sitting in for Gov. William Quinn, who is in Washington.

News of the statehood vote touched off air raid sirens, ships' whistles and church bells.

Motorists sounded a cacophony of horns.

At Iolani Palace, seat of the government, legislators broke ut in tears, cheers, hand clapping and frenzied shouting when Hawaii's delegate to Congress, John A. Burns, telephoned the news from Washington.

Burns' line was connected to a loudspeaker in the legislative chambers.

Honolulu's two biggest newspapers, The Star-Bulletin and The Advertiser, rushed statehood extras to the streets. Radio stations devoted almost all of their time to the news and celebrations.

On the University of Hawaii campus, students finished a 50-star flag just a half-hour before Congress completed the voting. They rushed from classrooms and raised the flag on the university flagpole. The school band played the national and Hawaii anthems.

Kids in grammar and high schools also got a holiday until then.

Hawaii's replica of the Liberty Bell, which toured the mainland last year, was sounded for the first time in Hawaii.

At nightfall, military planes dropped flares for more than an hour off Waikiki Beach.

In the Territorial Legislature, the public address system announced:

"Everyone prepare to become first-class citizens."

The Territorial House adopted a resolution making "Aloha State" the official nickname of the islands. Both houses offered prayers of Thanksgiving.

Oahu prison trusties, riding a truck outside the prison walls when the news came, broke out in cheers.

Many stores and business offices shut down at midday.

Banks closed and announced they would open today.

Florida 5-3 For Hawaii

Florida's eight-man House delegation split 5 to 3 Thursday in favor of Hawaiian statehood.

Voting for admission of Hawaii as the 50th state were Reps. Dante Fascell of Miami, Charles Bennett of Jacksonville, Syd Herlong of Leesburg, Paul Rogers of West Palm Beach and William Cramer of St. Petersburg.

The "no" votes were cast by Reps. James Haley of Sarasota, Robert Sikes of Crestview and Billy Matthews of Gainesville.

Nikita Leaves Warning

Off for Home; Advises West

BERLIN — (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev flew home to Moscow Thursday, leaving the West with a warning not to attempt any "break through" to Berlin once the East German Reds are in control of the lifelines to that Western outpost.

In a statement on the German crisis made before boarding his Soviet-built TU104 jet transport for the flight home, Khrushchev declared:

"If the aggressors should try, in spite of everything, to carry through their adventurous aims and — as they say — try to 'break through' anywhere, they would meet with the appropriate resistance."

In Washington it was reported the U.S. has drafted a plan for sending a test convoy through a Berlin blockade if the Communists impose one.

The plan as it now stands apparently calls for sending a normal size unarmed convoy of four to 10 trucks over the 110-mile road from Helmstedt in West Germany through East Germany to West Berlin.

(If the convoy were stopped, it might then be strenthened with tanks and go ahead. What would happen if it drew fire from East German guards was not known.)

Macmillan Talks With Adenauer

BONN, Germany—(AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer conferred for three hours Thursday on Western measures to counter the Soviet threat to Berlin.

Macmillan said on arrival he was convinced there should be talks with Russia this summer. He urged the West to adopt a flexible position, saying: "We all stand together but in the methods of defense we must remain elastic."

Conference Set In Mountains

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The White House announced Thursday that the Berlin crisis conferences between President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will be held at Camp David, in the Catoctin Mountains of Maryland.

Macmillan will arrive in Washington Thursday.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President, Macmillan and their immediate staffs would confer at the secluded White House retreat today, Saturday and Sunday.

Sleet, Rain Add Peril To Snows

Schools Closed; Travel Snarled

By the Associated Press

The worst snowstorm of a mean, dying winter struck a savage blow at the northeast Thursday, just nine days before spring. It also hit the Midwest and south to Virginia.

The storm claimed five lives in Ohio and New Jersey, most of the deaths resulting from heart attacks brought on by shoveling snow.

Up to 14 inches of snow, followed by sleet and rain, lashed an area from Indiana to Virginia and Maine Thursday, the anniversary of one of history's great winter storms—the blizzard of 1888.

Falling temperatures were expected to freeze the slush overnight, thus heightening hazardous driving conditions that tied up many of the East's highways. But today is expected to be partly sunny and milder.

As one storm center moved in from the west, a second came off the Virginia coast. Winds up to 60 miles an hour whistled in with the snow. Tides ranged two to three feet above normal.

Western Maryland and upstate New York measured 14 inches of snow. West Virginia and western Massachusetts had a foot. New Jersey got up to 10 inches. Ohio had seven inches, Indiana, six.

Air travelers were grounded in Cleveland, Boston, Buffalo, Rochester and New York. Commuter trains ran late. So did buses. New York's subways were slowed as thousands who usually drive to work went underground instead.

Hundreds of schools were closed in New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts and upstate New York. All public schools in Boston were closed.

In North Utica, N. Y., 25 children were marooned for two hours when their school bus became stranded in five inches of drifting snow.

Two Ford assembly plants in northern New Jersey, with 4,500 employes, had to close when the storm prevented workers from getting to their jobs. Massachusetts State House employes in Boston were sent home shortly after noon.

Coastal roads near Boston were closed. visibility was so poor that public works employes had to walk in front of snowplows to guide them.

A skidding bus in Binghamton, N. Y., stalled traffic bumper to bumper for an hour. Pittsfield, Mass., had a traffic jam seven miles long.

New York City got nearly six inches of snow, or almost as much as the 6½ inches that had fallen previously this winter.

Chill Races The Length Of State

It'll drop to the low 40s in the north end of the state tonight, the weather bureau predicted.

The cold front rolled through Florida Thursday, plunging afternoon temperatures from the 80s to the 60s in three hours.

High winds preceded the front, and small craft warnings were hoisted along the coast — but they'll come down today, th weatherman said.

Greater Miami will shiver only slightly — it should drop to the low 50s tonight after reaching the high 50s Thursday night, Weatherman Philip Ackerman said.

Windstorm Damages Polk City Homes

By the Associated Press

A windstorm damaged three homes, smashed four frame buildings, knocked over trees and disrupted power service during a 10-minute spree at Polk City Thursday.

No injuries were reported.

Weather Bureau officials said they would have to survey damage before determining whether to call it a tornado.

They said the storm accompanied a squall line which preceded a cold front moving southward into the state.

Heavy rains, coming in the form of thunderstorms in some areas, came, with the squall line. A four-inch rainfall was reported at one point near Lakeland, about 16 miles south of Polk City. The Lakeland Weather Bureau measured 2.59 inches. Falls of 1.86 inches at Tampa and 1.62 inches at Ocala had been recorded by 7 a.m.

Four shed-like structures at a Minute Maid Corp. grove maintenance station near Polk City were destroyed and 40 orange trees knocked down by the winds.

Officials of the firm estimated damage to the buildings and equipment at $20,000. They set no estimate on the damage to the grove, through which winds cut a path about 300 feet wide.

Navy Seaplane Crashes; 1 Hurt

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex.—(AP)—A Navy P5M Marlin seaplane with eight crewmen aboard crashed in Corpus Christi Bay Thursday but the Navy said apparently only one man was injured.

The Navy Air Station said one member of the crew suffered a leg fracture. Another seaplane from NAS landed at the crash scene to pick up survivors.

Fidel Official Kills Himself

HAVANA, Cuba — (AP) — Police said an official in Cuba's provisional government committed suicide Thursday at police headquarters while being held for investigation.

He was Rene Ray Rivero, a director in the ministry for the recovery of misappropriated public funds and a brother of Public Works Minister Manuel Ray Rivero.

Police said he shot himself.

Police Capt. Miguel Guitar said Ray had been questioned in connection with the release of confiscated funds of ex-Sen. Jose Perez Dominguez, a member of Congress in the Batista regime. Guitar did not say how much money was involved.

Sheriff Fools Own Roadblock

BOISE, Idaho — (AP) — Sheriff Myron Gilbert of southwest Idaho's Ada County decided to test the local roadblock system for trapping wanted criminals.

Twenty-seven officers were assigned to roadblocks in the area to watch for Gilbert, who theoretically had held up a grocery store and stolen a getaway car in Boise.

Gilbert eluded the dragnet and made it to Mountain Home, Idaho — 43 miles away — without once being challenged.

Senate Probe Chief Calls for Blacklist of Firm

2 Alleged Racketeers Linked to 'Nike' Jobs

Victor Comforte

. . . hot in here

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senate roackets probers Thursday said Dominic Senese and Victor Comforte, alleged labor racketeers, are part owners of a firm holding subcontracts on 60 per cent of the Nike missile site installations in the Chicago area.

Sen. John L. McClellan (D., Ark), chairman of the special investigating committee, said the Defense Department should take immediate steps to blacklist the firm which he named as the Broadway Sheet Metal Co. of Chicago.

McClellan said he would move "at once" to present a written demand to the Defense Department for the blacklisting.

He said he would back up his demand with a transcript of testimony in which Victor Comforte of Chicago invoked the Fifth Amendment on many questions.

Comforte had refused to tell whether Dominic Senese, described by the committee as a brother-in-law of Mobster Tony Accardo, holds a one-third interest in the company, or answer other questions.

Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy told the committee that Senese, who invoked the Fifth Amendment Wednesday, Comforte and a man identified only as L. A. Moody own about a one-third interest each in the Broadway Sheet Metal Co.

Kennedy told the committee that "on about 60 per cent of all the Nike sites around Chicago, the work is done by this company — has been done in the past."

Comforte drew fire from McClellan by pleading it might tend to incriminate him to tell whether that is true.

"I think this company ought to be immediately disbarred from doing business with the government and the Defense Department," McClellan snapped.

McClellan said he would request a quick report from the Defense Department on what it finds in its own investigation of the company, what it proposes to do about it, and what steps it plans to assure that other contracting and subcontracting companies are not headed by men who must find refuge in the Fifth Amendment.

Among other things, Comforte refused to tell whether Kennedy was right in alleging that "up to recently, under the new administration, it was possible for you to go into the Chicago Police Department and have your police records destroyed. They did this on March 16, 1949, at your request."

Nor would he say whether Kennedy was right in alleging that "you have been involved in labor racketeering in the 1930s," and "you were recognized as an enforcer" in labor union strife.

Critics Ready to Test U.S. Military Punch

Senators Hear AF Staff Chief

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower's Democratic critics said Thursday they were determined to find out if the nation's armed forces are geared to meet the threat of world danger points going far beyond the Berlin crisis.

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson delivered the Democratic reply to the President's biting charges at his news conference Wednesday. Eisenhower accused his critics of "hysterical" opposition to his military manpower cuts and other defense policies.

Johnson retorted that his Senate preparedness subcommittee wanted to know whether the U. S. was armed with the men and weapons capable of delivering a "paralyzing punch" in any one of a number of spots that could explode even before Berlin.

"We realize that Berlin is only one element of conflict in a world which is studded with danger points," he said. "The real crisis may erupt elsewhere even before Berlin comes to a head."

While he named no other trouble areas, he apparently referred to Red China's renewed activities in the Formosa Straits and to the always tense Middle East.

Johnson made public remarks he delivered before the preparedness subcommittee as it heard Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, testify behind closed doors on his "reservations" to the President's new military budget.

White has expressed concern about military construction, replacement of bombers for the Strategic Air Command and the President's decision not to proceed now with production of an atomic-powered plane.

Although Johnson did not so label it, his statement was an obvious reply to Eisenhower's spirited attack on the Democrats.

Johnson told White that "our concern goes to the problem of whether you have been supplied with the needed manpower and tools" that would give the Air Force the knockout punch it packed in World War II.

"Although we must meet the problem of Berlin," Johnson said, "we know that the American problem goes far beyond one city. We must know whether our paralyzing punch is still within our capacity — and whether we will have it in the foreseeable future."

New Game Invented at FSU

Brass Play Jacks; Are They Happy!

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — Who said "jacks" was a game for children?

A new game of jacks, announced to a worldwide conference of ~~Air~~ Force recreation officers here Thursday, had colonels, majors and captains down on the floor playing.

Some wanted to place orders for the game immediately to send to service clubs in far-off places.

The game of "Mat Jacks" was invented by Leo F. Milan of Denver, a graduate assistant working on a doctorate in recreation at Florida State University. He said he invented it to get the players off the dirty floor.

A 3 by 5 foot mat of canvas goes with the game, and for added interest, a circle is provided in the center and cut into numbered slices like a pie.

The game has standard rules no matter where it is played. The old rules for jacks vary so much from place to place, he said, you can hardly decide who won the game.

The new rules take a lot of the pure luck out of playing the game. You can play "mat jacks" either as singles or doubles.

Tallahassee recreation officials like it so much, they are considering a city-wide "mat jack" tournament in May.

Igor Stravinsky To Get Award

COPENHAGEN, Denmark— (AP)—The Sonning Foundation said it would present its first international music award to American Composer and Conductor Igor Stravinsky.

Stravinsky, 74, will receive an award of $7,140 in May when he conducts a Danish orchestra at a music festival here. The Sonning Foundation was established with funds bequeathed by the late Danish Editor C. J. Sonning.

Cuba Gives Miamian The 'Boot'

Michael Moreno, a Miami free-lance photographer who has been held in Havana since Saturday on unspecified charges, will be deported as an "undesirable alien," police there said Thursday.

It was not certain whether Moreno, of 16930 NW 37th Pl., would be allowed to continue a flight to British Honduras which was interrupted by his arrest in Havana.

He was detained with two other Miamians — Robert J. Daut and Richard Jaffe — when they arrived in Havana from Miami.

Jaffe and Daut have since been released. Jaffe, who said he was going to British Honduras on business, has returned to Miami, but Daut, who piloted the plane, has been awaiting the release of Moreno, his copilot.

"Mike flew here as my copilot, and he will leave here as my co-pilot," Daut said in Havana.

The Americans said the questions they were asked by their captors indicated that the Cubans believed they might have flown to Havana with the idea of smuggling out some refugee member of ousted ex-President Fulgencio Batista's government.

Graham Gets Ike Message To Australia

MELBOURNE, Australia — — Billy Graham said he has received a personal letter from President Eisenhower asking the evangelist to greet Australians for himself "and for all Americans."

Graham told 12,000 people at a crusade meeting he will read the letter in full at his last Melbourne meeting Sunday. He is winding up a four-week meeting here.

Sunday's meeting will be held at Melbourne Cricket Ground, which served as the main arena for the 1956 Olympic games. It holds 120,000 people.

Graham said he expected the Sunday meeting to be "one of the greatest in the history of evangelism in the world.

"A lot of people say we cannot fill the ground. I believe we can."

Pay Base Increase Opposed

Mitchell Tells His Position

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Eisenhower administration came out Thursday against any increase in the present $1 an hour minimum wage. Organized labor and some Democrats in Congress are seeking a rise to $1.25.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell made known the administration's position. He said in a statement he would soon recommend to Congress legislation to bring under the law "several million workers" now exempt from its provisions.

The law, known as the Fair Labor Standards Act, requires payment of the $1 an hour minimum wage and payment of time and a half regular pay for hours worked beyond 40 a week.

About 24 million workers are now covered by the law.

Retail trade employes, now exempt, are a group that Mitchell previously has recommended be included under the law.

The AFL-CIO recently urged a reduction in the 40-hour work week standard to 35 hours as well as a rise in the minimum wage to $1.25.

Secretary Mitchell said the the exempted workers for whom he will recommend coverage under law "very much need a federal minimum wage."

"Their chances of receiving this protection," he said, "would be jeopardized by an effort at the same time to raise the minimum wage for workers already covered by the act. Consequently, I am not recommending an increase in the minimum wage at this time."

Marie Windsor Clouts Husband

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — (AP) — There was a better show than the strip teasers at the Club Largo on the Sunset Strip. It was Actress Marie Windsor clobbering her husband, realtyman Jack Hupp, on the head with a plate.

Hupp explained to a reporter Thursday that Marie, statuesque star of many a Western opus, got mad when he didn't want to stop watching the strip teasers and go home.

"I was a bad boy," he said. "Marie hit me with a plate, and I'm glad she did. However, we couldn't be happier and nothing will come of the incident. I don't even have a bump on my head."

The Town Crier

BY Jack Bell

BELL

ATTORNEY Walter Gwinn told the Florida Parole Board Wednesday that Deputy Sheriff Michael Daugherty "deliberately lied" when he identified Virgil Cash as the man who shot him during the holdup of White Belt Dairy in 1953. As a result of Daugherty's testimony, Cash got a 30-year sentence.

It's a fantastic yarn, any way you look at it. Gwinn told me two weeks ago he was going to tell the Parole Board "the truth." Gwinn defended "Long John" Fulford, one of the Cash gang, and Fulford was declared innocent of the robbery. But Gwinn says Fulford told him that he (Long John), not Virgil Cash, shot Daugherty.

Gwinn says that another officer, who sent out a call to pick up three Negroes suspected of the holdup, was asked to go along with a deal that would identify Virgil Cash as the killer. He refused, saying, "How can I do that when I've already indicated I thought Negroes did it." Gwinn says this man offered to testify before the Parole Board, but couldn't be there Wednesday.

So here's Gwinn, who knew Fulford shot the officer, keeping quiet and letting Cash go to prison on the robbery and attempted murder charge. When such a confession no longer could be used against him, Fulford let Gwinn disclose the story. And there were Cash and Fulford imprisoned together in Raiford.

I was in Raiford about a year after the Cash boys went up. Virgil was in Flat Top, a horrible hole, "just so he can't start anything," said officials. Baby Ray, his younger brother, told me, "It ain't good for Virgil. He's a worrier." Now I'm told that Virgil is on the verge of becoming completely "stir crazy." If he is pardoned, he plans to go to his parents who have a small filling station in Georgia.

Jobless Aid Bill Gets OK

Original Plan Cut Sharply

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The House Ways and Means Committee overwhelmingly approved a bill Thursday to prevent an estimated 300,000 jobless workers from being chopped off the unemployment benefit rolls April 1.

The measure is expected to win House approval Monday. It is a sharply curtailed version of the plan originally proposed by House Democratic leaders for extending the emergency benefit program enacted last year at the peak of the recession.

The bill would extend the emergency program only for workers who file valid jobless claims before April 1. It would provide no payments to jobless persons who exhaust their state benefits after that date.

Democratic leaders originally had planned to push for a straight one-year extension of the program. They had even toyed with the idea of giving President Eisenhower power to cut off benefits after three months, thus putting him on the spot politically.

But a key Democrat said the Democratic-controlled committee over-hauled the bill in an effort to make sure some kind of extension will win congressional approval before April 1, when 30,000 unemployed otherwise would be dropped from the rolls.

Republicans were jubilant that the committee decided on the more modest approach, which appeared virtually to eliminate the matter as a political issue.

President Eisenhower opposed the original Democratic plan at his news conference Wedesday, saying jobless benefits basically are a state matter.

The bill as approved carried an estimated price tag of 49 million dollars. All payments would be made before July, 1, however, eliminating any threat to the President's narrowly-balanced budget for the new fiscal year 1960 which begins that date.

Noted Composer Dies in London

LONDON — (AP) — Haydn Wood, composer of "Roses of Picardy" and other wistful ballads associated with birds, flowers and graceful old age, died in a London nursing home.

Wood, 76, had an output ranging from rag time to symphony in a productive span of more than 50 years. Early in his career, he toured abroad as a solo violinist, but his 200 songs brought him his greatest fame.

He wrote "Roses of Picardy" while riding a London bus in World War I. It was an instant hit and sheet music sales reached 50,000 copies a month.

Legislators OK Pupil Spanking

ALBANY, N. Y. — (AP) — Should teachers be free to use corporal punishment on pupils?

Yes, the New York Assembly said. It approved, 100-43, a bill that would prevent school boards from adopting any policy that would bar teachers from using "reasonable force" to discipline unruly pupils.

Advocates of the bill maintained that teachers need new authority to deal with hoodlumism and other classroom disorders.

Trujillo: Beards Will Fly

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic — (AP) — Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo declared "brains and beards will fly like butterflies" if any attempt is made to invade this country from Cuba or Venezuela.

In a statement, the Dominican strongman said "the distance from Cuba to this country is no greater than the distance from here to Cuba."

He made the same reference to Venezuela. His remarks obviously came in response to movements in Cuba and Venezuela advocating overthrow of the Dominican government.

"The people can have a strong confidence that if the aggressors want to see brains and beards flying like butterflies, they have only to approach the Dominican beaches in a hostile attitude," Trujillo said.

His mention of beards clearly was aimed at the Cuban rebels who ousted Cuban President Fulgencio Batista Jan 1. Batista now is living in Ciudad Trujillo.

Castro: That Four-Flusher

SANTIAGO, Cuba — (UPI) — Fidel Castro told a mass meeting of 300,000 here Thursday he would like to lead a campaign against Dominican Republic Dictator Rafael Trujillo but cannot because he is premier of Cuba.

"I cannot follow my impulses so I must resign myself to condemning him (Trujillo) from this tribunal," Castro told the cheering crowd.

The gathering was the largest in the history of this Oriente province capital where Castro launched the successful revolution that overthrew Cuban Dictator Fulgencio Batista Jan. 1. Batista now is in the Dominican Republic.

He tabbed Trujillo a "four-flusher . . . who does not frighten us. He is afraid."

He predicted the Dominican people eventually would overthrow Trujillo themselves.

Is Site Decision On Junior College Long Overdue?

By DAN BROWN
Cocoa Bureau Chief

COCOA — "This," said the Herald reader, "is getting monotonous."

She pointed to a headline which told of the latest round in the seemingly endless fight about a site for the Brevard Junior College.

BROWN

"Why don't they make up their minds and get it over with?" she asked.

Brevard school board members obviously are thinking hard about a site. They have filled the air with discussions of the merits and drawbacks of sites in Cocoa and Eau Gallie which are the chief contenders.

The care is commendable, but a spectator at last Thursday's school board meeting had a terse commentary:

"Let's get the agony over," he said.

Next Tuesday the board will meet for the third time of its "site selection" gatherings.

A LOCAL SAILER did right well in last Sunday's bigtime Mid-Winter Regatta of the Miami Yacht Club, we hear.

With him in his speedy boat, "Snooder," were two Brevard youngsters — Charles Cairnes Jr. of Indialantic and Billy Herndl of Melbourne Beach.

Affable Jim Thompson, chairman of the joint race committee of the RCA and Indian River Yacht clubs, never misses a chance to say the two-club program has caused a rebirth of competitive sailing in these parts.

Looks like the Williams' victory proves Jim's point . . . the efforts of young Cairnes and Herndl proves another. Both are graduates of the two-club sail training program.

JUNIOR CHAMBERS of Commerce in Cocoa, Melbourne, Eau Gallie and Titusville are issuing a call for comely young girls to vie for a "queen" title, but they intend to forego the usual beauty contest hoopla.

Instead, the Queen of the Indian River Jubilee will be selected at a "private showing" April 8, so the public won't get to look at her until she's crowned.

The JayCees are also departing from another beauty contest tradition. They're looking for girls with "poise, figures and personalities." They're not interested in running a talent contest.

* * *

The newly-named Indian River Jubilee, April 11, will be designed for industry, merchants, missile workers and everybody.

For nearly 30 years, the show had been the Orange Jubilee and was a celebration of the end of the winter tourist season.

In September, the county commission will receive a report which will recommend lines for every area in the county.

If the line is close to shore, real estate interests which like to fill bottom lands will fight. If it's far out the same group opposing a line which allows filling of about half the Banana River at Cocoa Beach will square off again.

Of course, that anti-Banana River line group, the Brevard Bulkhead Committee, is already prepared to take the fight about the Banana River line to the State Internal Improvement Board which has the final say so about bulkheads.

St. Lucie Cattle Assessment OKd

Herald Bureau

FORT PIERCE — Directors of the St. Lucie County Cattlemen's Association Wednesday endorsed a proposal for financing activities of the association by a "per head" assessment for each head of cattle sold for slaughter or shipped out of the state.

State directors have approved the idea, as have several county associations. The proposal would have to be passed by the Legislature and would be subject to a referendum by the cattlemen. An assessment up to 15 cents a head was discussed.

Under the proposed plan, the money would be collected for each head of cattle sold, but cattlemen not wanting to participate could get their money back by applying to the state organization 30 days after the sale.

The proceeds would be used for the projects of the cattlemen's association. Such a plan would supersede the present volunteer 10 cents assessment.

Citrus Loss Insurance Extended

LAKELAND — (AP) — Three more Florida counties have been placed among those eligible for citrus crop insurance starting next season.

The Florida Citrus Commission said it received word Thursday that the Federal Crop Insurance Corp. will make its coverage available to citrus grove owners in Indian River, Brevard and St. Lucie counties.

Grove owners in Polk, Lake, Orange and parts of Osceola and Seminole County have carried the insurance in past years.

They pay premiums to the corporation for protection against hail, freeze, hurricane and tornado damage.

When 10 per cent of the crop is damaged by any combination of these elements, the owner recovers the loss from the corporation.

Schoolmen Lay Plans For Future

Herald Service

FORT PIERCE — Members of the St. Lucie County School Board this week looked ahead to the day when the South Beach will need a school — and instructed their attorney to take steps to keep the school's 10-acre beach tract in one piece.

The 10 acres was deeded to the school board a number of years ago by Edward Traub. It is located considerably south of the present filled and developed area.

Following the deeding, Traub was involved in litigation and as a result one of his brothers, Ryland Traub of Coral Gables, now has a one third interest in the 10-acre tract.

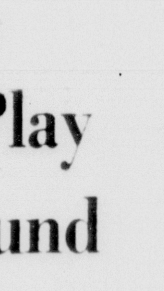
The school board was asked to deed back one-third of the property to Ryland Traub at their meeting this week.

However, board members felt that while the days of a school on the beach were still far in the future, they would eventually need the entire 10 acres.

Their attorney has been instructed to make Traub an offer for the one third interest or, if necessary, to enter condemnation proceedings.

Snead Will Play For Fund

SATELLITE BEACH — Sam Snead, one of the golf world's biggest names and money winners, will come here March 22 for an exhibition program that will raise money for development of more recreation facilities.



SNEAD

Snead will play three nine-hole rounds at the par three Skyline Golf Course here, and Satellite Beach Mayor Percy L. Hedgecock will be the famous golfer's caddy.

All profits from the program, including money received from auctioning off the hat that Snead wore when he won several tournaments, will go into the town's fund for a little league ball park and similar facilities.

While at the local course, Snead will play three nine-hole exhibitions with nine different Satellite Beach players.

Advance tickets for the program, which will start at 2 p.m., now are on sale at beach business places and in Melbourne and Eau Gallie.

WEST PALM BEACH—The widow of a 65-year-old man who was killed in an air crash west of Hobe Sound last Oct. 5 has filed suit for $250,000 against the estate of the owner of the plane.

The suit was filed in circuit court by Kathleen F. Schnedl, both individually and as executrix of the estate of her late husband, Anton B. Schnedl.

Named as defendant is Evelyn Z. Rich, widow and executrix of the estate of Russell E. Rich Jr., an official of the Rich Refrigeration Co. here who also lost his life in the accident.

He was identified in the complaint as the owner and operator of the plane.

Thomas Stokes, another passenger in the plane, was seriously injured and dangled head down in his safety harness for 13 hours until a rancher found the crashed ship west of the turnpike.

The bodies of Rich and Schnedl were in the wreckage.

Negligence on the part of Rich was blamed by the plaintiff for the fatal accident which occurred when the plane, returning from another crash near Holopaw, ran into a thunderstorm.

Mrs. Schnedl asked $100,000 damages as an individual in the death of her husband and an additional $150,000 as executrix of his estate.

In another damage action, Samuel Kutzer and his wife Ida, asked $60,000 from John William Grig, Jr. and Paul G. Redstone as the aftermath of what was described as a three-car crash in which Mrs. Kutzer was injured.

Mrs. Kutzer sued for $50,000, her husband for $10,000.

Dr. E. K. Loos Dies in Vero

VERO BEACH — Dr. Earnest K. Loos 55, winter visitor to Vero Beach from Brooklyn for 10 years, died here Thursday.

He was a dentist and member of Delta Sigma Delta. Survivors include his wife Cecelia; three daughters, Joan and Marcia, and Mrs. Virginia Conway, Brooklyn; a sister, Mrs. Miriam Butter, Vero Beach, and a brother.

Services and burial will be at New York City with Floyd Funeral home in charge here.

2 Indicted In Slayings

FORT PIERCE — A grand jury returned two true bills Thursday.

Indicted for murder in the first degree were James Moore, charged with the Nov. 22, 1958 killing of Dan Mills; and Robert Larkin, charged with the shooting of part time policeman Jerry Lee Walker on Nov. 14, 1958.

Juvenile Held in Break-ins

FORT PIERCE — City police said this week they had solved 11 breaking and entering cases, two larceny cases, plus at least two bicycle thefts — the work of a 15-year-old boy.

The youth and two companions were taken into custody Monday night in the FEC yards. Detective Vernon Christianson said Wednesday that two of the boys had bee, absolved from responsibility in the various thefts, although they will be in juvenile court for other troubles.

For the past two days, police officers and the third boy have been taking trips around the city, recovering stolen objects hidden in various parts of the town.

The youth insists that he did all the stealing himself. Police say that all the merchandise stolen has been recovered, although the money taken had been spent.

For 4-Laning

SRD To Let A-1-A Work This Month

Also Sees Cash for SR 401 Job

By DAN BROWN
Cocoa Bureau Chief

COCOA — Joe Grotegut, State Road Board chairman, said Thursday contracts for four-laning State Road A-1-A from the Cocoa-Cocoa Beach causeway to the south end of Patrick Air Force Base will be let this month and next.

Grotegut also said there may be enough money to four-lane State Road 401 — the overcrowded highway to Cape Canaveral — if right-of-way is available. He said he would know about the money within 30 days. Most of the needed right-of-way has already been donated by property owners.

The Road Board chairman also said the Road Department will know in 30 days whether a toll causeway connecting Cocoa and Port Canaveral can be financed.

His comments came at a road conference at DeLand, attended by Pruitt and officials of the State Road Department, Brevard County, Port Canaveral Authority and the Air Force.

Money for the 401 project has been available for over a year in SRD and Air Force budgets, but lack of right-of-way had stymied the work.

Just a month ago, property owners, led by Cocoa Beach developer R. B. Brossier, donated most of the estimated 750 million dollars worth of right-of-way needed.

State Road 401 connects Cape Canaveral with the Cocoa-Cocoa Beach Causeway and is the only road to Port Canaveral.

Completion of 410 four-laning will create a four lane highway from the Cape to the south end of Patrick Air Force Base, 17 miles away. Four-laning of State Road A1A between the South limit of the base and the Causeway is about to start.

The A1A-401 network carries an estimated 20,000 cars of missile workers in two one-hour periods each day.

At the Thursday evening conference Brevard commissioners were planning to offer to give up all 1959 secondary road projects if the sacrifice would help the SRD improve county's overtaxed primary roads. Most of the primary roads are still two-laned.

The county move would release $188,000 for primary road work. The State Road Department is committed to four lane US1, but lacks right of way.

EASTER SEALS are presented by four-year-old Robert Collins, 1959 Easter Seal Child for Indian River County, to Mayor Harry C. Offutt of Vero Beach. The presentation was made at the Sunshine Center where crippled children attend school and receive physical therapy services. Proceeds from Easter Seals help finance the center.

Train Disabled By Truck Crash

Herald Bureau

DELRAY BEACH—A southbound Florida East Coast passenger train slammed into a stalled dump truck here Thursday, flattening the truck and disabling the train.

Downing, who said "I'm not sure now whether I went out the door or the window, had run some 30 feet when the train scooped up the five-ton truck and sent it flying in an arc that one eye witness compared to a "well hit eight iron shot."

The mangled heap of wreckage landed some 112 feet from the NE Eighth St. crossing.

The train, nearly hidden in a shower of sparks, hurtled down the tracks for more than a quarter of a mile before grinding to a halt.

Downing told police the truck motor "just died" right in the middle of the crossing. "Less than a minute" elapsed "before I saw and heard that fellow coming," Downing said.

FEC officials said the force of the impact caved in the front of the train engine, knocking out the braking system.

An estimated 300 passengers on the 15-car "Florida speical" — FEC's main New York to Miami train — were forced to wait for several hours while a replacement engine was sent from Miami.

Junior High Science Fair Open Today

Herald Service

FORT PIERCE — The interest of St. Lucie County Junior High students in science is reflected in the school's first Science Fair which will be open today from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Mrs. Eleanor Taylor is in charge, and over 100 students have signed up to display projects which range from radios to rockets. Most of the scientific exhibits represent after-school work by the youngsters, under the guidance of science teachers.

The displays will be set up in four general divisions: General science, biology, chemistry and physics.

The fair is in the junior high library. First, second and third-place ribbons will be awarded, as well as a grand championship trophy for the outstanding exhibit. Principal Jesse Mullins said judging will be done Friday afternoon.

Public Rebels at Tax Hike But Wants Services

By SYLVIA PORTER
Financial Analyst

SYLVIA PORTER

Not since the days of global war in the '40s, when the American public was getting its first taste of the bitterness of a record-sized tax dose, have taxes been so much in the headlines as today—but with two profoundly important differences.

1—This time, the rush to boost taxes to the highest marks ever is on at the state and local level. What the states vote on taxes will be THE big story of 1959; the Washington story will be of only picayune significance.

2—This time, there is a perceptible rebellion in state after state against tax-hiking proposals, but the public still wants services. It's not only a rebellion among us and businessmen, the taxpaying targets. It's also a revolt among legislators of both parties and all shades of economic-social opinion.

It was not this way in 1955, when a record-smashing total of almost 3,000 tax changes went on the states' books. It was not this way during World War II and the Korean conflict when a record-smashing total of tax changes went on the federal government's books.

The atmosphere is different now. There is almost a climactic aspect to the test of spending and taxing now taking place in our states.

As a resident of New York City and New York State, I'm getting the full treatment. And even before I'm nicked for an extra penny (except via the two-cent-a-gallon state gas tax hike) by the tax-seeking measures of Gov. Rockefeller and Mayor Wagner, my pocketbook "feels" thinner, I "feel" poorer. Thus, perhaps it is in acknowledgement of the proverb that misery loves company that I again have been tracing the state tax battles the nation over. And there's plenty to trace.

Of the 49 Legislatures, 46 are meeting this year and of these, 31 have either proposed specific tax moves or are talking of them. Some already have acted to boost the gas tax or put in a system of withholding state income taxes or increased income tax rates.

In addition, there are proposals from coast to coast to:

Impose, raise or broaden the base of the sales tax. Arguing this sort of action are Arizona, Illinois, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Utah, Washington.

Impose or raise the personal income tax. Debating this are California, Iowa, Michigan, Montana, New York, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Carolina, West Virginia.

Impose or raise the corporation income tax. Talking of this are Iowa, Michigan, South Carolina.

Shift income tax payment to a withholding basis. Concentrating on this area are Minnesota, New York, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Utah.

Impose or raise the gas tax or tobacco tax or cigaret tax or beer and liquor tax or combinations thereof. Here, many states are involved, including Arkansas, California, Colorado, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, New Hampshire, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, West Virginia.

And there are dozens of other suggestions ranging from disallowing the federal income tax as a state tax deduction to taxing intangible personal property, inheritances, etc., etc.

Even before the Legislatures convened, it was obvious this would be a critical tax year in most states. For in state after state, spending has been skyrocketing because of zooming population among the very young and old, needs for more roads, schools, welfare assistance. At the same time, war-created surpluses have been wiped out, and the 1958 recession pushed tax collections below expectations.

But not so obvious until a few weeks ago was the strength of the rebellion against tax hikes from voters who simultaneously are demanding a continuation and expansion of services from the states.

The answer? Obviously, it is compromise and this, too, is taking place in state after state.

But the compromises still involve hefty tax boosts throughout the country.

And the full impact of these increases will be felt int he pocketbooks of millions of us as 1959 rolls on.

Plane Dive Was Its 2nd Mishap

NEW YORK —(AP)— The jet airliner that dived more than five miles over the Atlantic Feb. 3 because of automatic pilot failure had experienced similar trouble only the day before.

This testimony was presented before the Civil Aeronautics Board by pilots in charge of the plane on its eastward flight across the Atlantic Feb. 2 and its return trip next day.

In charge of the Pan American Boeing 707 with 114 passengers aboard on Feb. 3 was Capt. W. Waldo Lynch. He testified the automatic pilot was operating normally during the first part of the Paris-to-New York flight. The plane was flying at about 35,000 feet.

Lynch told of leaving the cockpit for the lounge after turning the controls over to Capt. Samuel T. Peters.

"There was a sharp right downward movement," Lynch continued. "I ran back to the cockpit and slammed into my seat. The gyro horizon was completely tumbled.

"I saw Capt. Peters struggling with the controls as we were losing altitude at a terrific rate of speed. Capt. Peters' instrument panel was completely dark.

Flight Engineer (John) Laird held me in my seat until I could get my safety belt strapped on, and I tried to stabilize the wings. The first thing I noticed that we were at 17,000 feeet.

"At about 8,000 I pulled the yoke (wheel) back as strongly as I could, and at 6,000 feet we took a terrific pounding. I thought the plane was breaking apart. The pounding lasted just a few seconds. We then started a moderate climb, first to 9,000 feet, and then the airplane responded and we went up higher."

Later the plane landed safely at Newfoundland on manual controls.

Lynch said his engineer had heard unofficially from the engineer on the previous day's New York-to-Paris flight of the same plane that the automatic pilot had acted up—but with less menacing consequences.

Flight Engineer John Anderson checked some fuses and fixed the automatic pilot after that incident. The trouble was not considered serious enough for a formal report. But Anderson mentioned it to the engineer of the westbound flight of the next day.

Lynch said the information was passed on to him, but that he also understood the trouble had been corrected.

Bullets Raise Fire Peril

SALT LAKE CITY —(AP)— Fire in a West Side home killed two children. Seven other member of the Hal Bjorkman family escaped but two were seriously injured.

Exploding bullets and black powder, stored in the room where the fire broke out, added to the danger for firemen. One blast blew out a rear wall of the concrete block structure.

The victims were eight-year-old Robert and two-year-old Naomi Bjorkman. Three other members of the family were hospitalized — the father and two sons, Douglas, 10 and Steven, 11. All three suffered burns, and the boys were listed in serious condition.

Their mother, Norma, was released from the hospital after treatment for shock. Her three other children, Elizabeth, six, Becky, 3 and Glen, eight months, are being cared for by neighbors.

Cooks in Phone Booth

CAROLINA BEACH, N.C.—(AP)—Police in this resort town figured the 67-year-old vacationer was overdoing it in making himself at home. They found him cooking his meals in a telephone booth.

Inside the little-used booth on Fisherman's Pier were a small oil stove, a frying pan, cheese, some eggs and cooking oil. An old broom was propped against the booth outside.

"We found out," said City Manager William Gary, "that he couldn't cook inside the room he had taken in a rooming house. So he went to the beach but the wind blew into his food out there and he moved into the booth."

Officers made the vacationer sweep out the booth, then found him a room with cooking privileges.

Tiny A-Plant

MOSCOW —(AP)— The Soviet Union has produced a portable nuclear power plant the size of a safety matchbox, the newspaper Soviet Aviation said.

The paper said the unit has 400 volts power and was suitable for jobs requiring high voltage and low amperage. It gave no other details.

Hubby Kills Man Peeping At His Wife

HILLSBORO, N.H.—(AP)—Enraged when he found an alleged "peeping Tom" staring at his half-naked wife through a window, a Hillsboro woodchopper killed the intruder with a rifle blast.

Held on a technical manslaughter charge was Reginald Gerbert, 34, the husband who poked his gun through a window and fired a single shot into the head of Austin J. Hogan, 23, of Nashua, a bakery truck driver.

County Attorney Conrad Danais said the bullet struck Hogan, married and the father of three children, as he was running down a road beside the Gerbert house. Danais quoted Gerbert as saying he fired after Hogan ignored commands to halt.

The county attorney said Mrs. Gerbert, a pretty 33-year-old brunette, was taking a sponge bath at the kitchen sink when she noticed the "peeping Tom" at the window. She was nude from the waist up.

She screamed to her husband, who reached for his rifle, threw open a window in the adjacent living room, knocked out the screen and ordered the fleeing Hogan to stop.
